Apartment Charred By Flames In Vacant Three-Story Building

By AL EDEE
Star Staff Writer

Lincoln's first two-alarm fire in over a year damaged a supposedly vacant three-story apartment and business building at 1526 N Tuesday night.

One apartment was charred and dense clouds of smoke filled the entire three-story building.

Fire Chief E. Paul Feaster said the fire was apparently started by a cigarette in an overstuffed chair in the second floor apartment.

The vacant building, Chief Feaster said, had apparently been entered by "some drinking bums who broke into the apartment for a place to sleep and ran when the fire started."

Police were on the scene investigating the fire, but no one was seen inside the building.

7 Companies

Five engine companies and two truck companies screamed to the fire at 9:09 p.m. and later at 9:12 p.m. when the second alarm went out.

Firemen climbed an aerial ladder to the third floor and shorter ladders on the front and back of the building to attack the blaze.

The firemen were bothered by dense smoke infiltrating the second and third floors. Windows were smashed and holes were axed in walls in the attempt to allow the choking smoke to escape.

Furniture Thrown Out

Firemen soaked the fire with half a dozen water lines. Stuffed furniture and mattresses were thrown or carried out of the second floor still smoking with burning embers.

A crowd of approximately 150 persons thronged outside the building to watch the first second-alarm fire in Lincoln since the State Reformatory fire a year ago Sept. 9.

The second alarm was called off at 9:20 p.m., fire department officials said, when the fire was reported under control.

Badly Burned

All furniture and ceiling and walls of the apartment where the fire started were badly burned.

Chief Feaster was unable to give an estimate of the damage. The building is owned by Sam Warren of Berkeley, Calif. It is insured and a contract has been entered into for selling the building to an unidentified party, it was reported.

The three-story brick building contains an empty business office on the street floor and vacant apartments on the second and third floors.

Horticulture Prof Reports:

TREES MUST BE WATERED 'OR A LOT WILL BE DEAD'

"A lot of Lincoln trees probably will be dead next year unless they get water this fall."

That was the warning issued Tuesday by Associate Professor Victor Miller, head of the horticulture department at the Agriculture College of the University of Nebraska.

Miller said trees require a large amount of water and will not get enough supply from the average watering of lawns.

"Trees in parking areas with pavement on one side are particularly difficult to water due to runoff," Miller said.

The associate professor suggested that one of the best methods to insure getting water down to the tree roots is to use a root-waterer which can be attached to a lawn hose. The waterer can be speared into the ground to a depth of two or three feet and the moisture will then go into the sub-soil where it is needed.

"Sub-soil moisture supplied by underground reservoirs can keep the trees going for awhile," Miller said, "but the supply is getting low and additional help is needed."

Ike's Actions Said 'Hazard'

Stevenson Says Demos Will Insist 'Full Responsibilities' Met By Chief Executive

By ERNEST B. VACCARO

SEATTLE (AP)—A wildly cheering audience heard Adlai E. Stevenson say Tuesday night that the "undue delegation of responsibility and authority by the President" is "hazardous" in this atomic age and "diminishes the office of the president."

An audience that filled all the 6,000 seats of Seattle's Civic Auditorium and overflowed into the streets outside gave the Democratic presidential nominee a thundering, standing ovation.

Stevenson, introduced by Sen. Warren G. Magnuson, whose reelection he predicted over GOP Governor Arthur B. Langlie, said that his own party proposed that the future's grave problems be met by a President "who assumes the full responsibilities of the elective office."

Departing from his prepared address, Stevenson said the Republicans had told President Eisenhower "all he had to do was sit on the front porch and await the inaugural parade."

He said the GOP "blew up the balloons and made up the new slogans."

Can't Afford

But he said that when they saw the results, such as Magnuson's big plurality over Langlie in the Washington primary election the Republicans decided that "a part-time President was all right but they can't afford a part-tmie candidate."

(Magnuson received 153,000 more votes than Langlie as each ran unopposed for his party's nomination for senator.)

Stevenson's speech was carried over a statewide TV and radio network.

In carefully chosen words, the Democratic presidential nominee declared, "and I say, whatever the reason, that the undue delegation of the responsibility and authority by the President is hazardous at any time, let alone times such as these, and diminishes the office of the presidency."

Stevenson was interrupted repeatedly by applause and one well-wisher shouted:

"Go get 'em Adlai."

Big Smile

"That's what I have been doing for several weeks," the nominee declared with a big smile.

In saying that a President should "assume the full responsibility of the office," Stevenson drew more applause when he declared that a President should serve as an executive official and not as a committee chairman.

Stevenson flew here after earlier talking during the day at Great Falls, Mont., and Boise, Idaho.

Airport Crowd

He spoke to an estimated crowd of 3,000 at Great Falls. About 2,000 showed up at the airport in Boise, in normally Republican Idaho.

In Seattle, Stevenson devoted much of his talk to a discussion of "the problems raised by the explosive power of nuclear energy."

He said that his suggestion that the country start to find a way to stop the testing for huge hydrogen bombs had been met by the President and other Republicans "only with sneers and astonishing distortion of what I said, and with implications that even talking about this prejudices the nation's security."

He said that his proposal was made "without criticism" of the Eisenhower administration "policy of hydrogen weapon development which President Truman began."

What They're Doing Today

By The Associated Press

This is what the major party presidential and vice presidential candidates are doing Wednesday:

ADLAI E. STEVENSON—Speaks at rally in Portland, Ore.

PRESIDENT EISENHOWER—In Washington.

VICE PRESIDENT NIXON—Tours California, with stops scheduled at Stockton, Oakland and San Jose.

SEN. ESTES KEFAUVER—Tours New York state, with stops set for Syracuse, Rochester and Buffalo.

HYPNOTISM NOT ALLOWED

One thing that will not be found on the stage of the new Pershing Memorial Auditorium is a show of hypnotism.

A California booking agency wrote city officials in regards to bringing to Lincoln a show entitled "Hypnotism Is Fun." They offered a two-hour audience participation show.

City ordinances, however, make it unlawful to present or take part in any exhibition or show of hypnotism, animal magnetism or so-called physical forces.

The ordinance further forbids clairvoyancy, palmistry, phrenology, mind reading and fortune telling.

8 Get Life In Brink's Robbery

8 To 10 Years Added To Terms

BOSTON (AP) — Eight men were sentenced to life in prison Tuesday for the $1,219,000 robbery of the Brink's Inc. money transfer firm nearly seven years ago.

The prisoners—all from Greater Boston—heard Judge Felix Forte mete out the sentences in Superior Court without a trace of emotion.

Led out under heavy guard to begin their terms in the new Massachusetts Correctional Institution at Walpole were:

Anthony Pino, 48, a laborer; Adolph "Jazz" Maffie, 44, a salesman and pool room manager; Michael V. Geagan, 47, a longshoreman; Thomas F. Richardson 48, a longshoreman; James I. Faherty, 44, a bartender; Henry D. Baker, 49, a vending machine operator; Vincent J. Costa, 42, a truck driver, and Joseph F. McGinnis, 52, a former liquor store operator.

Hard Labor

All but McGinnis were given the same sentences. In addition to the life terms, they were ordered to serve 8 to 10 years for breaking and entering and 2 years at hard labor.

Normally, life termers are eligible for parole consideration after 15 years. The additional sentences are to be served after the life terms.

McGinnis, described by the prosecution as "the brains" of the robbery, was given eight concurrent life terms for being an accessory before the fact of armed robbery. In addition he was sentenced to 8 to 10 years for being an accessory before breaking and entering and 2½ years to 3 years for receiving stolen goods.

The prosecution did not press the complaint of armed robbery against McGinnis — who defense witnesses testified remained at his liquor store while the holdup was in progress.

Appeal

Chief defense counsel Paul Smith already had indicated an appeal will be taken. He has nearly three weeks to take such action.

Still to be disposed of is the sentencing of Joseph J. (Specs) O'Keefe, 48, who put the finger on his one-time pals and accused them in open court of being fellow-robbers.

O'Keefe pleaded guilty long before the nine-weeks trial of the others got underway on Aug. 6. No date has been set for his sentencing.

Missing Omahan, Ransom Note Cause Cop, FBI Probe

. . . Note On Bar Cash Register Asks $10,000

OMAHA (AP) —Police and the FBI Tuesday night continued to press their investigation of the disappearance of Virgil Richard Broyles, 39, Omaha bar manager.

Broyles' wife waited by the telephone as the clock approached a 24-hour ransom note deadline.

About $3,000 and Broyles vanished from the Hickory Inn early Tuesday. A note found on the bar cash register by the missing man's wife, Charlotte, demanded $10,000 for Broyles' return.

Detective Inspector Ernest Brown said his men were working on other aspects of the case as well as the alleged kidnaping.

Crude Note

Samples of the crudely penned note were given the FBI for laboratory checks. Detectives said the writer "obviously attempted to disguise his regular writing style."

The note said "we will contact you within 24 hours." Mrs. Broyles said she "could not possibly pay that much."

The tavern owner, Mrs. Lenore T. Bray of Kansas City, Mo., said she did not have that much money.

As far as the officers could determine, Broyles was last seen in the bar shortly before midnight Monday. When Mrs. Broyles opened the place at about 5:30 a. m. she found the note and discovered more than $3,300 was missing.

Money Was In Safe

Most of the money had been in the safe, which officers said was open but showed no evidence of having been forced.

Also missing was Mrs. Bray's auto, which Broyles had been using.

Meanwhile, it was alleged that Broyles was about to lose his job. The report quoted Mrs. Bray as saying she informed him about a month ago she was going to replace him as manager.

"He had been hired on a trial basis for six months," Mrs. Bray said. "He admitted that he wasn't making a go of it."

Ex-Bus Driver

Broyles quit his job as a bus driver last May to take over management of the bar.

He and his wife have six children. The couple has been married 23 years. Twice they were divorced. They remarried the second time in 1946.

Mrs. Broyles said her husband suffered a nervous breakdown about three years ago and left home a couple of times without explanation.

"But," she said, "he never would do anything like this. I'm sure he was really kidnaped."

Demos Lead Alaska Vote

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP)—Democrats were ahead in first fragmentary returns from Alaska's general election early Wednesday.

They came from southeastern Alaska and were too few to show any trend. One tiny precinct was compete, two others incomplete.

For the two "Tennessee plan" senatorships—which will send two emissaries to Washington to press for statehood — Territorial Sen. William Egan had 56 votes and former Gov. Ernest Gruening 49. Both are Democrats.

Make Believe

The Republicans, Territorial Sen. John Butrovich and publisher Robert Atwood, had 45 and 38.

For a make-believe seat in the House on the same basis, Democrat Ralph Rivers had 48 to 46 for his Republican opponent, Charles Burdick.

For Alaska's genuine nonvoting seat of delegate in the House, E. L. Bartlett, the Democratic incumbent, had 54 to 41 for Byron Gillam, the Republican candidate.

The outcome of the election was watched for possible significance of a political trend.

Warmer And Windy Seen For Nebraska

Generally fair skies and higher temperatures were predicted for Wednesday by the Weather Bureau and windy weather was to appear across Nebraska.

Warmer temperatures were to bring highs of 70 to 80 following Tuesday's highs in the upper 50's and low 60's.

Earl Wednesday, with temperatures still dropping but the warm front moving closer, Lincoln had the state's lowest temperatures, 41.

And skies were to be clear in the New York City area for the final game of the World Series. Cooler temperatures were expected there with the high around 60.

President Hits 'Irresponsible' Demo Claims

Eisenhower Credits Administration With Clear Accomplishments Toward Peace, Prosperity

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH

PITTSBURGH (AP) — President Eisenhower Tuesday night charged the Democrats with "political irresponsibility at its worst" and said they stand for "loose handling of the dollar—therefore, inflation."

Addressing a wildly cheering campaign rally, the President hit hard again at his Democratic rival, Adlai Stevenson, and credited his own Republican administration with a record of "clear accomplishments" toward lasting peace and prosperity.

Eisenhower spoke before an overflow crowd in the 8,000-seat flag-bedecked Hunt Armory. His speech was carried nationwide on television and radio.

The President criticized the opposition on many fronts and launched a fresh attack on Stevenson proposals that H-bomb tests be halted and the military draft be ended, both under certain conditions.

Eisenhower got a howling welcome to Pittsburgh, a traditionally Democratic city, on his arrival by plane from Washington Tuesday afternoon. A crowd of many thousands roared a welcome along the 14-mile drive from the airport to a downtown hotel.

Greetings

There was another big crowd on the streets Tuesday night, shouting greetings as the President rode bareheaded and standing in an open car from the hotel to the armory. Wearing a light topcoat as protection against a chill wind, Eisenhower stretched both arms aloft in familiar campaign salute.

At the armory giant searchlights pinpointed a big balloon moored overhead, an "Ike" sign on one side and "Dick"—for Vice President Richard Nixon—on the other.

Eisenhower was introduced by Republican Sen. James H. Duff of Pennsylvania, running for re-election, who a few moments before touched off a round of boos in the audience by referring to former President Truman as "haphazard Harry."

Eisenhower plugged for re-election of Duff calling him one of the "stalwarts" of the administration. He also urged Pennsylvania voters to elect the state's other GOP candidates for Congress.

Smiling

The President got a thunderous ovation as he took his place at the speakers platform. Cries of "We like Ike" rang out from all over the auditorium and a smiling Eisenhower told his audience when the applause and cheering subsided:

"You have just made a better speech than I can make".

Early in his address, he was interrupted by applause when he said he was going to talk about the record of his administration and "almost four years of clear accomplishments."

And there were cheers when he said the cost of living "has risen less than 3 per cent under this administration" and "almost 50 per cent" during the Truman administration.

'Conflict'

And the President said there is a "basic conflict" between general policies of the Democrats and the Republicans.

"They stand for: bigger government costs and spending beyond revenue—therefore, loose handling of the dollar—therefore, inflation—and, inevitably, centralized federal power.

"We stand for: economy in government—stablized living cost—and the citizen's greater freedom from federal intervention in his work and life."

Most of the state's top level Republicans, headed by Sen. James H. Duff who is seeking re-election, greeted the President when his plane, the Columbine, landed at Greater Pittsburgh Airport.

U.S., Red Split Far On Suez

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y (AP) — Secretary of State Dulles and Soviet Foreign Minister Shepilov split sharply Tuesday over Dulles' call for a Suez settlement based on the principle of insulating the canal from national policies.

The disagreement of the United States and the Soviet Union thus was thrust into the spotlight as the U.N. Security Council ended public debate and began secret talks in a desperate search for a Suez solution.

"The heart of the problem," Dulles said in a 26-minute speech to the Council, "is acceptance of the principle there should be a system to insure that the canal cannot be used by any country as an instrument of its distinctly national policy."

Talking to newsmen in the Council lounge after Dulles spoke, Shepilov rejected this principle as a cover for internationalizing the canal. He said any international group created to run the canal would, in the state of the world today, be influenced by the politics of the countries on the board. Furthermore, he said, the Soviet Union rejects international operation of the canal.

Balance

Dulles expressed some conditional interest in a suggestion by Foreign Minister Mahmoud Fawzi of Egypt for a group of reasonable size to attempt to negotiate a settlement. Dulles rejected, on the other hand, a proposal by Shepilov that a group of six or eight members, picked on the basis of proper balance, attempt such negotiations.

3 Capital City Days Offer "Fall Festival Of Values"

Lincoln's downtown merchants will present their "Fall Festival of Values" for three days, Wednesday through Friday.

Thousands of shoppers from Nebraska, western Iowa and northern Kansas are expected to be in Lincoln on these three Capital City Days to take advantage of the "greatest fall values ever offered in Lincoln."

Lincoln City Lines will offer free bus rides to downtown Lincoln from 9:30 to 10:30 a.m., on all three days.

Chairman for Lincoln's third "Fall Festival of Values" since World War II ended is Fred Johnston.

All kinds of fall and winter merchandise and the latest fashions and furniture will be displayed in downtown Lincoln during Capital City Days.

Downtown store hours are 9:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. except Thursday when they are 10 a.m. to 9 p.m.

Today's Chuckle

A bartender was wiping off the bar one day when a drunk staggered in and slumped over the bar.

"Say, can you tell me who runs Alcoholics Anonymous around here?" he asked.

"Why, do you want to join?" the bartender asked.

"Nope," said the drunk, "I want to resign."

Navy Scientists To Probe Space With Balloon Lift

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy disclosed Tuesday night that two of its scientists later this month will go "as high as they can" in a pressurized gondola suspended from a gigantic plastic balloon.

The ascension, which will take place from the Minneapolis, Minn., area, will be part of the Navy's "Stratolab" project in which the service is probing the stratosphere.

In the gondola will be two aerologists who earlier this year rode to 40,000 feet in an open gondola.

They are Malcolm D. Ross, 36, reserve lieutenant commander from Arlington, Va., and Lt. Cmdr. Morton L. Lewis, 43, Alexandria, Va.

Both are attached to the Office of Naval Research here, which is directing the stratosphere studies.

All but McGinnis were given the same sentences. In addition to the life terms, they were ordered to serve 8 to 10 years for breaking and entering and 2 years at hard labor.

Normally, life termers are eligible for parole consideration after 15 years. The additional sentences are to be served after the life terms.

McGinnis, described by the prosecution as "the brains" of the robbery, was given eight concurrent life terms for being an accessory before the fact of armed robbery. In addition he was sentenced to 8 to 10 years for being an accessory before breaking and entering and 2½ years to 3 years for receiving stolen goods.

The prosecution did not press the complaint of armed robbery against McGinnis — who defense witnesses testified remained at his liquor store while the holdup was in progress.

Appeal

Chief defense counsel Paul Smith already had indicated an appeal will be taken. He has nearly three weeks to take such action.

Still to be disposed of is the sentencing of Joseph J. (Specs) O'Keefe, 48, who put the finger on his one-time pals and accused them in open court of being fellow-robbers.

O'Keefe pleaded guilty long before the nine-weeks trial of the others got underway on Aug. 6. No date has been set for his sentencing.

CAMPAIGNS GOING STRONG

Former President Harry Truman (left) takes off a pair of "I Like Ike" glasses which, he told a Democratic fund-raising dinner in Pittsburgh, are "tinted and when you put them on, everything looks rosy and serene." (His speech story on Page 26.) President Hits 'Irresponsible' Demo Claims

Eisenhower Credits Administration With Clear Accomplishments Toward Peace, Prosperity

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH

PITTSBURGH (AP) — President Eisenhower Tuesday night charged the Democrats with "political irresponsibility at its worst" and said they stand for "loose handling of the dollar—therefore, inflation."

Addressing a wildly cheering campaign rally, the President hit hard again at his Democratic rival, Adlai Stevenson, and credited his own Republican administration with a record of "clear accomplishments" toward lasting peace and prosperity.

Eisenhower spoke before an overflow crowd in the 8,000-seat flag-bedecked Hunt Armory. His speech was carried nationwide on television and radio.

The President criticized the opposition on many fronts and launched a fresh attack on Stevenson proposals that H-bomb tests be halted and the military draft be ended, both under certain conditions.

Eisenhower got a howling welcome to Pittsburgh, a traditionally Democratic city, on his arrival by plane from Washington Tuesday afternoon. A crowd of many thousands roared a welcome along the 14-mile drive from the airport to a downtown hotel.

Greetings

There was another big crowd on the streets Tuesday night, shouting greetings as the President rode bareheaded and standing in an open car from the hotel to the armory. Wearing a light topcoat as protection against a chill wind, Eisenhower stretched both arms aloft in familiar campaign salute.

At the armory giant searchlights pinpointed a big balloon moored overhead, an "Ike" sign on one side and "Dick"—for Vice President Richard Nixon—on the other.

Eisenhower was introduced by Republican Sen. James H. Duff of Pennsylvania, running for re-election, who a few moments before touched off a round of boos in the audience by referring to former President Truman as "haphazard Harry."

Eisenhower plugged for re-election of Duff calling him one of the "stalwarts" of the administration. He also urged Pennsylvania voters to elect the state's other GOP candidates for Congress.

Smiling

The President got a thunderous ovation as he took his place at the speakers platform. Cries of "We like Ike" rang out from all over the auditorium and a smiling Eisenhower told his audience when the applause and cheering subsided:

"You have just made a better speech than I can make".

Early in his address, he was interrupted by applause when he said he was going to talk about the record of his administration and "almost four years of clear accomplishments."

And there were cheers when he said the cost of living "has risen less than 3 per cent under this administration" and "almost 50 per cent" during the Truman administration.

'Conflict'

And the President said there is a "basic conflict" between general policies of the Democrats and the Republicans.

"They stand for: bigger government costs and spending beyond revenue—therefore, loose handling of the dollar—therefore, inflation—and, inevitably, centralized federal power.

"We stand for: economy in government—stablized living cost—and the citizen's greater freedom from federal intervention in his work and life."

Most of the state's top level Republicans, headed by Sen. James H. Duff who is seeking re-election, greeted the President when his plane, the Columbine, landed at Greater Pittsburgh Airport.

Missing Omahan, Ransom Note Cause Cop, FBI Probe

...Note On Bar Cash Register Asks $10,000

OMAHA (AP) —Police and the FBI Tuesday night continued to press their investigation of the disappearance of Virgil Richard Broyles, 39, Omaha bar manager.

Broyles' wife waited by the telephone as the clock approached a 24-hour ransom note deadline.

About $3,000 and Broyles vanished from the Hickory Inn early Tuesday. A note found on the bar cash register by the missing man's wife, Charlotte, demanded $10,000 for Broyles' return.

Detective Inspector Ernest Brown said his men were working on other aspects of the case as well as the alleged kidnaping.

Crude Note

Samples of the crudely penned note were given the FBI for laboratory checks. Detectives said the writer "obviously attempted to disguise his regular writing style."

The note said "we will contact you within 24 hours." Mrs. Broyles said she "could not possibly pay that much."

The tavern owner, Mrs. Lenore T. Bray of Kansas City, Mo., said she did not have that much money.

As far as the officers could determine, Broyles was last seen in the bar shortly before midnight Monday. When Mrs. Broyles opened the place at about 5:30 a. m. she found the note and discovered more than $3,300 was missing.

Money Was In Safe

Most of the money had been in the safe, which officers said was open but showed no evidence of having been forced.

Also missing was Mrs. Bray's auto, which Broyles had been using.

Meanwhile, it was alleged that Broyles was about to lose his job. The report quoted Mrs. Bray as saying she informed him about a month ago she was going to replace him as manager.

"He had been hired on a trial basis for six months," Mrs. Bray said. "He admitted that he wasn't making a go of it."

Ex-Bus Driver

Broyles quit his job as a bus driver last May to take over management of the bar.

He and his wife have six children. The couple has been married 23 years. Twice they were divorced. They remarried the second time in 1946.

Mrs. Broyles said her husband suffered a nervous breakdown about three years ago and left home a couple of times without explanation.

"But," she said, "he never would do anything like this. I'm sure he was really kidnaped."

Demos Lead Alaska Vote

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP)—Democrats were ahead in first fragmentary returns from Alaska's general election early Wednesday.

They came from southeastern Alaska and were too few to show any trend. One tiny precinct was compete, two others incomplete.

For the two "Tennessee plan" senatorships—which will send two emissaries to Washington to press for statehood — Territorial Sen. William Egan had 56 votes and former Gov. Ernest Gruening 49. Both are Democrats.

Make Believe

The Republicans, Territorial Sen. John Butrovich and publisher Robert Atwood, had 45 and 38.

For a make-believe seat in the House on the same basis, Democrat Ralph Rivers had 48 to 46 for his Republican opponent, Charles Burdick.

For Alaska's genuine nonvoting seat of delegate in the House, E. L. Bartlett, the Democratic incumbent, had 54 to 41 for Byron Gillam, the Republican candidate.

The outcome of the election was watched for possible significance of a political trend.

Warmer And Windy Seen For Nebraska

Generally fair skies and higher temperatures were predicted for Wednesday by the Weather Bureau and windy weather was to appear across Nebraska.

Warmer temperatures were to bring highs of 70 to 80 following Tuesday's highs in the upper 50's and low 60's.

Earl Wednesday, with temperatures still dropping but the warm front moving closer, Lincoln had the state's lowest temperatures, 41.

And skies were to be clear in the New York City area for the final game of the World Series. Cooler temperatures were expected there with the high around 60.

U.S., Red Split Far On Suez

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y (AP) — Secretary of State Dulles and Soviet Foreign Minister Shepilov split sharply Tuesday over Dulles' call for a Suez settlement based on the principle of insulating the canal from national policies.

The disagreement of the United States and the Soviet Union thus was thrust into the spotlight as the U.N. Security Council ended public debate and began secret talks in a desperate search for a Suez solution.

"The heart of the problem," Dulles said in a 26-minute speech to the Council, "is acceptance of the principle there should be a system to insure that the canal cannot be used by any country as an instrument of its distinctly national policy."

Talking to newsmen in the Council lounge after Dulles spoke, Shepilov rejected this principle as a cover for internationalizing the canal. He said any international group created to run the canal would, in the state of the world today, be influenced by the politics of the countries on the board. Furthermore, he said, the Soviet Union rejects international operation of the canal.

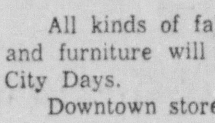
Balance

Dulles expressed some conditional interest in a suggestion by Foreign Minister Mahmoud Fawzi of Egypt for a group of reasonable size to attempt to negotiate a settlement. Dulles rejected, on the other hand, a proposal by Shepilov that a group of six or eight members, picked on the basis of proper balance, attempt such negotiations.

3 Capital City Days Offer "Fall Festival Of Values"

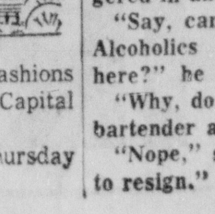
Lincoln's downtown merchants will present their "Fall Festival of Values" for three days, Wednesday through Friday.

Thousands of shoppers from Nebraska, western Iowa and northern Kansas are expected to be in Lincoln on these three Capital City Days to take advantage of the "greatest fall values ever offered in Lincoln."



Lincoln City Lines will offer free bus rides to downtown Lincoln from 9:30 to 10:30 a.m., on all three days.

Chairman for Lincoln's third "Fall Festival of Values" since World War II ended is Fred Johnston.



All kinds of fall and winter merchandise and the latest fashions and furniture will be displayed in downtown Lincoln during Capital City Days.

Downtown store hours are 9:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. except Thursday when they are 10 a.m. to 9 p.m.

Today's Chuckle

A bartender was wiping off the bar one day when a drunk staggered in and slumped over the bar.

"Say, can you tell me who runs Alcoholics Anonymous around here?" he asked.

"Why, do you want to join?" the bartender asked.

"Nope," said the drunk, "I want to resign."

Private Power Wins A Round

WASHINGTON (AP) — The licensing of three private power projects which would flood the site of the proposed federal Hells Canyon Dam was upheld Tuesday by the U.S. Court of Appeals.

The court refused to upset a Federal Power Commission (FPC) order licensing three dams proposed by the Idaho Power Co., in the Snake River bordering Idaho and Oregon, a tributary of the Columbia.

This gave the private utility a victory in another round of its long and bitter fight with public power groups which had unsuccessfully opposed it at a year-long FPC hearing.

But a spokesman for the public power groups indicated the fight will be taken to the Supreme Court if necessary. Lucien Hilmer, National Hells Canyon Assn. attorney, told a newsman the association would either appeal directly to the Supreme Court or ask a rehearing in the lower court and appeal later if this request is denied.

He said a rehearing may be asked before all nine judges in the Court of Appeals here. Tuesday's ruling, which turned down the association's petition to set aside and nullify Idaho Power's dam construction license, was made by the three judges who heard arguments in the case last May 15.

The public power groups had asked the court to void the license on grounds the Commission was required by the Federal Power Law to reject the license application and recommend the federal Hells Canyon dam.

They termed the Commission's action "an act of administrative lawlessness" which would result in "wasteful underdevelopment" of Columbia River Basin resources.

The court held, in effect, that the Power Commission violated no provisions of the Federal Power Law or the constitution in granting the license.

Plan OKd For District Reorganization Control

...State School Committee To Be Only Advisory

FREMONT, Neb. (AP) — The State Board of Education Tuesday approved a proposal by the state school reorganization committee to have residents of Nebraska's 5,000 school districts chose their own reorganization plan with the committee acting only as an advisory group.

The proposal was presented by William Brandt of Unadilla, chairman of the committee.

Under the proposal, the reorganization plan would be determined by the patrons of each district who would send it to a county reorganization committee for study and recommendation.

From County To State

The county committee then would send it to a state committee for further study and evaluation on the basis of the type and quality of the education program the plan would provide.

The state committee would send it back to the county committee with recommendations which would be explained to the people at public hearings.

The ultimate decision would be made by each district.

State Department of Education staff members Tuesday estimated the proposal would reduce the number of school districts in Nebraska from 5,000 to 424, the present number of high school districts in the state.

Proposal Hailed

The State School Board hailed the proposal as a good start toward redistricting and anticipated it would be presented to the Legislature in January.

Brandt described the proposal as the most acceptable plan to both the Legislature and the people and indicated the education committee of the Legislature is receptive to a proposal of this type.

The question of homosexuality among teachers in Nebraska schools was brought up at the morning session. A request was presented to the board that the teaching certificate of an accused homosexual be suspended.

The board authorized State Commissioner of Education F. B. Decker to schedule a hearing on the case October 23.

Shell Oil's Attorney Got Bonus

...'Not For Lobbying'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Paxton Howard, a Shell Oil Co. attorney from Texas, said Tuesday he got a $5,000 company bonus for his efforts in behalf of the natural gas bill but that he did not register as a lobbyist.

Howard told the special Senate committee investigating lobbying he did not regard as "lobbying" his company-paid activities in support of the bill in Alabama, Washington and elsewhere.

Howard testified he talked to three senators and tried to "inform" Alabamans of the desirability of the bill, which would have freed gas producers from direct federal controls. But he said he was not acting for any lobbying committee in Washington.

'Hair-Splitting'

"I don't see any reason for splitting hairs," commented committee Chairman McClellan (D-Ark). "Why don't you just say you came up here to lobby for the bill?"

McClellan also tangled with Mason Nixon, chairman of the General Gas Committee which sought passage of the bill, over what the senator admitted as the "difficult" question of who is and who isn't a lobbyist.

Nixon stuck by his May 1 testimony that his industry-sponsored committee wasn't a lobbying outfit. McClellan said Nixon's sworn statements were in "serious conflict" with those of other witnesses.

Hendrickson New Press Chairman

KIMBALL, Neb. (AP)—Arthur M. Hendrickson, publisher of the Western Nebraska Observer at Kimball, was notified Tuesday of his appointment as chairman of the press relations committee of the Nebraska Oil and Gas Assn.

The appointment was made by W. F. Rogers of Scottsbluff, chairman of the group which is made up of persons interested in Nebraska's oil and gas industry. Fred Johnson of Harrisburg was appointed membership chairman for Banner County.

New Technique Uses Inch Skin For 10-Inch Graft

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Two surgeons Tuesday reported a grafting technique by which one square inch of borrowed skin can be made to cover 10 square inches of burns.

A split-thickness of healthy skin is mixed with salt solution, then whirled in a kitchen blender for 10 minutes. The skin separates into clumps of 10 to 100 cells and the liquid looks like buttermilk.

This mixture then is sprayed or poured onto gauze, to remove the salt water, and the gauze is inverted and placed over the denuded area. When the gauze is removed two weeks later, islets of skin have started growing. Within another week the whole area is covered with new skin.

A person with burns covering half his body could still easily supply enough skin to form his own grafts. Five per cent of his unburned skin would do the job. Extensive burns are often fatal unless covered.

The technique was described to the American College of Surgeons by Drs. John S. Najarian and Horace J. McCorkle of the University of California.

Man Assaulted After Crash At 31st, Sheridan

Police reported four unidentified persons assaulted Dave Schneider, 27, of 3215 So. 48th, after the car the four were riding in and Schneider's car collided near 31st and Sheridan Blvd.

The four kicked Schneider in the head and hip and then took off when Ned Cadwallader of 3028 Woodsdale arrived on the scene to help, police said.

Schneider lapsed into unconsciousness for a short time but later refused medical treatment.

Police said Schneider, a trucker for Reimers-Kaufman, was driving southeast on Sheridan Blvd and was passing a car when the car collided with Schneider's car.

As Schneider stopped and got out to survey the damage, four unidentified persons in the other car got out and assaulted him, police said.

Tractor Kills Rockford Tot

ROCKFORD, Neb. — Merlin Schlake, two-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Merlin Schlake who farm near Rockford, died Tuesday afternoon as a result of injuries received in a tractor mishap at the farm home.

According to the parents, the youngster ran into the front wheel of a tractor driven by Mrs. Schlake who could not see him. The youngster was not run over, but was injured when he struck the tractor wheel. He was dead on arrival at a Beatrice doctor's office.

Survivors, besides the parents, include one brother, Delferd, 4, at home; the grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Miley Schlake of Cortland, and Mr. and Mrs. George Folkerts of Adams.

'Take Off Bandage So I Can See,' Blind Child Asks

ATLANTA (AP) — Five-year-old Johnny Pair, unaware that he is blind, Tuesday asked his mother to "take off my bandage so I can see."

Johnny has not yet been told that an operation Monday was for the removal of his right eye to stop the spread of cancer. His left eye was taken out two years ago in an effort to halt the cancer.

Doctors said Monday's operation gave him a "reasonably good chance" of surviving.

The operation ended a month-long debate between Johnny's divorced parents on whether it should be performed.

Adlai, HST Agree H-Tests Claims Being Construed

Fritchey Clears Misunderstanding

GREAT FALLS, Mont. (AP) — Adlai E. Stevenson said Tuesday he agrees with former President Harry S. Truman's statement that "a lot of people are trying to misconstrue" what the two have said about H-bomb tests.

Clayton Fritchey, Stevenson's news secretary, sought to clear up what he described as a misunderstanding growing out of a TV interview with the Democratic presidential nominee just before he left Chicago's O'Hare Field earlier Tuesday for a campaign swing.

Stevenson was asked for comment on what the interviewer said was Truman's disagreement with him on his proposals looking to banning H-bomb tests.

"I emphatically disagree with him if he is quoted accurately," Stevenson declared. Stevenson said that "the 'President' has not understood my position correctly." He said that "he has misrepresented my position. I'll have more to say about this later."

'With Ike'

Subsequently, upon Stevenson's arrival here, Fritchey said the interviewer at the airport may have said President Truman instead of President Eisenhower but that is not the way the governor heard him.

"Stevenson," Fritchey said, "was referring to disagreement with Ike."

As to Truman, Fritchey said Stevenson says he agrees with former President Truman's statement that "a lot of people are trying to misconstrue' what he and Stevenson have said about the H-bomb test."

Stevenson's aides checked with him before his plane left Chicago and reported Stevenson thought his questioner was talking about President Eisenhower.

Nuclear Energy

Later Stevenson went into the "problems raised by the explosive power of nuclear energy" in a speech at Seattle.

He said that his suggestion that the country start to find a way to stop the testing for huge hydrogen bombs had been met by the President and other Republicans "only with sneers and astonishing distortion of what I said, and with implications that even talking about this prejudices the nation's security."

He said his proposal was made "without criticism" of the Eisenhower administration's "policy of hydrogen weapon development which President Truman began." He added:

"I have indicated my complete willingness to accept any better proposal for accomplishing the same purpose but I can't accept the apparent administration position that we are powerless to do anything to stop this headlong race for extinction."

Misconstrued

Truman, during a Chicago stopover Saturday, said "a lot of people" have misconstrued his and Stevenson's positions on banning further H-bomb tests.

The former President said he would continue the tests if he still held the presidency. However, he said he was the first to favor a ban on nuclear weapons if a "foolproof" international control system could be established.

President Eisenhower has said such tests are "an indispensable part of our defense program."

2 Israelis Die

JERUSALEM (INS) — Israel claimed Arab infiltrators killed two Israeli workers and then cut an ear from each body.

A third worker escaped in the attack, which Israeli authormities asserted was carried out by Arabs near the village of Even Yehuda, about 10 miles from the Jordanian border.

Israeli Army sources said an ear was cut from each of the two slain workers. One of the laborers was shot in the head by a sub-machinegun at close range. The other was shot in the neck about 200 yards away.

NEW BELMONT SCHOOL ADDITION DEDICATION, OPEN HOUSE OCT. 30

Belmont School's new addition will be dedicated at an open house to be held Tuesday evening, Oct. 30, from 7:30 o'clock to 9 o'clock.

The addition, which features soft color tones in its decoration, modern cupboards and low ceilings as well as the newest equipment in lighting, includes 12 classrooms, a kitchen, lunchroom and play area and an auditorium. The outside playground, which is not yet completed, will have space for ball diamonds, a basketball court and an area for small children.

The school's enrollment, which includes kindergarten through 6th grades, is currently 387, as against 321 last June at the close of school. Ten years ago, the school's enrollment was 199 which included kindergarten through the 8th grade. Five cottages near the school which were used temporarily last year to take care of the increased enrollment, are no longer needed because of the new addition.

Parents of the pupils, members of the community and all who are interested in seeing the new building are invited to attend the open house.

IKE BIRTHDAY CAKES SLATED FOR HOSPITALS, CHILDREN'S HOMES

Seven four-tiered birthday cakes are being prepared to distribute Saturday to four Lincoln hospitals and three children's homes in the city on behalf of a nation-wide celebration of President Eisenhower's birthday.

Saturday has been designated as "Ike Day" to honor the President's birthday which is Sunday, Oct. 14.

Lancaster County Ike Day Chairman is Miss Alice Abel.

She said ingredients for the seven cakes are being furnished by Lancaster County farm wives under the direction of Mrs. Charles Warner of Waverly.

Mrs. C. B. Woita of Ceresco is going to bake the cakes using the President's favorite recipe — a chocolate cake with white frosting.

In addition to these Lincoln bakers will bake the same cakes to be distributed to the Lincoln Veterans Hospital. Mrs. Paul Royal will deliver the cakes on their behalf.

Others distributing cakes include: Mrs. P. J. Meehan, St. Elizabeth's Hospital; Mrs. John Bentley, Lincoln General; Miss Grace Trott, Bryan Memorial; Mrs. Charles H. Anderson, Orthopedic Hospital; Mrs. L. M. Kalin, St. Thomas Orphanage; Mrs. Gene Tallman, Cedars Home, and Mrs. John Dean, Whitehall.

In addition to the birthday cakes, Lancaster County residents circulated scrolls for area residents to sign wishing the President a Happy Birthday. These have been sent to the nation's capital and will be shown Saturday night when the birthday celebration is topped by a 30-minute television broadcast (CBS-TV, 8:00-8:30 CST.) President Eisenhower will participate in the broadcast.

Local residents who have circulated the scrolls are Mrs. A. A. Ault, Mrs. Charles Sherman, Mrs. Hazel Smith, Miss Norma Carpenter, Mrs. Fritz Craig, John Binning, Miss Emma Robinson and Miss Phyllis Samuelson.

Private Power Wins A Round

WASHINGTON (AP) — The licensing of three private power projects which would flood the site of the proposed federal Hells Canyon Dam was upheld Tuesday by the U.S. Court of Appeals.

The court refused to upset a Federal Power Commission (FPC) order licensing three dams proposed by the Idaho Power Co., in the Snake River bordering Idaho and Oregon, a tributary of the Columbia.

This gave the private utility a victory in another round of its long and bitter fight with public power groups which had unsuccessfully opposed it at a year-long FPC hearing.

But a spokesman for the public power groups indicated the fight will be taken to the Supreme Court if necessary. Lucien Hilmer, National Hells Canyon Assn. attorney, told a newsman the association would either appeal directly to the Supreme Court or ask a rehearing in the lower court and appeal later if this request is denied.

He said a rehearing may be asked before all nine judges in the Court of Appeals here. Tuesday's ruling, which turned down the association's petition to set aside and nullify Idaho Power's dam construction license, was made by the three judges who heard arguments in the case last May 15.

The public power groups had asked the court to void the license on grounds the Commission was required by the Federal Power Law to reject the license application and recommend the federal Hells Canyon dam.

They termed the Commission's action "an act of administrative lawlessness" which would result in "wasteful underdevelopment" of Columbia River Basin resources.

The court held, in effect, that the Power Commission violated no provisions of the Federal Power Law or the constitution in granting the license.

Plan OKd For District Reorganization Control

... State School Committee To Be Only Advisory

FREMONT, Neb. (AP) — The State Board of Education Tuesday approved a proposal by the state school reorganization committee to have residents of Nebraska's 5,000 school districts chose their own reorganization plan with the committee acting only as an advisory group.

The proposal was presented by William Brandt of Unadilla, chairman of the committee.

Under the proposal, the reorganization plan would be determined by the patrons of each district who would send it to a county reorganization committee for study and recommendation.

From County To State

The county committee then would send it to a state committee for further study and evaluation on the basis of the type and quality of the education program the plan would provide.

The state committee would send it back to the county committee with recommendations which would be explained to the people at public hearings.

The ultimate decision would be made by each district.

State Department of Education staff members Tuesday estimated the proposal would reduce the number of school districts in Nebraska from 5,000 to 424, the present number of high school districts in the state.

Proposal Hailed

The State School Board hailed the proposal as a good start toward redistricting and anticipated it would be presented to the Legislature in January.

Brandt described the proposal as the most acceptable plan to both the Legislature and the people and indicated the education committee of the Legislature is receptive to a proposal of this type.

The question of homosexuality among teachers in Nebraska schools was brought up at the morning session. A request was presented to the board that the teaching certificate of an accused homosexual be suspended.

The board authorized State Commissioner of Education F. B. Decker to schedule a hearing on the case October 23.

Shell Oil's Attorney Got Bonus

... 'Not For Lobbying'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Paxton Howard, a Shell Oil Co. attorney from Texas, said Tuesday he got a $5,000 company bonus for his efforts in behalf of the natural gas bill but that he did not register as a lobbyist.

Howard told the special Senate committee investigating lobbying he did not regard as "lobbying" his company-paid activities in support of the bill in Alabama, Washington and elsewhere.

Howard testified he talked to three senators and tried to "inform" Alabamans of the desirability of the bill, which would have freed gas producers from direct federal controls. But he said he was not acting for any lobbying committee in Washington.

'Hair-Splitting'

"I don't see any reason for splitting hairs," commented committee Chairman McClellan (D-Ark). "Why don't you just say you came up here to lobby for the bill?"

McClellan also tangled with Mason Nixon, chairman of the General Gas Committee which sought passage of the bill, over what the senator admitted as the "difficult" question of who is and who isn't a lobbyist.

Nixon stuck by his May 1 testimony that his industry-sponsored committee wasn't a lobbying outfit. McClellan said Nixon's sworn statements were in "serious conflict" with those of other witnesses.

Hendrickson New Press Chairman

KIMBALL, Neb. (AP)—Arthur M. Hendrickson, publisher of the Western Nebraska Observer at Kimball, was notified Tuesday of his appointment as chairman of the press relations committee of the Nebraska Oil and Gas Assn.

The appointment was made by W. F. Rogers of Scottsbluff, chairman of the group which is made up of persons interested in Nebraska's oil and gas industry. Fred Johnson of Harrisburg was appointed membership chairman for Banner County.

New Technique Uses Inch Skin For 10-Inch Graft

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Two surgeons Tuesday reported a grafting technique by which one square inch of borrowed skin can be made to cover 10 square inches of burns.

A split-thickness of healthy skin is mixed with salt solution, then whirled in a kitchen blender for 10 minutes. The skin separates into clumps of 10 to 100 cells and the liquid looks like buttermilk.

This mixture then is sprayed or poured onto gauze, to remove the salt water, and the gauze is inverted and placed over the denuded area. When the gauze is removed two weeks later, islets of skin have started growing. Within another week the whole area is covered with new skin.

A person with burns covering half his body could still easily supply enough skin to form his own grafts. Five per cent of his unburned skin would do the job. Extensive burns are often fatal unless covered.

The technique was described to the American College of Surgeons by Drs. John S. Najarian and Horace J. McCorkle of the University of California.

Man Assaulted After Crash At 31st, Sheridan

Police reported four unidentified persons assaulted Dave Schneider, 27, of 3215 So. 48th, after the car the four were riding in and Schneider's car collided near 31st and Sheridan Blvd.

The four kicked Schneider in the head and hip and then took off when Ned Cadwallader of 3028 Woodsdale arrived on the scene to help, police said.

Schneider lapsed into unconsciousness for a short time but later refused medical treatment.

Police said Schneider, a trucker for Reimers-Kaufman, was driving southeast on Sheridan Blvd and was passing a car when the car collided with Schneider's car.

As Schneider stopped and got out to survey the damage, four unidentified persons in the other car got out and assaulted him, police said.

Melendez 'Good'

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The condition of Hector R. Melendez, 18, was described as good late Tuesday at St. Francis Hospital here. Police reported he was shot by a former Lincoln woman, Helen J. Monks, 42, whom he had accosted in a vacant lot.

Tractor Kills Rockford Tot

ROCKFORD, Neb. — Merlin Schlake, two-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Merlin Schlake who farm near Rockford, died Tuesday afternoon as a result of injuries received in a tractor mishap at the farm home.

According to the parents, the youngster ran into the front wheel of a tractor driven by Mrs. Schlake who could not see him. The youngster was not run over, but was injured when he struck the tractor wheel. He was dead on arrival at a Beatrice doctor's office.

Survivors, besides the parents, include one brother, Delferd, 4, at home; the grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Miley Schlake of Cortland, and Mr. and Mrs. George Folkerts of Adams.

'Take Off Bandage So I Can See,' Blind Child Asks

ATLANTA (AP) — Five-year-old Johnny Pair, unaware that he is blind, Tuesday asked his mother to "take off my bandage so I can see."

Johnny has not yet been told that an operation Monday was for the removal of his right eye to stop the spread of cancer. His left eye was taken out two years ago in an effort to halt the cancer.

Doctors said Monday's operation gave him a "reasonably good chance" of surviving.

The operation ended a month-long debate between Johnny's divorced parents on whether it should be performed.

Spare Nebraska's Trees

For the second year in succession Nebraska's trees may go into the winter weakened by weeks of acute drought.

Reports from many sections of the state indicate that the situation is serious unless Nebraskans are to close their eyes to possibility that thousands of fine mature trees may die before the return of spring.

In Lincoln it has been a long time since elm, oak, and other valued varieties of ornamental trees revealed so clearly that time was running out on them. In many residential sections the ground has become so dry that it will not seemingly absorb water to go down sufficiently to prove of benefit to the roost systems. If undetermined numbers of Lincoln's trees are to be saved it will be necessary to water them before the ground freezes. Those trees between the sidewalk or the lot line and the street curbing are the responsibility of the property owner but if necessary the city government should see to it that sufficient crews get on the job to get it done.

Diversification Is With Us

The Tenth Federal Reserve District, of which Nebraska is a part, took cognizance of the great and increasing importance of petroleum production to this general area

Speaking for western Nebraska, Colorado, Wyoming a section of New Mexico, Kansas and Oklahoma it noted that this oil region, much of it newly developed, is now producing 20 per cent of the total national output of crude oil and contains 10 per cent of the nation's operating refinery capacity.

Of equal interest it pointed out that the region last year not only produced $1.3 billion worth of oil but also that its petroleum production equalled in value approximately two-fifths of all the area's agriculture produced.

These are provocative figures in states that are so keenly interested in a more diversified economy. They indicate that diversification is well under way and of a kind that will encourage a great variety of diversification in the future.

Especially interesting here is the part that western Nebraska is playing in oil.

It is a big and a growing part

Nebraska annually produced something over 200,000 barrels of crude as recently as 1948 At the close of 1955 it was producing 10 million barrels. Drilling has increased five-fold the past five years. This is a remarkable gain, stimulated by success in tapping new production, but most effectively by the construction of added pipeline facilities.

Perhaps It Was A Preview

It was with poor grace that the Republican party received Adlai Stevenson's suggestion that the draft for the armed forces could conceivably be eliminated in the foreseeable future.

Now it appears that the GOP may have talked out of turn and that which it termed a flagrant bid for votes may in reality be a real preview of the future.

Elsewhere on this page Marquis Childs, a news commentator best known for measured, careful, thoughtful statement, discusses the magnitude of this nation's efforts, productive efforts, in the field of guided missiles, especially of the intercontinental type. Clearly the nation is standing at the threshold of still a newer type of defense—one that will nullify much of the long standing concepts of warfare and the number and type of men who may be called upon to wage it.

It is dangerous to logic today in this rapidly changing world to yardstick the future by measurements of the past. It is more important to grasp the significance of change and to adjust to it. Possibly Mr. Stevenson spoke with a comprehension of the future to a nation which had not yet as clear a picture of it.

Certainly a defense based on intercontinental missiles will call for a military force based not so much on numbers as upon high professional training. It can be a service of such pay and specialization that it will experience little difficulty drawing its full complement of men from volunteer sources.

It does not follow that conscription and adequate national defense must forever go hand in hand. That depends upon the nature of modern defense. In furtherance of that thought today's article by Marquis Childs is must reading.

Of Men And Things

By J. E. LAWRENCE

A young Nebraskan now in Detroit writes to the editor to protest treatment of the farm problem by Detroit newspapers. "They (the papers) tell the local Joes that the farmer is just out to get all he can — well, that's a simple enough analysis of the farm problem—yes, and that's all just plain simple. If it were not for the sobering fact that today people seem to think what they want to think and since money talks they think what it wants them to think—this trash would be very comical." It is not comical, of course. Where there is the time and the desire to think it through what is happening in many rural areas in America is pretty melancholy. For the young people—the young farmer and his wife—forced to go into debt both for his land and for the equipment to farm it is being forced from the soil.

All They Can Get

This is one of the most curious campaigns. It is filed with confusion and contradiction. We extol the free enterprise system—we should—and then in the next breath the metropolitan press of the great cities takes out after the farmer for wanting to dispose of the commodities which he produces at a profit. It is that simple. The farmer has not been realizing a profit. He has been unable to dispose either of grain or livestock at a profit to him. Industry has its own remedy when its operations prove unprofitable. It merely closes the door and permits its workers to twirl their thumbs in idleness until demand has caught up with supply and the need for goods again insures the producer a profit. It is so foolish and so false to conclude that there is a farm problem simply because the farmer and his family are trying to 'gouge' the American people all they can. Nothing could be more false nor unfair.

★

The farm problem bobs up again and again because the law of supply and demand simply does not work in his case. When the harvest is abundant it has been the experience of the farmer that prices for the commodities he produces drop to ruinous levels. When drought or other developments cut in on the harvest prices may mend but the farmer has nothing to sell.

★

Ike's Flexible Supports

Here is the way John S. Knight, publisher and editor of the Detroit Free Press, handles the farm problem for his thousands of readers: "Ike believes in a flexible support system which has a chance to work. Adlai is for the rigid type of supports which produce vast surpluses of unmarketable farm products. Here again the Eisenhower plan makes more sense but Stevenson is making hay with the discontented farmers who, like most of us, are out to get all they can. By the way, Joe (Joe Smith), you should see Adlai's farm at Libertyville near Chicago. The only crop it produces is corn for the campaign" If one wants to be a smart aler we assume that about the same observation can be made with respect to Ike's Gettysburg farm. This reference to Joe Smith stirs memories of 1952. Terry Carpenter was a member of the Nebraska delegation which attended the 1952 Republican National Convention. The late 'Bob' Taft had appeared before that delegation to outline Taft's farm program. Then Ike made his appearance before the Nebraskans. Terry asked the President what type of a farm program he proposed. In reply Ike said he "knew nothing of farming but he would have his experts."

★

Mr. Benson may be Ike's expert but if he is there are a lot of farmers in this country who think Benson knows far less about farming than he should.

One More Thing

The newest gimmick in the supermarket world is an automatic device to load up the customers' bags—no more delays at the pay counter while the cashier sorts and packs the groceries. The new machine takes care of the last but one problem connected with present day shopping. The other is a need for a machine that will turn out enough dollars to pay for the order. And we can't understand why they left that one to the last.

67 Years Old

It is worth noting that moving pictures have been with us 67 years. It was during October 1889 that Thomas A. Edison exhibited his first animated film successfully—a 50 foot super colossal piece of action.

Movies today are a standard piece of life either in the form of entertainment or for education or as animated documentation of news and history. They are wonderfully developed over the primitive test strip that Edison first displayed.

Like other great new discoveries the movies give an excellent example of stimulation to human activity and advance. They have not only informed and entertained the public, they have also widened the field of research, business and prosperity of vast numbers of Americans, illustrating again that diversity of action, degree of employment and economic well being are more greatly served by opening new fields than by direct political action.

The past seventy years has been a great period for human discovery. Great as was the contribution of Edison in 1889 it was only one of a great number, possibly the biggest was the cracking of the atom which in itself contains a field for human activity that is virtually boundless.

What About It?

The nation isn't exactly cynical over the varied forms of poll taking during presidential campaigns, but it is a little dizzy. Significant trends can be found in everything from a train wreck to the birth of Siamese twins.

The St. Louis Post-Dispatch did not contribute to the simplification of things with its newest poll suggestion, but it dug up a new possibility that others have overlooked It has called upon the commentators and the poll-takers to interpret the world series in terms of the coming election, noting that each candidate attended the series with the following results·

Eisenhower, 18 hits, 9 runs, 4 home runs, 2 doubles, 6 walks, 14 strikeouts and 5 pitchers.

Stevenson: 24 hits, 21 runs, 2 home runs, 2 doubles, 14 bases on balls, 14 strikeouts and 10 pitchers.

Dulles Lost Votes In Political Talk

WASHINGTON — Chairman Len Hall has been trying to persuade John Foster Dulles to campaign for the GOF ticket, and the secretary of state is wavering Hitherto he has maintained that for the sake of the bipartisan foreign policy he should keep aloof.

Before Hall urges Dulles further, however he ought to check with leaders of the Greek Orthodox Church, before which Dulles spoke last week.

Prior to Dulles' speech, Archbishop Michael cautioned his cohorts to keep out of Stevenson headquarters which are located in the Sheraton-Park hotel, also headquarters for the Greek Orthodox Convention

"No political activity, no political activity," the archbishop warned

Following Dulles' speech, however, he stopped his warning. For Dulles addressed the Greeks not about Cyprus where U.S. backing of Britain has been severely criticized but about the Poznan trials in Poland, a long way from Greece.

Most amazing of all, Dulles indirectly criticized the church in Poland for political activity, which in the opinion of Greek-American listeners did two things

1 It put him on the same side as the Kremlin, which also opposes church activity in Poland.

2. It put him against the political activity of Greek Catholic Archbishop Makarios, who has been exiled from Cyprus by the British.

Though the Roman Catholic Church is involved in Poland, the Greek Orthodox Church is just as vigorous in claiming that human relations and political relations are intertwined and that the church has a right to fight for them.

"Dulles probably lost the GOP 100 000 votes by that speech," remarked George Vournas, prominent Greek-American.

SUEZ DICKERING

What the foreign ministers meeting at the UN seems to ignore is the need of long-range planning for the Suez Canal and the Near East

The British and French have been so peeved at John Foster Dulles that for a time just before the New York meeting they refused to give him any inkling of their plans.

But while the world's top statesmen have been haggling over colonialism and legalities the entire Near Eastern policy of the United States has been on a week-to-week, day-to-day basis

We have had no long-range plan, no ten-year goal on which to set our sights. Population along the Nile is increasing, the standard of living decreasing. Arab populations are restless. The situation between Israel and the Arab states has been verging on war. Yet the United States has decided its policies on a shifting day-today basis. Whatever Mr. Dulles decides on a certain day is American policy; and that may depend on where Mr. Dulles is that day and whom he is talking to.

Meanwhile, the hard facts are that the Suez Canal in ten years will be completely out of date. In ten years it will be carrying 4 000,000 barrels of oil a day to supply Europe Seventy per cent of the world's oil supply lies under the arid sands of the Arab countries, most of it in Saudi Arabia That oil is essential to European industry, and the increased consumption will mean either a new duplicating canal; or huge tankers will be built to go all the way round Africa; or at least two more pipelines from Iraq and Saudi Arabia to the Mediterranean.

All this means constructive planning. It doesn't mean day-to-day dickering over the diplomatic council tables. It means long-range, careful planning for peace and cooperation in the Near East

At the time of the Roman Empire this little area of the Near East (Syria, Lebanon, Israel, Jordan, Iraq, Saudi Arabia, and Egypt) held 60,000,000 people. Today it holds 25,000,000. Then it was under one government, which, though tyrannical, kept the peace.

Labor Less Vocal In This Campaign

WASHINGTON—One thing missing from this campaign is a vocal outcry from labor. Nearly full employment and the internal problems attached to the merger of the American Federation of Labor and the CIO are apparently responsible.

What the unions are doing, especially in states where their friends in the Senate are up for re-election, is getting out the vote. They are bearing down in their publications and their meetings on the need to register.

Registration as such is being stressed rather than organized delivery of the vote for a particular candidate. The latter type of effort evoked much criticism in past years and, what was even worse from the union point of view, it was ineffective.

Very little is being said about the Taft-Hartley act, though union heads still believe that some of its provisions would be deadly to organized labor in anything less than widespread prosperity. They have settled for inaction in Congress and they are settling for inaction in the campaign on that score.

Labor leaders discovered in 1952 that President Eisenhower's promise to end the Korean war pulled wives of their members into his camp in very large numbers. That appeal, they now think, has run its course.

Their present view is that Mr. Eisenhower remains more popular among women in Labor groups than among men, but they anticipate that Labor's vote will be substantially Democratic everywhere.

The issues pressed by Labor spokesmen are.

1. Administration opposition to raising the minimum wage to the 90 cents approved by the Democratic Congress.

2. Administration opposition, to the expanded social security bill approved by Congress.

3. The President's nominees to the National Labor Relations Board. Labor brands these choices unfriendly.

☆ ☆ ☆

Representatives of organized labor accompany both Adlai Stevenson and Estes Kefauver on their campaign travels. They are publicly unobstrusive, however. "We used to talk too much," one said bluntly. "It didn't help us or our candidates."

In some states the concentration of labor effort is clearly apparent. It is helping Senators Warren Magnuson in Washington and Wayne Morse in Oregon, for example. Richard Stengel, who is opposing Senator Dirksen in Illinois, finds the unions more zealous so far than the Cook County Democratic machine.

Those Who Saw It Grow With Years

NEW YORK (INS)—THE PASSING SHOW. . .

There was a nice fat crowd of 64 519 on hand at Yankee Stadium for Don Larsen's arrestingly perfect no-hitter. But by the time 1976 rolls around the congregation will have grown to about a million.

I have personally met at least five old sportswriters into whose lap Jack Dempsey exclusively fell the night Luis Angel Firpo belted Jack out of the ring. Jack would have had to be nine feet tall and have fallen horizontally and stiff as a plank to make this possible.

Years ago in Washington, after having talked to the 17,000th old timer who claimed to have been at the ball park the day Walter Johnson pitched his first major league game, I searched the dusty ledgers and discovered that the paid attendance when the greatest pitcher of all time made his debut was 802.

The result of this research was an immature little article finding fault with these gentle old phonies who wanted to horn in on a historic moment in baseball. The day the article appeared my older brother, who has about as much interest in sports as, let us say, Lydia Pinkham, called up and said it was a nice angry piece.

"How do you like all those old bums claiming they saw that game," I said, in extension.

"I saw it," my brother said.

Turned out that that was the game he did see. The one game.

So listen, kids, go easy on us graybeards in 1976 when one of us cackles that we were in the witness box at one of the great sports moments of all time. For all you know, we might just be telling the truth.

More people are painting today than ever before, and it's not just because there are more people. Sales of paints, brushes, easels and canvas have tripled in the past ten years, which is more than you can say for the population.

Why? Some experts feel that the isolation that tens of thousands of people knew during World War II—born of assignment to tedious places, or separations from a mate—brought this on. Others say that Winston Churchill and Dwight Eisenhower stimulated the interest. Still others insist that when it was revealed that Grandma Moses could paint and market her product, in her 90's, many began to dabble. Anyway, there it is. Taos, N. M., with a population of 3,500, has 200 accredited artists and maybe 1,000 earnest doodlers. The town has 60 studios and 18 galleries.

Guided Missiles Could End Draft

WASHINGTON—When Adlai Stevenson first suggested that it might be possible "within the forseeable future" to end the draft, he touched on a sore point in the administration and the result has been a massive attack on the Democratic candidate led by President Eisenhower

The latest blast from the President accused Stevenson of endangering America's security in a bid for votes At his Washington press conference Stevenson had sought to amplify his original statement by stressing the need for a highly-trained, highly-mobile, professional force which cannot be obtained through the draft

What Stevenson has not yet disclosed is that he has been informed by authoritative sources that the postwar weapons revolution is about to move into a new and even more revolutionary phase. The intercontinental ballistic missile—both the one-stage and the two-stage 5,500-mile missile—is shortly to be ready for testing.

This is a triumph for the Air Force's development program. The program on both the East and West Coasts has been for the past six months almost the equivalent of the Manhattan project which during the war produced the atomic bomb According to Stevenson's informants, the test date will come well under the deadline set by the National Security Council

The ICBM, with a range of 5 500 miles and an atomic warhead, means the opening of a vast new technological era in warfare. Stevenson believes it underscores his argument for a highly-trained force with a continuity of service.

No one can tell how long the test phase of the ICBM will last, since it presents some formidable difficulties Even with a dummy warhead, the missile launched from a testing site on the West Coast involves serious risks. With an atomic warhead, the difficulties would be infinitely greater.

But the fact this stage is at hand is of the most far-reaching

. . . did he unveil the future? . . .

significance Stevenson had been informed that the President intended to suggest at some point in the campaign that the draft could be ended which is one reason, according to his advisers, why he threw this into his American Legion speech in Los Angeles last month

Whether the administration is ready to announce the progress that has been made in development of the ICBM is not known. But obviously such an announcement could have been linked with the need for a new approach to military manpower eliminating the draft.

When Trevor Gardner resigned as assistant secretary of defense in charge of research and development early this year, he gave as his reason the failure of the administration to back the rocket and missile program with sufficient funds.

His public attack caused deep resentment within the administration It is believed, however, to have spurred the White House and the Defense Department to a more intensive effort.

Behind the campaign charges and countercharges on the draft is the failure since the end of World War II to resolve the problem of military manpower in peacetime.

General George C. Marshall believed the only fair solution was a system of Universal Military training. He argued that the draft was a far too expensive method for providing the men essential to meet America's military responsibilities in various parts of the world.

A man drafted for two years was trained for three or four months, sent overseas to serve in one of the American units in Asia or Europe and then, just as he became an asset, his term of service ended and he was shipped home.

President Truman backed Marshall's proposal for universal military training, but political leaders of both parties in Congress made it plain that universal training would never be acceptable.

As chief of staff of the Army from 1945 to '48, General Eisenhower also advocated a system of universal military service. To try to meet the need for a continuing trained reserve, the administration last year put over a reserve training program. But as finally approved by the Congress, it incorporated so many compromises that it has thus far been a failure.

The need to hold trained and skilled manpower has in recent months become acute. Top Air Force officers have testified that their inability to retain men trained to operate the machines of the jet and electronic era in competition with private industry is a severe handicap

The rate of re-enlistment has dropped perilously low and a Senate Investigating Committee was told that this impairs the effectiveness of the Strategic Air Command which, with its atomic striking power, is the chief deterrent to aggression.

These are the stern realities. Perhaps it is too much to hope that they would be discussed reasonably in a political campaign. But whoever is president after the inauguration in January cannot postpone for much longer some tough decisions.

Short Of Money?

Tyron, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: The Republicans must be running short of money, in Nebraska. After all that is said about increasing postage to keep the Postal Department out of the red, that a Congressman can and does use his franking privilege to further his election. He may not call it political advertisement but I do, for after all, all that he wants to do is tell the voters about what little he got done but what big things he could do if re-elected.

If I read the signs right, the voters of the fourth Congressional district of Nebraska, come Nov. 6th, may decide to send a new man down to Washington.

Years ago when Nebraska adopted the Unicameral legislature, I for one, was in hopes that we would rise above partisan politics. In the appointing to jobs, Brown wears the party label. Jones has the brains and know-how but they can't use him.

Hoover 'Great' President

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: I would like to know who classified our great ex-President Hoover as T. H. Carter reports.

I have heard many Democrats and all Republicans mention Mr. Hoover as one of the great men of our times. He was maligned and had no cooperation by the Democratic Congress when he was President, but we all recognize that he has "come into his own" in these times. In my humble opinion it's too bad—muchly too bad—that Mr. Dewey was not elected President.

YES-A GOOD REPUBLICAN

☆ ☆ ☆

Sometimes Doesn't Last

Hebron, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: The Republican party is placing all its hopes on the popularity of President Eisenhower as shown in the 1952 election when he received 442 electoral votes to Stevenson's 89.

The past election records show in several cases the president elected on popularity the first time fades out when running for re-election. In 1908 William Howard Taft was a very popular candidate. His electoral vote was 321 to W. J. Bryan's 176. In 1912 when he ran for re-election he received only 8 electoral votes. In the 1928 election Herbert Hoover was a very popular candidate. He received 444 electoral votes to Al Smith's 87. In 1932 when he ran for re-election he received 59 electoral votes to Franklin D. Roosevelt's 472.

President Eisenhower's administration is not popular with thousands of voters who supported him four years ago, and many who wore the "I Like Ike" buttons in 1952 are out working for Stevenson in this election. It is evident that Ike's popularity has faded with a lot of voters.

In every section of the country the voters have something to complain about, which is not helping Ike. First among these complaints is the give-away of Tidelands oil over-riding the decision of the Supreme Court which said the Tidelands belonged to all the people of the 48 states and the royalties were to go to support the schools of those states.

Second, was the giveaway of the Hells Canyon power site. Unforgotten is the administration's efforts to favor Dixon-Yates with a contract from the Atomic Engery Commission for construction of the steam generating plant to supply the Tennessee Valley authority which Eisenhower described as creeping socialism and attempted to cripple. His socialism charge must necessarily include all public utilities of which the rural electric associations are a part. Ike has also favored large corporations over small business.

Third, his pledges made in the 1952 campaign binding him and the Republican party have never been kept. These failures to live up to campaign promises will change thousands of votes in the coming election, just how many remains to be seen.

Taxes Without End

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Up, up, and still upward spiral the city and county real estate taxes!

Fantastically enough there appears to be no ceiling for these ascending spirals. Like the Biblical prodigal son there is no end to the desire to spend, that is, to spend the other fellow's money for him.

Notwithstanding Lincoln's growth in population and property valuations, and so more money from the same mill levies, I see no new or additional benefits accruing to my property by reason of these increased taxes.

Adlai, HST Agree H-Tests Claims Being Construed

Fritchey Clears Misunderstanding

GREAT FALLS, Mont. (AP) — Adlai E. Stevenson said Tuesday he agrees with former President Harry S. Truman's statement that "a lot of people are trying to misconstrue" what the two have said about H-bomb tests.

Clayton Fritchey, Stevenson's news secretary, sought to clear up what he described as a misunderstanding growing out of a TV interview with the Democratic presidential nominee just before he left Chicago's O'Hare Field earlier Tuesday for a campaign swing.

Stevenson was asked for comment on what the interviewer said was Truman's disagreement with him on his proposals looking to banning H-bomb tests.

"I emphatically disagree with him if he is quoted accurately," Stevenson declared. Stevenson said that "the 'President' has not understood my position correctly." He said that "he has misrepresented my position. I'll have more to say about this later."

'With Ike'

Subsequently, upon Stevenson's arrival here, Fritchey said the interviewer at the airport may have said President Truman instead of President Eisenhower but that is not the way the governor heard him.

"Stevenson," Fritchey said, "was referring to disagreement with Ike."

As to Truman, Fritchey said Stevenson says he agrees with former President Truman's statement that "a lot of people are trying to misconstrue' what he and Stevenson have said about the H-bomb test."

Stevenson's aides checked with him before his plane left Chicago and reported Stevenson thought his questioner was talking about President Eisenhower.

Nuclear Energy

Later Stevenson went into the "problems raised by the explosive power of nuclear energy" in a speech at Seattle.

He said that his suggestion that the country start to find a way to stop the testing for huge hydrogen bombs had been met by the President and other Republicans "only with sneers and astonishing distortion of what I said, and with implications that even talking about this prejudices the nation's security."

He said his proposal was made "without criticism" of the Eisenhower administration's "policy of hydrogen weapon development which President Truman began." He added:

"I have indicated my complete willingness to accept any better proposal for accomplishing the same purpose but I can't accept the apparent administration position that we are powerless to do anything to stop this headlong race for extinction."

Misconstrued

Truman, during a Chicago stopover Saturday, said "a lot of people" have misconstrued his and Stevenson's positions on banning further H-bomb tests.

The former President said he would continue the tests if he still held the presidency. However, he said he was the first to favor a ban on nuclear weapons if a "foolproof" international control system could be established.

President Eisenhower has said such tests are "an indispensable part of our defense program."

Mr. Holley died Monday in Lincoln.

Born at Waverly, he had been a resident of that community all his life. He was a carpenter and a member of the Waverly Methodist Church

Surviving are daughters, Mrs. Edwin Schaad of Sutton, Mrs. Leatrice Little of Bartlesville, Okla.; sisters, Mrs. Ed Anderton, Miss Muriel Holley, both of Waverly, Mrs. Fred Malone of Lincoln, Mrs. Lenora Stephenson of Escondido, Calif., and brother, James of Lincoln.

2 Israelis Die

JERUSALEM (INS) — Israel claimed Arab infiltrators killed two Israeli workers and then cut an ear from each body.

A third worker escaped in the attack, which Israeli authormities asserted was carried out by Arabs near the village of Even Yehuda, about 10 miles from the Jordanian border.

Israeli Army sources said an ear was cut from each of the two slain workers. One of the laborers was shot in the head by a sub-machinegun at close range. The other was shot in the neck about 200 yards away.

NEW BELMONT SCHOOL ADDITION DEDICATION, OPEN HOUSE OCT. 30

Belmont School's new addition will be dedicated at an open house to be held Tuesday evening, Oct. 30, from 7:30 o'clock to 9 o'clock.

The addition, which features soft color tones in its decoration, modern cupboards and low ceilings as well as the newest equipment in lighting, includes 12 classrooms, a kitchen, lunchroom and play area and an auditorium. The outside playground, which is not yet completed, will have space for ball diamonds, a basketball court and an area for small children.

The school's enrollment, which includes kindergarten through 6th grades, is currently 387, as against 321 last June at the close of school. Ten years ago, the school's enrollment was 199 which included kindergarten through the 8th grade. Five cottages near the school which were used temporarily last year to take care of the increased enrollment, are no longer needed because of the new addition.

Parents of the pupils, members of the community and all who are interested in seeing the new building are invited to attend the open house.

IKE BIRTHDAY CAKES SLATED FOR HOSPITALS, CHILDREN'S HOMES

Seven four-tiered birthday cakes are being prepared to distribute Saturday to four Lincoln hospitals and three children's homes in the city on behalf of a nation-wide celebration of President Eisenhower's birthday.

Saturday has been designated as "Ike Day" to honor the President's birthday which is Sunday, Oct. 14.

Lancaster County Ike Day Chairman is Miss Alice Abel.

She said ingredients for the seven cakes are being furnished by Lancaster County farm wives under the direction of Mrs. Charles Warner of Waverly.

Mrs. C. B. Woita of Ceresco is going to bake the cakes using the President's favorite recipe — a chocolate cake with white frosting.

In addition to these Lincoln bakers will bake the same cakes to be distributed to the Lincoln Veterans Hospital. Mrs. Paul Royal will deliver the cakes on their behalf.

Others distributing cakes include: Mrs. P. J. Meehan, St. Elizabeth's Hospital; Mrs. John Bentley, Lincoln General; Miss Grace Trott, Bryan Memorial; Mrs. Charles H. Anderson, Orthopedic Hospital; Mrs. L. M. Kalin, St. Thomas Orphanage; Mrs. Gene Tallman, Cedars Home, and Mrs. John Dean, Whitehall.

In addition to the birthday cakes, Lancaster County residents circulated scrolls for area residents to sign wishing the President a Happy Birthday. These have been sent to the nation's capital and will be shown Saturday night when the birthday celebration is topped by a 30-minute television broadcast (CBS-TV, 8:00-8:30 CST.) President Eisenhower will participate in the broadcast.

Local residents who have circulated the scrolls are Mrs. A. A. Ault, Mrs. Charles Sherman, Mrs. Hazel Smith, Miss Norma Carpenter, Mrs. Fritz Craig, John Binning, Miss Emma Robinson and Miss Phyllis Samuelson.

Spare Nebraska's Trees

For the second year in succession Nebraska's trees may go into the winter weakened by weeks of acute drought.

Reports from many sections of the state indicate that the situation is serious unless Nebraskans are to close their eyes to possibility that thousands of fine mature trees may die before the return of spring.

In Lincoln it has been a long time since elm, oak, and other valued varieties of ornamental trees revealed so clearly that time was running out on them. In many residential sections the ground has become so dry that it will not seemingly absorb water to go down sufficiently to prove of benefit to the roost systems. If undetermined numbers of Lincoln's trees are to be saved it will be necessary to water them before the ground freezes. Those trees between the sidewalk or the lot line and the street curbing are the responsibility of the property owner but if necessary the city government should see to it that sufficient crews get on the job to get it done.

Diversification Is With Us

The Tenth Federal Reserve District, of which Nebraska is a part, took cognizance of the great and increasing importance of petroleum production to this general area.

Speaking for western Nebraska, Colorado, Wyoming a section of New Mexico, Kansas and Oklahoma it noted that this oil region, much of it newly developed, is now producing 20 per cent of the total national output of crude oil and contains 10 per cent of the nation's operating refinery capacity.

Of equal interest it pointed out that the region last year not only produced $1.3 billion worth of oil but also that its petroleum production equalled in value approximately two-fifths of all the area's agriculture produced.

These are provocative figures in states that are so keenly interested in a more diversified economy. They indicate that diversification is well under way and of a kind that will encourage a great variety of diversification in the future.

Especially interesting here is the part that western Nebraska is playing in oil.

It is a big and a growing part.

Nebraska annually produced something over 200,000 barrels of crude as recently as 1948. At the close of 1955 it was producing 10 million barrels. Drilling has increased five-fold the past five years. This is a remarkable gain, stimulated by success in tapping new production, but most effectively by the construction of added pipeline facilities.

Perhaps It Was A Preview

It was with poor grace that the Republican party received Adlai Stevenson's suggestion that the draft for the armed forces could conceivably be eliminated in the foreseeable future.

Now it appears that the GOP may have talked out of turn and that which it termed a flagrant bid for votes may in reality be a real preview of the future.

Elsewhere on this page Marquis Childs, a news commentator best known for measured, careful, thoughtful statement, discusses the magnitude of this nation's efforts, productive efforts, in the field of guided missiles, especially of the intercontinental type. Clearly the nation is standing at the threshold of still a newer type of defense—one that will nullify much of the long standing concepts of warfare and the number and type of men who may be called upon to wage it.

It is dangerous to logic today in this rapidly changing world to yardstick the future by measurements of the past. It is more important to grasp the significance of change and to adjust to it. Possibly Mr. Stevenson spoke with a comprehension of the future to a nation which had not yet as clear a picture of it.

Certainly a defense based on intercontinental missiles will call for a military force based not so much on numbers as upon high professional training. It can be a service of such pay and specialization that it will experience little difficulty drawing its full complement of men from volunteer sources.

It does not follow that conscription and adequate national defense must forever go hand in hand. That depends upon the nature of modern defense. In furtherance of that thought today's article by Marquis Childs is must reading.

Of Men And Things

By J. E. LAWRENCE

A young Nebraskan now in Detroit writes to the editor to protest treatment of the farm problem by Detroit newspapers. "They (the papers) tell the local Joes that the farmer is just out to get all he can — well, that's a simple enough analysis of the farm problem—yes, and that's all just plain simple. If it were not for the sobering fact that today people seem to think what they want to think and since money talks they think what it wants them to think—this trash would be very comical." It is not comical, of course. Where there is the time and the desire to think it through what is happening in many rural areas in America is pretty melancholy. For the young people—the young farmer and his wife—forced to go into debt both for his land and for the equipment to farm it is being forced from the soil.

All They Can Get

This is one of the most curious campaigns. It is filed with confusion and contradiction. We extol the free enterprise system—we should—and then in the next breath the metropolitan press of the great cities takes out after the farmer for wanting to dispose of the commodities which he produces at a profit. It is that simple. The farmer has not been realizing a profit. He has been unable to dispose either of grain or livestock at a profit to him. Industry has its own remedy when its operations prove unprofitable. It merely closes the door and permits its workers to twirl their thumbs in idleness until demand has caught up with supply and the need for goods again insures the producer a profit. It is so foolish and so false to conclude that there is a farm problem simply because the farmer and his family are trying to 'gouge' the American people all they can. Nothing could be more false nor unfair.

★

The farm problem bobs up again and again because the law of supply and demand simply does not work in his case. When the harvest is abundant it has been the experience of the farmer that prices for the commodities he produces drop to ruinous levels. When drought or other developments cut in on the harvest prices may mend but the farmer has nothing to sell.

★

Ike's Flexible Supports

Here is the way John S. Knight, publisher and editor of the Detroit Free Press, handles the farm problem for his thousands of readers: "Ike believes in a flexible support system which has a chance to work. Adlai is for the rigid type of supports which produce vast surpluses of unmarketable farm products. Here again the Eisenhower plan makes more sense but Stevenson is making hay with the discontented farmers who, like most of us, are out to get all they can. By the way, Joe (Joe Smith), you should see Adlai's farm at Libertyville near Chicago. The only crop it produces is corn for the campaign." If one wants to be a smart alec we assume that about the same observation can be made with respect to Ike's Gettysburg farm. This reference to Joe Smith stirs memories of 1952. Terry Carpenter was a member of the Nebraska delegation which attended the 1952 Republican National Convention. The late 'Bob' Taft had appeared before that delegation to outline Taft's farm program. Then Ike made his appearance before the Nebraskans. Terry asked the President what type of a farm program he proposed. In reply Ike said he "knew nothing of farming but he would have his experts."

★

Mr. Benson may be Ike's expert but if he is there are a lot of farmers in this country who think Benson knows far less about farming than he should.

One More Thing

The newest gimmick in the supermarket world is an automatic device to load up the customers' bags—no more delays at the pay counter while the cashier sorts and packs the groceries. The new machine takes care of the last but one problem connected with present day shopping. The other is a need for a machine that will turn out enough dollars to pay for the order. And we can't understand why they left that one to the last.

67 Years Old

It is worth noting that moving pictures have been with us 67 years. It was during October 1889 that Thomas A. Edison exhibited his first animated film successfully—a 50 foot super colossal piece of action.

Movies today are a standard piece of life either in the form of entertainment or for education or as animated documentation of news and history. They are wonderfully developed over the primitive test strip that Edison first displayed.

Like other great new discoveries the movies give an excellent example of stimulation to human activity and advance. They have not only informed and entertained the public, they have also widened the field of research, business and prosperity of vast numbers of Americans, illustrating again that diversity of action, degree of employment and economic well being are more greatly served by opening new fields than by direct political action.

The past seventy years has been a great period for human discovery. Great as was the contribution of Edison in 1889 it was only one of a great number, possibly the biggest was the cracking of the atom which in itself contains a field for human activity that is virtually boundless.

What About It?

The nation isn't exactly cynical over the varied forms of poll taking during presidential campaigns, but it is a little dizzy. Significant trends can be found in everything from a train wreck to the birth of Siamese twins.

The St. Louis Post-Dispatch did not contribute to the simplification of things with its newest poll suggestion, but it dug up a new possibility that others have overlooked. It has called upon the commentators and the polltakers to interpret the world series in terms of the coming election, noting that each candidate attended the series with the following results:

Eisenhower: 18 hits, 9 runs, 4 home runs, 2 doubles, 6 walks, 14 strikeouts and 5 pitchers.

Stevenson: 24 hits, 21 runs, 2 home runs, 2 doubles, 14 bases on balls, 14 strikeouts and 10 pitchers.

Dulles Lost Votes In Political Talk

WASHINGTON — Chairman Len Hall has been trying to persuade John Foster Dulles to campaign for the GOP ticket, and the secretary of state is wavering. Hitherto he has maintained that for the sake of the bipartisan foreign policy he should keep aloof.

Before Hall urges Dulles further, however, he ought to check with leaders of the Greek Orthodox Church, before which Dulles spoke last week.

Prior to Dulles' speech, Archbishop Michael cautioned his cohorts to keep out of Stevenson headquarters which are located in the Sheraton-Park hotel, also headquarters for the Greek Orthodox Convention.

"No political activity, no political activity," the archbishop warned.

Following Dulles' speech, however, he stopped his warning. For Dulles addressed the Greeks not about Cyprus where U.S. backing of Britain has been severely criticized but about the Poznan trials in Poland, a long way from Greece.

Most amazing of all, Dulles indirectly criticized the church in Poland for political activity, which in the opinion of Greek-American listeners did two things:

1. It put him on the same side as the Kremlin, which also opposes church activity in Poland.

2. It put him against the political activity of Greek Catholic Archbishop Makarios, who has been exiled from Cyprus by the British.

Though the Roman Catholic Church is involved in Poland, the Greek Orthodox Church is just as vigorous in claiming that human relations and political relations are intertwined and that the church has a right to fight for them.

"Dulles probably lost the GOP 100,000 votes by that speech," remarked George Vournas, prominent Greek-American.

SUEZ DICKERING

What the foreign ministers meeting at the UN seems to ignore is the need of long-range planning for the Suez Canal and the Near East.

The British and French have been so peeved at John Foster Dulles that for a time just before the New York meeting they refused to give him any inkling of their plans.

But while the world's top statesmen have been haggling over colonialism and legalities, the entire Near Eastern policy of the United States has been on a week-to-week, day-to-day basis.

We have had no long-range plan, no ten-year goal on which to set our sights. Population along the Nile is increasing, the standard of living decreasing. Arab populations are restless. The situation between Israel and the Arab states has been verging on war. Yet the United States has decided its policy on a shifting day-today basis. Whatever Mr. Dulles decides on a certain day is American policy; and that may depend on where Mr. Dulles is that day and whom he is talking to.

Meanwhile, the hard facts are that the Suez Canal in ten years will be completely out of date. In ten years it will be carrying 4,000,000 barrels of oil a day to supply Europe. Seventy per cent of the world's oil supply lies under the arid sands of the Arab countries, most of it in Saudi Arabia. That oil is essential to European industry, and the increased consumption will mean either a new duplicating canal; or huge tankers will be built to go all the way round Africa; or at least two more pipelines from Iraq and Saudi Arabia to the Mediterranean.

All this means constructive planning. It doesn't mean day-to-day dickering over the diplomatic council tables. It means long-range, careful planning for peace and cooperation in the Nar East.

At the time of the Roman Empire this little area of the Near East (Syria, Lebanon, Israel, Jordan, Iraq, Saudi Arabia, and Egypt) held 60,000,000 people. Today it holds 25,000,000. Then it was under one government, which, though tyrannical, kept the peace.

Labor Less Vocal In This Campaign

WASHINGTON—One thing missing from this campaign is a vocal outcry from labor. Nearly full employment and the internal problems attached to the merger of the American Federation of Labor and the CIO are apparently responsible.

What the unions are doing, especially in states where their friends in the Senate are up for re-election, is getting out the vote. They are bearing down in their publications and their meetings on the need to register.

Registration as such is being stressed rather than organized delivery of the vote for a particular candidate. The latter type of effort evoked much criticism in past years and, what was even worse from the union point of view, it was ineffective.

Very little is being said about the Taft-Hartley act, though union heads still believe that some of its provisions would be deadly to organized labor in anything less than widespread prosperity. They have settled for inaction in Congress and they are settling for inaction in the campaign on that score.

Labor leaders discovered in 1952 that President Eisenhower's promise to end the Korean war pulled wives of their members into his camp in very large numbers. That appeal, they now think, has run its course.

Their present view is that Mr. Eisenhower remains more popular among women in Labor groups than among men, but they anticipate that Labor's vote will be substantially Democratic everywhere.

The issues pressed by Labor spokesmen are:

1. Administration opposition to raising the minimum wage to the 90 cents approved by the Democratic Congress.

2. Administration opposition, to the expanded social security bill approved by Congress.

3. The President's nominees to the National Labor Relations Board. Labor brands these choices unfriendly.

☆ ☆ ☆

Representatives of organized labor accompany both Adlai Stevenson and Estes Kefauver on their campaign travels. They are publicly unobstrusive, however. "We used to talk too much," one said bluntly. "It didn't help us or our candidates."

In some states the concentration of labor effort is clearly apparent. It is helping Senators Warren Magnuson in Washington and Wayne Morse in Oregon, for example. Richard Stengel, who is opposing Senator Dirksen in Illinois, finds the unions more zealous so far than the Cook County Democratic machine.

Those Who Saw It Grow With Years

NEW YORK (INS)—THE PASSING SHOW. . .

There was a nice fat crowd of 64,519 on hand at Yankee Stadium for Don Larsen's arrestingly perfect no-hitter. But by the time 1976 rolls around the congregation will have grown to about a million.

I have personally met at least five old sportswriters into whose lap Jack Dempsey exclusively fell the night Luis Angel Firpo belted Jack out of the ring. Jack would have had to be nine feet tall and have fallen horizontally and stiff as a plank to make this possible.

Years ago in Washington, after having talked to the 17,000th old timer who claimed to have been at the ball park the day Walter Johnson pitched his first major league game, I searched the dusty ledgers and discovered that the paid attendance when the greatest pitcher of all time made his debut was 802.

The result of this research was an immature little article finding fault with these gentle old phonies who wanted to horn in on a historic moment in baseball. The day the article appeared my older brother, who has about as much interest in sports as, let us say, Lydia Pinkham, called up and said it was a nice angry piece.

"How do you like all those old bums claiming they saw that game," I said, in extension.

"I saw it," my brother said.

Turned out that that was the game he did see. The one game.

So listen, kids, go easy on us graybeards in 1976 when one of us cackles that we were in the witness box at one of the great sports moments of all time. For all you know, we might just be telling the truth.

More people are painting today than ever before, and it's not just because there are more people. Sales of paints, brushes, easels and canvas have tripled in the past ten years, which is more than you can say for the population.

Why? Some experts feel that the isolation that tens of thousands of people knew during World War II—born of assignment to tedious places, or separations from a mate—brought this on. Others say that Winston Churchill and Dwight Eisenhower stimulated the interest. Still others insist that when it was revealed that Grandma Moses could paint and market her product, in her 90's, many began to dabble. Anyway, there it is. Taos, N. M., with a population of 3,500, has 200 accredited artists and maybe 1,000 earnest doodlers. The town has 60 studios and 18 galleries.

Guided Missiles Could End Draft

WASHINGTON—When Adlai Stevenson first suggested that it might be possible "within the forseeable future" to end the draft, he touched on a sore point in the administration and the result has been a massive attack on the Democratic candidate led by President Eisenhower.

The latest blast from the President accused Stevenson of endangering America's security in a bid for votes. At his Washington press conference Stevenson had sought to amplify his original statement by stressing the need for a highly-trained, highly-mobile, professional force which cannot be obtained through the draft.

What Stevenson has not yet disclosed is that he has been informed by authoritative sources that the postwar weapons revolution is about to move into a new and even more revolutionary phase. The intercontinental ballistic missile—both the one-stage and the two-stage 5,500-mile missile—is shortly to be ready for testing.

This is a triumph for the Air Force's development program. The program on both the East and West Coasts has been for the past six months almost the equivalent of the Manhattan project which during the war produced the atomic bomb. According to Stevenson's informants, the test date will come well under the deadline set by the National Security Council.

The ICBM, with a range of 5,500 miles and an atomic warhead, means the opening of a vast new technological era in warfare. Stevenson believes it underscores his argument for a highly-trained force with a continuity of service.

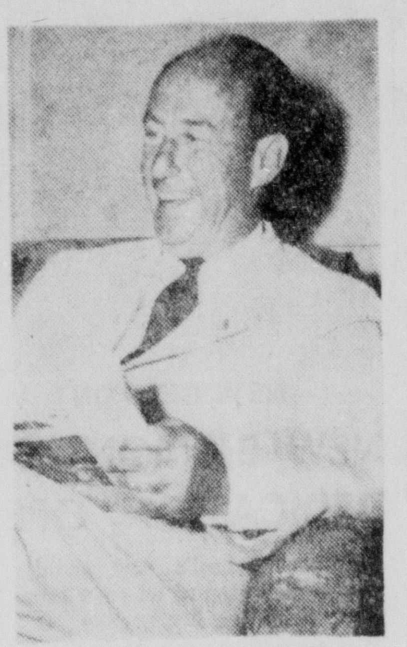
No one can tell how long the test phase of the ICBM will last, since it presents some formidable difficulties. Even with a dummy warhead, the missile launched from a testing site on the West Coast involves serious risks. With an atomic warhead, the difficulties would be infinitely greater.

But the fact this stage is at hand is of the most far-reaching significance. Stevenson had been informed that the President intended to suggest at some point in the campaign that the draft could be ended, which is one reason, according to his advisers, why he threw this into his American Legion speech in Los Angeles last month.



. . . did he unveil the future? . . .

Whether the administration is ready to announce the progress that has been made in development of the ICBM is not known. But obviously such an announcement could have been linked with the need for a new approach to military manpower eliminating the draft.

When Trevor Gardner resigned as assistant secretary of defense in charge of research and development early this year, he gave as his reason the failure of the administration to back the rocket and missile program with sufficient funds.

His public attack caused deep resentment within the administration. It is believed, however, to have spurred the White House and the Defense Department to a more intensive effort.

Behind the campaign charges and countercharges on the draft is the failure since the end of World War II to resolve the problem of military manpower in peacetime.

General George C. Marshall believed the only fair solution was a system of Universal Military training. He argued that the draft was a far too expensive method for providing the men essential to meet America's military responsibilities in various parts of the world.

A man drafted for two years was trained for three or four months, sent overseas to serve in one of the American units in Asia or Europe and then, just as he became an asset, his term of service ended and he was shipped home.

President Truman backed Marshall's proposal for universal military training, but political leaders of both parties in Congress made it plain that universal training would never be acceptable.

As chief of staff of the Army from 1945 to '48, General Eisenhower also advocated a system of universal military service. To try to meet the need for a continuing trained reserve, the administration last year put over a reserve training program. But as finally approved by the Congress, it incorporated so many compromises that it has thus far been a failure.

The need to hold trained and skilled manpower has in recent months become acute. Top Air Force officers have testified that their inability to retain men trained to operate the machines of the jet and electronic era in competition with private industry is a severe handicap.

The rate of re-enlistment has dropped perilously low and a Senate Investigating Committee was told that this impairs the effectiveness of the Strategic Air Command which, with its atomic striking power, is the chief deterrent to aggression.

These are the stern realities. Perhaps it is too much to hope that they would be discussed reasonably in a political campaign. But whoever is president after the inauguration in January cannot postpone for much longer some tough decisions.

Short Of Money?

Tyron, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: The Republicans must be running short of money, in Nebraska. After all that is said about increasing postage to keep the Postal Department out of the red, that a Congressman can and does use his franking privilege to further his election. He may not call it political advertisement but I do, for after all, all that he wants to do is tell the voters about what little he got done but what big things he could do if re-elected.

If I read the signs right, the voters of the fourth Congressional district of Nebraska, come Nov. 6th, may decide to send a new man down to Washington.

Years ago when Nebraska adopted the Unicameral legislature, I for one, was in hopes that we would rise above partisan politics. In the appointing to jobs, Brown wears the party label, Jones has the brains and know-how but they can't use him.

Hoover 'Great' President

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: I would like to know who classified our great ex-President Hoover as T. H. Carter reports.

I have heard many Democrats and all Republicans mention Mr. Hoover as one of the great men of our times. He was maligned and had no cooperation by the Democratic Congress when he was President, but we all recognize that he has "come into his own" in these times. In my humble opinion it's too bad—muchly too bad—that Mr. Dewey was not elected President.

YES-A GOOD REPUBLICAN

☆ ☆ ☆

Sometimes Doesn't Last

Hebron, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: The Republican party is placing all its hopes on the popularity of President Eisenhower as shown in the 1952 election when he received 442 electoral votes to Stevenson's 89.

The past election records show in several cases the president elected on popularity the first time fades out when running for re-election. In 1908 William Howard Taft was a very popular candidate. His electoral vote was 321 to W. J. Bryan's 176. In 1912 when he ran for re-election he received only 8 electoral votes. In the 1928 election Herbert Hoover was a very popular candidate. He received 444 electoral votes to Al Smith's 87. In 1932 when he ran for re-election he received 59 electoral votes to Franklin D. Roosevelt's 472.

President Eisenhower's administration is not popular with thousands of voters who supported him four years ago, and many who wore the "I Like Ike" buttons in 1952 are out working for Stevenson in this election. It is evident that Ike's popularity has faded with a lot of voters.

In every section of the country the voters have something to complain about, which is not helping Ike. First among these complaints is the give-away of Tidelands oil over-riding the decision of the Supreme Court which said the Tidelands belonged to all the people of the 48 states and the royalties were to go to support the schools of those states.

Second, was the giveaway of the Hells Canyon power site. Unforgotten is the administration's efforts to favor Dixon-Yates with a contract from the Atomic Engery Commission for construction of the steam generating plant to supply the Tennessee Valley authority which Eisenhower described as creeping socialism and attempted to cripple. His socialism charge must necessarily include all public utilities of which the rural electric associations are a part. Ike has also favored large corporations over small business.

Third, his pledges made in the 1952 campaign binding him and the Republican party have never been kept. These failures to live up to campaign promises will change thousands of votes in the coming election, just how many remains to be seen.

Taxes Without End

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Up, up, and still upward spiral the city and county real estate taxes!

Fantastically enough there appears to be no ceiling for these ascending spirals. Like the Biblical prodigal son there is no end to the desire to spend, that is, to spend the other fellow's money for him.

Notwithstanding Lincoln's growth in population and property valuations, and so more money from the same mill levies, I see no new or additional benefits accruing to my property by reason of these increased taxes.

STAN DELAPLANE'S POSTCARD

Well, Science marches in all directions. Armed with miracle drugs, frozen heart maneuvers and all sorts of headline discoveries.

Somewhere in the march, they marched right by our teeth. And the best I can get from the dentist is my semiannual letter:

"Our records show that your checkup is overdue . . ."

Now this mild notice conceals what shouldn't happen to a human being.

The dentist has no earthly thought of giving you a mere checkup. He is polishing up the old drill and going on a hunt for uranium. Dentists are a dramatic bunch. He didn't call you in to look at the fixtures.

Anyway, here I am again. In the outer office with wet palms and an old copy of Life magazine. Awaiting the call from the white starched lady:

"Doctor is ready for you now."

Ah, yes. Doctor is ready for me. But am I ready for the doctor?

"Well, well. How are we today?

I am bibbed like a baby and whatever the dentist cannot hang on the back of the chair, he has put in my mouth. Coat hangers, dish cloths, old newspapers, rubber door mats and a box of assorted carpet tacks.

The dentist now turns on a blinding light.

"Saw a wonderful show on television. How'd you like the game?"

"Awwwwwkkk. Awwwwwkkk."

"That's what I though. If he hadn't dropped the ball in the—."

"OOOOWWWWWW!"

"Little tender there? That pass in the second quarter now—."

☆ ☆ ☆

That is what happens every six months. Come rain or come shine. It is a fearful life when you come to think that Science is spending millions of dollars on a new cure for beri-beri. Something I do not intend to get every six months and possibly never.

I read all the toothpaste ads. I brush my teeth twice a day. I drink water with fluoride and massage the gums, starting at the waistline.

No matter. Every six months I am back in the chair. Bingo! Bank night! Wow!

☆ ☆ ☆

Even the medics jump into the dental department when they run out of ideas.

Let a person get a stubborn case of hives and the witch doctors are packing him off to get his choppers pulled. I know all kinds of people who have deposited their square teeth on such advice.

They no longer consult their dentist twice a year, however. They just mail in their teeth.

Eventually the teeth are out and the itch is no better. We now go to the skin specialist.

"You've got poson oak," says the skin man."Use this lotion and watch your diet."

Your diet at this point is gruel and there is no point in watching it.

☆ ☆ ☆

The only man I know who was naturally equipped for a dentist was Joe E. Brown. As you may remember, Mr. Brown used to pretend his mouth was so big he could swallow a baseball.

Dentists need more room every day. There is hardly room for all the equipment in their offices any more. And they are grateful when they can stow some of it in your mouth. It is like getting more closet space.

"Where'd I put that pickaxe?" mutters the dentist. He sends out a notice to all patients to come in every six months. By and by he finds it. In somebody's mouth.

Second Donation To Page Church

Lincoln Star Special

PAGE, Neb.—Methodist Church members were offered $5,000 from an anonymous source this week to provide for an addition to the church. The donor stipulated that members must contribute $5,000 to match the grant.

The offer to the Page Methodist Church is the second from the anonymous donor. A special meeting was called last week when church members learned of the first $5,000 grant to be used for remodeling the present building.

At last week's meeting, members voted to enlarge the church basement to include a kitchen, class rooms and a new heating unit. Also planned were revisions to the church entrance, refinish the exterior of the building and the building of an addition to the present building.

Elmer Trowbridge presided at the special meeting of the congregation which voted upon the revisions. Work has already begun on the project.

Youth Charged In Hit-Run Collision

OMAHA (AP) — Salvador Martinez, 20, Gibbon, whom police said had admitted driving the car which struck and killed an Omaha pedestrian, was bound over to District Court.

Martinez was charged with motor vehicle homicide and leaving the scene of an accident. Judge Patrick O'Connor set bond at $5,000. Police said Martinez admitted driving a car involved in the death of Lincoln Levering, 45, Omaha.

Nixon Asks Texans To Vote GOP As Believers In States' Rights

...Bids For 24 Electoral Ballots

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — Vice President Nixon asked Texans Tuesday to vote Republican as believers in states' rights, in strong national defense—and even as good Democrats.

The Vice President, workhorse of the GOP presidential campaign, began his second cross country campaign expedition, an 11-day, 14-state grind, with a bid for Texas' 24 electoral votes.

Texas gave President Eisenhower a majority of more than 133,000 in 1952. But Democrats are contending it has returned to its traditional allegiance.

Nixon said at a Republican picnic in Fort Worth election of Democrat Adlai Stevenson would risk imposing on the country a "wobbly, indecisive defense policy."

'Peaks, Valleys'

Stevenson's expressed hopes for ending the draft when national security permits, Nixon said, indicate that an administration headed by the Democrats would develop "peaks and valleys in our military preparedness as was the case under the Truman administration."

At a news conference, however, Nixon said earlier military manpower reductions decided on by the Eisenhower administration represented the best judgment based on estimates by the Defesne Department, "reviewed at the top level, the National Security Council," both defense needs and the importance of keeping the economy strong had to be considered, he said, and there was "a lot of soul searching."

He added, "the man who in the final instance made the decision on the level of forces was the President himself."

Nixon said Stevenson's proposal the United States take the lead in trying to halt hydrogen bomb tests was "even more appalling" than his ideas on the draft. Nixon said an agreement to discontinue H-bomb tests would rely on what he termed the sort of Soviet promises that have proved worthless. He said Stevenson has "jeopardized our military manpower position at the very moment when the free world was looking to America for "guarantees of continuing strength."

'Not Dead'

Nixon said in a prepared talk here the issue of states' rights is not dead because "we have lived up to our promises and your tidelands will never be threatened while Dwight D. Eisenhower is President of the United States."

He said Democrats "promise that the federal government will cure all our problems."

"It's a good line, politically, if you talk fast enough and do not give people a chance to think," Nixon said. But he added that "in many cases the state goverments and individuals. . .can do a more effective job than planners in Washington, D.C."

Nixon told Texas, who greeted him with displays of the Lone Star as well as the U.S flag, that the Republican administration "stopped the process of centralizing power in Washington. . .abolished controls and reduced taxes."

In a direct appeal for Democratic votes, Nixon said at Fort Worth, before a crowd estimated by police at 6,000, that Democrats who voted for Eisenhower in 1952 did not desert their party.

Instead, he said, "it is Mr. Stevenson, Mr. Truman and their ADA (Americans for Democratic Action) colleagues who have deserted the Democratic party of Jefferson and Jackson."

Brethren Church Meeting Set For Lincoln Oct. 12-14

The District Conference of the Church of the Brethren will hold a three day meeting in Lincoln Oct. 12-14 at the Church of the Brethren, Antelope Park Community, at Sumner St. and Normal Blvd.

The session will open at 7:45 p.m. Friday with a keynote address presented by the Rev. John B. Wieand, pastor of the 40th and Lake Street Omaha Church of the Brethren. He is this year's moderator and his topic will be "Ready for the Race."

Theme of the conference will be: "Resources in Seeking the Kingdom," and emphasis will be placed on leadership training opportunities.

Other leaders will include the Rev. Stewart B. Kauffman, executive secretary of Ministry and Evangelism of the Home Mission Commission of the Church of the Brethren, and the Rev. Edward Duncan, newly-appointed executive field secretary for the Nebraska Conference of the Church of the Brethren.

The Rev. Mr. Kauffman will speak at 8:00 p.m. Saturday evening, and Sunday at 11:00 a.m. and 2:00 p.m. The Rev. Mr. Duncan will speak at the 11:00 a.m. service Saturday.

Attorney Ray Emmert, layman of Des Moines, will speak Saturday afternoon.

'Bite' On Keeper

ROCHESTER, Mich. (INS) — A monkey at Parke, Davis and Co.'s Rochester, Mich., biological laboratories, put the "bite" on her keeper's paycheck.

Warren Lang, 21, of Royal Oak, Mich., was changing the monkey's water when she sneaked up behind him and grabbed the paycheck from his back pocket and started to eat it.

Lang retrieved the check but too late. The lady monk had consumed the portion bearing the company signature.

Parke-Davis officials had to issue Lang a duplicate.

Service Stressed At Sales-O-Rama

"Service is the only selling philosophy without a flaw," William Gove of St. Paul, Minn. told 600 salesmen and women at the third Sales-O-Rama Tuesday evening.

The vice president of the EMC Recording Corp. discussed salesmanship and its methods in his speech, "You Make the Difference" in the Millard Lefler junior high school auditorium.

The salesmanship lectures are sponsored by the Lincoln Promotion Council, the Sales Executives Club and the adult distributive education department of the Lincoln Public Schools.

Wadlows Return From Europe Tour

Returning recently from a month's tour of The British Isles and the Continent, were Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Wadlow.

Sailing from New York on the Queen Elizabeth Aug. 1, they docked at Southhampton, England. After spending some time in Camberley Surrey, with Mr. Wadlow's daughter and son-in-law, Maj. and Mrs. D. E. Simon, they toured the Netherlands, Belgium, Germany, Switzerland, Italy and France. They also visited Scotland, and North and South Ireland.

They returned on the liner Queen Mary, Oct. 2.

Building Inspector For County Resigns His Post

The resignation of William H. Osterberg as Lancaster County building inspector has been accepted "with regret" by the County Board.

Osterberg resigned the part-time county position because of conflicts with his regular job, his letter said. He held the county post for over a year.

Voted Down

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — The international atoms-for-peace conference voted down a Soviet attempt to seat Red China in a world atomic agency.

The Soviet amendment would have allowed any nation to become a founding member of the agency by signing and ratifying the constitution within 90 days. The vote was 45-19 with 16 abstentions.

Today-Start Helping Your Child Grow Bigger and Stronger 12 Ways with WONDER BREAD!

Note the 12 Ways Wonder Bread Contributes To An Adequate Diet And Thus Helps Your Child Grow Bigger And Stronger

—See Comparisons With Meat, Milk, Fish, Eggs And Other Foods

Your big problem in child nutrition is to get them to eat enough of the substantial foods they must have for normal physical and mental development.

Which means a well-balanced diet of protein, fat, carbohydrates, vitamins and minerals, such as come in meats, milk, eggs, fruit, green-leafed and yellow vegetables.

And Wonder Bread, which helps supply your child with protein for growth, carbohydrates for energy and many vitamins and minerals for normal development.

12 Ways To Growth

Wonder Bread contains 12 essential food elements that help your child grow normally.

The amounts of these 12 food elements in Wonder Bread are compared with similar amounts contained in other foods.

This does not suggest that Wonder Bread take the place of these other foods. Or that your child is deficient in any of these elements, particularly cobalt, copper, zinc and manganese.

However, the fact is Wonder Bread does contain each of the 12 food elements approximately in the amounts shown.

And, as leading nutrition specialists have pointed out, each one of the 12 is important in nutrition.

Thus, when you give Wonder Bread to your child, you know you are helping your child grow bigger and stronger 12 ways.

This suggests that you do 3 things:
(1) Start your child eating 8 slices of Wonder Bread today.
(2) Measure your child's height and weigh him today.
(3) See how height and weight increase in 3 months; 6 months; each year.

Fresh And Tender

You should have no trouble getting your child to eat plenty of Wonder Bread.

Because fresh Wonder Bread has a tender texture and crust; a mouth-watering aroma. And—Wonder Bread makes perfect toast.

Get Wonder Bread fresh from your grocer today. And start helping your child grow bigger and stronger 12 ways.

STAN DELAPLANE'S

POSTCARD

Well, Science marches in all directions. Armed with miracle drugs, frozen heart maneuvers and all sorts of headline discoveries.

Somewhere in the march, they marched right by our teeth. And the best I can get from the dentist is my semiannual letter:

"Our records show that your checkup is overdue . . ."

Now this mild notice conceals what shouldn't happen to a human being.

The dentist has no earthly thought of giving you a mere checkup. He is polishing up the old drill and going on a hunt for uranium. Dentists are a dramatic bunch. He didn't call you in to look at the fixtures.

Anyway, here I am again. In the outer office with wet palms and an old copy of Life magazine. Awaiting the call from the white starched lady:

"Doctor is ready for you now."

Ah, yes. Doctor is ready for me. But am I ready for the doctor?

"Well, well. How are we today?

I am bibbed like a baby and whatever the dentist cannot hang on the back of the chair, he has put in my mouth. Coat hangers, dish cloths, old newspapers, rubder door mats and a box of assorted carpet tacks.

The dentist now turns on a blinding light.

"Saw a wonderful show on television. How'd you like the game?"

"Awwwwwkkk. Awwwwwkkk."

"That's what I though. If he hadn't dropped the ball in the—."

"OOOOWWWWWW!"

"Little tender there? That pass in the second quarter now—."

☆ ☆ ☆

That is what happens every six months. Come rain or come shine. It is a fearful life when you come to think that Science is spending millions of dollars on a new cure for beri-beri. Something I do not intend to get every six months and possibly never.

I read all the toothpaste ads. I brush my teeth twice a day. I drink water with fluoride and massage the gums, starting at the waistline.

No matter. Every six months I am back in the chair. Bingo! Bank night! Wow!

☆ ☆ ☆

Even the medics jump into the dental department when they run out of ideas.

Let a person get a stubborn case of hives and the witch doctors are packing him off to get his choppers pulled. I know all kinds of people who have deposited their square teeth on such advice.

They no longer consult their dentist twice a year, however. They just mail in their teeth.

Eventually the teeth are out and the itch is no better. We now go to the skin specialist.

"You've got poson oak," says the skin man."Use this lotion and watch your diet."

Your diet at this point is gruel and there is no point in watching it.

The only man I know who was naturally equipped for a dentist was Joe E. Brown. As you may remember, Mr. Brown used to pretend his mouth was so big he could swallow a baseball.

Dentists need more room every day. There is hardly room for all the equipment in their offices any more. And they are grateful when they can stow some of it in your mouth. It is like getting more closet space.

"Where'd I put that pickaxe?" mutters the dentist. He sends out a notice to all patients to come in every six months. By and by he finds it. In somebody's mouth.

Second Donation To Page Church

Lincoln Star Special

PAGE, Neb.—Methodist Church members were offered $5,000 from an anonymous source this week to provide for an addition to the church. The donor stipulated that members must contribute $5,000 to match the grant.

The offer to the Page Methodist Church is the second from the anonymous donor. A special meeting was called last week when church members learned of the first $5,000 grant to be used for remodeling the present building.

At last week's meeting, members voted to enlarge the church basement to include a kitchen, class rooms and a new heating unit. Also planned were revisions to the church entrance, refinish the exterior of the building and the building of an addition to the present building.

Elmer Trowbridge presided at the special meeting of the congregation which voted upon the revisions. Work has already begun on the project.

Youth Charged In Hit-Run Collision

OMAHA (AP) — Salvador Martinez, 20, Gibbon, whom police said had admitted driving the car which struck and killed an Omaha pedestrian, was bound over to District Court.

Martinez was charged with motor vehicle homicide and leaving the scene of an accident. Judge Patrick O'Connor set bond at $5,000. Police said Martinez admitted driving a car involved in the death of Lincoln Levering, 45, Omaha.

Nixon Asks Texans To Vote GOP As Believers In States' Rights

...Bids For 24 Electoral Ballots

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — Vice President Nixon asked Texans Tuesday to vote Republican as believers in states' rights, in strong national defense—and even as good Democrats.

The Vice President, workhorse of the GOP presidential campaign, began his second cross country campaign expedition, an 11-day, 14-state grind, with a bid for Texas' 24 electoral votes.

Texas gave President Eisenhower a majority of more than 133,000 in 1952. But Democrats are contending it has returned to its traditional allegiance.

Nixon said at a Republican picnic in Fort Worth election of Democrat Adlai Stevenson would risk imposing on the country a "wobbly, indecisive defense policy."

'Peaks, Valleys'

Stevenson's expressed hopes for ending the draft when national security permits, Nixon said, indicate that an administration headed by the Democrats would develop "peaks and valleys in our military preparedness as was the case under the Truman administration."

At a news conference, however, Nixon said earlier military manpower reductions decided on by the Eisenhower administration represented the best judgment based on estimates by the Defesne Department, "reviewed at the top level, the National Security Council," both defense needs and the importance of keeping the economy strong had to be considered, he said, and there was "a lot of soul searching."

He added, "the man who in the final instance made the decision on the level of forces was the President himself."

Nixon said Stevenson's proposal the United States take the lead in trying to halt hydrogen bomb tests was "even more appalling" than his ideas on the draft. Nixon said an agreement to discontinue H-bomb tests would rely on what he termed the sort of Soviet promises that have proved worthless. He said Stevenson has "jeopardized our military manpower position at the very moment when the free world was looking to America for "guarantees of continuing strength."

'Not Dead'

Nixon said in a prepared talk here the issue of states' rights is not dead because "we have lived up to our promises and your tidelands will never be threatened while Dwight D. Eisenhower is President of the United States."

He said Democrats "promise that the federal government will cure all our problems."

"It's a good line, politically, if you talk fast enough and do not give people a chance to think," Nixon said. But he added that "in many cases the state goverments and individuals. . .can do a more effective job than planners in Washington, D.C."

Nixon told Texas, who greeted him with displays of the Lone Star as well as the U.S flag, that the Republican administration "stopped the process of centralizing power in Washington. . .abolished controls and reduced taxes."

In a direct appeal for Democratic votes, Nixon said at Fort Worth, before a crowd estimated by police at 6,000, that Democrats who voted for Eisenhower in 1952 did not desert their party.

Instead, he said, "it is Mr. Stevenson, Mr. Truman and their ADA (Americans for Democratic Action) colleagues who have deserted the Democratic party of Jefferson and Jackson."

Service Stressed At Sales-O-Rama

"Service is the only selling philosophy without a flaw," William Gove of St. Paul, Minn. told 600 salesmen and women at the third Sales-O-Rama Tuesday evening.

The vice president of the EMC Recording Corp. discussed salesmanship and its methods in his speech, "You Make the Difference" in the Millard Lefler junior high school auditorium.

The salesmanship lectures are sponsored by the Lincoln Promotion Council, the Sales Executives Club and the adult distributive education department of the Lincoln Public Schools.

Wadlows Return From Europe Tour

Returning recently from a month's tour of The British Isles and the Continent, were Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Wadlow.

Sailing from New York on the Queen Elizabeth Aug. 1, they docked at Southhampton, England. After spending some time in Camberley Surrey, with Mr. Wadlow's daughter and son-in-law, Maj. and Mrs. D. E. Simon, they toured the Netherlands, Belgium, Germany, Switzerland, Italy and France. They also visited Scotland, and North and South Ireland.

They returned on the liner Queen Mary, Oct. 2.

Building Inspector For County Resigns His Post

The resignation of William H. Osterberg as Lancaster County building inspector has been accepted "with regret" by the County Board.

Osterberg resigned the part-time county position because of conflicts with his regular job, his letter said. He held the county post for over a year.

Voted Down

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — The international atoms-for-peace conference voted down a Soviet attempt to seat Red China in a world atomic agency.

The Soviet amendment would have allowed any nation to become a founding member of the agency by signing and ratifying the constitution within 90 days. The vote was 45-19 with 16 abstentions.

Brethren Church Meeting Set For Lincoln Oct. 12-14

The District Conference of the Church of the Brethren will hold a three day meeting in Lincoln Oct. 12-14 at the Church of the Brethren, Antelope Park Community, at Sumner St. and Normal Blvd.

The session will open at 7:45 p.m. Friday with a keynote address presented by the Rev. John B. Wieand, pastor of the 40th and Lake Street Omaha Church of the Brethren. He is this year's moderator and his topic will be "Ready for the Race."

Theme of the conference will be: "Resources in Seeking the Kingdom," and emphasis will be placed on leadership training opportunities.

Other leaders will include the Rev. Stewart B. Kauffman, executive secretary of Ministry and Evangelism of the Home Mission Commission of the Church of the Brethren, and the Rev. Edward Duncan, newly-appointed executive field secretary for the Nebraska Conference of the Church of the Brethren.

The Rev. Mr. Kauffman will speak at 8:00 p.m. Saturday evening, and Sunday at 11:00 a.m. and 2:00 p.m. The Rev. Mr. Duncan will speak at the 11:00 a.m. service Saturday.

Attorney Ray Emmert, layman of Des Moines, will speak Saturday afternoon.

'Bite' On Keeper

ROCHESTER, Mich. (INS) — A monkey at Parke, Davis and Co.'s Rochester, Mich., biological laboratories, put the "bite" on her keeper's paycheck.

Warren Lang, 21, of Royal Oak, Mich., was changing the monkey's water when she sneaked up behind him and grabbed the paycheck from his back pocket and started to eat it.

Lang retrieved the check but too late. The lady monk had consumed the portion bearing the company signature.

Parke-Davis officials had to issue Lang a duplicate.

Today-Start Helping Your Child Grow Bigger and Stronger 12 Ways with WONDER BREAD!

Note the 12 Ways Wonder Bread Contributes To An Adequate Diet And Thus Helps Your Child Grow Bigger And Stronger

—See Comparisons With Meat, Milk, Fish, Eggs And Other Foods

Your big problem in child nutrition is to get them to eat enough of the substantial foods they must have for normal physical and mental development.

Which means a well-balanced diet of protein, fat, carbohydrates, vitamins and minerals, such as come in meats, milk, eggs, fruit, green-leafed and yellow vegetables.

And Wonder Bread, which helps supply your child with protein for growth, carbohydrates for energy and many vitamins and minerals for normal development.

12 Ways To Growth

Wonder Bread contains 12 essential food elements that help your child grow normally.

The amounts of these 12 food elements in Wonder Bread are compared with similar amounts contained in other foods.

This does not suggest that Wonder Bread take the place of these other foods. Or that your child is deficient in any of these elements, particularly cobalt, copper, zinc and manganese.

However, the fact is Wonder Bread does contain each of the 12 food elements approximately in the amounts shown.

And, as leading nutrition specialists have pointed out, each one of the 12 is important in nutrition.

Thus, when you give Wonder Bread to your child, you know you are helping your child grow bigger and stronger 12 ways.

This suggests that you do 3 things:
(1) Start your child eating 8 slices of Wonder Bread today.
(2) Measure your child's height and weigh him today.
(3) See how height and weight increase in 3 months; 6 months; each year.

Fresh And Tender

You should have no trouble getting your child to eat plenty of Wonder Bread.

Because fresh Wonder Bread has a tender texture and crust; a mouth-watering aroma. And—Wonder Bread makes perfect toast.

County Jail Issue Not To Be On Ballot

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

The proposal for a new Lancaster County jail costing not over $250,000 in inheritance tax funds will not appear on the Nov 6 ballot

Time and lack of support ... against the issue at Tuesday's public hearing before the County Board, which voted 2 to 1 against the jail election.

Board Chairman Russell Brehm voted "against" with Commissioner Del Lienemann because of a legal opinion that it was "already too late" (Tuesday) to include the issue in the general election.

Four Weeks

Election notice must be given "four full weeks" before election according to the statutes and case authority, County Attorney Elmer Scheele informed the board.

This four-week period would have required the first publication last Monday, according to Scheele's opinion.

Lienemann was against an election now because of the "county's obligation to the City-County Building Authority until next June 1."

Jail 'Small Part'

"The jail is only a small part of the county's building problems," Lienemann said "We would not be solving anything by just building a new jail."

Leo Bartunek, a Lincoln attorney, was the only person appearing in favor of the jail issue at the meeting, although three petitions with 128 signatures favoring the proposed election were placed on file.

Bartunek urged a vote on the jail issue at the general election because balloting costs would be "very little" as compared with a special election

Old Jail 'Unsafe'

He said a new jail should be built at the present site because:

1 The present 78-year-old jail is "unfit, unsafe, and a gisgrace."

2. The present jail site is already tax-exempt. The county would lose tax money if the 15th Street site is selected for a city-county building.

3. A "civic center" idea is not reason enough to move the jail from its present location.

Opposition

Four persons appeared in opposition to the jail proposal.

L. E Aylesworth, retired political science professor at the University of Nebraska, said "a new jail should be considered separately from a new courthouse or joint city-county building."

"We have needed a new jail for a quarter of a century, but we should wait a little longer. From the point of escape and sanitation, the jail building is better now than in past years."

Chauncey Barney, a former county commissioner and Building Authority member, said that the jail issue should not be a "straw vote."

Board's Solution

He urged the commissioners not to put the issue on the ballot unless it was "proposed as the County Board's solution to the existing problem."

J. G. W. Lewis of 2832 P, director of the Government Research Institute, said he thought that Lincoln still wanted a joint building and that the last bond issue "was not a fair test."

"The joint building issue fared better than the rest," he explained. "I think it was just too much at one time."

Lewis predicted the new jail issue would suffer "marked defeat if put on the ballot."

Tax Funds

County Engineer L. W. Weaver suggested $225,000 inheritance tax funds be used for new roads.

Commissioner Chris Kuhner, who had proposed the jail issue vote which was tabled from last week, expressed disappointment that time had run out.

Brehm said the board had "no idea" that the statutory time for an election notice would run out before Tuesday's public hearing.

Epp To Talk At Bible Meeting

Theodore H. Epp, founder and director of the Good News Broadcasting Association, will present the keynote address at the opening evening session of the seventh annual Back to the Bible Conference.

Epp

The conference begins Monday at 7:15 p m in the St. Paul Methodist Church. Daytime sessions begin Tuesday morning at 9:15, Tuesday afternoon at 2.30 and will continue daily through Saturday, Oct. 20.

Closing session will be Sunday afternoon, Oct. 21, and will feature a Back to the Bible musical concert and an address by R. R. Brown, church and radio pastor from Omaha.

Afternoon programs will be a "personalized Christian training workshop," conducted by a team from the Navigators, a servicemen's and missionary organization.

GREATEST WASHDAY NEWS IN 25 YEARS:

Anything powders wash...
Wisk can wash cleaner!
...because it's a liquid!
FOR FAMILY WASH
Wisk
FOR FAMILY WASH
Guaranteed by Good Housekeeping
Commended by Parents

Only a liquid can dissolve completely...instantly.
Can get clothes so clean, so fast!

Only a liquid can penetrate so deep into each cloth fiber and remove the grease, grime and hidden dirt that laundry powders leave behind

Yet it costs you less to use Wisk!

Because it's a liquid, you only need a little bit.
...as little as 1/3 cup!

Liquid Wisk is concentrated! One-third (1/3) cup will do a whole load of wash. The pint can goes further than a "large" box of powder. Saves you money, too. But the quart and half-gallon cans save you even more. In fact, the bigger the can, the more money you save.

You haven't washed your cleanest wash, until you've washed with WISK

QUESTIONS women ask us about Wisk

Because WISK is so new and such an improvement on laundry powders, women just naturally want to know more about it. Here are the answers to their questions.

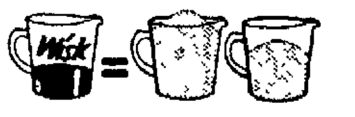
Do I have to use bleach or bluing?
No. WISK is blue. You don't have to add a thing. And it will get your wash whiter than any laundry powder — even the blue ones!

I have a dingy white nylon blouse. Will WISK get it white again?
Pour WISK right on the blouse, concentrated the way it comes out of the can. Squeeze the blouse until you have worked WISK into every part. Use plenty of WISK. Let blouse sit for five minutes to give WISK a chance to work. Then put in machine and wash, or wash by hand in basin for at least three minutes. Blouse will be white as new.

What kind of stains will WISK remove?
For most stains just use WISK the regular way in your washing machine. For really stubborn stains, the kind laundry powders won't budge no matter what you do, follow these simple steps: 1) Wet stain with water. 2) Pour a little WISK on stain. 3) Rub gently. 4) Put in machine with rest of wash.

Is WISK safe for my hands?
Yes. WISK is safer for you, your wash, and your machine. It is safe for delicate fabrics and for any color that is safe in water. It's ideal for "special wash" like baby's diapers and clothing.

Is WISK guaranteed?
Unconditionally! If you don't agree that WISK does the best job of any detergent you've ever used, Lever Brothers will give you your money back.



My washer is a top-loader. How much WISK should I use?
One-third cup of WISK will get your wash cleaner and whiter than a cup and a half (1½ cups) of laundry powder! Liquid WISK costs you less to use because you need only a little bit.

Is WISK meant for washing machines only?
No. WISK is great for dishes, walls, woodwork, removing grease from stoves. When we say: "Anything powders wash, WISK can wash cleaner!"...we mean it!

Kimball Reports Two Oil Discoveries

KIMBALL, Neb. (AP)—Two new oil discoveries were reported in Kimball County Tuesday, bringing the total to three for the week.

Lowell J. Williamson of Kimball was the operator on both wells.

One is the Travis No. 1, which is nine miles north and five miles east of Kimball and two miles southwest of the Vowers field in southern Banner County. A drill stem test on this well recovered 2,430 feet of free oil and 230 feet of water.

The second well is Williamson's Vowers No. 1, which is five miles south and a mile east of Kimball and a mile northwest of the nearest production in the Sloss-State field south of Kimball. A drill stem test on this well recovered 3,330 feet of free oil and 270 feet of heavily oil-and-gas-cut mud.

One other producer reported was Standolind's Vowers No. 5 in the Sloss-State field.

Drilling activity was on the increase early in the week with 14 rotary rigs in operation Tuesday.

No producers were reported in the county last week but the week before there was one.

Harrisburg Area Has 2 More Oilers

HARRISBURG, Neb. (AP) — Shell Oil was reported to have run production casing down two more oil wells in the Mosier Field in the Pumpkin Creek region near here.

The new oilers are the Mosier B-4 and the Mosier B-5. Shell has two oil wells in the same area.

City Operation Gas Company Said Assured

STROMSBURG, Neb. — City operation of the Central Gas and Electric Company is practically assured, Stromsburg Mayor Edwin L. Anderson announced Tuesday, despite temporary injunction issued last week to prevent the city from taking over.

The mayor pointed to the April 3 election in Stromsburg in which voters gave the city the right to acquire the utility by eminent domain by a 2 to 1 majority.

"With the people behind us, it is just a question of time before we take over," Mayor Anderson explained. The temporary inpunction was granted by U. S. District Court Judge John W. Delehant on the basis of alleged irregularities in the April 3 vote.

Lengthy Project

The move for city operation of a coordinated utilities department including sewage, water, electricity and gas, has been a project considered by the Stromsburg council for several years, the mayor said. In 1954, voters vetoed the proposal to take over the Central properties.

Lincoln attorney Thomas Davies is handling the Stromsburg case in District Court. Date for a hearing on a permanent injunction requested by Central has not yet been set. The temporary injunction cancelled the state board of condemnation proceedings scheduled last Monday.

Fehl To Lecture On 'Shocking' Painting

Philipp Fehl will discuss a shocking painting of the Venetian Renaissance at the University of Nebraska Thursday night.

Fehl, assistant professor of art, will lecture on "The Hidden Genre: An old Fashioned Approach to the Study of a Shocking Painting of the Venetian Renaissance." The painting is the "Concert Champetre" by Giorgione now hanging in the Louvre.

The lecture, open to the public, will be at 8:30 p.m. in Gallery B, Morrill Hall Art Galleries.

Fehl will deliver a paper on the same topic at the American Society for Aesthetics annual meeting in Boston next week.

County Jail Issue Not To Be On Ballot

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

The proposal for a new Lancaster County jail costing not over $250,000 in inheritance tax funds will not appear on the Nov. 6 ballot.

Time and lack of support ran against the issue at Tuesday's public hearing before the County Board, which voted 2 to 1 against the jail election.

Board Chairman Russell Brehm voted "against" with Commissioner Del Lienemann because of a legal opinion that it was "already too late" (Tuesday) to include the issue in the general election.

Four Weeks

Election notice must be given "four full weeks" before election according to the statutes and case authority, County Attorney Elmer Scheele informed the board.

This four-week period would have required the first publication last Monday, according to Scheele's opinion.

Lienemann was against an election now because of the "county's obligation to the City-County Building Authority until next June 1."

Jail 'Small Part'

"The jail is only a small part of the county's building problems," Lienemann said. "We would not be solving anything by just building a new jail."

Leo Bartunek, a Lincoln attorney, was the only person appearing in favor of the jail issue at the meeting, although three petitions with 128 signatures favoring the proposed election were placed on file.

Bartunek urged a vote on the jail issue at the general election because balloting costs would be "very little" as compared with a special election.

Old Jail 'Unsafe'

He said a new jail should be built at the present site because:

1. The present 78-year-old jail is "unfit, unsafe, and a gisgrace."

2. The present jail site is already tax-exempt. The county would lose tax money if the 15th Street site is selected for a city-county building.

3. A "civic center" idea is not reason enough to move the jail from its present location.

Opposition

Four persons appeared in opposition to the jail proposal.

L. E. Aylesworth, retired political science professor at the University of Nebraska, said "a new jail should be considered separately from a new courthouse or joint city-county building."

"We have needed a new jail for a quarter of a century, but we should wait a little longer. From the point of escape and sanitation, the jail building is better now than in past years."

Chauncey Barney, a former county commissioner and Building Authority member, said that the jail issue should not be a "straw vote."

Board's Solution

He urged the commissioners not to put the issue on the ballot unless it was "proposed as the County Board's solution to the existing problem."

J. G. W. Lewis of 2832 P, director of the Government Research Institute, said he thought that Lincoln still wanted a joint building and that the last bond issue "was not a fair test."

"The joint building issue fared better than the rest," he explained. "I think it was just too much at one time."

Lewis predicted the new jail issue would suffer "marked defeat if put on the ballot."

Tax Funds

County Engineer L. W. Weaver suggested $225,000 inheritance tax funds be used for new roads.

Commissioner Chris Kuhner, who had proposed the jail issue vote which was tabled from last week, expressed disappointment that time had run out.

Brehm said the board had "no idea" that the statutory time for an election notice would run out before Tuesday's public hearing.

Epp To Talk At Bible Meeting

Theodore H. Epp, founder and director of the Good News Broadcasting Association, will present the keynote address at the opening evening session of the seventh annual Back to the Bible Conference.

Epp

The conference begins Monday at 7:15 p.m. in the St. Paul Methodist Church. Daytime sessions begin Tuesday morning at 9:15, Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 and will continue daily through Saturday, Oct. 20.

Closing session will be Sunday afternoon, Oct. 21, and will feature a Back to the Bible musical concert and an address by R. R. Brown, church and radio pastor from Omaha.

Afternoon programs will be a "personalized Christian training workshop," conducted by a team from the Navigators, a servicemen's and missionary organization.

GREATEST WASHDAY NEWS IN 25 YEARS:

Anything powders wash...
Wisk can wash cleaner!
...because it's a liquid!

Only a liquid can dissolve completely...instantly. Can get clothes so clean, so fast!

Only a liquid can penetrate so deep into each cloth fiber and remove the grease, grime and hidden dirt that laundry powders leave behind

Yet it costs you less to use Wisk!
Because it's a liquid, you only need a little bit
...as little as 1/3 cup!

Liquid Wisk is concentrated! One-third (1/3) cup will do a whole load of wash. The pint can goes further than a "large" box of powder. Saves you money, too. But the quart and half-gallon cans save you even more. In fact, the bigger the can, the more money you save.

You haven't washed your cleanest wash, until you've washed with WISK

QUESTIONS women ask us about Wisk

Because WISK is so new and such an improvement on laundry powders, women just naturally want to know more about it. Here are the answers to their questions.

Do I have to use bleach or bluing?
No. WISK is blue. You don't have to add a thing. And it will get your wash whiter than any laundry powder—even the blue ones!

I have a dingy white nylon blouse. Will WISK get it white again?
Pour WISK right on the blouse, concentrated the way it comes out of the can. Squeeze the blouse until you have worked WISK into every part. Use plenty of WISK. Let blouse sit for five minutes to give WISK a chance to work. Then put in machine and wash, or wash by hand in basin for at least three minutes. Blouse will be white as new.

What kind of stains will WISK remove?
For most stains just use WISK the regular way in your washing machine. For really stubborn stains, the kind laundry powders won't budge no matter what you do, follow these simple steps: 1) Wet stain with water. 2) Pour a little WISK on stain. 3) Rub gently. 4) Put in machine with rest of wash.

Is WISK safe for my hands?
Yes. WISK is safer for you, your wash, and your machine. It is safe for delicate fabrics and for any color that is safe in water. It's ideal for "special wash" like baby's diapers and clothing.

Is WISK guaranteed?
Unconditionally! If you don't agree that WISK does the best job of any detergent you've ever used, Lever Brothers will give you your money back.

My washer is a top-loader. How much WISK should I use?
One-third cup of WISK will get your wash cleaner and whiter than a cup and a half (1½ cups) of laundry powder! Liquid WISK costs you less to use because you need only a little bit.

Is WISK meant for washing machines only?
No. WISK is great for dishes, walls, woodwork, removing grease from stoves. When we say: "Anything powders wash, WISK can wash cleaner!"...we mean it!

Southern Nebraska Stops On Benson Tour Are Listed

Tight 2-Day Schedule Is Planned

OMAHA (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Benson will follow a tight schedule in a swing across southern Nebraska Friday and Saturday, which he has billed as a foray into the farm belt to "get the truth to farmers."

Secretary Benson will arrive in Beatrice by plane at 1 15 p.m. Friday and travel by car the remainder of that day and until 3.45 p m. Saturday when he will board a United Airpines plane for Scottsbluff.

Don Boyd of Lincoln, Nebraska Young Republican chairman, will accompany Benson throughout along with two Washington aides, Robert McMillan and Reed Frischnecht.

Bond Issue On Reynolds Ballot

REYNOLDS, Neb. — A $28,000 water bond proposal will go before voters in this community Tuesday, October 23 Money from the bonds would be used to construct a water works system in the town.

A general tax would be levied on all except intangible property to pay off the bonds and the interest.

More Legal Codes To Learn—Simmons

OMAHA (AP) — Lawyers are going to have to learn the legal codes of the new free nations. Nebraska Chief Justice Robert C. Simmons of Lincoln told the National Institute of Municipal law officers Tuesday

"Lawyers of the United States have been taught that there are only two great systems of law, the Anglo-Saxon, basis of the United States laws, and the Continental system, based upon the Code Napoleon," Simmons said.

"In order to bring about understanding and peace in this world, we must recognize and understand the Islamic laws, based on the Moslem faith, and the laws bases upon the Buddhist faith," he said.

"We must also recognize the impact of the Hindu philosophy and religion as applied to the laws of India"

Justice Simmons has toured the far east extensively as a jurist.

Delegates to the 21st annual conference of the institute also heard committee reports and discussed specific problems Tuesday

Kimball Reports Two Oil Discoveries

KIMBALL, Neb. (AP)—Two new oil discoveries were reported in Kimball County Tuesday, bringing the total to three for the week.

Lowell J. Williamson of Kimball was the operator on both wells.

One is the Travis No. 1, which is nine miles north and five miles east of Kimball and two miles southwest of the Vowers field in southern Banner County. A drill stem test on this well recovered 2,420 feet of free oil and 230 feet of water.

The second well is Williamson's Vowers No. 1, which is five miles south and a mile east of Kimball and a mile northwest of the nearest production in the Sloss-State field south of Kimball. A drill stem test on this well recovered 3,330 feet of free oil and 270 feet of heavily oil-and-gas-cut mud.

One other producer reported was Standolind's Vowers No. 5 in the Sloss-State field.

Drilling activity was on the increase early in the week with 14 rotary rigs in operation Tuesday.

No producers were reported in the county last week but the week before there was one.

Harrisburg Area Has 2 More Oilers

HARRISBURG, Neb. (AP) — Shell Oil was reported to have run production casing down two more oil wells in the Mosier Field in the Pumpkin Creek region near here.

The new oilers are the Mosier B-4 and the Mosier B-5. Shell has two oil wells in the same area.

City Operation Gas Company Said Assured

STROMSBURG, Neb. — City operation of the Central Gas and Electric Company is practically assured, Stromsburg Mayor Edwin L. Anderson announced Tuesday, despite temporary injunction issued last week to prevent the city from taking over.

The mayor pointed to the April 3 election in Stromsburg in which voters gave the city the right to acquire the utility by eminent domain by a 2 to 1 majority.

"With the people behind us, it is just a question of time before we take over," Mayor Anderson explained. The temporary inpunction was granted by U. S. District Court Judge John W. Delehant on the basis of alleged irregularities in the April 3 vote.

Lengthy Project

The move for city operation of a coordinated utilities department including sewage, water, electricity and gas, has been a project considered by the Stromsburg council for several years, the mayor said. In 1954, voters vetoed the proposal to take over the Central properties.

Lincoln attorney Thomas Davies is handling the Stromsburg case in District Court. Date for a hearing on a permanent injunction requested by Central has not yet been set. The temporary injunction cancelled the state board of condemnation proceedings scheduled last Monday.

Labor Group By Laws, Constitution OKd

HASTINGS, Neb. (AP) — The resolution of merger of AFL and CIO labor organizations in Nebraska, as well as a new constitution and by laws was approved by voice vote in a joint meeting Tuesday morning.

This was the first meeting of the Nebraska labor representatives in a single body after the separate meetings American Federation of Labor and Congress of Industrial Organization affiliates approved the merger Monday.

Andrew J. Biemiller, national legislative representative of the AFL-CIO. presented a charter from the parent organization to Gordon Preble, newly elected state president.

The organization's 1957 program of action was outlined in part by resolutions adopted at the first joint session Tuesday.

Oppose Ton-Mile Tax

They included opposition to passage of the ton-mile tax in Nebraska; recommendation that the State Board of Control system in Nebraska be abandoned; support of the transport workers union of Omaha in its controversy with the Omaha Transit Co.

The delegates referred to the executive committee a resolution calling for allowing osteopathic physicians to practice "equally with other members of the healing arts."

Demos Favored

Endorsements were given by the new labor group to most of the state and national Democratic candidates on the November ballot. The delegates gave support to Adlai Stevenson and Estes Kefauver on the national ticket.

Democratic candidates were endorsed in the congressional races, with the exception of the First district where the executive board noted that the Democratic candidate is "of no value."

Republicans endorsed were Gov. Victor Anderson. Secretary of State Frank Marsh and Treasurer Ralph Hill. Both candidates were endorsed for the office of state auditor.

Democratic candidates were endorsed for other state offices, except for lieutenant governor.

Gov. Victor Anderson, who left the Republican campaign caravan to address this meeting. outlined the progress in the state road program and Nebraska's battle against mental disease.

The governor said that by matching federal funds, the state now has four million dollars more to spend on highways

Referring to the state's mental health program, Gov. Anderson said that "for the first time in many years our state hospitals now have empty beds."

The Nebraska Federation of Labor and the Nebraska Industrial Union Council held separate conventions. It was at those sessions that the merger votes were taken.

E. F. Noble, Grand Island, another AFL man, was chosen secretary-treasurer of the combined groups.

They will be ex-officio members of an executive board made up of Jack Renault, Scottsbluff; Kenneth P. Lewis. Lincoln; Paul Shaffer, Omaha, Joe Silhasek. Omaha; Conrad Kreiger. Grand Island, and Guy Byers, Omaha, all AFL; and Nels Peterson, Omaha; Rudy Chleborad, Omaha; Victor Meyers, Omaha, and Ronald Smith, Lincoln, CIO.

State's Irrigated Corn Yields Slightly Higher Than Year Ago

Yields if irrigated corn in Nebraska are reported slightly higher than a year ago, but dryland corn yields are about the same, according to the State-Federal division of Agricultural Statistics in its weekly crop-weather report.

A few counties in the northwestern, northeastern and southwestern portions of the state are reporting somewhat higher yields than in other areas, the report stated. Dryland corn is very spotted, crop experts added.

"About 13 per cent of the crop was harvested by the close of last week, most of it being in east central and southeastern Nebraska," the report revealed. "Corn is too dry for the best operation of the mechanical pickers."

The report further revealed:

Irrigated grain sorghum is yielding well, and local areas which received rain have some fair yields of dryland sorghum. Harvest has started in northwestern Nebraska, but some sorghum in southwestern Nebraska is still immature. Part of the crop was damaged so badly that it did not head.

Bean Harvest Ending

The harvest of dry edible beans is about completed in western Nebraska. The harvesting of potatoes in western Nebraska is making good progress. Some sugar beets are being dug this week, and digging should be in full swing next week.

Winter wheat showed further damage from dry weather last week. Wheat in the counties that received substantial rain early in September is still showing up well. Summer fallow wheat is still doing well but needs surface moisture. Other wheat is very spotted, and some of it did not sprout. The condition of rye is also somewhat lower than a week ago.

Reports on pasture are somewhat lower than a week ago. Generally there is very little pasture feed except in the Sandhills. Some of the fourth crop of alfalfa is being harvested.

Short Feed Supply

About two-thirds of the counties are reporting a short supply of feed grain and also a short supply of hay and forage. The balance of the counties are reporting an ample supply at present.

Surface moisture is short in every county of the state. Only three counties report ample subsoil moisture. There has been appreciable rain in the state since September 5. At that time the precipitation was limited largely to the southeastern counties south of the Platte and south central counties.

There was no rainfall reported in the state during the past week.

Double Amputee Fined Again On Speeding Count

SIDNEY, Neb. (AP) — Who says lightning doesn't strike twice?

On Oct. 28, 1955, Nebraska Safety Patrol Sgt. Mel Busekist, of Sidney, halted a Michigan-licensed car on Highway 30, west of Lodgepole

Inside the car was 72-year-old Orrin G. Seaver, of Ypsilanti, Mich. Seaver is a double amputee, having lost both legs in a Detroit street car accident.

At that time. Busekist clocked Seaver's car at 80 miles per hour

Almost a year later Busekist was patrolling Highway 30, west of Lodgepole. Swish—went a Michigan-licensed car which looked familiar.

Busekist clocked the car at 72 miles per hour

Inside Orrin Seaver, one year older and eight miles per hour slower.

Seaver paid a fine of $25 and costs in Cheyenne County Court on a charge of second offense speeding.

Bringing Up Baby®

HINTS COLLECTED BY Mrs Dan Gerber
(MOTHER OF 5)

"Do babies follow any standard behavior pattern during the first year?" asks a first time mother. According to a recent infant study, the results showed that babies, bless their "rugged individualistic" hearts, stubbornly refused to follow any uniform pattern whatsoever. Matter of fact, the variety of behavior patterns in infants was found to be so great that few comparisons, if any, could be made.

* * *

What better reason for reminding yourself that "It's unfair to compare." The all too common neighborhood pastime of comparing baby achievements can be bad for baby, upsetting for you. If you cherish baby for what he is — try to meet his individual needs, he'll be the happy, well-adjusted baby you want him to be.

* * *

Refreshment unlimited. That's the sum and substance of Gerber Strained Fruit Dessert — a luscious blend of plump, juicy apricots, mild orange juice and mellow pineapple juice — textured to a little queen's taste with just a touch of tapioca. Like all wholesome Gerber Strained Desserts it makes an ideal, not-too-sweet, end of the meal treat.

* * *

Suggestion box. This from an enterprising mother: "Even though socks and bootees are small, they do take up a lot of washline space. I simply attach six or eight pairs to a wire hanger with clip clothes-pins and slip the hanger on the line."

* * *

Biting bit. Baby finding teething troublesome? Here's quick and soothing relief for aching gums. Gerber Teething Biscuits are smooth-surfaced to ease tender gums — extra-hard to provide really good biting satisfaction. Wholesome ingredients are blended and baked into a special shape for easy grasping. Just barely sweetened so they won't spoil little appetites. Gerber Baby Foods, Fremont, Michigan.

The delicious flavor difference in Folger's is Mountain Grown Coffee!

You taste it in every steaming cup...the unusually rich, tangy flavor of nature's choicest coffee. For that's what Folger's is... a unique and individual blend of naturally more flavorful Mountain-Grown coffees!

Experts agree that these rare mountain coffees, grown in remote regions where there is an abundance of fertile volcanic soil, warm tropic rain, and year-round sunlight, have the most satisfying tang and flavor of any coffee known today.

And you will agree that the rewarding flavor and fragrance you discover in Folger's is the finest you have ever enjoyed. Distinctively rich. Unusually tangy. Unmistakably Folger's — the Mountain-Grown coffee!

So much richer in flavor that you are urged to use 1/4 less than with lesser flavored brands.

Southern Nebraska Stops On Benson Tour Are Listed

Tight 2-Day Schedule Is Planned

OMAHA (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Benson will follow a tight schedule in a swing across southern Nebraska Friday and Saturday, which he has billed as a foray into the farm belt to "get the truth to farmers."

Secretary Benson will arrive in Beatrice by plane at 1:15 p.m. Friday and travel by car the remainder of that day and until 3:45 p.m. Saturday when he will board a United Airpines plane for Scottsbluff.

Don Boyd of Lincoln, Nebraska Young Republican chairman, will accompany Benson throughout along with two Washington aides, Robert McMillan and Reed Frisnecht.

Jack Jacobson of Lexington will meet the secretary at Beatrice and travel with him as far as Geneva when Sen. Hruska (R-Neb) will replace him as a member of the touring party.

Sen. Curtis (R-Neb) will join Secretary Benson at Hastings and travel with him to Lexington where Rep. Miller (R-Neb) will replace Curtis in the caravan.

The climax of the tour will be a fund raising dinner at 6 p.m. and an opening meeting at 8 p.m. in Scottsbluff.

Benson's timetable:

Friday—Arrive Beatrice 1:15 p.m. Leave 1:40 p.m.; Fairbury 2:10-2:35 p.m.; Hebron 3:00-3:25 p.m.; Geneva 4:10-4:35 p.m.; Sutton 5:00-5:25 p.m.; Superior, 6:20 p.m. Dinner. Leaving Superior after dinner Secretary Benson's party will go to Hastings, arriving at 11 p.m.

Saturday: Leave Hastings 8:40 a.m.; Minden 9:30-10:00; Holdrege 10:30-11:00 a.m.; Lexington 11:50 a.m. 1:25 p.m. luncheon; Gothenburg 1:55-2:25 p.m.; North Platte 3:00-3:30 p.m. Leaving North Platte by plane at 3:45 p.m. (central time). Benson will arrive in Scottsbluff at 4 p.m. (mountain time) for the dinner and open meeting.

Robert Kindler's Rites At Ulysses

Lincoln Star Special

ULYSSES, Neb.—Funeral services for Robert Kindler, who died unexpectedly from a heart attack at his home in Fremont, will be held Wednesday afternoon at the Methodist Church in Ulysses.

Surviving are his wife; two children; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kindler of Ulysses, and seven brothers.

Teachers Honored

SWANTON, Neb. — Teachers were honored in a reception at the auditorium here. New to the school faculty are Mrs. Albert Hersmeier, Betty Fikar and Richard Presak.

Firemen's Banquet Is Held At Bruning

BRUNING, Neb.—The annual banquet of the Thayer County Firemen's Association was held at the Lutheran Church in Bruning. The Rev. Walter C. Rundin of Wahoo, chaplain of the State Firemen's Association, was guest speaker.

Bond Issue On Reynolds Ballot

REYNOLDS, Neb. — A $28,000 water bond proposal will go before voters in this community Tuesday, October 23. Money from the bonds would be used to construct a water works system in the town.

A general tax would be levied on all except intangible property to pay off the bonds and the interest.

More Legal Codes To Learn—Simmons

OMAHA (AP) — Lawyers are going to have to learn the legal codes of the new free nations, Nebraska Chief Justice Robert C. Simmons of Lincoln told the National Institute of Municipal law officers Tuesday.

"Lawyers of the United States have been taught that there are only two great systems of law, the Anglo-Saxon, basis of the United States laws, and the Continental system, based upon the Code Napoleon," Simmons said.

"In order to bring about understanding and peace in this world, we must recognize and understand the Islamic laws, based on the Moslem faith, and the laws bases upon the Buddhist faith," he said.

"We must also recognize the impact of the Hindu philosophy and religion as applied to the laws of India."

Justice Simmons has toured the far east extensively as a jurist.

Delegates to the 21st annual conference of the institute also heard committee reports and discussed specific problems Tuesday.

Labor Group By Laws, Constitution OKd

HASTINGS, Neb. (AP) — The resolution of merger of AFL and CIO labor organizations in Nebraska, as well as a new constitution and by laws was approved by voice vote in a joint meeting Tuesday morning.

This was the first meeting of the Nebraska labor representatives in a single body after the separate meetings American Federation of Labor and Congress of Industrial Organization affiliates approved the merger Monday.

Andrew J. Biemiller, national legislative representative of the AFL-CIO, presented a charter from the parent organization to Gordon Preble, newly elected state president.

The organization's 1957 program of action was outlined in part by resolutions adopted at the first joint session Tuesday.

Oppose Ton-Mile Tax

They included opposition to passage of the ton-mile tax in Nebraska; recommendation that the State Board of Control system in Nebraska be abandoned; support of the transport workers union of Omaha in its controversy with the Omaha Transit Co.

The delegates referred to the executive committee a resolution calling for allowing osteopathic physicians to practice "equally with other members of the healing arts."

Demos Favored

Endorsements were given by the new labor group to most of the state and national Democratic candidates on the November ballot. The delegates gave support to Adlai Stevenson and Estes Kefauver on the national ticket.

Democratic candidates were endorsed in the congressional races, with the exception of the First district where the executive board noted that the Democratic candidate is "of no value."

Republicans endorsed were Gov. Victor Anderson, Secretary of State Frank Marsh and Treasurer Ralph Hill. Both candidates were endorsed for the office of state auditor.

Democratic candidates were endorsed for other state offices, except for lieutenant governor.

Gov. Victor Anderson, who left the Republican campaign caravan to address this meeting, outlined the progress in the state road program and Nebraska's battle against mental disease.

The governor said that by matching federal funds, the state now has four million dollars more to spend on highways

Referring to the state's mental health program, Gov. Anderson said that "for the first time in many years our state hospitals now have empty beds."

The Nebraska Federation of Labor and the Nebraska Industrial Union Council held separate conventions. It was at those sessions that the merger votes were taken.

E. F. Noble, Grand Island, another AFL man, was chosen secretary-treasurer of the combined groups.

They will be ex-officio members of an executive board made up of Jack Renault, Scottsbluff; Kenneth P. Lewis, Lincoln; Paul Shaffer, Omaha, Joe Silhasek, Omaha; Conrad Kreiger, Grand Island, and Guy Byers, Omaha, all AFL; and Nels Peterson, Omaha; Rudy Chleborad, Omaha; Victor Meyers, Omaha, and Ronald Smith, Lincoln, CIO.

State's Irrigated Corn Yields Slightly Higher Than Year Ago

Yields if irrigated corn in Nebraska are reported slightly higher than a year ago, but dryland corn yields are about the same, according to the State-Federal division of Agricultural Statistics in its weekly crop-weather report.

A few counties in the northwestern, northeastern and southwestern portions of the state are reporting somewhat higher yields than in other areas, the report stated. Dryland corn is very spotted, crop experts added.

"About 13 per cent of the crop was harvested by the close of last week, most of it being in east central and southeastern Nebraska," the report revealed. "Corn is too dry for the best operation of the mechanical pickers."

The report further revealed:

Irrigated grain sorghum is yielding well, and local areas which received rain have some fair yields of dryland sorghum. Harvest has started in northwestern Nebraska, but some sorghum in southwestern Nebraska is still immature. Part of the crop was damaged so badly that it did not head.

Bean Harvest Ending

The harvest of dry edible beans is about completed in western Nebraska. The harvesting of potatoes in western Nebraska is making good progress. Some sugar beets are being dug this week, and digging should be in full swing next week.

Winter wheat showed further damage from dry weather last week. Wheat in the counties that received substantial rain early in September is still showing up well. Summer fallow wheat is still doing well but needs surface moisture. Other wheat is very spotted, and some of it did not sprout. The condition of rye is also somewhat lower than a week ago.

Reports on pasture are somewhat lower than a week ago. Generally there is very little pasture feed except in the Sandhills. Some of the fourth crop of alfalfa is being harvested.

Short Feed Supply

About two-thirds of the counties are reporting a short supply of feed grain and also a short supply of hay and forage. The balance of the counties are reporting an ample supply at present.

Surface moisture is short in every county of the state. Only three counties report ample subsoil moisture. There has been appreciable rain in the state since September 5. At that time the precipitation was limited largely to the southeastern counties south of the Platte and south central counties.

There was no rainfall reported in the state during the past week.

Double Amputee Fined Again On Speeding Count

SIDNEY, Neb. (AP) — Who says lightning doesn't strike twice?

On Oct. 28, 1955, Nebraska Safety Patrol Sgt. Mel Busekist, of Sidney, halted a Michigan-licensed car on Highway 30, west of Lodgepole

Inside the car was 72-year-old Orrin G. Seaver, of Ypsilanti, Mich. Seaver is a double amputee, having lost both legs in a Detroit street car accident.

At that time, Busekist clocked Seaver's car at 80 miles per hour

Almost a year later Busekist was patrolling Highway 30, west of Lodgepole. Swish—went a Michigan-licensed car which looked familiar.

Busekist clocked the car at 72 miles per hour

Inside Orrin Seaver, one year older and eight miles per hour slower.

Seaver paid a fine of $25 and costs in Cheyenne County Court on a charge of second offense speeding.

Bringing Up Baby®

HINTS COLLECTED BY Mrs Dan Gerber
(MOTHER OF 5)

"Do babies follow any standard behavior pattern during the first year?" asks a first time mother. According to a recent infant study, the results showed that babies, bless their "rugged individualistic" hearts, stubbornly refused to follow any uniform pattern whatsoever. Matter of fact, the variety of behavior patterns in infants was found to be so great that few comparisons, if any, could be made.

* * *

What better reason for reminding yourself that "It's unfair to compare." The all too common neighborhood pastime of comparing baby achievements can be bad for baby, upsetting for you. If you cherish baby for what he is—try to meet his individual needs, he'll be the happy, well-adjusted baby you want him to be.

* * *

Refreshment unlimited. That's the sum and substance of Gerber Strained Fruit Dessert—a luscious blend of plump, juicy apricots, mild orange juice and mellow pineapple juice—textured to a little queen's taste with just a touch of tapioca. Like all wholesome Gerber Strained Desserts it makes an ideal, not-too-sweet, end of the meal treat.

* * *

Suggestion box. This from an enterprising mother: "Even though socks and bootees are small, they do take up a lot of washline space. I simply attach six or eight pairs to a wire hanger with clip clothespins and slip the hanger on the line."

* * *

Biting bit. Baby finding teething troublesome? Here's quick and soothing relief for aching gums. Gerber Teething Biscuits are smooth-surfaced to ease tender gums—extra-hard to provide really good biting satisfaction. Wholesome ingredients are blended and baked into a special shape for easy grasping. Just barely sweetened so they won't spoil little appetites. Gerber Baby Foods, Fremont, Michigan.

The delicious flavor difference in Folger's is

Mountain Grown Coffee!

You taste it in every steaming cup...the unusually rich, tangy flavor of nature's choicest coffee. For that's what Folger's is... a unique and individual blend of naturally more flavorful Mountain-Grown coffees!

Experts agree that these rare mountain coffees, grown in remote regions where there is an abundance of fertile volcanic soil, warm tropic rain, and year-round sunlight, have the most satisfying tang and flavor of any coffee known today.

And you will agree that the rewarding flavor and fragrance you discover in Folger's is the finest you have ever enjoyed. Distinctively rich. Unusually tangy. Unmistakably Folger's—the Mountain-Grown coffee!

So much richer in flavor that you are urged to use 1/4 less than with lesser flavored brands.

Folger's Coffee... It's Mountain-Grown!

Probe Told 64 Children Of Government Officials Attend D.C. Public Schools

. . . Report On Integration Study

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sixty-four children of high government officials attend Washington's public schools, Supt. Hobart M. Corning reported Tuesday.

He made his report to a House subcommittee which recently conducted a two-week investigation of the effects of racial integration on the District of Columbia's school system.

William Gerber, the subcommittee's counsel, has called the Washington school situation "a mess," and members of the subcommittee demanded to know how many top federal officials send their children or grandchildren to the schools.

Corning was asked for a report covering the children or grandchildren of President Eisenhower, Vice President Nixon, Cabinet members, Supreme Court justices, White House aides, members of Congress and the District of Columbia commissioners.

500 People

This is a list of more than 500 people, some of whom, however, live in nearby Maryland or Virginia and would not send their children to public schools in Washington.

The Corning report showed no public school registrations for children of families of members of the Supreme Court. Gerber had expressed special interest in this group, since, he said, the Supreme Court ruled unanimously in favor of desegregation two years ago.

The report showed that some children of members of Congress attend the Horace Mann public school. A spokesman for the subcommittee has made a point that this school, after integration, still in fact was all-white. It is located in a neighborhood where few Negroes live.

Among the children attending Horace Mann is a son of Secretary of the Interior Seaton and three daughters of Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, the Democratic vice-presidential candidate.

Nixon's Daughters

Vice President Nixon's two daughters, Julia and Patricia, also go to Horace Mann.

The list supplied by Corning also showed that Maxwell Rabb, a presidential adviser on race relations, sends his three children to public schools here, and that Secretary of Agriculture Benson has a daughter, Bonnie, at Roosevelt High School and another daughter, Flora, at Powell Junior High School.

During the course of the House hearing, Rep. John Bell Williams (D-Miss) commented that "of course we know the President's grandchildren attend segregated schools over in Alexandria, Va., I understand."

Sen. Eastland (D-Miss) had brought up the matter of the Eisenhower grandchildren — children of Maj. and Mrs. John Eisenhower at Ft. Belvoir, Va.—last January.

'Other Fellow'

Eastland said then that Eisenhower "is like all interracial politicians—he wants it for the other fellow."

At the time, an Army spokesman at Ft. Belvoir quoted Maj. Eisenhower as saying that racial integration at the Army post schools had nothing to do with the fact that two of his children attended a private, all-white school in Alexandria. A third child, Susan, 4, attends the integrated kindergarten at the post, the spokesman said.

He quoted Maj. Eisenhower as saying the reasons why his son David and daughter Barbara Ann went to the Alexandria school were simply those of any parent choosing one school over another.

Still Serious

LONDON (AP) — British military reservists called up in the Suez crisis were told that the emergency was still serious enough to prevent releasing any of them.

The government's statment came after "We want to go home" demonstrations by troops in Cyprus and Malta.

The issue was taken up at a Cabinet meeting.

Boy Who Killed Father Surrenders

Robert Zavalnak, 14, is shown in a suburban police station in Cleveland, Ohio, shortly after he surrendered to police who were seeking him for shooting his father, Joseph, 42, to death. The boy, who left a three-page note telling why he quarreled with and shot his father, hid in a woods near his home before giving himself up to two officers, one of whom was State highway patrolman Clarence Dragi (at right). Jerry Ginsburg Recital Draws 450

More than 450 persons attended a piano recital by former Lincolnite Jerry Ginsburg, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Ginsburg, Tuesday evening at the Student Union.

The concert was sponsored by Sigma Alpha Iota, national professional music sorority, for the benefit of its University of Nebraska scholarship fund.

Selections included an original composition by Ginsburg, "Variations and Fugue on an Original Theme," Mozart's "Sonata in B flat Major," Schumann's "Concerto without Orchestra (Third Grand Sonata)," and "Fantasia Baetica" by DeFalla.

Ginsburg attended Hartley School, Lincoln High School, Oberlin College, and has been studying at the Manhattan School of Music, accompanying professionally and directing a piano quartet.

FIRST RESERVIST UNDER 6-MONTH PLAN HONORED

Pvt. Jerry Montgomery, 19, of 2043 Sewell, was honored by his U. S. Army Reserve company Tuesday night at the Pershing Armory as the first returnee from active duty from the 370th Engineer Group under the Reserve Forces Act of 1955.

The Lincolnite has just returned from six months' active service at Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo., going through eight weeks basic, eight weeks engineer basic and 4 weeks in a regular engineer unit.

The returnee under the program, open to 17-18½ year-olds, now serves another 7½ years in the active Army Reserve.

Under the Reserve Act, a trainee can go for his 6 months active duty anytime before he is 20 years of age.

37 Shells Fired

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — The Nationalist Chinese Defense Ministry reported that Communists on Chingyu Islet fired 37 shells at Erhtan Islet, 2½ miles south of Amoy, but without effect.

The ministry said the Nationalists retaliated.

This was the first action in the Amoy Bay area since Sept. 8.

Crippled Children Delegates To Meet

Delegates representing 67 Nebraska county committees of the Society for Crippled Children are expected to register in Lincoln October 12 and 13 for the annual state convention. County committee membership now stands at over 700 persons.

County school superintendents, county welfare department heads and those interested in the work carried on by the Easter Seal Society have been invited to the meeting.

Outstanding speakers and special events will highlight the sessions of the two-day gathering.

Speakers

Dr. Dwight M. Frost, Omaha, acting chairman of the department of physical medicine and rehabilitation at the University of Nebraska College of Medicine and Hospital will speak on current rehabilitation in Nebraska at a luncheon Saturday at the student union of the University of Nebraska. Dr. Frost also serves as chief of the department of physical medicine and rehabilitation of the Douglas County welfare administration and as a consultant for a number of Nebraska hospitals.

A feature on the same program will be a message from Victor E. Anderson, governor of Nebraska.

An election of members to the board of trustees to fill expiring terms will be held. Officers for the coming year will also be elected.

Fund Raising

The luncheon will be preceded by two workshops at the Student Union, one concerned with "Fund Raising" with members of the Douglas County chapter in charge and the other on "Vocational Rehabilitation", with Fred A. Novak, state director of the Nebraska rehabilitation services and Lancaster County committee member, presiding.

Special interest on Friday's program will be a visit in the afternoon to the Milford trade school where handicapped men are among those receiving vocational training. The tour was arranged by Novak and Lowell A. Welsh, director of the trade school.

A banquet will be held at the Lincoln hotel Friday at 6 p.m. following a "movie hour" showing films dealing with crippled children's activities.

Virg Hill, Fairbury, editor of the Fairbury News, will be guest speaker at the banquet. His talk will deal with the value of publicity to such organizations as the Easter Seal Society.

Registration will be at the Lincoln Hotel, Friday and the Student Union, Saturday.

Arrangements for the convention were made by Victor D. Smith, Omaha, state president; Dr. Leroy T. Laase, Lincoln, president-elect and S. Orson Perkins, Omaha, state executive director.

Welsh To Address Scout Conference

HASTINGS, Neb. — Keynote speaker for the Overland Trails Council "Citizens Now" Boy Scout conference at the Hastings Naval Ammunition Depot October 25-27 will be Dr. Dale Welsh, president of Hastings College.

This was announced by Dennis Jones, Explorer Scout of Blue Hill, who is chairman of the conference.

Another of the main speakers for the meet will be Walter Lauritzen of Grand Island, who will speak on "Citizenship in the Community."

Adult Homemaking Is Planned At Osceola

Lincoln Star Special

OSCEOLA, Neb.—Miss Chloryce Ode, home economics instructor here, will be in charge of an adult homemaking class. Due to the size of the classroom available, the first 15 persons registering will be accommodated.

Governor Speaking

WILCOX, Neb.—Governor Victor Anderson will speak at the Wilcox Community Church Sunday, October 28, at the final meeting of a series of Sunday School Improvement Days.

Mrs. A. H. Frantz, Friend, Dies At 74

FRIEND—Mrs. A. H. Frantz, 74, longtime Friend resident, died Tuesday morning.

Services will be conducted at St. Joseph's church at 9:30 Thursday.

Mrs. Frantz is survived by two daughters, Mrs. George Ketchum, Clyde, N.Y., and Elizabeth Frantz, Tucson, Ariz., and one son, Gene A. Frantz, Evanston, Ill. She is also survived by two brothers, Charles Moore, Casper, Wyo., and Emmett Moore, Lawrence, Kan.

Sidles Profits Up This Year

OMAHA (AP) — Stockholders of the Sidles Company were told that the 1956 financial report will disclose a net profit to the company after taxes slightly larger than in 1955.

In his report to the stockholders, Harry B. Sidles, president of the firm, said sales volume for the first eight months of the year was about 12 million dollars, or approximately $87,000 more than for the first eight months of 1955.

The company's fiscal year ends Dec. 31.

Last week directors of the firm, which is a large distributor of automotive parts supplies and equipment, household appliances, heating and air conditioning, declared a dividend of 50 cents a share on stock and decided to wait until December to take action on any further dividend.

Charles Carter of Lincoln was named to the board of directors and these other directors were re-elected: Sidles, Victor L. Toft, Harold O. Johnson, Arthur G. Knispel, Albert A. Koenig, Garland Holeman, Kenneth Donahoo, Glade Linderman, Fred M. Sidles, Mrs. Adele W. Sidles.

Harry B. Sidles was re-elected president, Toft executive vice president, secretary and treasurer; and Arthur G. Knispel, assistant secretary and treasurer.

DELIBERATE FLUNK

MANILA (AP) — Eleven mature Chinese students failed to pass a four-year high school course in eight years. Immigration Commissioner Emilio Galang grew suspicious. He investigated, accused them of flunking so they could remain in the Philippines, and ordered them deported to Chinese Formosa. Their ages are 23 to 28.

Probe Told 64 Children Of Government Officials Attend D.C. Public Schools

. . . Report On Integration Study

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sixty-four children of high government officials attend Washington's public schools, Supt. Hobart M. Corning reported Tuesday.

He made his report to a House subcommittee which recently conducted a two-week investigation of the effects of racial integration on the District of Columbia's school system.

William Gerber, the subcommittee's counsel, has called the Washington school situation "a mess," and members of the subcommittee demanded to know how many top federal officials send their children or grandchildren to the schools.

Corning was asked for a report covering the children or grandchildren of President Eisenhower, Vice President Nixon, Cabinet members, Supreme Court justices, White House aides, members of Congress and the District of Columbia commissioners.

500 People

This is a list of more than 500 people, some of whom, however, live in nearby Maryland or Virginia and would not send their children to public schools in Washington.

The Corning report showed no public school registrations for children of families of members of the Supreme Court. Gerber had expressed special interest in this group, since, he said, the Supreme Court ruled unanimously in favor of desegregation two years ago.

The report showed that some children of members of Congress attend the Horace Mann public school. A spokesman for the subcommittee has made a point that this school, after integration, still in fact was all-white. It is located in a neighborhood where few Negroes live.

Among the children attending Horace Mann is a son of Secretary of the Interior Seaton and three daughters of Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, the Democratic vice-presidential candidate.

Nixon's Daughters

Vice President Nixon's two daughters, Julia and Patricia, also go to Horace Mann.

The list supplied by Corning also showed that Maxwell Rabb, a presidential adviser on race relations, sends his three children to public schools here, and that Secretary of Agriculture Benson has a daughter, Bonnie, at Roosevelt High School and another daughter, Flora, at Powell Junior High School.

During the course of the House hearing, Rep. John Bell Williams (D-Miss) commented that "of course we know the President's grandchildren attend segregated schools over in Alexandria, Va., I understand."

Sen. Eastland (D-Miss) had brought up the matter of the Eisenhower grandchildren — children of Maj. and Mrs. John Eisenhower at Ft. Belvoir, Va.—last January.

'Other Fellow'

Eastland said then that Eisenhower "is like all interracial politicians—he wants it for the other fellow."

At the time, an Army spokesman at Ft. Belvoir quoted Maj. Eisenhower as saying that racial integration at the Army post schools had nothing to do with the fact that two of his children attended a private, all-white school in Alexandria. A third child, Susan, 4, attends the integrated kindergarten at the post, the spokesman said.

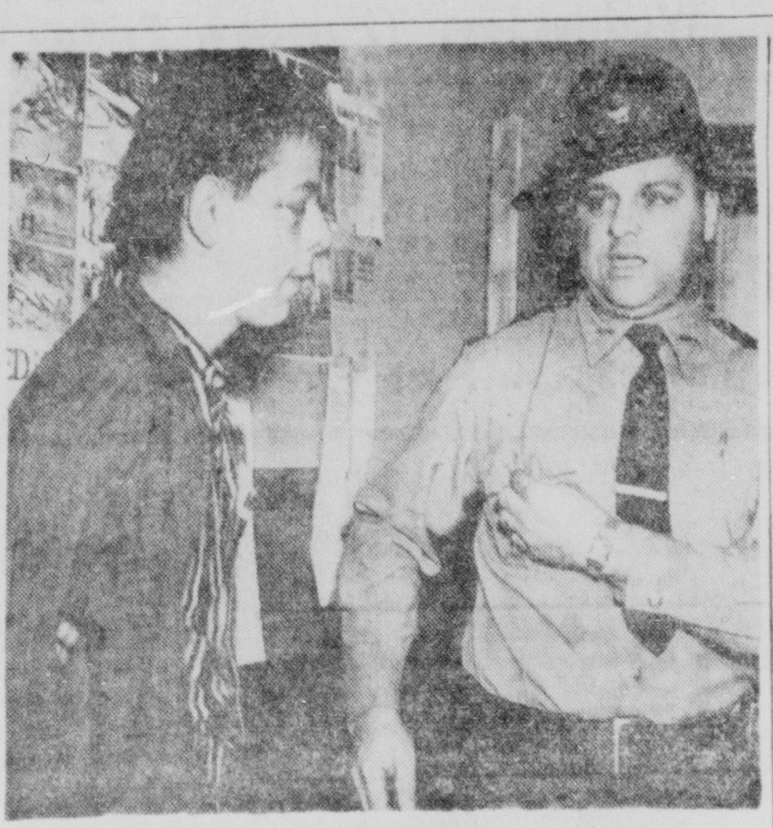
He quoted Maj. Eisenhower as saying the reasons why his son David and daughter Barbara Ann went to the Alexandria school were simply those of any parent choosing one school over another.

Still Serious

LONDON (AP) — British military reservists called up in the Suez crisis were told that the emergency was still serious enough to prevent releasing any of them.

The government's statment came after "We want to go home" demonstrations by troops in Cyprus and Malta.

The issue was taken up at a Cabinet meeting.



Boy Who Killed Father Surrenders

Robert Zavalnak, 14, is shown in a suburban police station in Cleveland, Ohio, shortly after he surrendered to police who were seeking him for shooting his father, Joseph, 42, to death. The boy, who left a three-page note telling why he quarreled with and shot his father, hid in a woods near his home before giving himself up to two officers, one of whom was State highway patrolman Clarence Dragi (at right). Jerry Ginsburg Recital Draws 450

More than 450 persons attended a piano recital by former Lincolnite Jerry Ginsburg, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Ginsburn, Tuesday evening at the Student Union.

The concert was sponsored by Sigma Alpha Iota, national professional music sorority, for the benefit of its University of Nebraska scholarship fund.

Selections included an original composition by Ginsburg, "Variations and Fugue on an Original Theme," Mozart's "Sonata in B flat Major," Schumann's "Concerto without Orchestra (Third Grand Sonata)," and "Fantasia Baetica" by DeFalla.

Ginsburg attended Hartley School, Lincoln High School, Oberlin College, and has been studying at the Manhattan School of Music, accompanying professionally and directing a piano quartet.

FIRST RESERVIST UNDER 6-MONTH PLAN HONORED

Pvt. Jerry Montgomery, 19, of 2043 Sewell, was honored by his U. S. Army Reserve company Tuesday night at the Pershing Armory as the first returnee from active duty from the 370th Engineer Group under the Reserve Forces Act of 1955.

The Lincolnite has just returned from six months' active service at Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo., going through eight weeks basic, eight weeks engineer basic and 4 weeks in a regular engineer unit.

The returnee under the program, open to 17-18½ year-olds, now serves another 7½ years in the active Army Reserve.

Under the Reserve Act, a trainee can go for his 6 months active duty anytime before he is 20 years of age.

37 Shells Fired

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — The Nationalist Chinese Defense Ministry reported that Communists on Chingyu Islet fired 37 shells at Erhtan Islet, 2½ miles south of Amoy, but without effect.

The ministry said the Nationalists retaliated.

This was the first action in the Amoy Bay area since Sept. 8.

Apartment House Fire Damage $1,500

More than $1,500 damage resulted from a murnace-laundry room fire Tuesday morning at a frame apartment house at 1400 No. 21st, firemen reported.

Considerable damage was done throughout the structure by smoke as well as in the room damaged by flames. The building, which houses three apartments, is owned by H. C. Wittman. Fireman said the cause of the blaze has not been determined.

Nuss Renominated By Post Office Clerk Group

Ferdinand Nuss was nominated to serve another term as president of Local 112, National Federation of Post Office Clerks, at the group's meeting Tuesday night. Balloting will be at the November meeting.

Other nominees:

Harry Johnson and Clarence Shaner, vice president.

Don Mills and Don Watson, secretary.

Wilbert Poppe and Duane Blodgett, treasurer.

Roger Graf and Everett Strough, assistant treasurer.

R. D. Anderson, editor.

Frank Stetina, Glen Bean and Dean Bolling, sergeant-at-arms.

Falls City Voters OK $20,000 Park Bonds

FALLS CITY, Neb. (AP)—Falls City residents Tuesday approved a $20,000 bond issue for purchase of a 19-acre tract of land for use as a park and recreation ground.

The vote in a special election was 1,176 in favor and 170 against.

Another Dawn With More News

AFTER bringing all of our European travelers home—as we did yesterday—we wondered what the topic of conversation would be this morning, and it didn't take us long to find out —it seems to involve a bit of everything.

* * *

BEFORE we go on to future events, however, we want to give you a new address—that of Mr. and Mrs. Eames Irvin (Marjorie Van Pelt), who recently moved into their new home at 3505 So. 31st St.

And that reminds us that Mr. and Mrs. Irvin were greatly surprised last Saturday evening when a group of their friends arrived for a housewarming.

MOST of the things that can be told about the approaching football week-end, we already have mentioned—but of course there are other week-ends and other games—and other plans.

One of the popular out of town games always is Colorado, and we've heard that the traffic to Boulder from Lincoln is to be pretty heavy on the week-end of Oct. 27.

In some instances plans for the Colorado game still are in the making, but we know of one sixsome that definitely will be there—The group includes Mr. and Mrs. Robert Edgren, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Magee and Mr. and Mrs. James Critchfield.

* * *

BEFORE Colorado, however, comes Indiana—at Lincoln, and that means the town will be a host city to many out-of-towners.

Someone told us that Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hinds are expecting guests for the Indiana game week-end, and strangely enough they are not coming from Indiana—but Colorado. They are Mr. and Mrs. George Fleming of Longmont, Colo.

* * *

AND since we've reached the end of October we may as well go ahead with what we know about November and the homecoming game. Understand that Mr. and Mrs. Roy Bystrom of North Platte will be here for that week-end—the guests of Mr. and Mrs J. William Mowbray.

Mrs. Bystrom, incidentally, is the former Irene Neville.

* * *

BUT back to the coming week-end for a moment—just to tell you that Mr. and Mrs. William Desch of York will be in town —the house guests of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Maly, Jr.

KAPPA Kappa Gamma circles of a few years ago will be happy to learn that Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Keep and their son, Ralph, arrived on Tuesday evening from Denver to be the guests of Mrs. Keep's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Lofink, and Mr. Keep's mother, Mrs. Thelma Keep.

Mrs. Keep is the former Maryann Lofink.

We Hear That

Mrs. and Mrs. Robert Kleppinger of East Orange, N. J., announce the birth of a son, William Earl, on Friday, Sept. 21. Mrs. Kleppinger is the former Jeanette Ogle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Ogle who already have gone to East Orange to greet their new grandson—and to visit their son-in-law and daughter. Mr. Kleppinger, a graduate of the University of Nebraska and now research engineer for RCA, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Kleppinger.

★

Mrs. H. I. Stockstill left on Saturday for Englewood, Calif., to extend a personal welcome to her new granddaughter, Kim Lorraine, who arrived on Thursday, Oct. 4. Mrs Stockstill will be the guest of her son and daughter-in-law, and Kim Lorraine's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Stockstill.

Mothers Club To Entertain

The Sigma Alpha Epsilon Mothers Club will entertain at a tea Thursday afternoon honoring mothers of the chapter's new pledges. The program will begin at 1:30 o'clock and will be held at the chapter house, 635 No. 16th.

Tea hostesses will be Mrs. V. K. Patrick of Beatrice, Mrs. Joe Bayer and Mrs. Joseph Bovey.

Plan Dinner For Pledges

At the monthly meeting of the Kappa Alpha Theta Alumnae, to be held Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. James Swanson, 940 Piedmont Rd., the members will complete plans for a progressive dinner to be given next Sunday evening honoring the new pledges of the active chapter.

Mrs. Donald Darst will serve as chairman for the dinner, which will begin at 6 o'clock. Following the salad course at the home of Mrs. Robert Venner, the group will go to the home of Mrs. George Holyoke for the main course, after which dessert will be served at the home of Mrs. William Kimball.

Also guests at the dinner will be the active chapter pledge sponsors and their alumnae sponsors.

Coffee Honors Bride-Elect

A bride-elect, Miss Alma Charles, was the incentive for the morning coffee on Tuesday when Mrs. Thomas Donovan was hostess at her home.

Miss Charles, whose marriage to Lt. Cmdr. J. R. Pendleton will take place on Saturday evening, Oct. 20, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Charles of Lilesville, N. C.

Cmdr. Pendleton, the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Pendleton of Wyalusing, Wis., is a graduate of Northwestern University and is a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity. He did graduate work at the University of Minnesota, and will receive his doctorate from the University of Iowa upon completion of his thesis. Cmdr. Pendleton is stationed at the University of Nebraska.

Miss Charles, by the way, completed her work as an Airline stewardess at Central Technical Institute, Kansas City.

The wedding will take place at 8 o'clock in the evening at the First-Plymouth Congregational Church.

PTA UNITS OPEN FALL SEASON

The October meeting of HAYWARD PTA will be held at 7:30 o'clock next Tuesday evening, Oct. 16, at the school.

Meeting on Tuesday afternoon, Oct. 9, at the school were the members of the program committee who discussed plans for the year's activities and for a special program of winter recreation for the children to be held in the school's new auditorium. Mrs. Victor Weber is chairman of the committee, and meeting with the group was Miss Marie Griffith, principal.

MILLARD LEFLER School will hold a visiting day for parents of 7th graders Friday morning at the school. Parents will attend classes with their children from 8:30 o'clock to 11:30 o'clock, followed by luncheon in the school cafeteria.

In the afternoon, the monthly meeting of the PTA will be held at 1:20 o'clock in the school auditorium.

The members of HAVELOCK PTA met Tuesday afternoon at the school. The program featured the presentation of garden certificates and summer library reading awards to the pupils, after which Merlin Walters, principal, discussed school policies and program plans for the year.

The members also discussed plans for the annual series of get-acquainted coffees. Hostesses for the social hour were the executive board members.

The coffee series, which will be held at 7 o'clock in the evenings, will begin next Tuesday, Oct. 16, for the parents of kindergarten pupils, and will continue on Oct. 23 for parents of first, second and third graders; and on Oct. 30, for parents of fourth, fifth and sixth graders. Parents of Dawes School pupils will meet at 7:30 o'clock the evening of Nov. 7.

The annual series of informal coffees sponsored by HOLMES PTA opened Tuesday evening when the parents of the morning kindergarten and first grade pupils met at the school.

The series, which features a "Know Your School" program, will continue at 7:15 o'clock on the evenings of Oct. 11, parents of the afternoon kindergarten and second grade pupils; Oct. 16, third and fourth graders' parents; and Oct. 18, fifth and sixth graders' parents.

There will be no October meeting of MERLE BEATTIE PTA, instead, the parents are meeting for informal evening coffees at 7:30 o'clock at the school. Parents of first graders met Monday evening, and on Tuesday, fifth and sixth graders' parents met at the school.

The series will continue on Wednesday for the parents of third grader pupils; Thursday, second graders' parents; Monday, Oct. 15, kindergarten parents; and Tuesday, Oct. 16, parents of fourth graders.

A discussion of the pupils' classwork and programs are featured at the meetings, and Miss Luella Hatz, principal, will speak to the parents.

Dr. Janet Palmer was guest speaker Tuesday evening at the meeting of PARK PTA when she spoke on the topic, "Let's Talk About Our Children". A short business meeting was held with Mrs. James Amen presiding, after which mothers of sixth graders were hostesses at a social hour. Mrs. Rex Hadley was chairman of the hostess committee.

The organization's committee chairmen for the year will include: adult education, Mrs. Jean Lang; budget and finance, and character education, Mrs. George Lutzi; civil defense, Mrs. Reinhold Rebensdorf, Mrs. Al Spomer; garden, Mrs. Daniel Schultz; health, Mrs. Fred Rulla, Mrs. William Brent; hospitality, Mrs. Ed Herstein, Mrs. Harvey Thober; legislation and parliamentarian, Mrs. Alex Worster; membership, Mrs. Clarence Yakel, Mrs. Fred Schmidt, Mrs. John Kahler; program, Mrs. Voctor Kahm, Miss Viola Jones; reading and recreation, Mrs. Carl Bennett; publications, Mrs. William Dinges, Mrs. Ace Dinges; publicity, Mrs. Harold Kahler, Mrs. Harry DeBus; room mothers, Mrs. Leo Ostermiller; Mrs. A. J. Fischer; safety, Mrs. H. B. Woodford; social, Mrs. Henry Zieg, Mrs. Daryl Wicken; Mrs. Henry Fischer, Mrs. William Shultz; telephone, Mrs. Willard Spilker, Mrs. Clifford Albright.

Presiding at the Tuesday evening meeting of WHITTIER PTA was Mrs. Roy Ripley, and guest speaker was Dr. Paul Bancroft, whose topic was, "What You Know About Your Junior High Boy or Girl"

Following the program, a get-acquainted hour was held for the faculty and parents, and refreshments were served.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Ekwall have been named the new co-presidents of PRESCOTT PTA., to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Charles who recently moved from the neighborhood.

In place of the monthly meeting, the PTA last week held a series of get-acquainted coffees at the school on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday evenings.

Mrs. Smith, who is the only woman member of the American Farm Bureau Federation board of directors, recently was named to membership on the USCA home economics research advisory committee.

SUBURBIA

The sudden chill in the weather has put a damper on much of the outside activity in and around Country Club Manor, but as far as the inside story is concerned, the pages are filled. There was a vacation, or two — plans for a week-end jaunt to Missouri—coffees—house guests—and a PTA gathering.

Vacationing in the Eastern States were Mr. and Mrs. Dale Renner, who spent their 10 day's excusion visiting relatives and touring the country. In Indianapolis, Ind., the Renners visited their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Renner and their four daughters, and they also were guests of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Keith Cossairt and their two children in Dayton, O. The Renners returned home last Wednesday.

And leaving for a week's trip this Sunday will be Mr. and Mrs. Jack VanPatten, whose destination is Colorado. The VanPattens will be guests of Mrs. VanPatten's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Dirks in Longmont, Colo.

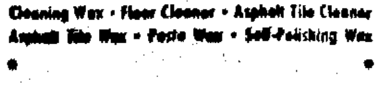
The Edward Weavers have a full schedule of social activity planned for this week. On Thursday, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Eicher, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Johnson and Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Scott will join the Weavers for a day of fun in Omaha. The distaff members will remain in Lincoln while their husbands spend the afternoon playing golf, and will meet them for dinner in the evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Samson in Omaha.

Then on Friday, the Weavers and their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Weaver Jr., will leave for Kansas City, Mo., to attend a convention, play golf and enjoy the sights of the city. The Weaver foursome will return to Country Club Manor on Sunday.

And mention of the Weaver Jr. couple reminds us that they are vacationing this week in Colorado. Before returning home Thursday, in time to be off for Missouri, the Weavers will visit Mrs. Weaver's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. William Kaminska in Denver.

The guests who Mr. and Mrs. William Damkroger entertained in their home Tuesday for lunch were Mrs. Jerry Ernst and Noel of Wichita, Kan., and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Wilkens and Everet of DeWitt.

Several ladies from the Country Club Manor area were included in the coffee for the Democratic Women, which was at the home of Mrs. Robert Eikleberry Tuesday morning. In charge of the program was Mrs. T. C. Staten.



The things they say about Sue!

Have you been inside her house? Everything's so neat and clean. Three youngsters, too! Yet she manages to have loads of time for so many other things!

Now don't turn green, girls. Sue really isn't that good! She simply uses her head instead of her muscles. Finds quicker, easier ways to get her housework done. Like using Bruce Cleaning Wax on her wood floors. Why it cleans and waxes them in one easy operation —without messy floor washing of any kind. Then Sue sits and collects compliments. Just try it next waxing day. Bruce Cleaning Wax for a heavy coat of wax, or Bruce Floor Cleaner for a light wax coat. Both give wonderfully easy clean-as-you-wax results!

For floors, use BRUCE!

Crippled Children Delegates To Meet

Delegates representing 67 Nebraska county committees of the Society for Crippled Children are expected to register in Lincoln October 12 and 13 for the annual state convention. County committee membership now stands at over 700 persons.

County school superintendents, county welfare department heads and those interested in the work carried on by the Easter Seal Society have been invited to the meeting.

Outstanding speakers and special events will highlight the sessions of the two-day gathering.

Speakers

Dr. Dwight M. Frost, Omaha, acting chairman of the department of physical medicine and rehabilitation at the University of Nebraska College of Medicine and Hospital will speak on current rehabilitation in Nebraska at a luncheon Saturday at the student union of the University of Nebraska. Dr. Frost also serves as chief of the department of physical medicine and rehabilitation of the Douglas County welfare administration and as a consultant for a number of Nebraska hospitals.

A feature on the same program will be a message from Victor E. Anderson, governor of Nebraska.

An election of members to the board of trustees to fill expiring terms will be held. Officers for the coming year will also be elected.

Fund Raising

The luncheon will be preceded by two workshops at the Student Union, one concerned with "Fund Raising" with members of the Douglas County chapter in charge and the other on "Vocational Rehabilitation", with Fred A. Novak, state director of the Nebraska rehabilitation services and Lancaster County committee member, presiding.

Special interest on Friday's program will be a visit in the afternoon to the Milford trade school where handicapped men are among those receiving vocational training. The tour was arranged by Novak and Lowell A. Welsh, director of the trade school.

A banquet will be held at the Lincoln hotel Friday at 6 p.m. following a "movie hour" showing films dealing with crippled children's activities.

Virg Hill, Fairbury, editor of the Fairbury News, will be guest speaker at the banquet. His talk will deal with the value of publicity to such organizations as the Easter Seal Society.

Registration will be at the Lincoln Hotel, Friday and the Student Union, Saturday.

Arrangements for the convention were made by Victor D. Smith, Omaha, state president; Dr. Leroy T. Laase, Lincoln, president-elect and S. Orson Perkins, Omaha, state executive director.

Welsh To Address Scout Conference

HASTINGS, Neb. — Keynote speaker for the Overland Trails Council "Citizens Now" Boy Scout conference at the Hastings Naval Ammunition Depot October 25-27 will be Dr. Dale Welsh, president of Hastings College.

This was announced by Dennis Jones, Explorer Scout of Blue Hill, who is chairman of the conference.

Another of the main speakers for the meet will be Walter Lauritzen of Grand Island, who will speak on "Citizenship in the Community."

Adult Homemaking Is Planned At Osceola

Lincoln Star Special

OSCEOLA, Neb.—Miss Chloryce Ode, home economics instructor here, will be in charge of an adult homemaking class. Due to the size of the classroom available, the first 15 persons registering will be accommodated.

Governor Speaking

WILCOX, Neb.—Governor Victor Anderson will speak at the Wilcox Community Church Sunday, October 28, at the final meeting of a series of Sunday School Improvement Days.

Mrs. A. H. Frantz, Friend, Dies At 74

FRIEND—Mrs. A. H. Frantz, 74, longtime Friend resident, died Tuesday morning.

Services will be conducted at St. Joseph's church at 9:30 Thursday.

Mrs. Frantz is survived by two daughters, Mrs. George Ketchum, Clyde, N.Y., and Elizabeth Frantz, Tucson, Ariz., and one son, Gene A. Frantz, Evanston, Ill. She is also survived by two brothers, Charles Moore, Casper, Wyo., and Emmett Moore, Lawrence, Kan.

Sidles Profits Up This Year

OMAHA (AP) — Stockholders of the Sidles Company were told that the 1956 financial report will disclose a net profit to the company after taxes slightly larger than in 1955.

In his report to the stockholders, Harry B. Sidles, president of the firm, said sales volume for the first eight months of the year was about 12 million dollars, or approximately $87,000 more than for the first eight months of 1955.

The company's fiscal year ends Dec. 31.

Last week directors of the firm, which is a large distributor of automotive parts supplies and equipment, household appliances, heating and air conditioning, declared a dividend of 50 cents a share on stock and decided to wait until December to take action on any further dividend.

Charles Carter of Lincoln was named to the board of directors and these other directors were re-elected: Sidles, Victor L. Toft, Harold O. Johnson, Arthur G. Knispel, Albert A. Koenig, Garland Holeman, Kenneth Donahoo, Glade Linderman, Fred M. Sidles, Mrs. Adele W. Sidles.

Harry B. Sidles was re-elected president, Toft executive vice president, secretary and treasurer; and Arthur G. Knispel, assistant secretary and treasurer.

DELIBERATE FLUNK

MANILA (AP) — Eleven mature Chinese students failed to pass a four-year high school course in eight years. Immigration Commissioner Emilio Galang grew suspicious. He investigated, accused them of flunking so they could remain in the Philippines, and ordered them deported to Chinese Formosa. Their ages are 23 to 28.

'The Seacoast Of Nebraska' By Kirsch

Painting By Dwight Kirsch Given To Historical Society

A recent donation to the Nebraska State Historical Society is a painting, "The Seacoast of Nebraska." This watercolor of the sandhills was presented to the society by the artist, Dwight Kirsch.

The resemblence of some of Nebraska's Western areas to the limitless rolling seas as they surge against the coast is captured by the artist in this distinctive painting.

Formerly director of the Art Galleries of the University of Nebraska and presently director of the Des Moines (Ia.) Art Center, Kirsch was born in Pawnee County, Nebraska and graduated from the University of Nebraska.

His paintings have been exhibited widely and examples of his work are found in permanent collections throughout the nation. Subject matter that has attracted much of Kirsch's time and attention, both with the brush and with the camera has been the Nebraska landscape and Nebraska scenes.

It is the hope of the Historical Society to have one or more representative paintings of all Nebraska artists or of artists who paint Nebraska subjects preserved in the society's museum.

Kirsh is expected in Nebraska Oct. 25-27 to attend the Mountain-Plains Museum Conference that is being entertained in Lincoln by the Nebraska State Historical Society, the University of Nebraska State Museum and he Universiy of Nebraska Art Galleries in co-operation with the Joslyn Art Museum at Omaha and the House of Yesterday at Hastings.

NWU Future Teachers To Entertain Alumni

Nebraska Wesleyan University's Future Teachers of America chapter will entertain Wesleyan alumni attending the state teachers' convention here late this month.

Miss Gerry Wohlfeil, president of the chapter, said that the students will provide a coffee hour from 4 to 5 p.m., Thursday, Oct. 25, for all teachers attending the NSEA convention who took their college work at Wesleyan.

The traditional event will take place in the C. C. White Building on the Wesleyan campus.

Another Dawn With More News

AFTER bringing all of our European travelers home—as we did yesterday—we wondered what the topic of conversation would be this morning, and it didn't take us long to find out—It seems to involve a bit of everything.

* * *

BEFORE we go on to future events, however, we want to give you a new address—that of Mr. and Mrs. Eames Irvin (Marjorie Van Pelt), who recently moved into their new home at 3505 So. 31st St.

And that reminds us that Mr. and Mrs. Irvin were greatly surprised last Saturday evening when a group of their friends arrived for a housewarming.

MOST of the things that can be told about the approaching football week-end, we already have mentioned—but of course there are other week-ends and other games—and other plans.

One of the popular out of town games always is Colorado, and we've heard that the traffic to Boulder from Lincoln is to be pretty heavy on the week-end of Oct. 27.

In some instances plans for the Colorado game still are in the making, but we know of one sixsome that definitely will be there—The group includes Mr. and Mrs. Robert Edgren, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Magee and Mr. and Mrs. James Critchfield.

* * *

BEFORE Colorado, however, comes Indiana—at Lincoln, and that means the town will be a host city to many out-of-towners.

Someone told us that Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hinds are expecting guests for the Indiana game week-end, and strangely enough they are not coming from Indiana—but Colorado. They are Mr. and Mrs. George Fleming of Longmont, Colo.

* * *

AND since we've reached the end of October we may as well go ahead with what we know about November and the homecoming game. Understand that Mr. and Mrs. Roy Bystrom of North Platte will be here for that week-end—the guests of Mr. and Mrs J. William Mowbray.

Mrs. Bystrom, incidentally, is the former Irene Neville.

* * *

BUT back to the coming week-end for a moment—just to tell you that Mr. and Mrs. William Desch of York will be in town—the house guests of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Maly, Jr.

KAPPA Kappa Gamma circles of a few years ago will be happy to learn that Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Keep and their son, Ralph, arrived on Tuesday evening from Denver to be the guests of Mrs. Keep's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Lofink, and Mr. Keep's mother, Mrs. Thelma Keep.

Mrs. Keep is the former Maryann Lofink.

Plan Dinner For Pledges

At the monthly meeting of the Kappa Alpha Theta Alumnae, to be held Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. James Swanson, 940 Piedmont Rd., the members will complete plans for a progressive dinner to be given next Sunday evening honoring the new pledges of the active chapter.

Mrs. Donald Darst will serve as chairman for the dinner, which will begin at 6 o'clock. Following the salad course at the home of Mrs. Robert Venner, the group will go to the home of Mrs. George Holyoke for the main course, after which dessert will be served at the home of Mrs. William Kimball.

Also guests at the dinner will be the active chapter pledge sponsors and their alumnae sponsors.

We Hear That

Mrs. and Mrs. Robert Kleppinger of East Orange, N. J., announce the birth of a son, William Earl, on Friday, Sept. 21. Mrs. Kleppinger is the former Jeanette Ogle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Ogle who already have gone to East Orange to greet their new grandson—and to visit their son-in-law and daughter. Mr. Kleppinger, a graduate of the University of Nebraska and now research engineer for RCA, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Kleppinger.

★

Mrs. H. I. Stockstill left on Saturday for Englewood, Calif., to extend a personal welcome to her new granddaughter, Kim Lorraine, who arrived on Thursday, Oct. 4. Mrs Stockstill will be the guest of her son and daughter-in-law, and Kim Lorraine's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Stockstill.

Mothers Club To Entertain

The Sigma Alpha Epsilon Mothers Club will entertain at a tea Thursday afternoon honoring mothers of the chapter's new pledges. The program will begin at 1:30 o'clock and will be held at the chapter house, 635 No. 16th.

Tea hostesses will be Mrs. V. K. Patrick of Beatrice, Mrs. Joe Bayer and Mrs. Joseph Bovey.

PTA UNITS OPEN FALL SEASON

The October meeting of HAYWARD PTA will be held at 7:30 o'clock next Tuesday evening, Oct. 16, at the school.

Meeting on Tuesday afternoon, Oct. 9, at the school were the members of the program committee who discussed plans for the year's activities and for a special program of winter recreation for the children to be held in the school's new auditorium. Mrs. Victor Weber is chairman of the committee, and meeting with the group was Miss Marie Griffith, principal.

MILLARD LEFLER School will hold a visiting day for parents of 7th graders Friday morning at the school. Parents will attend classes with their children from 8:30 o'clock to 11:30 o'clock, followed by luncheon in the school cafeteria.

In the afternoon, the monthly meeting of the PTA will be held at 1:20 o'clock in the school auditorium.

The members of HAVELOCK PTA met Tuesday afternoon at the school. The program featured the presentation of garden certificates and summer library reading awards to the pupils, after which Merlin Walters, principal, discussed school policies and program plans for the year.

The members also discussed plans for the annual series of get-acquainted coffees. Hostesses for the social hour were the executive board members.

The coffee series, which will be held at 7 o'clock in the evenings, will begin next Tuesday, Oct. 16, for the parents of kindergarten pupils, and will continue on Oct. 23 for parents of first, second and third graders; and on Oct. 30, for parents of fourth, fifth and sixth graders. Parents of Dawes School pupils will meet at 7:30 o'clock the evening of Nov. 7.

The annual series of informal coffees sponsored by HOLMES PTA opened Tuesday evening when the parents of the morning kindergarten and first grade pupils met at the school.

The series, which features a "Know Your School" program, will continue at 7:15 o'clock on the evenings of Oct. 11, parents of the afternoon kindergarten and second grade pupils; Oct. 16, third and fourth graders' parents; and Oct. 18, fifth and sixth graders' parents.

There will be no October meeting of MERLE BEATTIE PTA, instead, the parents are meeting for informal evening coffees at 7:30 o'clock at the school. Parents of first graders met Monday evening, and on Tuesday, fifth and sixth graders' parents met at the school.

The series will continue on Wednesday for the parents of third grader pupils; Thursday, second graders' parents; Monday, Oct. 15, kindergarten parents; and Tuesday, Oct. 16, parents of fourth graders.

A discussion of the pupils' classwork and programs are featured at the meetings, and Miss Luella Hatz, principal, will speak to the parents.

Dr. Janet Palmer was guest speaker Tuesday evening at the meeting of PARK PTA when she spoke on the topic, "Let's Talk About Our Children". A short business meeting was held with Mrs. James Amen presiding, after which mothers of sixth graders were hostesses at a social hour. Mrs. Rex Hadley was chairman of the hostess committee.

The organization's committee chairmen for the year will include: adult education, Mrs. Jean Lang; budget and finance, and character education, Mrs. George Lutzi; civil defense, Mrs. Reinhold Rebensdorf, Mrs. Al Spomer; garden, Mrs. Daniel Schultz; health, Mrs. Fred Rulla, Mrs. William Brent; hospitality, Mrs. Ed Herstein, Mrs. Harvey Thober; legislation and parliamentarian, Mrs. Alex Worster; membership, Mrs. Clarence Yakel, Mrs. Fred Schmidt, Mrs. John Kahler; program, Mrs. Voctor Kahm, Miss Viola Jones; reading and recreation, Mrs. Carl Bennett; publications, Mrs. William Dinges, Mrs. Ace Dinges; publicity, Mrs. Harold Kahler, Mrs. Harry DeBus; room mothers, Mrs. Leo Ostermiller; Mrs. A. J. Fischer; safety, Mrs. H. B. Woodford; social, Mrs. Henry Zieg, Mrs. Daryl Wicken; Mrs. Henry Fischer, Mrs. William Shultz; telephone, Mrs. Willard Spilker, Mrs. Clifford Albright.

Presiding at the Tuesday evening meeting of WHITTIER PTA was Mrs. Roy Ripley, and guest speaker was Dr. Paul Bancroft, whose topic was, "What You Know About Your Junior High Boy or Girl"

Following the program, a get-acquainted hour was held for the faculty and parents, and refreshments were served.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Ekwall have been named the new copresidents of PRESCOTT PTA., to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Charles who recently moved from the neighborhood.

In place of the monthly meeting, the PTA last week held a series of get-acquainted coffees at the school on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday evenings.

Honored At Luncheon

Honoring Mrs. Haven Smith of Chappell, national chairman of the American Farm Bureau Women and a recipient of the University of Nebraska distinguished service award, the Women's Division of the Lincoln Chamber of Commerce entertained at another in its series of "Honors" luncheon Tuesday noon in the Nebraska Room of the Chamber Building.

Mrs. Smith, who is the only woman member of the American Farm Bureau Federation board of directors, recently was named to membership on the USCA home economics research advisory committee.

Coffee Honors Bride-Elect

A bride-elect, Miss Alma Charles, was the incentive for the morning coffee on Tuesday when Mrs. Thomas Donovan was hostess at her home.

Miss Charles, whose marriage to Lt. Cmdr. J. R. Pendleton will take place on Saturday evening, Oct. 20, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Charles of Lilesville, N. C.

Cmdr. Pendleton, the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Pendleton of Wyalusing, Wis., is a graduate of Northwestern University and is a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity. He did graduate work at the University of Minnesota, and will receive his doctorate from the University of Iowa upon completion of his thesis. Cmdr. Pendleton is stationed at the University of Nebraska.

Miss Charles, by the way, completed her work as an Airline stewardess at Central Technical Institute, Kansas City.

The wedding will take place at 8 o'clock in the evening at the First-Plymouth Congregational Church.

Betrothal

Mr. and Mrs. Art Flammang of Doniphan this morning are announcing the betrothal of their daughter, Virginia Ann of Lincoln, to Robert L. Williamson, Lincoln, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Williamson of Grand Island.

Miss Flammang and her fiance, both of whom are employed in Lincoln, have made no definite plans for their wedding.

Mr. Williamson is a former student at the University of Nebraska.

New Pledges

The new pledge class members of Kappa Delta sorority will be honored Thursday evening at a 7 o'clock dessert supper for which the Alumnae Club members will be hostesses at the home of Mrs. Irwin C. Williams, 1624 M.

Members of the committee in charge of arrangements will be Mrs. James Sandin, chairman, Mrs. Russell Loerch, Mrs. Delbert Weaver and Mrs. B. E. Boyles.

SUBURBIA

The sudden chill in the weather has put a damper on much of the outside activity in and around Country Club Manor, but as far as the inside story is concerned, the pages are filled. There was a vacation, or two — plans for a week-end jaunt to Missouri—coffees—house guests—and a PTA gathering.

Vacationing in the Eastern States were Mr. and Mrs. Dale Renner, who spent their 10 day's excusion visiting relatives and touring the country. In Indianapolis, Ind., the Renners visited their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Renner and their four daughters, and they also were guests of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Keith Cossairt and their two children in Dayton, O. The Renners returned home last Wednesday.

And leaving for a week's trip this Sunday will be Mr. and Mrs. Jack VanPatten, whose destination is Colorado. The VanPattens will be guests of Mrs. VanPatten's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Dirks in Longmont, Colo.

The Edward Weavers have a full schedule of social activity planned for this week. On Thursday, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Eicher, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Johnson and Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Scott will join the Weavers for a day of fun in Omaha. The distaff members will remain in Lincoln while their husbands spend the afternoon playing golf, and will meet them for dinner in the evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Samson in Omaha.

Then on Friday, the Weavers and their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Weaver Jr., will leave for Kansas City, Mo., to attend a convention, play golf and enjoy the sights of the city. The Weaver foursome will return to Country Club Manor on Sunday.

And mention of the Weaver Jr. couple reminds us that they are vacationing this week in Colorado. Before returning home Thursday, in time to be off for Missouri, the Weavers will visit Mrs. Weaver's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. William Kaminska in Denver.

The guests who Mr. and Mrs. William Damkroger entertained in their home Tuesday for lunch were Mrs. Jerry Ernst and Noel of Wichita, Kan., and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Wilkens and Everet of DeWitt.

Several ladies from the Country Club Manor area were included in the coffee for the Democratic Women, which was at the home of Mrs. Robert Eikleberry Tuesday morning. In charge of the program was Mrs. T. C. Staten.

The things they say about Sue!

Have you been inside her house? Everything's so neat and clean. Three youngsters, too! Yet she manages to have loads of time for so many other things!

Now don't turn green, girls. Sue really isn't that good! She simply uses her head instead of her muscles. Finds quicker, easier ways to get her housework done. Like using Bruce Cleaning Wax on her wood floors. Why it cleans and waxes them in one easy operation —without messy floor washing of any kind. Then Sue sits and collects compliments. Just try it next waxing day. Bruce Cleaning Wax for a heavy coat of wax, or Bruce Floor Cleaner for a light wax coat. Both give wonderfully easy clean-as-you-wax results!

'The Seacoast Of Nebraska' By Kirsch

Painting By Dwight Kirsch Given To Historical Society

A recent donation to the Nebraska State Historical Society is a painting, "The Seacoast of Nebraska." This watercolor of the sandhills was presented to the society by the artist, Dwight Kirsch.

The resemblence of some of Nebraska's Western areas to the limitless rolling seas as they surge against the coast is captured by the artist in this distinctive painting.

Formerly director of the Art Galleries of the University of Nebraska and presently director of the Des Moines (Ia.) Art Center, Kirsch was born in Pawnee County, Nebraska and graduated from the University of Nebraska.

His paintings have been exhibited widely and examples of his work are found in permanent collections throughout the nation. Subject matter that has attracted much of Kirsch's time and attention, both with the brush and with the camera has been the Nebraska landscape and Nebraska scenes.

It is the hope of the Historical Society to have one or more representative paintings of all Nebraska artists or of artists who paint Nebraska subjects preserved in the society's museum.

Kirsh is expected in Nebraska Oct. 25-27 to attend the Mountain-Plains Museum Conference that is being entertained in Lincoln by the Nebraska State Historical Society, the University of Nebraska State Museum and he Universiy of Nebraska Art Galleries in co-operation with the Joslyn Art Museum at Omaha and the House of Yesterday at Hastings.

NWU Future Teachers To Entertain Alumni

Nebraska Wesleyan University's Future Teachers of America chapter will entertain Wesleyan alumni attending the state teachers' convention here late this month.

Miss Gerry Wohlfeil, president of the chapter, said that the students will provide a coffee hour from 4 to 5 p.m., Thursday, Oct. 25, for all teachers attending the NSEA convention who took their college work at Wesleyan.

The traditional event will take place in the C. C. White Building on the Wesleyan campus.

Mother-In-Law Again

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal employe was filling out an application to take a promotion exam in his agency.

One of the questions was:

"Who is your immediate supervisor?"

Without hesitation he wrote: "My mother-in-law."

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner o fthe rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Rain Boosts Fire Loss

PLAINVILLE, Conn. (AP) — Rain was blamed for a $10,000 fire loss at the poultry farm of Edward T. Stagus. A fire engine, responding to an alarm, became mired in heavy mud caused by the rain and arrived too late to prevent destruction of a three-story frame chicken house.

DODGE CITY, Kan. (AP)—Charles Samuels of nearby Wilson, Kan., wrote police here, asking them to mail his identification papers and personal belongings. Police obliged—but with a warrant instead. Samuels, the warrant charged, departed recently from a police detail while a city prisoner without formally checking out.

Clem Labine, Robinson Knot Series

Seventh Game Needed To Separate Men From Boys

By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK (INS) — A seventh ballgame will be needed to separate the men from the boys in the 1956 World Series.

Brooklyn's Clem Labine and Jackie Robinson arranged that matter Tuesday's bright, gusty afternoon by beating the Yankees' Bob Turley 1-to-0 in ten enthralling innings at Ebbets Field. It was a triumph fit to hold its head high even in the company of the historic dream game provided on Monday by Don Larsen.

Labine's snake-armed slants were put under the assault of seven Yankee hits during the day, as against Larsen's perfect no-hitter. But he left ten Yanks to perish on bases as he sternly silenced Mickey Mantle, Country Slaughter and others who have found Brooklyn pitching palatable in this series, now tied at three games each.

LABINE, ROBINSON . . . Tuesday's Heroes.

Robinson came up from the pit of personal despair to rocket the game-winning hit over a seemingly puzzled Slaughter in the tenth.

The great Brooklyn competitor, first Negro to break the big time's color barrier when he came up to Brooklyn in 1947, had chances to destroy Turley's brilliant pitching job in the sixth and eighth. On each occasion he popped to the infield with two men on bases.

Now, reprieved because the mastery of Labine and Turley had spun the game into overtime, Robinson came to bat again in the tenth with two outs, Junior Gilliam on second and Duke Snider on first—the latter having been purposely passed for the second straight time because Robinson was considered a softer touch.

Turley flung, Robby swung, and the ball became a white blur as it streaked directly for Slaughter, who was playing deep. The low-slung sun blazed a reflection off Slaughter's tinted glasses as the Old Gentleman charged in.

But then, as if he had found a better focus on the ball, Slaughter screeched to a desperate stop and tried to back pedal. The blazing hit was rising, not falling. The ball was whistling overhead. He stuck up his glove in anguish, leaped on his old legs, and missed. The ball struck the bottom of the wall and bounced back—and instantly everything went limp.

Gilliam easily scored. There was no reason for Snider or Robby to do anything except touch a base ahead of them. The pressure was gone in a micro-second from what had been a tight boiler of a game.

It was a memory that Turley will carry into the hereafter with him, and not a very pleasant one. Robinson's hit was only the fourth off him. Bob struck out 11 Brooks but he was beaten and will be the forgotten man in a game that was the first 10-inning shutout in World Series history since the legendary Christy Mathewson beat Philadelphia 3-to-0 in one of the games in 1913.

Thus the stage is set for the "sudden death" of a seventh and final game. It will be played at Ebbets Field, where the defending champion Dodgers have now whipped the Yankees in six straight series games.

Today's Pitchers

Don Newcombe, a human fiasco in the second game, will be given the chance of his lifetime to disprove to those who have called him, privately and publicly, a choker. Casey Stengel, so close Tuesday to the sixth World Series triumph in seven tries as Yankee manager, will respond with Johnny Kucks. Kucks had an 18-9 record for the regular season. He pitched unimpressive relief in the first two games. Newcombe won an awesome 27 during the season, was routed in the second series game, and is involved in a lawsuit over striking a fan who challenged his competitive spirit.

CLUBHOUSE QUOTES

Jackie Robinson — "I hit a fast sinker. I thought it was going right at Slaughter, but before I knew it, the ball took off over his head."

Enos Slaughter—"The son of a gun just took off on me and hit the bottom of the wall."

Clem Labine—"I feel like Don Larsen must have Monday—just great. That Robby is a living doll."

Bob Turley—"It was the first time all year I had good stuff. Robinson hit a sidearm fast ball."

Walter Alston—"They pitched a great game. It will be Don Newcombe Wednesday, and I'm sure he is ready and eager and ready to get a shot at them now."

Casey Stengel—"Turley pitched very well in the bandbox. I started him because he pitched so well here the first two games in relief. Johnny Kucks Wednesday.

'Can't Fool Jackie All The Time'

By JOE REICHLER

BROOKLYN (AP) — "You can fool some of the people some of the time, but you can't fool Jackie Robinson all the time."

Brooklyn's great clutch hitter, his sweaty face spread in a huge grin, said it, half in jest and half in earnest. It was obvious what he was referring to.

Only minutes before, Jackie had come through with what may turn out to be the greatest clutch hit of his life—a screaming drive over Enos Slaughter's head, against the left-field wall that drove in Junior Gilliam from second with two out in the 10th to give Clem Labine and the Dodgers' a dramatic, 1-0, sixth-game triumph over Bob Turley and the New York Yankees.

Ruse Fails

A moment before, Turley had issued an intentional pass to the left-handed hitting Duke Snider, preferring to pitch to the right-handed hitting Robinson. The ruse had worked the previous time, in the eighth inning, in an identical situaton. That time Robinson popped up.

Did Jackie regard the maneuver as an insult to his ability as a hitter?

"No," he replied instantly. "I wasn't insulted. I considered it a challenge, however. They certainly did the right thing. Walking a dangerous left-handed hitter to get at a right-handed hitter, with a righthander on the mound, is percentage baseball. They couldn't do anything else. But I was glad when Turley walked Snider a second time. I knew if I got enough chances, I'd come through. The guys on the bench sort of felt it, too. They were kidding me about it, especially Don Zimmer. Little Don kept repeating, 'Come on, Jack, he can't do that two times in a row to you, boy.' Well, he couldn't."

No Pressure

Was he nervous when he came up in the 10th, knowing it was squarely up to him again, especially after having failed to come through in his previous time at bat under similar circumstances?

"No," Robinson replied. "I didn't feel any pressure at all. I was loose. Either I get a hit or not. If I get a hit, that's fine. If I don't, I just get mad at myself, just as I did the other time.

"You just go out there and do the best you possibly can," Jackie continued. "I try not to worry about clutch hits. I always make believe it's just another game, just another time at bat."

Robinson said the pitch he hit, which incidentally went for a single since he didn't bother to go beyond first base once he saw that Gilliam was certain to cross the plate, was a fast ball, about belt high, right down the middle.

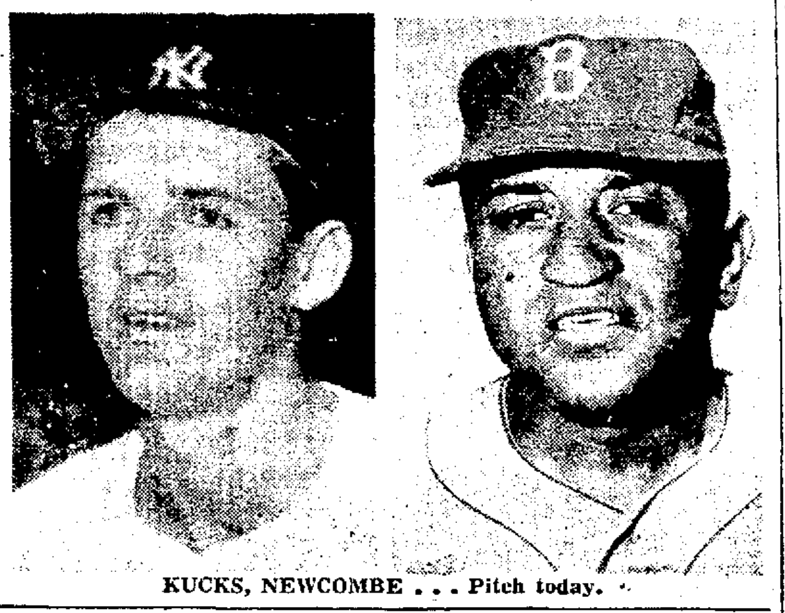
"He'd been throwing me fast balls all afternoon," Robbie explained. "I hit one right on the nose my first time at bat but it went directly to McDougald. He threw me practically the same pitch in the eighth but I popped it up. This time I knew I hit it real good. I stood at the plate and watched it, knowing that if it wasn't caught, I could crawl to first. I saw Slaughter start in, then back up, but the ball took off.

"Home Safe"

"I saw the ball sail over Slaughter's head and bang against the wall. Then I knew we were home safe. No, I don't think Slaughter could have caught it had he not started in. It was hit too hard and rising all the time. It felt like a 2-iron shot. It really took off."

Did the 37-year-old Robinson regard this game-winning hit as his greatest thrill?

"Naturally, I got a great kick out of it," he said earnestly, "but as to whether it gave me my greatest thrill, I don't think I can answer that question until after the game Wednesday. If we win Wednesday, then I'll look back to this hit and always recall it as my greatest thrill. If we lose, it won't mean a thing.



KUCKS, NEWCOMBE . . . Pitch today.

Pitching Still Big News

Phil Rizzuto, who played in nine World Series for the Yankees, is covering the World Series for International News Service and The Lincoln Star.

By PHIL RIZZUTO

NEW YORK (INS) — Pitching again was the big news of the series, as it has been in all but the second game.

Everybody knew Clem Labine would pitch a good game, but the big surprise to me was Bob Turley. Although I knew Turley was capable of a great game, it was a gamble to go with him instead of Johnny Kucks because he didn't work much late in the season.

But he could have beaten almost anybody Tuesday with that pitching. He just ran into Labine, like Sal Maglie ran into Don Larsen Monday.

It looks like everybody's going to be using that no-windup motion of Larsen's and Turley's next year.

Labine was great and gave a beautiful exhibition of pitching. He kept that ball low and had the batters hitting into the dirt all day.

Junior Gilliam had seven assists and Gil Hodges had 14 putouts. That's a good day's work.

I thought the Yanks were going to win right to the end. It looked like Turley could go indefinitely.

None of those hits were anything to brag about but Jackie Robinson's was well hit. Robinson was up in a similar situation in the 1952 series, I remember, but didn't come through. This time he came through with a clutch hit.

In all fairness, I'd like to point out that the sun in left this time of year is bad for the outfielders. That's why Enos Slaughter had such a tough time fielding out there.

Turley's 11 strikeouts were wonderful. His performance out there Tuesday should give him enough confidence to last all next year.

Pitching has been great for both sides but the Yankee staff is really humming along. The Dodgers have gotten only four hits in the last 19 innings.

I must say I thought Tom Sturdivant was going for Casey Stengel Wednesday. Kucks was working out in the bullpen much of the day Tuesday and may have tired himself some.

It's a brand new ball game but I still pick the Yankees.

Husker Alternates Promoted

Fleming, Harshman McVay On First Unit

By DON BRYANT
Sports Editor, The Star

Three Nebraska Cornhusker alternates won spots on the No. 1 club for their work against Iowa State, Coach Pete Elliott announced Tuesday.

The promotions followed further study of the game movies by the Husker coaching staff.

Moving up to the first unit were:

Right End Howard McVay, sophomore from Ogallala, replacing Mike Lee of Grand Island who started against all three opponents to date.

Right tackle Jack Fleming, senior from Kimball, replacing Jerry Wheeler of Milan, Ill. Fleming started against South Dakota, but played with the alternates in the Ohio State and Iowa State games.

Quarterback George Harshman, junior from Dickerson Run, Pa., replacing Roy Stinnett of Ripley, Tenn., who has started each of the previous games.

"All the boys who moved up earned the chance to play with the first unit," Elliott said. "And as of now they'll probably start against Kansas State."

Lee, Wheeler and Stinnett are slated to run with the alternates. Stinnett, who suffered a pinched nerve last week, ran at top speed Tuesday and will be ready for full duty against the Wildcats Saturday.

Another change moved Leo George from fullback to left halfback. George was slated for fullback duty after Dick McCashland was assigned to center as a replacement for the injured Max Kitzelman.

Elliott said Tuesday that he hopes Kitzelman will be ready "to go full speed" Wednesday and that there's a good possibility he'll be with the alternates Saturday.

Tuesday the Huskers worked on group offense and defense and wound up with a short defensive scrimmage.

There was also a lot of emphasis on passing and pass defense. The Huskers are fifth in the nation in pass defense, limiting three foes to only four completions in 21 tries.

Elliott has indicated his club will begin passing more this week "to get better balance."

K-State Preview

"Judging from the scouting reports, Oklahoma did everything right and Kansas State did everything wrong," Elliott said when asked about the Wildcats' game with the Sooners.

Assistant Coach Don Scarbrough who scouted the 66-0 rout, reported that Halfback Kenny Nesmith and Fullback Ralph Pfeifer did a good job and that Quarterback Keith Wilson "is a good runner."

John Cronley, Oklahoma City sportsed, was also impressed by Wilson, writing:

"The Wildcats, supposed to be even better than the last edition, which wound up in the Big Seven first division, were a sad disappointment to all concerned, even though in scrappy Keith Wilson they flashed a much better than average quarterback, considerably superior to anyone fielded by North Carolina. . ."

Frosh Standouts

Nebraska Freshman Coach Gene Stauber reports that he has some fine backfield prospects on his 1956 club.

One of the top stars is Left Halfback Skip Smith of Torrance, Calif., a prep All American who starred in the Memphis All Star game.

Smith is the fastest man on the squad and has been making rapid progress since being slowed for a spell by illness.

"Skip has looked particularly good against the Varsity and is truly a fine prospect," Stauber said.

One of Smith's high school teammates, Carlos Skaggs, a 170-pound right halfback, also drew praise from Stauber.

Three quarterbacks have been attracting a great deal of attention and all are listed as "top prospects." They are Joe Miller of Sioux City, Ia., Chuck Stacy of Weeping Water and Harry Tolley of North Platte.

One of the leading line candidates is End Glen Hepburn of Boys Town, who has been starring as a pass catcher and defensive wingman.

Harriers Open

Nebraska's cross country team will have its first test of the season Saturday morning when the Husker harriers meet Kansas State over the new course at Pioneers Park. The three-mile run will start at 11 a.m.

Bob Elwood, Elliott, Ia., Frank Morrison, Lincoln; Knolly Barnes, Trinidad; Lathen Mortensen, Gurley and Lee Carter, Blair, will run for Nebraska.

The Huskers won from Kansas State a year ago.

Sooners, Michigan State Retain 1st, 2nd Rankings

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Oklahoma, still on top of the college football world, comes up to its big game this week—only this time it doesn't look so big.

After establishing a modern major college winning record with their 32nd straight victory—a 66-0 walkover against Kansas State—the Sooners remained on top of The Associated Press ranking poll of sports writers and broadcasters by a comfortable but by no means unanimous margin.

It was Oklahoma 1,185 points and runner-up Michigan State 1,065 on the usual basis of 10 points for each first-place vote, nine for second, etc. No one else was even close to these two. The Sooners drew 76 of the 130 first-place votes and Michigan State's Spartans got 32.

Favor Sooners

Next Saturday Oklahoma encounters Texas in the annual game at Dallas. This is traditionally one of the toughest and most important of the year for both teams. But Texas, soundly beaten by Southern California, a one-point winner over Tulane and loser by the same margin to West Virginia, doesn't appear to have the manpower to give the Sooners a bad time. Texas hasn't beaten Oklahoma since 1951 and that was the only time in the past eight years.

The leading teams with first place votes and won-lost records in parentheses (points on 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis):

1. Oklahoma (76) (2-0)	1,185
2. Michigan State (32) (2-0)	1,065
3. Georgia Tech (4) (2-0)	793
4. Texas Christian (7)	740
5. Ohio State (1) (2-0)	735
6. Tennessee (5) (2-0)	588
7. Mississippi (2) (3-0)	483
8. Southern California (3-0)	313
9. Texas A&M (3-0)	165

Browns Ask Waivers On Bob Smith

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Cleveland Browns Tuesday night put halfback Bob Smith and rookie tackle Don Goss on waivers, trimming their roster to the 33-player limit of the National Football League.

Smith, somewhat of a surprise selection for the team a year ago, lost out this season to Billy Kinard, the Browns' No. 2 draft choice from Mississippi.

Smith is a former Big Seven fullback from the University of Nebraska.

When they face the New York Giants at the Stadium here Sunday, the Browns will have four rookies on the squad. In addition to Arkansas and a good running back; Lowe Junior Wren, defensive back from Missouri; and Galen Fiss, linebacker from Kansas.

POINT BLANK

By Don Bryant
Sports Editor, The Star

Remember the last time Kansas State played at Memorial Stadium?

It was two years ago this week and the circumstances were much the same as they are now.

The Nebraska Cornhuskers had played Minnesota a good game before falling, 19-7, and then beat Iowa State 39-14. Bill Glassford's Huskers were favored to win the contest with the Wildcats.

But as fate—or what have you—willed, the game turned into a whale of a defensive battle. The Huskers scored a field goal in the second quarter and held on.

The 3-0 lead looked like it might hold up, but late in the fourth quarter the Wildcats marched for a touchdown and won the game, 7-3.

As the final gun went off, a fellow in the press box joked: "Well, there goes our trip to the Orange Bowl."

It was a joke because the Huskers weren't given an outside chance of going to Miami. Colorado was the pick.

The crack caused another press box inhabitant to fire back: "We were never going anyway."

As things turned out, both were wrong. The loss to Kansas State didn't keep Nebraska out of the Orange Bowl, although after the Miami classic there were a good many people who wished it had.

So now it's time to think about Kansas State again—and it's an Orange Bowl year. But it will be best to think of K-State first, just in case.

Walt (Boots) Gardner Jr., brings word from the West Coast that Ron Keefer, the former Nebraska Wesleyan athlete and local official, is end coach for the Camp Pendleton Marine Corps Base football team.

Gardner served as trainer for the Leathernecks.

Also on the Pendleton club are Mark Loncar, who played at Denver U., and tried his hand at Nebraska before entering the service; Bob Hammond, who played halfback for Doane College; and Bill Bedio, another ex-Husker candidate.

Doak Walker, the former SMU and Detroit Lions star, has now taken up the cudgel against world communism.

According to a press handout from Dallas, Tex., Walker has joined the Advisory Board of Facts Forum. The Doaker is boosting an essay contest which has a $1,000 scholarship as the top prize.

Subject? "How America Can Best Fight Communism," natch.

Then there's the office wag who came up with the most constructive World Series observation. After watching Sal Maglie pitch against the Yankees in the two games, the nut (baseball, that is) remarked:

"All day long we keep getting razor ads and shots of stars shaving, but where was Maglie. He looks like he needs a shave more than some of fuzzy cheeked kids."

Yessir, Mr. G—it's looks like you dulled your blades by not signing up old Briar Patch the Barber.

Even Money Choice In Series Today

BROOKLYN (AP) — The World Series is an even-money "pick 'em" proposition if Johnny Kucks pitches for the New York Yankees Wednesday against Brooklyn's Don Newcombe in the seventh game at Ebbets Field.

The bookmakers also quote an alternate price that would make the Yankees an 11 to 10, man-to-man choice if Whitey Ford faces Newcombe.

Manager Casey Stengel of the Yankees said after the game: "I think it will be Kucks, but I might change my mind." Manager Walter Alston said Newcombe definitely will be the Dodger pitcher.

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner o fthe rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

BAERING DOWN ON THE NEWS

By Arthur 'Bugs' Baer

Some exchange students must have matriculated in GOP headquarters. The old guardians of public wheel and whoa! admit there are more Democrats than Republicans.

Bugs Baer

They attained these morose end-figures by overloading their centrifugal univac with spoon-fed statistics. The further the dice roll from the cup the less you control.

In those twenty semesters the Jeffersonians parlayed nepotism to prove the Einstein theory of relatives in motion. They were three-up on the seventeen-year locusts and had four-tracked Easy Street.

In those twenty seasons young Democrats thought the two-party system meant you throw one and I'll throw one.

* * *

There were nineteen-year-old Democrats in Arkansas who had never seen snow or a Republican. And had only seen it rain twice.

The GOP counted heads with the homburgs out-stacked ten to nine. Then how did they win without a majority in 1952?

They must have marched a minority past the grandstand twice.

Rain Boosts Fire Loss

PLAINVILLE, Conn. (AP) — Rain was blamed for a $10,000 fire loss at the poultry farm of Edward T. Stagis. A fire engine, responding to an alarm, became mired in heavy mud caused by the rain and arrived too late to prevent destruction of a three-story frame chicken house.

Missed Checkout

DODGE CITY, Kan. (AP)—Charles Samuels of nearby Wilson, Kan., wrote police here, asking them to mail his identification papers and personal belongings. Police obliged—but with a warrant instead. Samuels, the warrant charged, departed recently from a police detail while a city prisoner without formally checking out.

'Swaps Injured

Swaps, 1955 Kentucky Derby winner, shown here in a typical fast workout, injured his leg while exercising Tuesday at his training grounds at Garden State Park at Camden, N. J. X-rays were taken to determine the extent of the injury. (AP Wirephoto.)

New Injury Puts Swaps Out Again

CAMDEN, N. J. (AP) — Swaps, holder of five racing marks and a victory in the 1955 Kentucky Derby, pulled up lame while working out on the Garden State Park race track Tuesday.

Hasty X - rays showed the big California horse had ruptured a blood vessel near the ankle of the left hind leg—but there were no bone fractures as was at first feared.

Dr. George R. Palmer Jr., a track veterinarian, said the famed horse would be out of action for about four months, but co-owner Rex Ellsworth, informed of the injury at his headquarters in California, said he expected Swaps to be back in saddle within 60 days

No Visitors

The swift racer, who beat Nashua in the Derby run last year, was confined to a Garden State stall with no visitors permitted. The horse's injured leg was put in ice bags, and apparently was causing considerable pain.

Trainer Meshach Tenney, who stationed himself at the horse's side and indicated he intended to maintain his vigil until all possible danger was past, was one of the most relieved horsemen in the world when the X-rays failed to show a fracture.

"That's better than I hoped for," said Tenney when told of the ruptured blood vessel. "I was expecting the worst."

The accident happened as exercise rider Chester White was taking the colt on a planned 6-furlong dash around the Garden State oval.

Swaps had completed only 3 furlongs when he suddenly pulled up. White said at first he thought his mount merely had taken a false step.

"I took up on him," said White, "expecting him to regain stride, but when he didn't, I got off."

Swaps was removed from the track in a horse ambulance.

Both Swaps and Nashua have had their ardent followers for "greatest horse" honors. Nashua came back from the Derby loss to defeat Swaps in a special match race. The two haven't met since.

Puerto Rico Re-Admitted To Olympics

LAUSANNE, Switzerland (AP)—The International Olympic committee Tuesday re-admitted Puerto Rico to the Melbourne Olympic Games

The committee's executive board last week decided to ban the Puerto Rican team from the games because government interference with the National Olympic Committee of Puerto Rico violated Olympic regulations.

The international committee announced Tuesday that "regular elections" were held in Puerto Rico on Oct. 4 to establish a national committee in accordance with Olympic regulations, and that a Puerto Rican team would therefore be permitted to compete at Melbourne.

Plans Begin For Moving AL Senators

WASHINGTON (AP) — Calvin Griffith, president of the Washington Senators, began talks Tuesday with local leaders anxious to rid him of the idea of taking the American League baseball club to another city.

"They realize I'm not kidding about it," Griffith said afterward.

The Senators' boss, who disclosed last week he is considering a shift of franchise, conferred with Philip L. Graham, publisher of the Washington Post and Times Herald, and John S. Hayes, head of the newspaper's radio and TV stations.

Turley Knew Where Robbie's Blast Went

By ED CORRIGAN

BROOKLYN (AP) — Bob Turley, the New York Yankee pitcher, appeared resigned to his fate when Jackie Robinson blasted his game-winning hit Tuesday in Brooklyn's 1-0 World Series triumph. . .While most of the other players were holding their collective breaths wondering whether Enos Slaughter would get to the ball in left field, Turley was starting off the mound.

It didn't take the crowd long to find out there would be no repetition of Monday's no-hitter on either side. . .Both teams made one hit in the first inning. . .But the throng certainly didn't expect the tight pitchers' battle between Clem Labine and Turley.

Big Don Newcombe is ready and willing to go Wednesday despite the troubles he's been having beating the Yanks in World Series play. He's lost three and was bashed out of the box in the second game although he wasn't involved in the decision. . ."I'm as ready as I'll ever be," he said.

Brooklyn first baseman Gil Hodges is a gentleman from the toes up. . .Before the game one of the umpires was saying that when he misses a call on Hodges he feels like bowing down and apologizing. . .Then in the dressing room after the game, Hodges obligingly gave up his stool to a newsman who was interviewing Labine. . .Their lockers are side-by-side.

Hodges, by the way, said he'd rather hit in the Yankee Stadium than Ebbets Field despite all the talk of the shadows in the big Yank ball park. . . "I think most of the Yanks agree with me," said Hodges. . ."In the late innings in Ebbets Field, especially when the center-field stands are filled, the ball looks like it's coming right out of the bleachers."

Yank Manager Casey Stengel, always one for a gag, said there was no reason why Turley could not go nine innings although he hadn't pitched a complete game in longer than Casey cared to remember . . . "He doesn't drink, smoke or chew," winked Casey.

Don Larsen, incidentally, already has about $10,000 salted away, according to his agent, Frank Scott, who has handled him for a couple of years. . .Until now, Scott hadn't made a thin dime out of Larsen, and probably never expected to. . .His meal ticket has been Mickey Mantle. . ."I think Larsen will be able to earn as much as $100,000 when all the returns are in," said Scott. . ."In the next week or so, we have magazine stories, his life story, personal appearances, and maybe even a book lined up."

One of the biggest cheers of the day was reserved for Lyall Smith, sports editor of the Detroit Free Press and official scorer of the series. . .He caught a foul ball high up in the press box in a manner that would do Duke Snider proud.

Brook Manager Walt Alston gave him the call over Newcombe because he throws low, breaking stuff. . .That was one decision on which Alston won't be second-guessed. . .The Dodgers leave on the first leg of their trip to the Orient Thursday at 12:30 p.m., EDT. . .They play their first game at Maui, Hawaiian Islands, then play two more in Honolulu, and finally on to Japan.

Yogi Berra didn't take any chances on his double in the sixth . .He skidded in head first miles ahead of the throw. . .Larsen will get the first official print of the World Series film. . .Brooklyn third base coach Billy Herman must have thought it was a mirage when Junior Gilliam came whipping around with the winning run on Jackie Robinson's single in the 10th. . .It was the first action at that spot in two days for the Brooks.

Crofton is the new leader in The Star's high school eight-man football ratings.

Crofton takes the top spot from Exeter, the 1955 champion and leader through the first weeks in 1956. Both Crofton and Exeter are unbeaten but Crofton gets the edge because of a better schedule to date.

Lawrence and Ruskin continue to run one-two in the six-man ratings. Losses jarred four of last week's rated sextets out of the chart.

The ratings in eight-man and six-man shape up this way:

Eight-Man

Crofton's "on-paper" record now looks outstanding. Coach Jim Taylor's Warriors haven't yielded a point in four games. Two of the Warrior wins are over O'Neill St. Mary's and Coleridge—and both of those teams have handled all their other foes with comparative ease.

Yet Crofton, the largest school in the eight-man field, was able to beat St. Mary's 21-0 and Coleridge 41-0. St. Mary's has won four other games, yielding slightly over 30 yards per game to opponents in those games. Coleridge has three other wins.

Exeter, the 1955 champion, has a polished team under Coach Ken Kasparek. Exeter's record is less impressive. Exter has not been pressed but its victims—Beaver Crossing, Shubert, Western and Sterling—haven't set the world on fire in other outings.

Exeter faces a tougher test in unbeaten Fairmont next week and later plays 11-man toughie Seward Concordia. These will be the big ones for Exeter.

Big Springs and Potter figure out almost even at this stage. There is no way of comparing them with Exeter or Crofton. Big Springs and Potter meet in the season finale Nov. 2.

Should the "Big Four" eight-man teams—Crofton, Exeter, Big Springs and Potter—continue to roll over their opponents a post-season meeting involving some of the clubs may be a possibility. When Exeter and Crofton finished unbeaten last year, attempts were made to arrange a showdown but plans fell through.

O'Neill St Mary's, unranked last week, gets into the chart at fifth after two victories in four days The scores were 69-0 over Verdigre and 39-7 over Niobrara, rated sixth last week.

Niobrara fell from the list along with Beemer and Wausa.

Dakota City moved into the list at sixth with a third straight victory. Bancroft was the victim.

Elm Creek and Amherst continued in their deadlock at seventh and eighth. Elm Creek stopped Overton 33-15 last week. Amherst was idle.

Sutherland is a newcomer at ninth. Sutherland now appears just a shade better than four other unbeaten clubs in its own area—Stapleton, Brady, Wallace and Mullen. A shakeup will come soon.

Colleridge slipped from fourth to tenth after that lacing by Crofton.

Six-Man

Lawrence whipped a fair Doniphan club 67-20 and stayed atop the six-man list. The Panthers, a former state six-man champ, have won four straight with ease.

Ruskin is a strong second with an identical record. The latest win for Ruskin was a 53-6 lacing of Reynolds, administered largely by Ruskin subs.

A showdown between the top two clubs is slated Oct. 19 at Ruskin. Diller is a strong third. Coach Bill Morrow's club moved up from fourth to replace Bartley, victim of a 35-16 surprise at McCook Red Willow.

Bartley fell from the Top Ten along with Greeley Sacred Heart (fifth), Dwight Assumption (seventh) and Holbrook (tenth).

Greeley Sacred Heart suffered its first loss, 42-26 to a good Dannebrog team. Sacred Heart still figures as a strong contender.

By dint of the victory over Sacred Heart, Dannebrog moved into the chart at fifth place—one notch behind Indianola. The Indians climbed from eighth, largely on the strength of Red Willow's win over Bartley. Indianola whipped Red Willow last week.

Verdon is again sixth after beating a fair Falls City Sacred Heart team 32-12. Alvo is a newcomer at seventh. Alvo's four victories include one over Elmwood, which has blitzed all other foes.

Naponee is again eighth but Anselmo and Campbell are newcomers at ninth and tenth.

The leading contenders among the unranked sextets are Greeley Sacred Heart, Eagle, Monroe, Spalding Academy and Elmwood.

'Deadeye' Nelson To Pilot Scottsbluff's Attack Friday

By BOB McCOY
Star Sports Staff Writer

When the Scottsbluff Bearcats visit Lincoln High Friday night, a "shooting expert" will lead the Westerners attack.

Bill Nelson, a good-looking, red-thatched youngster, is the "shooter" the Links will have to stop.

Nelson, a trapshooting champion before he turned to football and basketball, has already engineered the Bearcats to a pair of victories.

The stocky gridder—a clutch player from wayback—heaved a touchdown pass in the last minute of play to pull Scottsbluff to a 13-6 triumph over Sidney.

A week later Nelson tossed for the only score of the game to give his teammates a 7-0 victory over McCook.

Nelson first blossomed into state athletic prominence as a cager at Brady. Before transferring to Scottsbluff this fall, the versatile lad piloted Brady to the Class D basketball championship of the state tournament last spring.

He was named to the Sunday Journal and Star's All-State Class D basketball team for his cage maneuvers to cap a brilliant season at Brady.

Now, however, he's playing football—at Scottsbluff—and he and his fellow Bearcats face some rugged obstacles at the Lincoln High Oval Friday night.

Scottsbluff is still seeking its first win on Lincoln soil. The battle will be the 18th game of the home-and home series which started back in 1939.

During this time, the Links have chalked up a record of 15 victories, one defeat and one tie.

The tie and the loss both came on the Bearcats' home battlefield.

In 1953 the 'Cats took a 14-6 decision over the Links and in 1945 the Red and Black had to settle for a 7-7 tie.

The Bearcats have come close only two times as guests of honor of the Lincoln crew. In 1950, they lost 18-14 and went down to defeat 13-7 in 1952 to finish second behind the state champion Links that year.

Despite the fact that the Links have won only one game in four this season, they have played well against powerhouses Omaha Central and Washington High of Sioux Falls, S. D. and should rate the favorite over the Bearcats who have managed to escape defeat in Nebraska competition this year in squeakers over McCook and Sidney.

But a warning is in order for Coach Eddie Schwartzkopf and his Links—Watch out for that red-headed deadeye!

Webb Favored Over Cotton

CHICAGO (UP) — Spider Webb of Chicago, the National Boxing Assn.'s 10th-ranking middleweight, is a 2-1 favorite to score his 15th straight ring victory Wednesday night at the expense of Charlie (King) Cotton of Toledo.

Calhoun was unbeaten until the speedy Webb outpointed him in 10 on Aug. 29.

Webb, however, has no easy touch in Cotton, who also is 25. Cotton's greatest victories came in New York on May 7 and May 28 this year when he took successive victories from Joey Giardello.

Cotton then fought to a draw with Franz Szuzina, lost to Calhoun and defeated Henry Hank in his last outing, Sept. 28, at Toledo.

Rassle Rematch Ends In Draw

The main event of the second wrestling program of the season at the Fair Grounds Arena Tuesday night ended in a draw for all—for the grapplers—for the referees—and for the fans.

The event was a tag team rematch from last week between the Russian brother duo of Nicoli and Boris Volkoff and a Verne Gagne-Roy McClarity combination.

Last week the Russians took two out of three falls from Gagne and Bill Melby, who McClarity was subbing for.

The Russians took the first fall in a time of 16:25, but the Gagne-McClarity team came back to win the second in 8:25 when brother Boris was the victim of Gagne's famous claw hold.

But the match ended when referees Sam Vacanti and Joe Krejik disqualified each team after 3:10 had elapsed in the third fall.

Then the action started. There was disagreement from the partisan crowd for the Gagne-McClarity tandem and a few fans themselves decided to take on the Russians and the referees. But their action also ended in a draw with no one getting hurt.

In a preliminary match, Woodie Strode took a decision over Angello Pofto because of another disqualification.

Next week will see some top talent at the fairgrounds.

Promoter Tom Novak has announced that world heavyweight mat champion Hans Schmidt will appear along with probably the largest grappler in the business, an eight foot, two inch, 440 pound performer named Paul Bunyan.

YOU BE THE QUARTERBACK

By WARREN GAER
Head Football Coach, Drake University

Stanford and San Jose State are playing the fourteenth game of their traditional series. This year, Stanford is favored by 14 points, but the Spartan coaches and players are hoping for an upset.

The ball game is just underway, and State got a break, a recovered fumble on the Stanford 21-yard line. On first and second downs, San Jose tries two running plays and gains a total of two yards. Now it's third down and eight on the Stanford 19-yard line.

You be the Spartan quarterback. Rate these plays 1, 2, 3 and 4;

Fake dive into line and throw quickie pass.

Fake deep pass, give ball to halfback on Statue of Liberty (back goes behind passer, taking ball to sweep end).

End run.

Deep pass into end zone, trying to get two receivers in same area.

'Overrated' Cries Oklahoma Coach

NORMAN, Okla. (AP) — "We are the most overrated team in the history of football," Oklahoma Coach Bud Wilkinson said Tuesday in commenting on the Sooners' No. 1 rating.

"We looked reasonably good against the two teams we played but when you look at their records you can see we are not much of a power ourselves," he added.

Wilkinson said that "We were a considerably stronger team at the start of the season than we are now, or will ever become."

He attributed this to the loss of two key linemen, tackle Wayne Greenlee and guard Ken Northcutt, who suffered ankle fractures in the first game of the season against North Carolina and will be out the rest of the season.

"I don't think we have men who can improve enough to match those two this season" he added.

Clem Labine, Robinson Knot Series

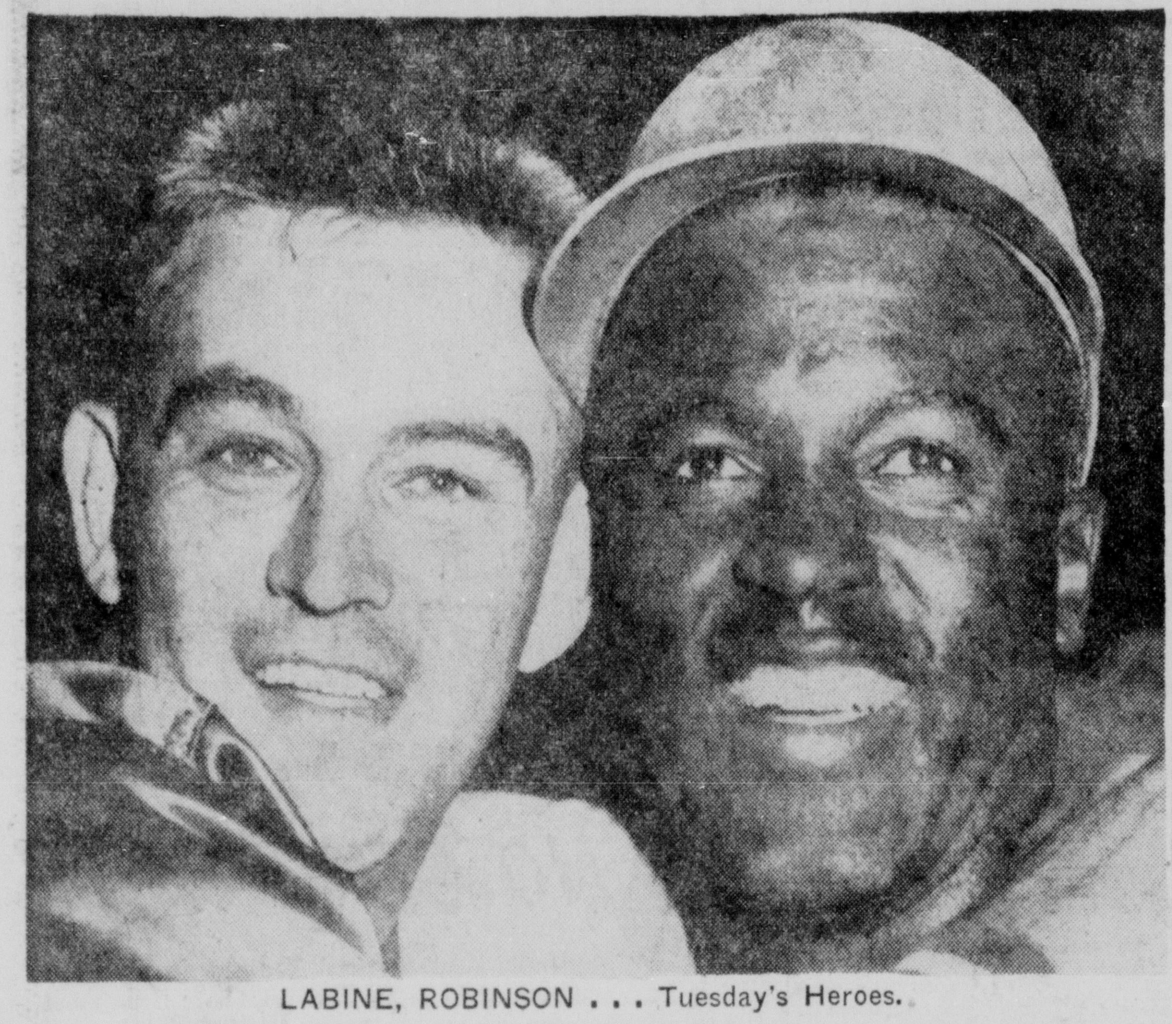
Seventh Game Needed To Separate Men From Boys

By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK (INS) — A seventh ballgame will be needed to separate the men from the boys in the 1956 World Series.

Brooklyn's Clem Labine and Jackie Robinson arranged that matter Tuesday's bright, gusty afternoon by beating the Yankees' Bob Turley 1-to-0 in ten enthralling innings at Ebbets Field. It was a triumph fit to hold its head high even in the company of the historic dream game provided on Monday by Don Larsen.

Labine's snake-armed slants were put under the assault of seven Yankee hits during the day, as against Larsen's perfect no-hitter. But he left ten Yanks to perish on bases as he sternly silenced Mickey Mantle, Country Slaughter and others who have found Brooklyn pitching palatable in this series, now tied at three games each.



LABINE, ROBINSON . . . Tuesday's Heroes.

Robinson came up from the pit of personal despair to rocket the game-winning hit over a seemingly puzzled Slaughter in the tenth.

The great Brooklyn competitor, first Negro to break the big time's color barrier when he came up to Brooklyn in 1947, had chances to destroy Turley's brilliant pitching job in the sixth and eighth. On each occasion he popped to the infield with two men on bases.

Now, reprieved because the mastery of Labine and Turley had spun the game into overtime, Robinson came to bat again in the tenth with two outs, Junior Gilliam on second and Duke Snider on first—the latter having been purposely passed for the second straight time because Robinson was considered a softer touch.

Turley flung, Robby swung, and the ball became a white blur as it streaked directly for Slaughter, who was playing deep. The low-slung sun blazed a reflection off Slaughter's tinted glasses as the Old Gentleman charged in.

But then, as if he had found a better focus on the ball, Slaughter screeched to a desperate stop and tried to back pedal. The blazing hit was rising, not falling. The ball was whistling overhead. He stuck up his glove in anguish, leaped on his old legs, and missed. The ball struck the bottom of the wall and bounced back—and instantly everything went limp.

Gilliam easily scored. There was no reason for Snider or Robby to do anything except touch a base ahead of them. The pressure was gone in a micro-second from what had been a tight boiler of a game.

It was a memory that Turley wll carry into the hereafter with him, and not a very pleasant one. Robinson's hit was only the fourth off him. Bob struck out 11 Brooks but he was beaten and will be the forgotten man in a game that was the first 10-inning shutout in World Series history since the legendary Christy Mathewson beat Philadelphia 3-to-0 in one of the games in 1913.

Thus the stage is set for the "sudden death" of a seventh and final game. It will be played at Ebbets Field, where the defending champion Dodgers have now whipped the Yankees in six straight series games.

Today's Pitchers

Don Newcombe, a human fiasco in the second game, will be given the chance of his lifetime to disprove to those who have called him, privately and publicly, a choker. Casey Stengel, so close Tuesday to the sixth World Series triumph in seven tries as Yankee manager, will respond with Johnny Kucks. Kucks had an 18-9 record for the regular season. He pitched unimpressive relief in the first two games. Newcombe won an awesome 27 during the season, was routed in the second series game, and is involved in a lawsuit over striking a fan who challenged his competitive spirit.

CLUBHOUSE QUOTES

Jackie Robinson — "I hit a fast sinker. I thought it was going right at Slaughter, but before I knew it, the ball took off over his head."

Enos Slaughter—"The son of a gun just took off on me and hit the bottom of the wall."

Clem Labine—"I feel like Don Larsen must have Monday—just great. That Robby is a living doll."

Bob Turley—"It was the first time all year I had good stuff. Robinson hit a sidearm fast ball."

Walter Alston—"They pitched a great game. It will be Don Newcombe Wednesday, and I'm sure he is ready and eager and ready to get a shot at them now."

Casey Stengel—"Turley pitched very well in the bandbox. I started him because he pitched so well here the first two games in relief. Johnny Kucks Wednesday.

POINT BLANK

Sports Editor, The Star

Remember the last time Kansas State played at Memorial Stadium?

It was two years ago this week and the circumstances were much the same as they are now.

The Nebraska Cornhuskers had played Minnesota a good game before falling, 19-7, and then beat Iowa State 39-14. Bill Glassford's Huskers were favored to win the contest with the Wildcats.

But as fate—or what have you—willed, the game turned into a whale of a defensive battle. The Huskers scored a field goal in the second quarter and held on.

The 3-0 lead looked like it might hold up, but late in the fourth quarter the Wildcats marched for a touchdown and won the game, 7-3.

As the final gun went off, a fellow in the press box joked: "Well, there goes our trip to the Orange Bowl."

It was a joke because the Huskers weren't given an outside chance of going to Miami. Colorado was the pick.

The crack caused another press box inhabitant to fire back: "We were never going anyway."

As things turned out, both were wrong. The loss to Kansas State didn't keep Nebraska out of the Orange Bowl, although after the Miami classic there were a good many people who wished it had.

So now it's time to think about Kansas State again—and it's an Orange Bowl year. But it will be best to think of K-State first, just in case.

Walt (Boots) Gardner Jr., brings word from the West Coast that Ron Keefer, the former Nebraska Wesleyan athlete and local official, is end coach for the Camp Pendleton Marine Corps Base football team.

Gardner served as trainer for the Leathernecks.

Also on the Pendleton club are Mark Loncar, who played at Denver U., and tried his hand at Nebraska before entering the service; Bob Hammond, who played halfback for Doane College; and Bill Bedio, another ex-Husker candidate.

Doak Walker, the former SMU and Detroit Lions star, has now taken up the cudgel against world communism.

According to a press handout from Dallas, Tex., Walker has joined the Advisory Board of Facts Forum. The Doaker is boosting an essay contest which has a $1,000 scholarship as the top prize.

Subject? "How America Can Best Fight Communism," natch.

Then there's the office wag who came up with the most constructive World Series observation. After watching Sal Maglie pitch against the Yankees in the two games, the nut (baseball, that is) remarked:

"All day long we keep getting razor ads and shots of stars shaving, but where was Maglie. He looks like he needs a shave more than some of fuzzy cheeked kids."

Yessir, Mr. G—it's looks like you dulled your blades by not signing up old Briar Patch the Barber.

Even Money Choice In Series Today

BROOKLYN (AP) — The World Series is an even-money "pick 'em" proposition if Johnny Kucks pitches for the New York Yankees Wednesday against Brooklyn's Don Newcombe in the seventh game at Ebbets Field.

The bookmakers also quote an alternate price that would make the Yankees an 11 to 10, man-to-man choice if Whitey Ford faces Newcombe.

Manager Casey Stengel of the Yankees said after the game: "I think it will be Kucks, but I might change my mind." Manager Walter Alston said Newcombe definitely will be the Dodger pitcher.

'Can't Fool Jackie All The Time'

By JOE REICHLER

BROOKLYN (AP) — "You can fool some of the people some of the time, but you can't fool Jackie Robinson all the time."

Brooklyn's great clutch hitter, his sweaty face spread in a huge grin, said it, half in jest and half in earnest. It was obvious what he was referring to.

Only minutes before, Jackie had come through with what may turn out to be the greatest clutch hit of his life—a screaming drive over Enos Slaughter's head, against the left-field wall that drove in Junior Gilliam from second with two out in the 10th to give Clem Labine and the Dodgers' a dramatic, 1-0, sixth-game triumph over Bob Turley and the New York Yankees.

Ruse Fails

A moment before, Turley had issued an intentional pass to the left-handed hitting Duke Snider, preferring to pitch to the right-handed hitting Robinson. The ruse had worked the previous time, in the eighth inning, in an identical situaton. That time Robinson popped up.

Did Jackie regard the maneuver as an insult to his ability as a hitter?

"No," he replied instantly. "I wasn't insulted. I considered it a challenge, however. They certainly did the right thing. Walking a dangerous left-handed hitter to get at a right-handed hitter, with a righthander on the mound, is percentage baseball. They couldn't do anything else. But I was glad when Turley walked Snider a second time. I knew if I got enough chances, I'd come through. The guys on the bench sort of felt it, too. They were kidding me about it, especially Don Zimmer. Little Don kept repeating, 'Come on, Jack, he can't do that two times in a row to you, boy.' Well, he couldn't."

No Pressure

Was he nervous when he came up in the 10th, knowing it was squarely up to him again, especially after having failed to come through in his previous time at bat under similar circumstances?

"No," Robinson replied. "I didn't feel any pressure at all. I was loose. Either I get a hit or not. If I get a hit, that's fine. If I don't, I just get mad at myself, just as I did the other time.

"You just go out there and do the best you possibly can," Jackie continued. "I try not to worry about clutch hits. I always make believe it's just another game, just another time at bat."

Robinson said the pitch he hit, which incidentally went for a single since he didn't bother to go beyond first base once he saw that Gilliam was certain to cross the plate, was a fast ball, about belt high, right down the middle.

"He'd been throwing me fast balls all afternoon," Robbie explained. "I hit one right on the nose my first time at bat but it went directly to McDougald. He threw me practically the same pitch in the eighth but I popped it up. This time I knew I hit it real good. I stood at the plate and watched it, knowing that if it wasn't caught, I could crawl to first. I saw Slaughter start in, then back up, but the ball took off.

"Home Safe"

"I saw the ball sail over Slaughter's head and bang against the wall. Then I knew we were home safe. No, I don't think Slaughter could have caught it had he not started in. It was hit too hard and rising all the time. It felt like a 2-iron shot. It really took off."

Did the 37-year-old Robinson regard this game-winning hit as his greatest thrill?

"Naturally, I got a great kick out of it," he said earnestly, "but as to whether it gave me my greatest thrill, I don't think I can answer that question until after the game Wednesday. If we win Wednesday, then I'll look back to this hit and always recall it as my greatest thrill. If we lose, it won't mean a thing.

KUCKS, NEWCOMBE . . . Pitch today.

Pitching Still Big News

Phil Rizzuto, who played in nine World Series for the Yankees, is covering the World Series for International News Service and The Lincoln Star.

By PHIL RIZZUTO

NEW YORK (INS) — Pitching again was the big news of the series, as it has been in all but the second game.

Everybody knew Clem Labine would pitch a good game, but the big surprise to me was Bob Turley. Although I knew Turley was capable of a great game, it was a gamble to go with him instead of Johnny Kucks because he didn't work much late in the season.

But he could have beaten almost anybody Tuesday with that pitching. He just ran into Labine, like Sal Maglie ran into Don Larsen Monday.

It looks like everybody's going to be using that no-windup motion of Larsen's and Turley's next year.

Labine was great and gave a beautiful exhibition of pitching. He kept that ball low and had the batters hitting into the dirt all day.

Junior Gilliam had seven assists and Gil Hodges had 14 putouts. That's a good day's work.

I thought the Yanks were going to win right to the end. It looked like Turley could go indefinitely.

None of those hits were anything to brag about but Jackie Robinson's was well hit. Robinson was up in a similar situation in the 1952 series, I remember, but didn't come through, This time he came through with a clutch hit.

In all fairness, I'd like to point out that the sun in left this time of year is bad for the outfielders. That's why Enos Slaughter had such a tough time fielding out there.

Turley's 11 strikeouts were wonderful. His performance out there Tuesday should give him enough confidence to last all next year.

Pitching has been great for both sides but the Yankee staff is really humming along. The Dodgers have gotten only four hits in the last 19 innings.

I must say I thought Tom Sturdivant was going for Casey Stengel Wednesday. Kucks was working out in the bullpen much of the day Tuesday and may have tired himself some.

It's a brand new ball game but I still pick the Yankees.

Husker Alternates Promoted

Fleming, Harshman McVay On First Unit

By DON BRYANT
Sports Editor, The Star

Three Nebraska Cornhusker alternates won spots on the No. 1 club for their work against Iowa State, Coach Pete Elliott announced Tuesday.

The promotions followed further study of the game movies by the Husker coaching staff.

Moving up to the first unit were: Right End Howard McVay, sophomore from Ogallala, replacing Mike Lee of Grand Island who started against all three opponents to date.

Right tackle Jack Fleming, senior from Kimball, replacing Jerry Wheeler of Milan, Ill. Fleming started against South Dakota, but played with the alternates in the Ohio State and Iowa State games.

Quarterback George Harshman, junior from Dickerson Run, Pa , replacing Roy Stinnett of Ripley, Tenn., who has started each of the previous games.

"All the boys who moved up earned the chance to play with the first unit," Elliott said. "And as of now they'll probably start against Kansas State." .. ..

Lee, Wheeler and Stinnett are slated to run with the alternates. Stinnett, who suffered a pinched nerve last week, ran at top speed Tuesday and will be ready for full duty against the Wildcats Saturday.

Another change moved Leo George from fullback to left halfback. George was slated for fullback duty after Dick McCashland was assigned to center as a replacement for the injured Max Kitzelman.

Elliott said Tuesday that he hopes Kitzelman will be ready "to go full speed" Wednesday and that there's a good possibility he'll be with the alternates Saturday.

Tuesday the Huskers worked on group offense and defense and wound up with a short defensive scrimmage.

There was also a lot of emphasis on passing and pass defense. The Huskers are fifth in the nation in pass defense, limiting three foes to only four completions in 21 tries.

Elliott has indicated his club will begin passing more this week "to get better balance."

K-State Preview

"Judging from the scouting reports, Oklahoma did everything right and Kansas State did everything wrong," Elliott said when asked about the Wildcats' game with the Sooners.

Assistant Coach Don Scarbrough who scouted the 66-0 rout, reported that Halfback Kenny Nesmith and Fullback Ralph Pfeifer did a good job and that Quarterback Keith Wilson "is a good runner."

John Cronley, Oklahoma City sportsed, was also impressed by Wilson, writing:

"The Wildcats, supposed to be even better than the last edition, which wound up in the Big Seven first division, were a sad disappointment to all concerned, even though in scrappy Keith Wilson they flashed a much better than average quarterback, considerably superior to anyone fielded by North Carolina. . ."

Frosh Standouts

Nebraska Freshman Coach Gene Stauber reports that he has some fine backfield prospects on his 1956 club.

One of the top stars is Left Halfback Skip Smith of Torrance, Calif., a prep All American who starred in the Memphis All Star game.

Smith is the fastest man on the squad and has been making rapid progress since being slowed for a spell by illness.

"Skip has looked particularly good against the Varsity and is truly a fine prospect," Stauber said.

One of Smith's high school teammates, Carlos Skaggs, a 170-pound right halfback, also drew praise from Stauber.

Three quarterbacks have been attracting a great deal of attention and all are listed as "top prospects." They are Joe Miller of Sioux City, Ia., Chuck Stacy of Weeping Water and Harry Tolley of North Platte.

One of the leading line candidates is End Glen Hepburn of Boys Town, who has been starring as a pass catcher and defensive wingman.

Harriers Open

Nebraska's cross country team will have its first test of the season Saturday morning when the Husker harriers meet Kansas State over the new course at Pioneers Park. The three-mile run will start at 11 a.m.

Bob Elwood, Elliott, Ia , Frank Morrison, Lincoln; Knolly Barnes, Trinidad; Lathen Mortensen, Gurley and Lee Carter, Blair, will run for Nebraska.

The Huskers won from Kansas State a year ago.

Sooners, Michigan State Retain 1st, 2nd Rankings

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Oklahoma, still on top of the college football world, comes up to its big game this week—only this time it doesn't look so big.

After establishing a modern major college winning record with their 32nd straight victory—a 66-0 walkover against Kansas State—the Sooners remained on top of The Associated Press ranking poll of sports writers and broadcasters by a comfortable but by no means unanimous margin.

It was Oklahoma 1,185 points and runner-up Michigan State 1,065 on the usual basis of 10 points for each first-place vote, nine for second, etc. No one else was even close to these two. The Sooners drew 76 of the 130 first-place votes and Michigan State's Spartans got 32.

Favor Sooners

Next Saturday Oklahoma encounters Texas in the annual game at Dallas. This is traditionally one of the toughest and most important of the year for both teams. But Texas, soundly beaten by Southern California, a one-point winner over Tulane and loser by the same margin to West Virginia, doesn't appear to have the manpower to give the Sooners a bad time. Texas hasn't beaten Oklahoma since 1951 and that was the only time in the past eight years.

The leading teams with first place votes and won-lost records in parentheses (points on 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis):

1. Oklahoma (76) (2-0)	1,185
2. Michigan State (32) (2-0)	1,065
3. Georgia Tech (4) (2-0)	793
4. Texas Christian (7)	740
5. Ohio State (1) (2-0)	735
6. Tennessee (5) (2-0)	588
7. Mississippi (2) (3-0)	483
8. Southern California (3-0)	313
9. Texas A&M (3-0)	165
10. Bayer (3-0)	150
SECOND TEN
11. Miami (Fla) (1) (2-0)	137
12. Michigan (1-1)	109
13. Vanderbilt (3-0)	107
14. Navy (2-0)	83
15. Army (2-0)	82
16. George Washington (1) (3-0)	79
17. Minnesota (2-0)	75
18. Notre Dame (1-1)	55
19. Southern Methodist (2-1)	53
20 (tie) South Carolina (3-1) and West Virginia (2-1)	21

Washington received one first place vote.

Browns Ask Waivers On Bob Smith

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Cleveland Browns Tuesday night put halfback Bob Smith and rookie tackle Don Goss on waivers, trimming their roster to the 33-player limit of the National Football League.

Smith, somewhat of a surprise selection for the team a year ago, lost out this season to Billy Kinard, the Browns' No. 2 draft choice from Mississippi.

Smith is a former Big Seven fullback from the University of Nebraska.

When they face the New York Giants at the Stadium here Sunday, the Browns will have four rookies on the squad. In addition to Arkansas and a good running back; Lowe Junior Wren, defensive back from Missouri; and Galen Fiss, linebacker from Kansas.

Neligh Soph Honored As Star Of The Week

By RON GIBSON
Star Sports Staff Writer

Lynn Hoepfinger, Nelight High sophomore, is The Lincoln Star's "Football Player of the Week."

The Neligh halfback went on a scoring spree last Friday night, making three touchdowns and two extra points. As far as Neligh High football followers are concerned, Hoepfinger couldn't have picked a better time to go on a rampage.

His touchdown runs paved the way for a 32-12 upset of previously unbeaten Wayne. That victory climaxed Neligh homecoming festivities.

Hoepfinger skirted right end to score from seven yards out in the first quarter. He converted for a 7-0 lead, and Neligh was never headed.

Hoepfinger put the big game on ice in the fourth quarter with two more touchdowns. He ran 30 yards for one, then intercepted a pass and scooted 70 yards to score another.

Lynn will receive a Star "Player of the Week" billfold card, as will the following standouts in Nebraska high school games:

Jim Taylor, Gordon—20 points sparked team in win over Rushville.

Roger Prochazka, Wilber — Touchdown runs of eight, 61, 55 and 88 yards plus two extra point made him standout against Superior.

Evert Stokes, Edgar—Made 18 tackles against Red Cloud.

John Harms, Morrill — Jarrin' John sparked Lions to third straight win.

Rod Paulsen, Oshkosh — Touchdown plunge with 10 seconds left provided 14-13 win over Imperial.

Gene Yokomizo, Minatare—Passed for three touchdowns and an extra point, plunged for touchdown and started another scoring pass play with a lateral as Minatare made 239 yards passing against Bridgeport.

Larry Berg, Meadow Grove — Scored seven touchdowns in rout of Clearwater.

DeWitt Harouff, Huntley—Ran for 54 points in 70-32 conquest of Bladen.

Larry Rivers, Red Willow—Outstanding defensive player as Red Willow upset Bartley.

Roger Doan, Ansley—Ran 100 yards for touchdown against Shelton.

Gene Hawley, Arcadia—Ran 10, 27 and 30 yards for touchdowns, passed for two more as Arcadia won 16th in a row.

Oscar Bredthauer, Grand Island—Made 18 tackles to wreck Lincoln High offense.

Dave Myers, Southeast — Quarterback carried ball on every play in Knight's touchdown march against Norfolk.

Bob Roh, David City St. Mary's—All-state six-man center showed his mettle in 11-man play against Pius X.

Dennis Troxel, Cozad—Tackle has been slowing down Southwest Conference foes.

Garry Esser, Mead — Stopped Cedar Bluffs run for extra point, saved 14-13 upset win for Mead.

Charles Humphrey, Mullen—When Arthur fumbled one foot short of goal, Humphrey grabbed ball an [illegible] of field for touchdown. Mullen won 19-13.

Glen Kolschwar, Farnam—Passing keyed win over Holbrook; toss to Rod Nickerson for final PAT provided 19-18 margin.

Dennis Korth and Darrell Hoffman, Pierce—Pass combination clicked on 51-yard scoring play with less than three minutes left. Pierce halted Stanton win string 6-0.

John Salter, Creighton—Kept his club among undefeated as he intercepted O'Neill pass, ran 70 yards to score only touchdown.

Pete Salter, Norfolk — Lineman led Panthers as they halted final Southeast drive, preserved 13-7 win.

John Demuth, Cedar Rapids—170-pound end made many spectacular catches for Cedar Rapids and has starred on defense.

Tom Harre, Exeter—Hard-charging guard led Eagles to their 14th consecutive victory, a 42-6 win over Sterling.

YOU BE THE QUARTERBACK

4. Fake dive and quickie. Worst call. The dive fake isn't good because you need too much yardage. If the quickie pass is completed, it may not make eight yards.

3. End run. No! Too many yards to go.

2. Deep pass. Could be O.K. This is the usual thing to do.

1. Statue of Liberty. Best call. This is a passing situation and you are an underdog. Fake the expected play and the Statue could cross up the Indians. You'll have to gamble to win this one and this is a good gamble.

Larsen Still Numb

BROOKLYN (UP) — Twenty-four hours after pitching the first World Series no-hitter and the first perfect game in 34 years, Don Larsen was red-eyed from lack of sleep and "still in a daze" Tuesday.

"I still can't believe it," the 6-4 New York Yankee righthander managed to say while admirers crowded around him for autographs.

Larsen said he had gotten only about an hour's sleep and the fingers of his famous pitching hand were numb from scribbling his name on scoreboards, baseballs and match covers.

"I must have signed a thousand," he added.

PRO FOOTBALL COMMISSIONER OKS RADIO USE

By LEE LINDER

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Bert Bell, commissioner of the National Football League, said Tuesday "It's okay with me" if the pro teams wire players for sound, but jokingly hoped nobody starts wiretapping.

Eavesdropping is a better word —and it is not entirely impossible.

The matter has erupted into a football controversy since two NFL teams—the Chicago Cardinals and the Cleveland Browns—have attached devices to players that enables coaches to relay plays and other information.

Now the Detroit Lions, the Chicago Bears and the New York Giants are going to install similar equipment.

On The Fence

Bell said he "doesn't care" what kind of devices teams employ "as long as the game is conducted legally in a manner that fans enjoy," adding:

"If it doesn't disturb the game, the fans, the officials—let them have their fun."

Cleveland started the player "wiring" by hooking up a radio device to its quarterback. Reportedly it didn't pan out so well. It broke down and the radio was too heavy.

The Cards turned to an electronic device—the "Audipage" developed by Philco Corp. and still in the experimental stage. The club used it successfully in beating the New York Giants this past Sunday.

Bell said he has his doubts that "these new-fangled gadgets can do much to change football."

Tip-Off Device

Mainly the devices are used to tip off the quarterback where the opposing team's weakness lies, either offensively or defensively.

Said Bell: "I don't believe that in this system or in any other system can anybody call every play, especially with the constantly shifting defenses. When the information is relayed to the quarterback from the press bod, the situation could change radically by an opposing player moving a couple of yards in another direction."

The commissioner, happy about anything that will provoke interest in pro football and bring fans into the stands, said: "The way the rules are now, there is nothing to prevent the use of equipment that wires players with sound."

"U- To Owners"

"It is up to the owners to decide against such devices, if they wish," Bell declared.

But he pointed out, twinkling, that "I wonder what might happen should the opposition start listening in on those signals going to the quarterback."

That is possible, a Philco spokesman admitted.

NWU Hoping To Repeat Upset In Homecoming

The Hastings College Broncos invade Homecoming territory at Nebraska Wesleyan University Friday night to try to keep the Plainsmen from knocking them out of a title chance in the Nebraska College Conference.

Last year the Wesleyan gridders did just that as they came off with a 6-6 tie at Hastings and the Broncos finished second in the NCC.

The battle Friday will be the 35th annual game and the 41st meeting between the two teams. The rivalry, one of the oldest in the state, began in 1908 and has continued unbroken since 1920.

Wesleyan holds the upper hand in the series with 20 wins to 15 for Hastings. Six games have been ties.

Hastings will go into the game a solid favorite after shut-out wins over Wayne and Doane. But the Wesleyan club found its offensive spark for the first time in beating Wayne Friday night and will be up for the Homecoming crowd.

A backfield shift by Wesleyan coach Kieth Skogman opened the doors for the Plainsmen Friday and they hit for a 34-26 win over Wayne. Wesleyan held a 20-0 lead mid-way in the second quarter.

Skogman sent Bobby Heffelfinger, Lincoln sophomore and service vet, into the quarterback spot and shifted quarterback Dick Keller, Harvard junior, to left halfback.

Both men responded with stick-out performances as they shared the glory in Wesleyan's five touchdowns.

Keller whipped off touchdown runs of 10, 14 and 46 yards and gained 117 yards rushing for the night.

Heffelfinger flipped two touchdown passes for the other markers and called a good game. He got Keller off on the 46-yard scoring play with a pitch-out after running 15 yards with the ball himself.

Hastings will counter with a strong line and a set of hard-running backs headed by Bruce Edwards. Edwards tallied twice in leading Hastings to a 25-0 win over Doane Saturday.

Wesleyan has a 1-3 mark for the season and Hastings has a 2-1 mark. In NCC play Hastings has an uncrossed goal line. They whipped Wayne 34-0 and Doane 25-0.

Kick-off time for the Bronco-Wesleyan encounter is set for 8 p.m. Friday in O. N. Magee Stadium.

Packers Plan For More Starr Action

By CHUCK CAPALDO

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — Coach Lisle "Liz" Blackbourn says he plans to use rookie quarterback Bart Starr more often from now on in an effort to get the Green Bay Packers on the National Football League victory track.

The Packers lost their second NFL game in as many starts last Sunday to the Chicago Bears. A year ago Blackbourn's club won its first two.

Starr, 22-year-old Alabaman who was the Packers' 17th draft choice, spelled veteran Tobin Rote for the first time late in the Bear game, and completed 5 of 12 passes for 42 yards in one of the Packers' few sustained drives.

"Looked Good"

"The kid looked good out there," Blackbourn said. "In fact the club looked better while he was in there than it has looked since the exhibition season when we really looked great."

"Whether to start Starr or not has been a big question among the coaching staff," he added. "We've thrashed that out for weeks. We figured if he got in there and had a pass intercepted it might hurt his confidence and hurt the team's morale. But, from now on, we'll use him more often."

Rote, often called the best all-around quarterback in the NFL, hasn't been able to get started this year. Blackbourn said the 28-year-old Texan now in his seventh NFL season has been "carrying the whole load."

"The pressure's been on him right along," Blackbourn said. "He hasn't had a minute to relax out there. He's tight and can't seem to unravel himself."

Football Dropsy

In fairness to Rote, his pass receivers have suffered from football dropsy. Gary Knafelc, for example, has flubbed at least four passes that should have been caught. Sunday, Breezy Reid let two go sailing right through his hands.

Swaps Injured

Swaps, 1955 Kentucky Derby winner, shown here in a typical fast workout, injured his leg while exercising Tuesday at his training grounds at Garden State Park at Camden, N. J. X-rays were taken to determine the extent of the injury. (AP Wirephoto.)

New Injury Puts Swaps Out Again

CAMDEN, N. J. (AP) — Swaps, holder of five racing marks and a victory in the 1955 Kentucky Derby, pulled up lame while working out on the Garden State Park race track Tuesday.

Hasty X-rays showed the big California horse had ruptured a blood vessel near the ankle of the left hind leg—but there were no bone fractures as was at first feared.

Dr. George R. Palmer Jr., a track veterinarian, said the famed horse would be out of action for about four months, but co-owner Rex Ellsworth, informed of the injury at his headquarters in California, said he expected Swaps to be back in saddle within 60 days.

No Visitors

The swift racer, who beat Nashua in the Derby run last year, was confined to a Garden State stall with no visitors permitted. The horse's injured leg was put in ice bags, and apparently was causing considerable pain.

Trainer Meshach Tenney, who stationed himself at the horse's side and indicated he intended to maintain his vigil until all possible danger was past, was one of the most relieved horsemen in the world when the X-rays failed to show a fracture.

"That's better than I hoped for," said Tenney when told of the ruptured blood vessel. "I was expecting the worst."

The accident happened as exercise rider Chester White was taking the colt on a planned 6-furlong dash around the Garden State oval.

Swaps had completed only 3 furlongs when he suddenly pulled up. White said at first he thought his mount merely had taken a false step.

"I took up on him," said White, "expecting him to regain stride, but when he didn't, I got off."

Swaps was removed from the track in a horse ambulance.

Both Swaps and Nashua have had their ardent followers for "greatest horse" honors. Nashua came back from the Derby loss to defeat Swaps in a special match race. The two haven't met since.

Puerto Rico Re-Admitted To Olympics

LAUSANNE, Switzerland (AP)—The International Olympic committee Tuesday re-admitted Puerto Rico to the Melbourne Olympic Games.

The committee's executive board last week decided to ban the Puerto Rican team from the games because government interference with the National Olympic Committee of Puerto Rico violated Olympic regulations.

The international committee announced Tuesday that "regular elections" were held in Puerto Rico on Oct. 4 to establish a national committee in accordance with Olympic regulations, and that a Puerto Rican team would therefore be permitted to compete at Melbourne.

Plans Begin For Moving AL Senators

WASHINGTON (AP) — Calvin Griffith, president of the Washington Senators, began talks Tuesday with local leaders anxious to rid him of the idea of taking the American League baseball club to another city.

"They realize I'm not kidding about it," Griffith said afterward.

The Senators' boss, who disclosed last week he is considering a shift of franchise, conferred with Philip L. Graham, publisher of the Washington Post and Times Herald, and John S. Hayes, head of the newspaper's radio and TV stations.

Turley Knew Where Robbie's Blast Went

By ED CORRIGAN

BROOKLYN (AP) — Bob Turley, the New York Yankee pitcher, appeared resigned to his fate when Jackie Robinson blasted his game-winning hit Tuesday in Brooklyn's 1-0 World Series triumph. . .While most of the other players were holding their collective breaths wondering whether Enos Slaughter would get to the ball in left field, Turley was starting off the mound.

It didn't take the crowd long to find out there would be no repetition of Monday's no-hitter on either side. . .Both teams made one hit in the first inning. . .But the throng certainly didn't expect the tight pitchers' battle between Clem Labine and Turley.

Big Don Newcombe is ready and willing to go Wednesday despite the troubles he's been having beating the Yanks in World Series play. He's lost three and was bashed out of the box in the second game although he wasn't involved in the decision. . ."I'm as ready as I'll ever be," he said.

Brooklyn first baseman Gil Hodges is a gentleman from the toes up. . .Before the game one of the umpires was saying that when he misses a call on Hodges he feels like bowing down and apologizing. . .Then in the dressing room after the game, Hodges obligingly gave up his stool to a newsman who was interviewing Labine. . .Their lockers are side-by-side.

Hodges, by the way, said he'd rather hit in the Yankee Stadium than Ebbets Field despite all the talk of the shadows in the big Yank ball park. . . "I think most of the Yanks agree with me," said Hodges. . ."In the late innings in Ebbets Field, especially when the center-field stands are filled, the ball looks like it's coming right out of the bleachers."

Yank Manager Casey Stengel, always one for a gag, said there was no reason why Turley could not go nine innings although he hadn't pitched a complete game in longer than Casey cared to remember . . . "He doesn't drink, smoke or chew," winked Casey.

Don Larsen, incidentally, already has about $10,000 salted away, according to his agent, Frank Scott, who has handled him for a couple of years. . .Until now, Scott hadn't made a thin dime out of Larsen, and probably never expected to. . .His meal ticket has been Mickey Mantle. . ."I think Larsen will be able to earn as much as $100,000 when all the returns are in," said Scott. . ."In the next week or so, we have magazine stories, his life story, personal appearances, and maybe even a book lined up."

One of the biggest cheers of the day was reserved for Lyall Smith, sports editor of the Detroit Free Press and official scorer of the series. . .He caught a foul ball high up in the press box in a manner that would do Duke Snider proud.

Brook Manager Walt Alston gave him the call over Newcombe because he throws low, breaking stuff. . .That was one decision on which Alston won't be second-guessed. . .The Dodgers leave on the first leg of their trip to the Orient Thursday at 12:30 p.m., EDT. . .They play their first game at Maui, Hawaiian Islands, then play two more in Honolulu, and finally on to Japan.

Yogi Berra didn't take any chances on his double in the sixth . .He skidded in head first miles ahead of the throw. . .Larsen will get the first official print of the World Series film. . .Brooklyn third base coach Billy Herman must have thought it was a mirage when Junior Gilliam came whipping around with the winning run on Jackie Robinson's single in the 10th. . .It was the first action at that spot in two days for the Brooks.

Crofton is the new leader in The Star's high school eight-man football ratings.

Crofton takes the top spot from Exeter, the 1955 champion and leader through the first weeks in 1956. Both Crofton and Exeter are unbeaten but Crofton gets the edge because of a better schedule to date.

Lawrence and Ruskin continue to run one-two in the six-man ratings. Losses jarred four of last week's rated sextets out of the chart.

The ratings in eight-man and six-man shape up this way:

Eight-Man

Crofton's "on-paper" record now looks outstanding. Coach Jim Taylor's Warriors haven't yielded a point in four games. Two of the Warrior wins are over O'Neill St. Mary's and Coleridge—and both of those teams have handled all their other foes with comparative ease.

Yet Crofton, the largest school in the eight-man field, was able to beat St. Mary's 21-0 and Coleridge 41-0. St. Mary's has won four other games, yielding slightly over 30 yards per game to opponents in those games. Coleridge has three other wins.

Exeter, the 1955 champion, has a polished team under Coach Ken Kasparek. Exeter's record is less impressive. Exter has not been pressed but its victims—Beaver Crossing, Shubert, Western and Sterling—haven't set the world on fire in other outings.

Exeter faces a tougher test in unbeaten Fairmont next week and later plays 11-man toughie Seward Concordia. These will be the big ones for Exeter.

Big Springs and Potter figure out almost even at this stage. There is no way of comparing them with Exeter or Crofton. Big Springs and Potter meet in the season finale Nov. 2.

Should the "Big Four" eight-man teams—Crofton, Exeter, Big Springs and Potter—continue to roll over their opponents a post-season meeting involving some of the clubs may be a possibility. When Exeter and Crofton finished unbeaten last year, attempts were made to arrange a showdown but plans fell through.

O'Neill St. Mary's, unranked last week, gets into the chart at fifth after two victories in four days. The scores were 69-0 over Verdigre and 39-7 over Niobrara, rated sixth last week.

Niobrara fell from the list along with Beemer and Wausa.

Dakota City moved into the list at sixth with a third straight victory. Bancroft was the victim.

Elm Creek and Amherst continued in their deadlock at seventh and eighth. Elm Creek stopped Overton 33-15 last week; Amherst was idle.

Sutherland is a newcomer at ninth. Sutherland now appears just a shade better than four other unbeaten clubs in its own area—Stapleton, Brady, Wallace and Mullen. A shakeup will come soon.

Colleridge slipped from fourth to tenth after that lacing by Crofton.

Six-Man

Lawrence whipped a fair Doniphan club 67-20 and stayed atop the six-man list. The Panthers, a former state six-man champ, have won four straight with ease.

Ruskin is a strong second with an identical record. The latest win for Ruskin was a 53-6 lacing of Reynolds, administered largely by Ruskin subs.

A showdown between the top two clubs is slated Oct. 19 at Ruskin. Diller is a strong third. Coach Bill Morrow's club moved up from fourth to replace Bartley, victim of a 35-16 surprise at McCook Red Willow.

Bartley fell from the Top Ten along with Greeley Sacred Heart (fifth), Dwight Assumption (seventh) and Holbrook (tenth).

Greeley Sacred Heart suffered its first loss, 42-26 to a good Dannebrog team. Sacred Heart still figures as a strong contender.

By dint of the victory over Sacred Heart, Dannebrog moved into the chart at fifth place—one notch behind Indianola. The Indians climbed from eighth, largely on the strength of Red Willow's win over Bartley. Indianola whipped Red Willow last week.

Verdon is again sixth after beating a fair Falls City Sacred Heart team 32-12. Alvo is a newcomer at seventh. Alvo's four victories include one over Elmwood, which has blitzed all other foes.

Naponee is again eighth but Anselmo and Campbell are newcomers at ninth and tenth.

The leading contenders among the unranked sextets are Greeley Sacred Heart, Eagle, Monroe, Spalding Academy and Elmwood.

'Deadeye' Nelson To Pilot Scottsbluff's Attack Friday

By BOB McCOY
Star Sports Staff Writer

When the Scottsbluff Bearcats visit Lincoln High Friday night, a "shooting expert" will lead the Westerners attack.

Bill Nelson, a good-looking, red-thatched youngster, is the "shooter" the Links will have to stop.

Nelson, a trapshooting champion before he turned to football and basketball, has already engineered the Bearcats to a pair of victories.

The stocky gridder—a clutch player from wayback—heaved a touchdown pass in the last minute of play to pull Scottsbluff to a 13-6 triumph over Sidney.

A week later Nelson tossed for the only score of the game to give his teammates a 7-0 victory over McCook.

Nelson first blossomed into state athletic prominence as a cager at Brady. Before transferring to Scottsbluff this fall, the versatile lad piloted Brady to the Class D basketball championship of the state tournament last spring.

He was named to the Sunday Journal and Star's All-State Class D basketball team for his cage maneuvers to cap a brilliant season at Brady.

Now, however, he's playing football—at Scottsbluff—and he and his fellow Bearcats face some rugged obstacles at the Lincoln High Oval Friday night.

Scottsbluff is still seeking its first win on Lincoln soil. The battle will be the 18th game of the home-and home series which started back in 1939.

During this time, the Links have chalked up a record of 15 victories, one defeat and one tie.

The tie and the loss both came on the Bearcats' home battlefield.

In 1953 the 'Cats took a 14-6 decision over the Links and in 1945 the Red and Black had to settle for a 7-7 tie.

The Bearcats have come close only two times as guests of honor of the Lincoln crew. In 1950, they lost 18-14 and went down to defeat 13-7 in 1952 to finish second behind the state champion Links that year.

Despite the fact that the Links have won only one game in four this season, they have played well against powerhouses Omaha Central and Washington High of Sioux Falls, S. D. and should rate the favorite over the Bearcats who have managed to escape defeat in Nebraska competition this year in squeakers over McCook and Sidney.

But a warning is in order for Coach Eddie Schwartzkopf and his Links—Watch out for that red-headed deadeye!

Rassle Rematch Ends In Draw

The main event of the second wrestling program of the season at the Fair Grounds Arena Tuesday night ended in a draw for all—for the grapplers—for the referees—and for the fans.

The event was a tag team rematch from last week between the Russian brother duo of Nicoli and Boris Volkoff and a Verne Gagne-Roy McClarity combination.

Last week the Russians took two out of three falls from Gagne and Bill Melby, who McClarity was subbing for.

The Russians took the first fall in a time of 16:25, but the Gagne-McClarity team came back to win the second in 8:25 when brother Boris was the victim of Gagne's famous claw hold.

But the match ended when referees Sam Vacanti and Joe Krejik disqualified each team after 3:10 had elapsed in the third fall.

Then the action started. There was disagreement from the partisan crowd for the Gagne-McClarity tandem and a few fans themselves decided to take on the Russians and the referees. But their action also ended in a draw with no one getting hurt.

In a preliminary match, Woodie Strode took a decision over Angello Poffo because of another disqualification.

Next week will see some top talent at the fairgrounds.

Promoter Tom Novak has announced that world heavyweight mat champion Hans Schmidt will appear along with probably the largest grappler in the business, an eight foot, two inch, 440 pound performer named Paul Bunyan.

Webb Favored Over Cotton

CHICAGO (AP) — Spider Webb of Chicago, the National Boxing Assn.'s 10th-ranking middleweight, is a 2-1 favorite to score his 15th straight ring victory Wednesday night at the expense of Charlie (King) Cotton of Toledo.

Calhoun was unbeaten until the speedy Webb outpointed him in 10 on Aug. 29.

Webb, however, has no easy touch in Cotton, who also is 25. Cotton's greatest victories came in New York on May 7 and May 28 this year when he took successive victories from Joey Giardello.

Cotton then fought to a draw with Franz Szuzina, lost to Calhoun and defeated Henry Hank in his last outing, Sept. 28, at Toledo.

YOU BE THE QUARTERBACK

By WARREN GAER
Head Football Coach, Drake University

Stanford and San Jose State are playing the fourteenth game of their traditional series. This year, Stanford is favored by 14 points, but the Spartan coaches and players are hoping for an upset.

The ball game is just underway, and State got a break, a recovered fumble on the Stanford 21-yard line. On first and second downs, San Jose tries two running plays and gains a total of two yards. Now it's third down and eight on the Stanford 19-yard line.

You be the Spartan quarterback. Rate these plays 1, 2, 3 and 4:

Fake dive into line and throw quickie pass.

Fake deep pass, give ball to halfback on Statue of Liberty (back goes behind passer, taking ball to sweep end).

End run.

Deep pass into end zone, trying to get two receivers in same area.

'Overrated' Cries Oklahoma Coach

NORMAN, Okla. (AP) — "We are the most overrated team in the history of football," Oklahoma Coach Bud Wilkinson said Tuesday in commenting on the Sooners' No. 1 rating.

"We looked reasonably good against the two teams we played but when you look at their records you can see we are not much of a power ourselves," he added.

Wilkinson said that "We were a considerably stronger team at the start of the season than we are now, or will ever become."

He attributed this to the loss of two key linemen, tackle Wayne Greenlee and guard Ken Northcutt, who suffered ankle fractures in the first game of the season against North Carolina and will be out the rest of the season.

"I don't think we have men who can improve enough to match those two this season" he added.

Senate Probe Threatens Perjury Action In Alleged 'Buying' Try Of Texas Postmastership

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate investigators raised a threat of perjury action after hearing contradictory accounts Tuesday of alleged "checkbook waving" in a purported attempt to "buy" a Texas postmastership.

J. Don Kerlin counsel for a Senate Post Office subcommittee, recommended the testimony be referred to the Justice Department.

Chairman Olin D. Johnston (D-SC) said "somebody has certainly told an untruth.' He said he would ask the full committee to consider the matter later

The flareup came as the subcommittee began a public inquiry into reports of political job selling in the postal system in Texas. The hearings were begun over the objection of Sen. Langer (R-ND) who wanted them postponed until after the election.

Request

Before getting the opposing accounts of a contest for the postmastership of Bluegrove, Tex , the subcommittee heard two witnesses tell of Republican requests for contributions from federal job applicants in the state. One of these was an unsuccessful applicant for the Bluegrove job

The real hassle over events in Bluegrove stemmed, however, from the testimony of two other witnesses—S. Lester Hansard Jr of Wichita Falls, former Clay County Republican chairman and James Q. Pennington, who ultimately won the Bluegrove appointment.

Hansard testified Pennington came to his farm and sough Republican endorsement for the assignment

"He told me he understood he had to make a contribution in some amount to somebody," Hansard stated, and said Pennington produced a checkbook and "stood ready to write a check "

Hansard said he indignantly refused He said the incident was witnessed by his wife and his father.

The witness said Pennington later sought him out at a bowling alley in Wichita Falls and "again he told me he knew how these appointments were received" and offered a check

Mrs Hansard, also called by the subcommittee, supported her husband's testimony She said Pennington had asked "what it would take to get the job "

Pennington denied there ever had been such an incident at Hansard's farm, and swore he had made no political contributions to any party.

"I wasn't there," he said of Hansard's account of the check book waving" at the farm.

Endorsement

Pennington said he sought Hansard's political endorsement at the bowling alley, saying "I asked him to consider me "

"Did you reach for your checkbook?' he was asked.

"I did not." Pennington replied

"You have no recollection of any occasion where you offered a check?"

"No, sir," Pennington said

The subcommittee was told that Hansard later was ousted as county chairman and that Pennington subsequently was appointed postmaster

Hansard later complained he felt ill and said that he had recently suffered a heart attack A physician summoned by the sub committee said Hansard's condition did not appear serious, but he ordered a further check.

Contributions

Two women applicants for postal jobs testified earlier that Texas Republican headquarters wrote them asking for political contributions and reminded them that the party office "processes all of the appointments to federal positions in Texas "

Langer had read into the record an opinion by Asst Atty Gen Warren Olney III that the letters were a "regular solicitation for funds," and were not intended as solicitation of money for political aid in getting a federal job

"That's a better letter than the Democrats sent out," Langer said He told Johnston, "you folks ask for 5 per cent "

Conservation Date Extended On Soil Bank

WASHINGTON (AP) — Farmers were given an extra six weeks in which to enter into conservation reserve contracts under the government's soil bank program for 1956. The Agriculture Department extended the final date from Oct. 15, to Nov. 30.

All conservation reserve contracts, the department said, will be limited to 10 years, including those for tree planting, except when seedling trees are not available. However, no contract may be extended to cover more than 15 years nor beyond Dec. 31, 1974.

The press of other soil bank business, the department said, made it necessary to extend the deadline for signing 1956 conservation reserve contracts.

Robinson Enters Cheyenne Hospital

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (AP) — Wes Robinson, 31-year-old bulbar polio patient from Kimball, Neb., arrived at Veterans Hospital here for treatment.

A hospital spokesman said Robinson, who has been in an iron lung for more than two weeks, arrived in a disaster unit truck from his home in Kimball.

He is the second person in the Kimball area to contract bulbar polio. Roy Lee Erickson, 25, also of Kimball, recently died of the disease in the Cheyenne hospital.

Neligh Soph Honored As Star Of The Week

By RON GIBSON
Star Sports Staff Writer

Lynn Hoepfinger, Nelight High sophomore, is The Lincoln Star's "Football Player of the Week."

The Neligh halfback went on a scoring spree last Friday night, making three touchdowns and two extra points. As far as Neligh High football followers are concerned, Hoepfinger couldn't have picked a better time to go on a rampage.

His touchdown runs paved the way for a 32-12 upset of previously unbeaten Wayne. That victory climaxed Neligh homecoming festivities.

Hoepfinger skirted right end to score from seven yards out in the first quarter. He converted for a 7-0 lead, and Neligh was never headed.

Hoepfinger put the big game on ice in the fourth quarter with two more touchdowns. He ran 30 yards for one, then intercepted a pass and scooted 70 yards to score another.

Lynn will receive a Star "Player of the Week" billfold card, as will the following standouts in Nebraska high school games:

Jim Taylor, Gordon—20 points sparked team in win over Rushville.

Roger Prochazka, Wilber — Touchdown runs of eight, 61, 55 and 88 yards plus two extra point made him standout against Superior.

Evert Stokes, Edgar—Made 18 tackles against Red Cloud.

John Harms, Morrill — Jarrin' John sparked Lions to third straight win.

Rod Paulsen, Oshkosh — Touchdown plunge with 10 seconds left provided 14-13 win over Imperial.

Gene Yokomizo, Minatare—Passed for three touchdowns and an extra point, plunged for touchdown and started another scoring pass play with a lateral as Minatare made 239 yards passing against Bridgeport.

Larry Berg, Meadow Grove — Scored seven touchdowns in rout of Clearwater.

DeWitt Harouff, Huntley—Ran for 54 points in 70-32 conquest of Bladen.

Larry Rivers, Red Willow—Outstanding defensive player as Red Willow upset Bartley.

Roger Doan, Ansley—Ran 100 yards for touchdown against Shelton.

Gene Hawley, Arcadia—Ran 10, 27 and 30 yards for touchdowns, passed for two more as Arcadia won 16th in a row.

Oscar Bredthauer, Grand Island—Made 18 tackles to wreck Lincoln High offense.

Dave Myers, Southeast — Quarterback carried ball on every play in Knight's touchdown march against Norfolk.

Bob Roh, David City St. Mary's—All-state six-man center showed his mettle in 11-man play against Piux X.

Dennis Troxel, Cozad—Tackle has been slowing down Southwest Conference foes.

Garry Esser, Mead — Stopped Cedar Bluffs run for extra point, saved 14-13 upset win for Mead.

Charles Humphrey, Mullen—When Arthur fumbled one foot short of goal, Humphrey grabbed ball and dashed [illegible] of field for touchdown. Mullen won 19-13.

Glen Kotschwar, Farnam—Passing keyed win over Holbrook; toss to Rod Nickerson for final PAT provided 19-18 margin.

Dennis Korth and Darrell Hoffman, Pierce—Pass combination clicked on 51-yard scoring play with less than three minutes left. Pierce halted Stanton win string 6-0.

John Salter, Creighton—Kept his club among undefeated as he intercepted O'Neill pass, ran 70 yards to score only touchdown.

Pete Salter, Norfolk — Lineman led Panthers as they halted final Southeast drive, preserved 13-7 win.

John Demuth, Cedar Rapids—170-pound end made many spectacular catches for Cedar Rapids and has starred on defense.

Tom Harre, Exeter—Hard-charging guard led Eagles to their 14th consecutive victory, a 42-6 win over Sterling.

YOU BE THE QUARTERBACK

4. Fake dive and quickie. Worst call. The dive fake isn't good because you need too much yardage. If the quickie pass is completed, it may not make eight yards.

3. End run. No! Too many yards to go.

2. Deep pass. Could be O.K. This is the usual thing to do.

1. Statue of Liberty. Best call. This is a passing situation and you are an underdog. Fake the expected play and the Statue could cross up the Indians. You'll have to gamble to win this one and this is a good gamble.

Larsen Still Numb

BROOKLYN (AP) — Twenty-four hours after pitching the first World Series no-hitter and the first perfect game in 34 years, Don Larsen was red-eyed from lack of sleep and "still in a daze" Tuesday.

"I still can't believe it," the 6-4 New York Yankee righthander managed to say while admirers crowded around him for autographs.

Larsen said he had gotten only about an hour's sleep and the fingers of his famous pitching hand were numb from scribbling his name on scoreboards, baseballs and match covers.

"I must have signed a thousand," added.

PRO FOOTBALL COMMISSIONER OKS RADIO USE

By LEE LINDER

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Bert Bell, commissioner of the National Football League, said Tuesday "It's okay with me" if the pro teams wire players for sound, but jokingly hoped nobody starts wiretapping.

Eavesdropping is a better word —and it is not entirely impossible.

The matter has erupted into a football controversy since two NFL teams—the Chicago Cardinals and the Cleveland Browns—have attached devices to players that enables coaches to relay plays and other information.

Now the Detroit Lions, the Chicago Bears and the New York Giants are going to install similar equipment.

On The Fence

Bell said he "doesn't care" what kind of devices teams employ "as long as the game is conducted legally in a manner that fans enjoy," adding:

"If it doesn't disturb the game, the fans, the officials—let them have their fun."

Cleveland started the player "wiring" by hooking up a radio device to its quarterback. Reportedly it didn't pan out so well. It broke down and the radio was too heavy.

The Cards turned to an electronic device—the "Audipage" developed by Philco Corp. and still in the experimental stage. The club used it successfully in beating the New York Giants this past Sunday.

Bell said he has his doubts that "these new-fangled gadgets can do much to change football."

Tip-Off Device

Mainly the devices are used to tip off the quarterback where the opposing team's weakness lies, either offensively or defensively.

Said Bell: "I don't believe that in this system or in any other system can anybody call every play, especially with the constantly shifting defenses. When the information is relayed to the quarterback from the press bod, the situation could change radically by an opposing player moving a couple of yards in another direction."

The commissioner, happy about anything that will provoke interest in pro football and bring fans into the stands, said: "The way the rules are now, there is nothing to prevent the use of equipment that wires players with sound."

"U- To Owners"

"It is up to the owners to decide against such devices, if they wish," Bell declared.

But he pointed out, twinkling, that "I wonder what might happen should the opposition start listening in on those signals going to the quarterback."

That is possible, a Philco spokesman admitted.

NWU Hoping To Repeat Upset In Homecoming

The Hastings College Broncos invade Homecoming territory at Nebraska Wesleyan University Friday night to try to keep the Plainsmen from knocking them out of a title chance in the Nebraska College Conference.

Last year the Wesleyan gridders did just that as they came off with a 6-6 tie at Hastings and the Broncos finished second in the NCC.

The battle Friday will be the 35th annual game and the 41st meeting between the two teams. The rivalry, one of the oldest in the state, began in 1908 and has continued unbroken since 1920.

Wesleyan holds the upper hand in the series with 20 wins to 15 for Hastings. Six games have been ties.

Hastings will go into the game a solid favorite after shut-out wins over Wayne and Doane. But the Wesleyan club found its offensive spark for the first time in beating Wayne Friday night and will be up for the Homecoming crowd.

A backfield shift by Wesleyan coach Kieth Skogman opened the doors for the Plainsmen Friday and they hit for a 34-26 win over Wayne. Wesleyan held a 20-0 lead mid-way in the second quarter.

Skogman sent Bobby Heffelfinger, Lincoln sophomore and service vet, into the quarterback spot and shifted quarterback Dick Keller, Harvard junior, to left halfback.

Both men responded with stick-out performances as they shared the glory in Wesleyan's five touchdowns.

Keller whipped off touchdown runs of 10, 14 and 46 yards and gained 117 yards rushing for the night.

Heffelfinger flipped two touchdown passes for the other markers and called a good game. He got Keller off on the 46-yard scoring play with a pitch-out after running 15 yards with the ball himself.

Hastings will counter with a strong line and a set of hard-running backs headed by Bruce Edwards. Edwards tallied twice in leading Hastings to a 25-0 win over Doane Saturday.

Wesleyan has a 1-3 mark for the season and Hastings has a 2-1 mark. In NCC play Hastings has an uncrossed goal line. They whipped Wayne 34-0 and Doane 25-0.

Kick-off time for the Bronco-Wesleyan encounter is set for 8 p.m. Friday in O. N. Magee Stadium.

Packers Plan For More Starr Action

By CHUCK CAPALDO

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — Coach Lisle "Liz" Blackbourn says he plans to use rookie quarterback Bart Starr more often from now on in an effort to get the Green Bay Packers on the National Football League victory track.

The Packers lost their second NFL game in as many starts last Sunday to the Chicago Bears. A year ago Blackbourn's club won its first two.

Starr, 22-year-old Alabaman who was the Packers' 17th draft choice, spelled veteran Tobin Rote for the first time late in the Bear game, and completed 5 of 12 passes for 42 yards in one of the Packers' few sustained drives.

"Looked Good"

"The kid looked good out there," Blackbourn said. "In fact the club looked better while he was in there than it has looked since the exhibition season when we really looked great."

"Whether to start Starr or not has been a big question among the coaching staff," he added. "We've thrashed that out for weeks. We figured if he got in there and had a pass intercepted it might hurt his confidence and hurt the team's morale. But, from now on, we'll use him more often."

Rote, often called the best all-around quarterback in the NFL, hasn't been able to get started this year. Blackbourn said the 28-year-old Texan now in his seventh NFL season has been "carrying the whole load."

"The pressure's been on him right along," Blackbourn said. "He hasn't had a minute to relax out there. He's tight and can't seem to unravel himself."

Football Dropsy

In fairness to Rote, his pass receivers have suffered from football dropsy. Gary Knafelc, for example, has flubbed at least four passes that should have been caught. Sunday, Breezy Reid let two go sailing right through his hands.

Senate Probe Threatens Perjury Action In Alleged 'Buying' Try Of Texas Postmastership

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate investigators raised a threat of perjury action after hearing contradictory accounts Tuesday of alleged "checkbook waving" in a purported attempt to "buy" a Texas postmastership.

J. Don Kerlin, counsel for a Senate Post Office subcommittee, recommended the testimony be referred to the Justice Department.

Chairman Olin D. Johnston (D-SC) said "somebody has certainly told an untruth." He said he would ask the full committee to consider the matter later.

The flareup came as the subcommittee began a public inquiry into reports of political job selling in the postal system in Texas. The hearings were begun over the objection of Sen. Langer (R-ND), who wanted them postponed until after the election.

Request

Before getting the opposing accounts of a contest for the postmastership of Bluegrove, Tex., the subcommittee heard two witnesses tell of Republican requests for contributions from federal job applicants in the state. One of these was an unsuccessful applicant for the Bluegrove job.

The real hassle over events in Bluegrove stemmed, however, from the testimony of two other witnesses—S. Lester Hansard Jr. of Wichita Falls, former Clay County Republican chairman, and James Q. Pennington, who ultimately won the Bluegrove appointment.

Hansard testified Pennington came to his farm and sought Republican endorsement for the assignment.

"He told me he understood he had to make a contribution in some amount to somebody," Hansard stated, and said Pennington produced a checkbook and "stood ready to write a check."

Hansard said he indignantly refused. He said the incident was witnessed by his wife and his father.

The witness said Pennington later sought him out at a bowling alley in Wichita Falls and "again he told me he knew how these appointments were received" and offered a check.

Mrs. Hansard, also called by the subcommittee, supported her husband's testimony. She said Pennington had asked "what it would take to get the job."

Pennington denied there ever had been such an incident at Hansard's farm, and swore he had made no political contributions to any party.

"I wasn't there," he said of Hansard's account of the "checkbook waving" at the farm.

Endorsement

Pennington said he sought Hansard's political endorsement at the bowling alley, saying "I asked him to consider me."

"Did you reach for your checkbook?" he was asked.

"I did not," Pennington replied.

"You have no recollection of any occasion where you offered a check?"

"No, sir," Pennington said.

The subcommittee was told that Hansard later was ousted as county chairman and that Pennington subsequently was appointed postmaster.

Hansard later complained he felt ill and said that he had recently suffered a heart attack. A physician summoned by the subcommittee said Hansard's condition did not appear serious, but he ordered a further check.

Contributions

Two women applicants for postal jobs testified earlier that Texas Republican headquarters wrote them asking for political contributions and reminded them that the party office "processes all of the appointments to federal positions in Texas."

Langer had read into the record an opinion by Asst. Atty. Gen Warren Olney III that the letters were a "regular solicitation for funds," and were not intended as solicitation of money for political aid in getting a federal job.

"That's a better letter than the Democrats sent out," Langer said. He told Johnston, "you folks ask for 5 per cent."

Conservation Date Extended On Soil Bank

WASHINGTON (AP) — Farmers were given an extra six weeks in which to enter into conservation reserve contracts under the government's soil bank program for 1956. The Agriculture Department extended the final date from Oct. 15, to Nov. 30.

All conservation reserve contracts, the department said, will be limited to 10 years, including those for tree planting, except when seedling trees are not available. However, no contract may be extended to cover more than 15 years nor beyond Dec. 31, 1974.

The press of other soil bank business, the department said, made it necessary to extend the deadline for signing 1956 conservation reserve contracts.

Robinson Enters Cheyenne Hospital

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (AP) — Wes Robinson, 31-year-old bulbar polio patient from Kimball, Neb., arrived at Veterans Hospital here for treatment.

A hospital spokesman said Robinson, who has been in an iron lung for more than two weeks, arrived in a disaster unit truck from his home in Kimball.

He is the second person in the Kimball area to contract bulbar polio. Roy Lee Erickson, 25, also of Kimball, recently died of the disease in the Cheyenne hospital.

HST Says Ike 'Didn't Say A Word' As Marshall Called 'Traitor'

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Former President Harry S. Truman said Tuesday a Republican senator called Gen. George C. Marshall "a traitor" during the 1952 campaign and President Eisenhower, sharing the same platform, "didn't say a word."

Truman made the remark at a news conference when asked to amplify his statement at a rally here Monday night that Eisenhower "ran out" on Gen. Marshall.

The former President said Sen. William E. Jenner (R-Ind) called Gen. Marshall a traitor at Milwaukee, Wis., from a platform shared by Eisenhower and Sen. Joseph McCarthy (R-Wis). "That was a fine combination," Truman added.

At a Washington news conference July 14, 1954, President Eisenhower indicated his memory was uncertain as to how, during the campaign in Wisconsin two years earlier, he had omitted a paragraph from his prepared speech in which he praised Gen. Marshall.

Patriot

The President said at the news conference he thought he had made it clear at other times that he regarded Gen. Marshall as one of the greatest and most selfless patriots he had ever known.

The matter was raised at the news conference when the President was asked to comment on a statement by Gov. Walter J. Kohler of Wisconsin that he (Kohler) had persuaded Eisenhower to omit the reference to Marshall.

Gov. Kohler said he believed that it would be unwise to praise Gen. Marshall in the home state of Sen. McCarthy, who had attacked the general in a Senate speech. Eisenhower told the news conference he had some recollection that Kohler had asked whether Eisenhower had not already said often enough the things he had planned to say in praise of Gen. Marshall.

Immediately after his news conference Tuesday, Truman left on an auto and train "whistle-stop" tour through southwestern Pennsylvania.

Some 3,000 persons at a railroad station in McKeesport heard Truman express distate for a "part-time President." He did not refer specifically to President Eisenhower.

Truman said "this outfit (Republican party) is out to win the election on glamour and they're not going to do it."

In a talk Tuesday night at a $25-a-plate Democratic dinner in Westmoreland County 30 miles southeast of Pittsburgh, Truman said President Eisenhower must be looking at world and domestic problems through "rose - colored glasses and that's why he can't even see the things as they are that are bothering us."

Truman told a capacity crowd of more than 1,800 that he had obtained a pair of "Eisenhower glasses," and tried them out.

"They say 'I Like Ike' on the bridge, and under one lens there is the word 'Peace' and under the other 'Prosperity,'" Truman said. "The glass in them is tinted, and when you put them on everything looks rosy and serene."

The former President said that when he used the "Eisenhower glasses" there were "no problems at all" for the farmers or the small businessmen, no slums or inadequate schools.

Truman said that when looking through the glasses at the foreign situation "a rose cloud hides the frowning face of communism, the threat of conflict in the Near East and the rising tide of anti-American sentiment around the world."

He told his audience he decided to take the glasses off "and never to use them again."

"I decided that they were dangerous, because I knew it was better to face problems honestly and to tell the people the truth, than it was to feed them a lot of political pap and propaganda," Truman said.

Fracas Brings $35 Fines To 4 Teenagers

Four Lincoln teenagers were fined $35 each in Lancaster County Court in connection with a 2:30 a.m. fracas last Saturday on a country road about 5½ miles northwest of Lincoln.

The four defendants, ages 19, 17, 16 and 16, pleaded guilty to disturbing the peace charges in connection with the incident.

Authorities said something of a free-for-all developed between eight University of Nebraska students and six occupants of another car, which included the defendants.

Facial Cuts

Two of the students required medical treatment for facial cuts as a result of the fight, the court was told. Approximately $100 in damages was caused to their car.

Investigators said two occupants of the defendants' car could not be identified.

The fight started after the students, who were looking for evergreens to decorate a fraternity house for a football game, sought directions to a farm house from the defendants, Acting County Judge Ralph Slocum was told.

Dep. Co. Atty. Dale Fahrnbruch said the "free-for-all" developed as the university students were attempting to drive away.

Hurricane Hunters Study New Wave

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A hurricane hunter plane flew far out over the Atlantic Ocean Tuesday to investigate a strong "easterly wave" which has developed a circular movement typical of tropical storms. A bulletin from the Weather Bureau at San Juan, Puerto Rico, said ships in the vicinity of the disburbance had reported winds up to 45 m.p.h. in squalls.

The wave was about 2,200 miles east-southeast of Miami and was moving toward the west-northwest at about eight m.p.h. The bulletin said "further intensification is expected."

When these famous people previewed the all-new Chrysler Corporation cars for 1957, they instantly felt the excitement of discovery. What they saw was styling so striking, so right that it's called "The New Shape of Motion." And they loved it!

But the beauty of these cars is just the beginning. Chrysler Corporation's engineers have produced five complete lines of cars with total newness! A new kind of ride that carpets the road—Torsion-Aire! A new kind of transmission, swifter and smoother than anything on the road . . . Pushbutton TorqueFlite! A revolutionary new kind of braking system that's surer and more dependable . . . Total-Contact Brakes!

To see and experience all this newness and much more is something every new car buyer owes to his pocketbook . . . and his heart! Visit your dealer's October 30th.

Proud Parents Of Dallas Hunt, International Rodeo Queen, Thrilled

By BETTY PERSON
Star Staff Writer

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Hunt, proud parents of Lincoln's famous Miss Dallas Hunt, returned to the city Tuesday afternoon after witnessing the crowning of their daughter as queen of the International Rodeo at Chicago.

"We are thrilled beyond words and still can't believe it," said Mrs. Hunt.

Mr. and Mrs. Hunt, their 13-year-old son Jerry and seven-year-old daughter Kathy, went to Chicago to be with Dallas for the exciting events. School work kept 15-year-old Susie Hunt in Lincoln. Hunt's father, Guy R. Hunt, had accompanied Dallas to Chicago. He is Dallas' manager and the one who first interested her in horsemanship.

'Fabulous Experience'

Mrs. Hunt said it was a "fabulous experience" and very exciting with the "press and all of the telegrams and flowers Dallas received."

The 18-year-old University of Nebraska freshman has won so many honors it's difficult to keep track of them but Mrs. Hunt said she believes the new title of Miss Rodeo America is the ninth queenship Dallas has won in the fields which combine personality, appearance and horsemanship. She also was named homecoming queen at Lincoln High School from which she graduated last June.

The pretty brunette was to make her grand entry on horseback Tuesday night at the International Amphitheater in Chicago. Television and radio appearances are scheduled for later in the week before Dallas returns to Lincoln next Sunday.

More Honors

More honors were heaped on Nebraska's feminine population when Miss Shari Lewis of Daykin, also a University of Nebraska student, was named American Dairy Princess. She also represented Nebraska this year in the Miss Universe contest.

Nebraska has been more than well represented the past two years by its feminine residents who have walked off with top honors in many fields.

Mrs. Carl Dietemeyer was named Mrs. America last year and Miss Sharon Kay Ritchie of Grand Island, now Mrs. Don Cherry, was crowned Miss America for 1956. Sharon Kay represented Colorado in the contest when she was attending Colorado Women's College, but she's a native Nebraskan and former Lincolnite.

Omahan Reviews Stevenson Record

Phil Allen, member of the Democratic State Central committee, reviewed the gubernatorial and campaign record of Adlai Stevenson Tuesday evening at an open meeting of Volunteers for Stevenson and Kefauver.

Allen paraphrased the presidential candidate in stressing that Stevenson "is not the type of man to give half answers to hard problems."

Stevenson has the character to find "worrying solutions to the important questions," the Omahan said, "and this is not particularly a vote-getting trait, but it is a necessary characteristic of a good president."

Richards Renamed Soil Group Head

KEARNEY, Neb. (AP)—Bill Richards of Orleans, Neb., Tuesday was re-elected president of the Nebraska State Association of Soil Conservation Districts.

Also re-elected was Lloyd K. Riddle, Bartley, vice president. Emmett J. Lee, Spaulding, was elected to the seven man board replacing Edward J. Lenger, Niobrara. Others on the board were re-elected.

William Klein, Minneapolis, vice president and director of sales of Allis Chalmers, was the speaker at a recognition banquet for 82 Nebraska farmers especially interested in conservation. Each was presented a colored aerial photograph of his farm at the association's banquet.

HST Says Ike 'Didn't Say A Word' As Marshall Called 'Traitor'

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Former President Harry S. Truman said Tuesday a Republican senator called Gen. George C. Marshall "a traitor" during the 1952 campaign and President Eisenhower, sharing the same platform, "didn't say a word."

Truman made the remark at a news conference when asked to amplify his statement at a rally here Monday night that Eisenhower "ran out" on Gen. Marshall.

The former President said Sen. William E. Jenner (R-Ind) called Gen. Marshall a traitor at Milwaukee, Wis., from a platform shared by Eisenhower and Sen. Joseph McCarthy (R-Wis). "That was a fine combination," Truman added.

At a Washington news conference July 14, 1954, President Eisenhower indicated his memory was uncertain as to how, during the campaign in Wisconsin two years earlier, he had omitted a paragraph from his prepared speech in which he praised Gen. Marshall.

Patriot

The President said at the news conference he thought he had made it clear at other times that he regarded Gen. Marshall as one of the greatest and most selfless patriots he had ever known.

The matter was raised at the news conference when the President was asked to comment on a statement by Gov. Walter J. Kohler of Wisconsin that he (Kohler) had persuaded Eisenhower to omit the reference to Marshall.

Gov. Kohler said he believed that it would be unwise to praise Gen. Marshall in the home state of Sen. McCarthy, who had attacked the general in a Senate speech. Eisenhower told the news conference he had some recollection that Kohler had asked whether Eisenhower had not already said often enough the things he had planned to say in praise of Gen. Marshall.

Immediately after his news conference Tuesday, Truman left on an auto and train "whistle-stop" tour through southwestern Pennsylvania.

Some 3,000 persons at a railroad station in McKeesport heard Truman express distate for a "part-time President." He did not refer specifically to President Eisenhower.

Truman said "this outfit (Republican party) is out to win the election on glamour and they're not going to do it."

In a talk Tuesday night at a $25-a-plate Democratic dinner in Westmoreland County 30 miles southeast of Pittsburgh, Truman said President Eisenhower must be looking at world and domestic problems through "rose - colored glasses and that's why he can't even see the things as they are that are bothering us."

Truman told a capacity crowd of more than 1,800 that he had obtained a pair of "Eisenhower glasses," and tried them out.

"They say 'I Like Ike' on the bridge, and under one lens there is the word 'Peace' and under the other 'Prosperity,'" Truman said. "The glass in them is tinted, and when you put them on everything looks rosy and serene."

The former President said that when he used the "Eisenhower glasses" there were "no problems at all" for the farmers or the small businessmen, no slums or inadequate schools.

Truman said that when looking through the glasses at the foreign situation "a rose cloud hides the frowning face of communism, the threat of conflict in the Near East and the rising tide of anti-American sentiment around the world."

He told his audience he decided to take the glasses off "and never to use them again."

"I decided that they were dangerous, because I knew it was better to face problems honestly and to tell the people the truth, than it was to feed them a lot of political pap and propaganda," Truman said.

Fracas Brings $35 Fines To 4 Teenagers

Four Lincoln teenagers were fined $35 each in Lancaster County Court in connection with a 2:30 a.m. fracas last Saturday on a country road about 5½ miles northwest of Lincoln.

The four defendants, ages 19, 17, 16 and 16, pleaded guilty to disturbing the peace charges in connection with the incident.

Authorities said something of a free-for-all developed between eight University of Nebraska students and six occupants of another car, which included the defendants.

Facial Cuts

Two of the students required medical treatment for facial cuts as a result of the fight, the court was told. Approximately $100 in damages was caused to their car.

Investigators said two occupants of the defendants' car could not be identified.

The fight started after the students, who were looking for evergreens to decorate a fraternity house for a football game, sought directions to a farm house from the defendants, Acting County Judge Ralph Slocum was told.

Dep. Co. Atty. Dale Fahrnbruch said the "free-for-all" developed as the university students were attempting to drive away.

Hurricane Hunters Study New Wave

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A hurrican hunter plane flew far out over the Atlantic Ocean Tuesday to investigate a strong "easterly wave" which has developed a circular movement typical of tropical storms. A bulletin from the Weather Bureau at San Juan, Puerto Rico, said ships in the vicinity of the disburbance had reported winds up to 45 m.p.h. in squalls.

The wave was about 2,200 miles east-southeast of Miami and was moving toward the west-northwest at about eight m.p.h. The bulletin said "further intensification is expected."

Court Ruling Brings Flurry In Fight Over Ton-Mile Tax Proposal For State

The fight over the controversial ton-mile tax proposal flurried sharply following the District Court decision to put the measure before the voters on Nov. 6.

George Spidel, president of the Nebraska Producers and Consumers Committee, opposed the judicial ruling, handed down by Lancaster District Judge Harry Spencer as revealing ". . a dangerous weakness in our legal processes

"It means," he explained, "that a powerful group, with an ax to grind, can dump any number of phony petitions into the lap of the Secretary of State, and deny to any and all citizens the right to raise the issue of irregularities and misrepresentations in the circulation and signing of petitions "

C. E Beals, secretary for the Committee for Better Roads Through Fair Taxation (sponsor of the proposal), replied

"The national trucking syndicates," Beals contested, "have issued an utterly ridiculous statement concerning their press releases "

Beals said that "the plain fact" is that the big trucking companies have "resorted to every legal stratagem" to keep the proposal from a vote by the people of the state

'Five Organizations'

Spidel said that he was not speaking for the Trucking Syndicate but he was acting " on behalf of the Producers and Consumers Committee which includes representatives from five state-wide organizations as well as representatives from various other industries and businesses "

The proponents of the ton-mile tax law, he further asserted, had, by a legal technicality, ". . blocked us from showing to the court, the thousands of errors contained in the petitions, the selfish motives and methods used in securing the signatures, and the fact that this proposed law was not initiated by the people of Nebraska "

I have no quarrel with the 2,300 circulators of the petitions, he continued, but merely point out that in Omaha 98 per cent of them were railroad people and that " . this strange preponderance of workers in one industry indicates that that industry is trying to write a law for Nebraska "

'Personally Know Some'

"I personally know some of the railway employees who circulated petitions on instructions from higher up and have had evidence of their humiliation and embarrassment at the pressure employed to goad them into action ' This state of affairs, he said, 'smells of impropriety and bears evidence of being a contrived campaign rather than one of volunteers '

Beals stated that it would do no good to try to insult the 2,300 good Nebraskans who circulated the petitions ' None of these circulators," he explained, 'was paid a dime for the time they spent . they did it as good citizens . . their number included representatives of all walks of life '

Never in Nebraska history, Beals said, was there a ' more genuine people's effort than in this case of circulation of ton-mile petitions "

Beals charged that the trucking interests are "desperately seeking to cloud the issue by using every type of name calling. They have done everything but talk about the facts and issues "

"Over half of the highway boxcars in Nebraska," Beals contended, "are owned by non resident trucking syndicates and they are using our highways for a free ride When all the name-calling is finished, the truth will out."

Camp Charges Railroad Interest In Ton-Mile Tax

Bernie Camp, information director for the Nebraska Farm Bureau Federation, said Tuesday that the railroads appear to have a vital interest in the proposed ton-mile tax for heavy trucks and buses.

Of those who circulated the petitions to put the tax on the Nov 6 ballot, he said, 80 to 85 per cent of the circulators in some communities were railroad employees

A check of records in Lancaster County, he continued revealed that 208 of 281 circulators were Burlington Railroad employees Of 1,038 circulators in Douglas County, he said, 95 per cent were railroad employees.

Writing in Legislative Sidelines, a bulletin published by Farm Bureau personnel, Camp asks why railroads should be so concerned in a highway issue.

Railroad officials have denied "as they should be expected to do," Camp said, that they organized the petition drive "to increase truck rates "

However, he said, regardless of railroad response, one fact stands out: "Whoever is responsible, the weight - distance law proposal, innocently or otherwise, seeks to add to the cost of living of every Nebraska farmer and consumer."

Proud Parents Of Dallas Hunt, International Rodeo Queen, Thrilled

By BETTY PERSON
Star Staff Writer

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Hunt, proud parents of Lincoln's famous Miss Dallas Hunt, returned to the city Tuesday afternoon after witnessing the crowning of their daughter as queen of the International Rodeo at Chicago.

"We are thrilled beyond words and still can't believe it," said Mrs. Hunt.

Mr. and Mrs. Hunt, their 13-year-old son Jerry and seven-year-old daughter Kathy, went to Chicago to be with Dallas for the exciting events. School work kept 15-year-old Susie Hunt in Lincoln. Hunt's father, Guy R. Hunt, had accompanied Dallas to Chicago. He is Dallas' manager and the one who first interested her in horsemanship.

'Fabulous Experience'

Mrs. Hunt said it was a "fabulous experience" and very exciting with the "press and all of the telegrams and flowers Dallas received."

The 18-year-old University of Nebraska freshman has won so many honors it's difficult to keep track of them but Mrs. Hunt said she believes the new title of Miss Rodeo America is the ninth queenship Dallas has won in the fields which combine personality, appearance and horsemanship. She also was named homecoming queen at Lincoln High School from which she graduated last June.

The pretty brunette was to make her grand entry on horseback Tuesday night at the International Amphitheater in Chicago. Television and radio appearances are scheduled for later in the week before Dallas returns to Lincoln next Sunday.

More Honors

More honors were heaped on Nebraska's feminine population when Miss Shari Lewis of Daykin, also a University of Nebraska student, was named American Dairy Princess. She also represented Nebraska this year in the Miss Universe contest.

Nebraska has been more than well represented the past two years by its feminine residents who have walked off with top honors in many fields.

Mrs. Carl Dietemeyer was named Mrs. America last year and Miss Sharon Kay Ritchie of Grand Island, now Mrs. Don Cherry, was crowned Miss America for 1956. Sharon Kay represented Colorado in the contest when she was attending Colorado Women's College, but she's a native Nebraskan and former Lincolnite.

Omahan Reviews Stevenson Record

Phil Allen, member of the Democratic State Central committee, reviewed the gubernatorial and campaign record of Adlai Stevenson Tuesday evening at an open meeting of Volunteers for Stevenson and Kefauver.

Allen paraphrased the presidential candidate in stressing that Stevenson "is not the type of man to give half answers to hard problems."

Stevenson has the character to find "worrying solutions to the important questions," the Omahan said, "and this is not particularly a vote-getting trait, but it is a necessary characteristic of a good president."

Two Wheat Speakers Announced

ALLIANCE, Neb. — Two main speakers for the afternoon program at the State Wheat Show here Oct. 18, have been announced by Donald J. Lehr, secretary of the Nebraska Grain Improvement Association.

McClain

They are Marvin L. McClain, assistant secretary of the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) and Kenneth R. Majors, extension grain utilization specialist in the USDA.

McClain will speak on commodity credit and the soil bank while Majors has selected new uses for wheat as his topic.

Assistant Ag Aide

McLain was appointed assistant secretary of agriculture in 1956 after serving three years as director of the grain division of the USDA's Commodity Stabilization Service.

A 1928 graduate from Iowa State College, McLain operated a livestock farm in his home state and was on state and county agricultural administrative committees before joining the USDA.

McClain has served as a member of the 14-man National Advisory Committee appointed by President Eisenhower to advise the secretary of agriculture on agricultural policy and operational matters.

Majors

Majors, the other main speaker, is a member of the Federal Extension Service and is stationed at the Northern Utilization Branch, Peoria, Ill. This branch conducts both laboratory and pilot plan research to develop new or improved uses for cereal grains, soybeans, flaxseed, certain forages and agricultural residues such as corncobs, wheat straw, and sugarcane bagrasse.

A native of Nebraska, Majors was graduated from the University of Nebraska in 1932. He received a masters degree in chemistry from the University of Illinois.

State Oil Drilling Increased 5-Fold In Past Five Years

KANSAS CITY, Mo.—Oil drilling in western Nebraska has increased five-fold over the past five years, the October Monthly Review of the Federal Reserve Bank of Kansas City reports.

The article also noted that Colorado operators completed more than 1,500 wells last year—15 times the number drilled in 1950—while Wyoming recorded a 50 per cent gain in five years, and Northwestern New Mexico recorded a marked increase in drilling activity.

This growth of the oil industry in the western region of the Tenth Federal Reserve District, the Review states, is due to the development of an extensive pipeline system.

As markets for crude oil warranted construction of new pipelines to tap established fields, the article notes, the new outlets in turn encouraged further search for producing areas.

Iowan Will Head World War I Vets

FALLS CITY, Neb. (AP) — Harry Frankel of Des Moines has been named president of the 109th Engineers' Assn., a World War I organization.

The 1957 meeting was assigned to Des Moines.

Frankel succeeds Paul Knickerbocker of Shubert, Neb. B. L. Yoder of Falls City was named vice president at the meeting and P. A. Ziehlke of Des Moines was named secretary-treasurer.

Flight To Peiping

KARACHI (AP) — Pakistan's Prime Minister Husseyn Shaheed Suhrawardy flies to Peiping Oct. 16 for a 12-day state visit in Red China.

YOU MAY HAVE PIN-WORMS AND NOT KNOW IT!

Fidgeting, nose-picking and a tormenting rectal itch are often telltale signs of Pin-Worms . . . ugly parasites that medical experts say infest one out of every three persons examined. Entire families may be victims and not know it.

To get rid of Pin-Worms, these pests must not only be killed, but killed in the large intestine where they live and multiply. That's exactly what Jayne's P-W tablets do . . . and here's how they do it:

First—a scientific coating carries the tablets into the bowels before they dissolve. Then—Jayne's modern, medically-approved ingredient goes right to work—kills Pin-Worms quickly and easily.

Don't take chances with this dangerous, highly contagious condition. At the first sign of Pin-Worms, ask your druggist for genuine Jayne's P-W Vermifuge . . . the small, easy-to-take tablets perfected by famous Dr. D. Jayne & Son, specialists in worm remedies for over 100 years.

Court Ruling Brings Flurry In Fight Over Ton-Mile Tax Proposal For State

The fight over the controversial ton-mile tax proposal flurried sharply following the District Court decision to put the measure before the voters on Nov. 6.

George Spidel, president of the Nebraska Producers and Consumers Committee, opposed the judicial ruling, handed down by Lancaster District Judge Harry Spencer, as revealing ". . .a dangerous weakness in our legal processes."

"It means," he explained, "that a powerful group, with an ax to grind, can dump any number of phony petitions into the lap of the Secretary of State, and deny to any and all citizens the right to raise the issue of irregularities and misrepresentations in the circulation and signing of petitions."

C. E. Beals, secretary for the Committee for Better Roads Through Fair Taxation (sponsor of the proposal), replied:

"The national trucking syndicates," Beals contested, "have issued an utterly ridiculous statement concerning their press releases."

Beals said that "the plain fact" is that the big trucking companies have "resorted to every legal stratagem" to keep the proposal from a vote by the people of the state.

'Five Organizations'

Spidel said that he was not speaking for the Trucking Syndicate, but he was acting ". . .on behalf of the Producers and Consumers Committee. . which includes representatives from five state-wide organizations as well as representatives from various other industries and businesses."

The proponents of the ton-mile tax law, he further asserted, had, by a legal technicality, ". . . blocked us from showing to the court, the thousands of errors contained in the petitions; the selfish motives and methods used in securing the signatures, and the fact that this proposed law was not initiated by the people of Nebraska."

I have no quarrel with the 2,300 circulators of the petitions, he continued, but merely point out that in Omaha, 98 per cent of them were railroad people and that ". . . this strange preponderance of workers in one industry indicates that that industry is trying to write a law for Nebraska."

'Personally Know Some'

"I personally know some of the railway employees who circulated petitions on instructions from higher up and have had evidence of their humiliation and embarrassment at the pressure employed to goad them into action." This state of affairs, he said, "smells of impropriety and bears evidence of being a contrived campaign rather than one of volunteers."

Beals stated that it would do no good to try to insult the 2,300 good Nebraskans who circulated the petitions. "None of these circulators," he explained, "was paid a dime for the time they spent. . .they did it as good citizens . . . their number included representatives of all walks of life."

Never in Nebraska history, Beals said, was there a ". . .more genuine people's effort than in this case of circulation of ton-mile petitions."

Beals charged that the trucking interests are "desperately seeking to cloud the issue by using every type of name calling. They have done everything but talk about the facts and issues."

"Over half of the highway boxcars in Nebraska," Beals contended, "are owned by non-resident trucking syndicates and they are using our highways for a free ride. When all the name-calling is finished, the truth will out."

Camp Charges Railroad Interest In Ton-Mile Tax

Bernie Camp, information director for the Nebraska Farm Bureau Federation, said Tuesday that the railroads appear to have a vital interest in the proposed ton-mile tax for heavy trucks and buses.

Of those who circulated the petitions to put the tax on the Nov. 6 ballot, he said, 80 to 85 per cent of the circulators in some communities were railroad employees.

A check of records in Lancaster County, he continued, revealed that 208 of 281 circulators were Burlington Railroad employees. Of 1,038 circulators in Douglas County, he said, 95 per cent were railroad employees.

Writing in Legislative Sidelines, a bulletin published by Farm Bureau personnel, Camp asks why railroads should be so concerned in a highway issue.

Railroad officials have denied "as they should be expected to do," Camp said, that they organized the petition drive "to increase truck rates."

However, he said, regardless of railroad response, one fact stands out: "Whoever is responsible, the weight - distance law proposal, innocently or otherwise, seeks to add to the cost of living of every Nebraska farmer and consumer."

State Has 33 September Traffic Deaths

The month of September this year saw Nebraska record 33 traffic deaths, the same number as occurred in 1955.

The Nebraska Safety Patrol said 19 of the September deaths happened on county roads and city streets, and 14 were on state highways.

A breakdown on traffic deaths for the first nine months of this year as compared with the same period last year reveals:

	1956	1955
Fatal accidents	187	203
Traffic deaths	226	232
Two-car accident deaths	98	90
One-car accident deaths	80	82
Pedestrians	26	30
Railroad crossing deaths	16	19
Farm tractor deaths	5	9
Bicycle deaths	1	2
Highway deaths	116	122
County road deaths	65	69
City street deaths	45	41
Night time deaths	109	104
Day time deaths	117	128

200 FFA Youths To Attend National Meet

More than 200 members of the Nebraska Association of Future Farmers of America will travel to Kansas City next week for the 29th annual national FFA convention.

The national convention, which opens next Monday, and closes the following Thursday, is expected to attract 10,000 FFA members from all sections of the United States, Hawaii, and Puerto Rico.

The Nebraska delegation will be led by Kenneth Serres, Harrison, state FFA president, and Harold Johnson, Elkhorn, state secretary, who will serve as the state's "official delegates." Two delegates from each state form the convention's voting body Leland Settgast of Columbus, state FFA vice president, is listed as an alternate delegate.

Seek High Award

Six of the Nebraska farm boys expect to receive the American Farmer Degree, highest degree of achievement offered by the FFA. It is given for outstanding achievement in farming and rural leadership. Each American Farmer receives a gold key, certificate, and a $100 check from the National FFA Foundation.

The Nebraska candidates already approved by the National FFA Board of Student Officers and Board of Directors are. Gene M. Atwood, Albion; Ronald E. Damkroger, DeWitt; Charles F. Lewis, Harrison; Rodney A. Sindt, Naponee; Gordon N. Soneson, Holdrege; and Laurence Ulmer, Grafton.

Ten state Future Farmers will participate in the FFA's National Band and National Chorus. Duane Anders, Bloomfield; David Malena, Clarkson, Larry Weitzenkamp, West Point; and Bernard Kroeze, Tecumseh, will play in the 120-piece national band. Roger Doane, Mason City, James Jorgensen, Elkhorn; Roger Dey, York; Dean Spilker, DeWitt; and Don Miles, Oconto, will sing with the national chorus

Enter Chapter Contest

Harrison and Wisner FFA chapters have entries in the National Chapter Contest, and will send representatives to Kansas City to hear the results of their effort.

Dale Groskurth, Pender, the 1956 Star State Farmer, will carry the Nebraska state flag in a program Tuesday night featuring presentation of the 1956 Star Farmer of America awards.

In addition to the boys who have official parts in the convention program, many of the Nebraska vocational agriculture students will attend just to view the proceedings Harold F. Duis, state director of agricultural education in Lincoln, said he had received information from vocational agriculture instructors over the state indicating that Nebraska attendance at the convention will total about 200, with 35 local chapters being represented.

Mullen To Hold Fall Education Meeting

Residents of Mullen, one of the four towns participating in the Nebraska Community Education Project, will hold their first fall "round-up" Thursday to review the year's activities and plan projects for the coming year

Consultants for the afternoon and evening meetings will be Elmer Neujahr of Syracuse, Dr Earl Rogers, state health director, Emiel Christensen of Columbus, University of Nebraska professor of architecture, Dr Dudley Ashton, chairman of the University department of physical education for women; Dr. Otto Hoiberg, coordinator of community services for the University Extension Division; Dr Norman Thorpe, principal of University High School and Harold Eason of North Platte, division engineer for the State Department of Roads and Irrigation

Also taking part will be Dr William Vincent, executive officer of the Citizenship Education Project of Teachers College, Columbia University; Dr Earle Wiltse, superintendent of schools at Grand Island, and Charles Neidt, chairman of the University department of educational psychology and measurements They are members of the project evaluation team

Speakers for the "round-up" will be Dr. Walter Beggs, project director; Dr Dale K. Hayes, assistant director, and Dr. Hoiberg

State Institutions Get New Accounts System

Accountants and business managers from the 17 state institutions under the state Board of Control met at the Statehouse Tuesday for a briefing on a new centralized accounting system being put into effect by the board.

Automatic business machines are being placed in use to process payrolls. This takes over some work formerly done at the institutions themselves, board sources said.

Local AIEE Members To Hear Talk In Omaha

Lincoln members of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers will travel to Omaha Thursday to hear a talk on cables and cable splicing by a Chicago engineer.

Dr. William S. Brown of the G. & W. Electric Specialty Company, Chicago, will address the Nebraska section of the AIEE at a dinner meeting to be held at the Rome Hotel. He will discuss the engineering problems of cabling in an illustrated lecture

Chairman of the Nebraska section is E. J. Ballard Jr. of Lincoln. Lincoln men who are directors-at-large are P. T. Baird and A. R. Edison.

Some Prank

TORONTO, Ont. (AP) — An excited motorist told police he almost ran over a blood-covered body on a road near a wrecked bicycle but couldn't stop because his wife fainted.

At the scene police found a dummy smeared with ketchup

Some children nearby admitted they staged a prank to see how motorists would react.

Theater Agency Files

Romeo-Hammond Productions, Inc, an Omaha firm formed "to conduct a theatrical, vaudeville, musical show, entertainment booking agency," filed articles of incorporation Tuesday with the Secretary of State. Incorporators are Joseph J. Vinardi and Malcolm D Young, both of Omaha, and authorized capitalization is $20,000.

Two Wheat Speakers Announced

ALLIANCE, Neb. — Two main speakers for the afternoon program at the State Wheat Show here Oct. 18, have been announced by Donald J. Lehr, secretary of the Nebraska Grain Improvement Association.

McClain

They are Marvin L. McClain, assistant secretary of the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) and Kenneth R. Majors, extension grain utilization specialist in the USDA.

McClain will speak on commodity credit and the soil bank while Majors has selected new uses for wheat as his topic.

Assistant Ag Aide

McLain was appointed assistant secretary of agriculture in 1956 after serving three years as director of the grain division of the USDA's Commodity Stabilization Service.

A 1928 graduate from Iowa State College, McLain operated a livestock farm in his home state and was on state and county agricultural administrative committees before joining the USDA.

McClain has served as a member of the 14-man National Advisory Committee appointed by President Eisenhower to advise the secretary of agriculture on agricultural policy and operational matters.

Majors

Majors, the other main speaker, is a member of the Federal Extension Service and is stationed at the Northern Utilization Branch, Peoria, Ill. This branch conducts both laboratory and pilot plan research to develop new or improved uses for cereal grains, soybeans, flaxseed, certain forages and agricultural residues such as corncobs, wheat straw, and sugarcane bagrasse.

A native of Nebraska, Majors was graduated from the University of Nebraska in 1932. He received a masters degree in chemistry from the University of Illinois.

State Oil Drilling Increased 5-Fold In Past Five Years

KANSAS CITY, Mo.—Oil drilling in western Nebraska has increased five-fold over the past five years, the October Monthly Review of the Federal Reserve Bank of Kansas City reports.

The article also noted that Colorado operators completed more than 1,500 wells last year—15 times the number drilled in 1950—while Wyoming recorded a 50 per cent gain in five years, and Northwestern New Mexico recorded a marked increase in drilling activity.

This growth of the oil industry in the western region of the Tenth Federal Reserve District, the Review states, is due to the development of an extensive pipeline system.

As markets for crude oil warranted construction of new pipelines to tap established fields, the article notes, the new outlets in turn encouraged further search for producing areas.

YOU MAY HAVE PIN-WORMS AND NOT KNOW IT!

Fidgeting, nose-picking and a tormenting rectal itch are often telltale signs of Pin-Worms ... ugly parasites that medical experts say infest one out of every three persons examined. Entire families may be victims and not know it.

To get rid of Pin-Worms, these pests must not only be killed, but killed in the large intestine where they live and multiply. That's exactly what Jayne's P-W tablets do ... and here's how they do it:

First—a scientific coating carries the tablets into the bowels before they dissolve. Then—Jayne's modern, medically-approved ingredient goes right to work—kills Pin-Worms quickly and easily.

Don't take chances with this dangerous, highly contagious condition. At the first sign of Pin-Worms, ask your druggist for genuine Jayne's P-W Vermifuge ... the small, easy-to-take tablets perfected by famous Dr. D. Jayne & Son, specialists in worm remedies for over 100 years.

Grange Told Farm Decline 'Ruining Nation'; Filley Opposes Ton-Mile Tax

By BILL DOBLER
Star Staff Writer

National Grange Master Herschel D. Newsom charged in an address in Lincoln before the annual convention of the Nebraska Grange that a declining farm economy is again close to ruining the national economy and that neither political party has yet offered a workable solution to the problem.

The soil bank program, he said, "is another good example of chasing the rabbit around the mulberry bush."

The soil bank, he said, merely shifts the farm problem from one commodity to another While wheat production may be cut and with the soil bank, Newsome said, prices helped on that product it just means increased production of other grains and more problems

The national master called for a free working market which could absorb the nation s farm output

There is no overall plan which can be applied generally to all farm problems, he said The Grange is working for specific programs on each individual commodity, he said.

If markets could be expanded only slightly, he said, there would be no problem

"Why should we," he asked Grange members, "be content with 13th place among nations in per capita consumption of dairy products? And we are only fifth in per capita consumption of red meat."

On wheat, Newsom explained, the Grange favors a "wheat certificate" program such as the one in the farm bill vetoed by President Eisenhower

This program gives farmers certificates on that part of their wheat production to be consumed locally. The value of the certificate equals the difference between the pre-determined market price and support price of wheat

'Doesn't Hamper Markets'

This, he explained, does not put wheat land into production of other feed grains nor does it hamper markets through direct government purchasing of the crop

The approximate 200 persons attending the Grange meeting heard State Master H Clyde Filley of Lincoln outline accomplishments of the organization during the past year and present a program for future work

Filley spoke in opposition to a ton mile tax and in favor of a state sales tax The present property tax is "antiquated and inequitable," he said.

Farmers in the western part of the Great Plains, he said, are in a "serious situation" due to the drought of the past three years Grain yields have been low, he said, and pastures are in poor condition

Favors Tax Commission

Touching a variety of subjects, the state master urged adoption of a proposal on the November ballot to replace the state tax commissioner with a three-member tax commission with broader authority.

He spoke in favor of school redistricting but urged farm families to "be alert to the situation and sponsor and attend educational conferences in order to reduce the danger of having an unsatisfactory program forced upon them by legislative enactment "

He cited examples of increased government spending and called for curtailment of foreign spending and a return to the gold standard.

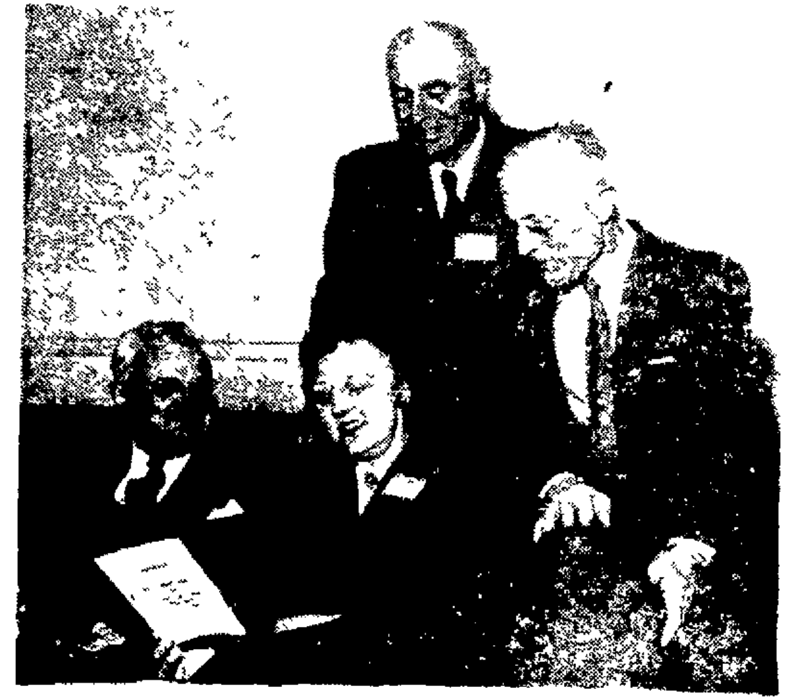
Urges Bricker Amendment

Filley also urged adoption of the Bricker amendment to limit the treaty making powers of the president.

Tuesday evening's sessions were devoted to memorial services and conferring of degrees Mrs. Charles Warner reported earlier on Juvenile Granges

New officers are to be elected Wednesday, the final meeting day. The main Wednesday will be given at noon by Dr. Leland Forrest, chancellor of Nebraska Wesleyan University who will speak on "Education for Better Living "

Youth sessions will be held Wednesday afternoon.



Officials Attend Grange Meeting

Reds Rebuffed

HELSINKI, Finland (P)—Finnish voters rebuffed the Communists in weekend municipal elections, unofficial figures disclosed The Reds were the only real losers.

Non-Socialist parties made their first advances in more than two decades. The Socialists gained a bit.

Agrarians appeared the biggest winners in the two-day elections, which did not affect the composition of the Finnish Parliament.

Five Buried

WALSALL WOOD, England (P)—A cave-in at a coal colliery here buried five miners.

One man was brought up alive after three hours of digging but dim hope was held out for the other four.

200 FFA Youths To Attend National Meet

More than 200 members of the Nebraska Association of Future Farmers of America will travel to Kansas City next week for the 29th annual national FFA convention.

The national convention, which opens next Monday, and closes the following Thursday, is expected to attract 10,000 FFA members from all sections of the United States, Hawaii, and Puerto Rico.

The Nebraska delegation will be led by Kenneth Serres, Harrison, state FFA president, and Harold Johnson, Elkhorn, state secretary, who will serve as the state's "official delegates." Two delegates from each state form the convention's voting body. Leland Settgast of Columbus, state FFA vice president, is listed as an alternate delegate.

Seek High Award

Six of the Nebraska farm boys expect to receive the American Farmer Degree, highest degree of achievement offered by the FFA. It is given for outstanding achievement in farming and rural leadership. Each American Farmer receives a gold key, certificate, and a $100 check from the National FFA Foundation.

The Nebraska candidates already approved by the National FFA Board of Student Officers and Board of Directors are: Gene M. Atwood, Albion; Ronald E. Damkroger, DeWitt; Charles F. Lewis, Harrison; Rodney A. Sindt, Naponee; Gordon N. Soneson, Holdrege; and Laurence Ulmer, Grafton.

Ten state Future Farmers will participate in the FFA's National Band and National Chorus. Duane Anders, Bloomfield; David Malena, Clarkson; Larry Weitzenkamp, West Point; and Bernard Kroeze, Tecumseh, will play in the 120-piece national band. Roger Doane, Mason City; James Jorgensen, Elkhorn; Roger Dey, York; Dean Spilker, DeWitt; and Don Miles, Oconto, will sing with the national chorus.

Enter Chapter Contest

Harrison and Wisner FFA chapters have entries in the National Chapter Contest, and will send representatives to Kansas City to hear the results of their effort.

Dale Groskurth, Pender, the 1956 Star State Farmer, will carry the Nebraska state flag in a program Tuesday night featuring presentation of the 1956 Star Farmer of America awards.

In addition to the boys who have official parts in the convention program, many of the Nebraska vocational agriculture students will attend just to view the proceedings. Harold F. Duis, state director of agricultural education in Lincoln, said he had received information from vocational agriculture instructors over the state indicating that Nebraska attendance at the convention will total about 200, with 35 local chapters being represented.

Mullen To Hold Fall Education Meeting

Residents of Mullen, one of the four towns participating in the Nebraska Community Education Project, will hold their first fall "round-up" Thursday to review the year's activities and plan projects for the coming year.

Consultants for the afternoon and evening meetings will be: Elmer Neujahr of Syracuse; Dr. Earl Rogers, state health director; Emiel Christensen of Columbus, University of Nebraska professor of architecture; Dr. Dudley Ashton, chairman of the University department of physical education for women; Dr. Otto Hoiberg, coordinator of community services for the University Extension Division; Dr. Norman Thorpe, principal of University High School and Harold Eason of North Platte, division engineer for the State Department of Roads and Irrigation.

Also taking part will be Dr. William Vincent, executive officer of the Citizenship Education Project of Teachers College, Columbia University; Dr. Earle Wiltse, superintendent of schools at Grand Island, and Charles Neidt, chairman of the University department of educational psychology and measurements. They are members of the project evaluation team.

Speakers for the "round-up" will be Dr. Walter Beggs, project director; Dr. Dale K. Hayes, assistant director, and Dr. Hoiberg.

State Institutions Get New Accounts System

Accountants and business managers from the 17 state institutions under the state Board of Control met at the Statehouse Tuesday for a briefing on a new centralized accounting system being put into effect by the board.

Automatic business machines are being placed in use to process payrolls. This takes over some work formerly done at the institutions themselves, board sources said.

Local AIEE Members To Hear Talk In Omaha

Lincoln members of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers will travel to Omaha Thursday to hear a talk on cables and cable splicing by a Chicago engineer.

Dr. William S. Brown of the G. & W. Electric Specialty Company, Chicago, will address the Nebraska section of the AIEE at a dinner meeting to be held at the Rome Hotel. He will discuss the engineering problems of cabling in an illustrated lecture.

Chairman of the Nebraska section is E. J. Ballard Jr. of Lincoln. Lincoln men who are directors-at-large are P. T. Baird and A. R. Edison.

Some Prank

TORONTO, Ont. (AP) — An excited motorist told police he almost ran over a blood-covered body on a road near a wrecked bicycle but couldn't stop because his wife fainted.

At the scene police found a dummy smeared with ketchup.

Some children nearby admitted they staged a prank to see how motorists would react.

Theater Agency Files

Romeo-Hammond Productions, Inc., an Omaha firm formed "to conduct a theatrical, vaudeville, musical show, entertainment booking agency," filed articles of incorporation Tuesday with the Secretary of State. Incorporators are Joseph J. Vinardi and Malcolm D. Young, both of Omaha, and authorized capitalization is $20,000.

Two Key Witnesses Refuse To Talk On Hodge Scandal

CHICAGO (AP)— Two key witnesses refused to testify Tuesday before a U.S. Senate committee digging into the 1½ million dollar Hodge scandal.

One is Edward A. Hintz, Chicago banker who was sent to prison for cashing phony state checks for former state auditor Orville E. Hodge.

The other is Edward A. Epping, onetime officer manager for Hodge, who has described himself as only a messenger boy for his former boss.

Hintz was told that contempt action will be taken against him. But none was contemplated against Epping.

Hintz, who is serving a three-year term for conspiracy in the Hodge case, appeared before the Committee. But he declined to answer questions while TV, still and motion picture cameras and recording machines were operating in the hearing room in the U.S. courthouse.

Sen. Fulbright (D-Ark.), committee chairman, said he would make one concession—order the live TV camera to steer clear of Hintz. He made the same arrangement earlier for Hodge.

Hintz, who was president of the Southmoor Bank & Trust Co. where Hodge cashed forged checks, still declined to stand and be sworn because, he said, "of present circumstances."

Epping, who is serving a five-year term for conspiracy in the Hodge case, objected through his attorney to being photographed for either live or filmed telecasts.

Objection

Hugh Dobbs, Epping's attorney, raised the objection when Sen. Fulbright asked Epping if he ever had carried any fraudulent state checks to the Southmoor Bank in Chicago.

Dobbs said 44 indictments in the Hodge case still are pending in Sangamon County (Springfield) against Epping, and added that each involves checks brought to the Southmoor Bank.

"He is declining to testify now under the Fifth Amendment and because of the pending indictments," Dobbs said.

The attorney said he had no objections to any questions not involving the Southmoor Bank.

Chairman Fulbright then recessed the hearing until Wednesday morning.

Lying

Earlier Sen. Fulbright had accused Hodge of lying to the committee.

Hodge, a Republican politician who is serving a 12 to 15 year sentence for embezzling an estimated 1½ million in public funds, traded hot words with the Democratic Senator. The exchange came while Fulbright was pressing an effort to find out what Hodge did with the stolen cash.

Hodge's testimony included statements that:

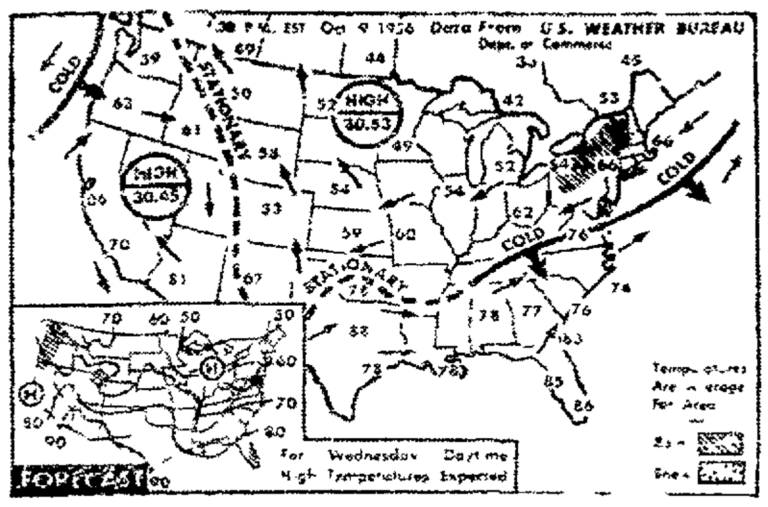
His campaigns for the Republican nomination as state auditor in the 1952 spring primary and for election to that office in the fall of that year cost about $200,000. But, he said, none of it was stolen money.

He didn't share the embezzled cash with anybody.

He wasn't covering up for anyone.

He was not a target for blackmailers or extortionists.

He neither reported nor paid federal income taxes on the state cash he pocketed.



Clear Skies Forecast For Most Of U.S.

Skies will be clear over most of the U.S. Wednesday except for light rain in the northwest Pacific coast. Cold weather will dominate lower Michigan and New England states. It will be cool in Texas and mid-Atlantic coast, warmer in the Plains and northern Mississippi Valley, with little change elsewhere. (AP Wirephoto Map)

'No Explanation' For Margaret Sullivan's Act

... Of Disappearing

NEW YORK (INS) — Broadway and television could find no answer or explanation Tuesday for the "incredible" disappearance of temperamental actress Margaret Sullivan.

Her failure to show up Monday pulled the rug from under the old tradition "the show must go on" and forced last minute cancellation of CBS TV's live play "The Pilot."

Twenty-four hours later neither the 47-year-old actress, her fourth husband Kenneth A. Wagg nor her agent could be found.

Wagg has said only that the screen and stage star was suffering from "strain" and had entered a hospital for treatment.

He added "I would prefer not to say where she is."

Hubbel Robinson Jr., CBS vice president in charge of TV programs, said:

"This is the strangest thing I've ever heard of in my life. She loved the play and did it because she liked the script. Her failure to appear has to be something weird. She is a real professional and a very responsible craftsman."

'Drought Major Farm Problem,' Northeast Nebraskans Told

HARTINGTON, Neb. — Rep. Harrison (R-Neb.) told northeast Nebraskans Tuesday that unrest in the farm states won't make it rain.

And drought is a major farm problem now, he said.

Speaking at a street meeting in Hartington as the Republican campaign caravan rumbled through Harrison's agricultural Third District, Harrison made a bid for continued support of the Republican administration and for himself on the basis of constructive programs.

Harrison said no one program is a complete solution to the farm program but declared the soil bank has brought 20 million dollars to Third District farmers.

Foreign Market Aid

He said the most important problem is disposal of surpluses and the foreign market is the best place to dispose of them. During the last two years he said this nation has sold two billion dollars worth of farm surpluses to foreign countries.

Sen. Hruska, who also spoke during the brief street meeting, declared Republicans are running on their record and Democratic claims that the prosperity is phony are "not true."

"Today we have the largest number of workers employed, higher wages and fewer strikes and labor disputes then ever before," he said, and that he termed "real prosperity."

Hruska accused the Democrats of promising everything for everybody and at the same time declaring they will reduce taxes.

Hits Christmas Remark

He also jibed at a recent statement attributed to vice presidential candidate Estes Kefauver that this will be the nation's most expensive Christmas.

Hruska said the Christmases of 1950, 1951 and 1952 when the Korean War casualty lists were coming in were far more expensive.

Harrison and Hruska were the only speakers, but state chairman Dick Spelts introduced other Republican candidates and party officials. Gov. Victor Anderson had to leave the caravan Tuesday morning to fill an engagement in Hastings.

Other stops Tuesday were at Bloomfield, Creighton, Neligh, Pierce, Ponca and Wayne. Wednesday the group will visit Stanton, Norfolk, Madison, Newman Grove, Albion, Fullerton and Central City.

Railway Express Office At Antioch Dropped

Approval has been given the Railway Express Agency for discontinuing its office at Antioch in action by the State Railway Commission.

Also granted was approval by Nebraska City Utilities for discontinuance of service to Burr and to farm customers along a line four miles north of Burr.

Grange Told Farm Decline 'Ruining Nation'; Filley Opposes Ton-Mile Tax

By BILL DOBLER
Star Staff Writer

National Grange Master Herschel D. Newsom charged in an address in Lincoln before the annual convention of the Nebraska Grange that a declining farm economy is again close to ruining the national economy and that neither political party has yet offered a workable solution to the problem.

The soil bank program, he said, "is another good example of chasing the rabbit around the mulberry bush."

The soil bank, he said, merely shifts the farm problem from one commodity to another. While wheat production may be cut and with the soil bank, Newsome said, prices helped on that product it just means increased production of other grains and more problems.

The national master called for a free working market which could absorb the nation's farm output.

There is no overall plan which can be applied generally to all farm problems, he said. The Grange is working for specific programs on each individual commodity, he said.

If markets could be expanded only slightly, he said, there would be no problem.

"Why should we," he asked Grange members, "be content with 13th place among nations in per capita consumption of dairy products? And we are only fifth in per capita consumption of red meat."

On wheat, Newsom explained, the Grange favors a "wheat certificate" program such as the one in the farm bill vetoed by President Eisenhower.

This program gives farmers certificates on that part of their wheat production to be consumed locally. The value of the certificate equals the difference between the pre-determined market price and support price of wheat.

'Doesn't Hamper Markets'

This, he explained, does not put wheat land into production of other feed grains nor does it hamper markets through direct government purchasing of the crop.

The approximate 200 persons attending the Grange meeting heard State Master H. Clyde Filley of Lincoln outline accomplishments of the organization during the past year and present a program for future work.

Filley spoke in opposition to a ton mile tax and in favor of a state sales tax. The present property tax is "antiquated and inequitable," he said.

Farmers in the western part of the Great Plains, he said, are in a "serious situation" due to the drought of the past three years. Grain yields have been low, he said, and pastures are in poor condition.

Favors Tax Commission

Touching a variety of subjects, the state master urged adoption of a proposal on the November ballot to replace the state tax commissioner with a three-member tax commission with broader authority.

He spoke in favor of school redistricting but urged farm families to "be alert to the situation and sponsor and attend educational conferences in order to reduce the danger of having an unsatisfactory program forced upon them by legislative enactment."

He cited examples of increased government spending and called for curtailment of foreign spending and a return to the gold standard.

Urges Bricker Amendment

Filley also urged adoption of the Bricker amendment to limit the treaty making powers of the president.

Tuesday evening's sessions were devoted to memorial services and conferring of degrees. Mrs. Charles Warner reported earlier on Juvenile Granges.

New officers are to be elected Wednesday, the final meeting day. The main Wednesday will be given at noon by Dr. Leland Forrest, chancellor of Nebraska Wesleyan University who will speak on "Education for Better Living."

Youth sessions will be held Wednesday afternoon.

Officials Attend Grange Meeting

Rites To Be Friday For Mrs. Ridpath

Funeral services for Mrs. Nellie M. Ridpath, 50, of 640 No. 27th, will be 1:30 p.m. Friday at Umbergers. The Rev. Raymond Alber will officiate. Burial will be in Lincoln Memorial Park.

Mrs. Ridpath died Tuesday. Born in Lincoln, she had lived here all her life. She had been employed by the Nebraska Salesbook Co., for eight years, and was a member of the East Lincoln Christian Church.

Surviving are her husband, Mike Ridpath; sons, Donald E. Bykerk of Lincoln and Lee W. Bykerk of Ft. Collins, Colo.; stepson, James S. Ridpath of Philadelphia, Pa.; stepdaughter, Mrs. Lucile Hotchkiss of Lincoln; sister, Mrs. Merlin Maxwell of Lincoln; brother, Floyd Grant of Denver; and eight grandchildren.

Reds Rebuffed

HELSINKI, Finland (AP)—Finnish voters rebuffed the Communists in weekend municipal elections, unofficial figures disclosed. The Reds were the only real losers.

Non-Socialist parties made their first advances in more than two decades. The Socialists gained a bit.

Agrarians appeared the biggest winners in the two-day elections, which did not affect the composition of the Finnish Parliament.

Five Buried

WALSALL WOOD, England (AP)—A cave-in at a coal colliery here buried five miners.

One man was brought up alive after three hours of digging but dim hope was held out for the other four.

X2 Topped 1,900 MPH Before Crash---Air Boss

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP) — The X2 experimental rocket plane was reported Tuesday to have set a speed record just before it crashed on a test flight Sept. 27.

Secretary of the Air Force Quarles, noting that the pilot, Capt. Milburn G. Apt, was killed on the flight, said that "instrument records that were preserved" showed that Apt, "shortly before his death, was flying faster than any other human being has been known to fly."

Quarles made his disclosure in a speech prepared for delivery to the National Guard Assn.

Speed Not Told

Following current defense policies, Quarles did not report the precise speed recorded by the experimental plane in its last flight. Authoritative but officially unconfirmed published reports credited the same X2 plane with some 1,900 m.p.h. and reaching an altitude of 126,000 feet in a test flight last July.

The Air Force has withheld information about the cause of the X2 crash pending completion of an investigation.

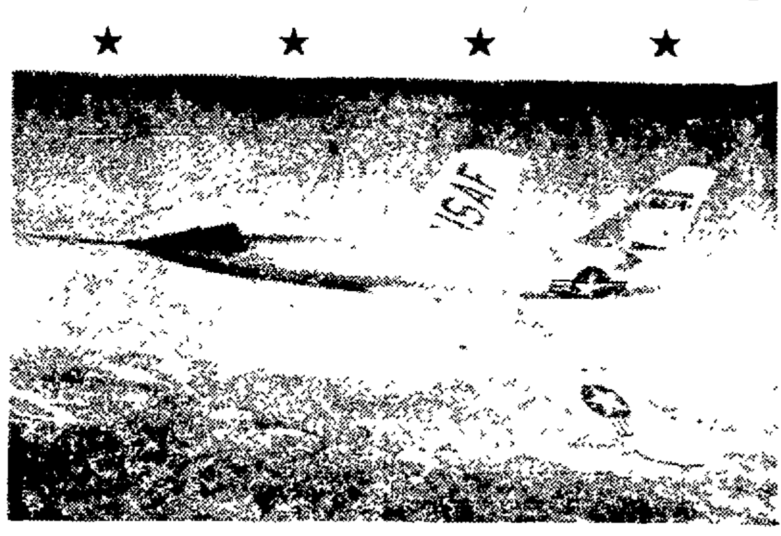
In his speech, Quarles said that "constant readiness for decisive action in global war is the one kind of preparedness that cannot be sacrificed at any price so global war must have first priority in our plans."

Quarles said it "seems logical if we have the strength required for global war that we could certainly handle any threat of lesser magnitude."

He added the caution, however, that the very fact that total war has been deterred has also "served to spotlight the threat of localized or peripheral conflicts."

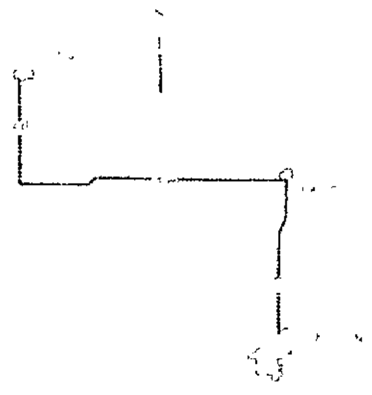
The Air Force head said the planning to meet all types of threats has involved military men "in much soul-searching," with the result that there have been published reports of interservice conflicts.

Quarles conceded there were differences among the service planners but he described them as "differences among sincere men trying to decide what is best for the nation."



ROCKET PLANE IN FLIGHT

BEST ROUTE TO COLUMBUS



The State Highway Department has advised drivers going to Columbus Thursday and Friday for the National Cornpicking Contest to take the above route if driving in from the east or southeast. This route will avoid Hwy. 15 north of Seward which the department says is under construction and extremely dusty which makes for hazardous driving.

West O-Base Road Project To Provide Safer Intersection

State Engineer L. N. Ress said that the construction currently underway on the intersection between the south Air Base road and West O is designed to provide "a lot safer intersection than what's there now."

O. W. Johnson, assistant construction engineer for the highway department, said plans call for widening the north side of West O to provide a 200-foot approach to the air base road.

In addition to this the air base road will be widened from its present 22 feet to a three lane highway divided by two islands. The increased width will extend 800 feet north with the widest part at the intersection.

The east lane will be for traffic headed into the base, the center lane for traffic leaving the base to make a left turn on to O toward Lincoln and the west lane will be for those leaving the base who will turn west on to O away from Lincoln.

A traffic control system will be installed at the intersection. Present plans call for the system to operate only during the rush hours in late afternoon when heavy traffic leaves the air base.

Roberts Construction Co. of Lincoln, which was awarded the $18,241 contract, began construction Sept. 17 and the work is to be completed Oct. 27. No detour is anticipated while the road is under construction.

Ress said it is hoped traffic will flow more easily and safely in and out of the air base as a result of the construction.

Dust-Proofing For County Road Near Air Base Sought

Dust-proofing for a Lancaster County access road to the north entrance of the Lincoln Air Force Base was sought Tuesday by four farm families.

The graveled road runs from the base's north entrance though Woodlawn to Highway 2, according to County Engineer L. W. Weaver.

He said the road was the "heaviest traveled in the county" because of air base and construction work traffic.

"Oil would not hold up under the traffic," Weaver said. "The only solution to the dust problem is paving."

Lawrence Frost of Rt. 2, who lies near the road, said the "dust from the traffic is choking livestock and affecting the crops."

Weaver estimated paving for the 1½-mile stretch would cost $40,000, if federal secondary aid funds could be secured.

Illegal Operations May Get New Law

Illegal operations of foreign corporations from outside Nebraska may result in legislation to "put teeth" into the state's laws dealing with corporations.

Roland Luedtke, deputy secretary of state, said his office has been aware of the problem of corporations doing business in Nebraska without a license or payment of occupation taxes.

Democratic gubernatorial candidate Frank Sorrell said Monday in a prepared speech to Democratic rally at Alma that Gov. Victor Anderson, his Republican opponent, should make a "full disclosure" of the number of such foreign corporations doing business in Nebraska illegally.

Luedtke said the Secretary of State's office, not the governor's office, is concerned with operations of the foreign corporations. But he said he agreed that "something should be done" about the situation.

Labor Support

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Republican and Democratic presidential candidates each got some labor union support.

Guy L. Brown, head of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and a supporter of Democrat Adlai Stevenson in 1952, came out for the re-election of President Eisenhower. This is an independent union.

On the other hand, the executive board of the Brotherhood of Firemen and Oilers (AFL-CIO), unanimously endorsed Stevenson.

TRAILER COURT PROTEST FAILS: PERMIT APPROVED

The Lancaster County Board approved a new trailer court permit Tuesday over opposition from Garfield School District 113.

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Gartner were issued a permit for a 30-stall court at 1845 West O. They now operate a court at 2401 West O.

Simultaneously, Commissioner Del Lienemann called for "city-county prosecution of trailer courts in the school district not properly zoned and operating without a permit."

'Over Capacity'

Henry Burt, District 113 board member, said the school was "over capacity" and "couldn't stand another trailer court and more children."

Pointing out her court has only nine children for 33 families, Mrs. Gartner charged that "families that have been turned away have gone to an unapproved court."

Lienemann told the board that there are four trailer courts unapproved because of zoning problems in the area.

The Board noted that Mrs. Gartner had obtained zoning and plan approval for the 1845 West O location, which was formerly an established trailer court.

Mrs. Gartner said plans were to operate the 2401 West O court and motel "as long as we can," but pointed out that business has been hurt by jets from the air base and the near-by drive-in theater.

Citizen Education Conference Set Saturday At NU

Representatives of seven Nebraska colleges, 13 public schools and the State Department of Education have been invited to participate in a special conference on citizenship education Saturday at the University of Nebraska.

Dr. William Vincent, executive officer of the Citizenship Education Project of Teachers College, Columbia University, will speak to the conference group and serve as a consultant in a discussion of new developments in citizenship education.

He is one of the four educators visiting the state this week to evaluate the Nebraska Community Education Project.

The conference will be held from 9 to 11 a.m. in Room 313 of the Student Union.

Colleges invited include: Nebraska Wesleyan University, Omaha University, Peru State Teachers College, Wayne State Teachers College, Hastings College, Midland College, and Doane College.

Public schools invited include: Ashland, Blair, Bruning, Hastings, Lincoln, Lyons, Nebraska City, Omaha Westside, Tecumseh, Valley, Wahoo, Wilber, and York.

Had $150 Suites Neither Got Bill

PITTSBURGH (AP)—President Eisenhower and former President Harry Truman each stayed in a $150-a-day suite at Penn-Sheraton Hotel Tuesday but neither had to pay.

The hotel management said it allowed Eisenhower to occupy the Presidential Suite and Truman the Mellon Suite free of charge as a courtesy.

Though both were in the same hotel, their paths did not cross.

Faculty Committee Members Chosen

University of Nebraska Faculty Senate members voted Tuesday on two members for the committee on academic privilege—a group charged with handling the investigation of the facts in the demotion of former U. of N. professor, C. Clyde Mitchell Jr.

Nominations submitted to the Faculty Senate were: David Dow, professor of law; Ralph L. Ireland, professor of pedodontics; J. Galen Saylor, professor of secondary education and Howard W. Deems, associate professor of vocational education.

Results of the election will be announced after ballots are counted by the faculty committee on committees.

The two new members selected will replace Prof. Julius Cohen, former chairman of the committee now on academic leave from the university, and Prof. Roscoe Hill, acting chairman. The committee terms of both men expired recently.

Further investigation of the Mitchell case awaits the election results and appointment of a new chairman of the committee. Professor Mitchell, who was removed as chairman of the agricultural economics department and has since resigned from the faculty, has asked the committee to consider what he termed abridgement of his academic freedom.

Services Wednesday For Mrs. Kate Dorn

BIG SPRINGS, Neb. (AP) — Funeral services will be held here Wednesday for Mrs. Kate Dorn, widow of the late Frank Dorn, a merchant in Big Springs for many years.

Mrs. Dorn died of a heart ailment in Minnesota Sunday while visiting relatives. She came to Big Springs in 1880.

Survivors include a son, Dayton, and two daughters, Frances and Vieva.

"IF YOU CAN FIND A BETTER BOURBON ...BUY IT"

Every drop of Ancient Age is distilled in one place ... in Frankfort, Kentucky. Of the three leading bourbons, Ancient Age is the only one that can claim this advantage. We never put anyone else's whiskey in our bottles ... it's all our own. And we make all of our whiskey only at the original distillery, right in the heart of the bourbon country. That's why the taste and flavor of this superb bourbon is always the same ... bottle after bottle, year after year. That's why Ancient Age is the fastest growing bourbon in America! Two Key Witnesses Refuse To Talk On Hodge Scandal

CHICAGO (AP)— Two key witnesses refused to testify Tuesday before a U.S. Senate committee digging into the 1½ million dollar Hodge scandal.

One is Edward A. Hintz, Chicago banker who was sent to prison for cashing phony state checks for former state auditor Orville E. Hodge.

The other is Edward A. Epping, onetime officer manager for Hodge, who has described himself as only a messenger boy for his former boss.

Hintz was told that contempt action will be taken against him. But none was contemplated against Epping.

Hintz, who is serving a three-year term for conspiracy in the Hodge case, appeared before the Committee. But he declined to answer questions while TV, still and motion pircture cameras and recording machines were operating in the hearing room in the U.S. courthouse.

Sen. Fulbright (D-Ark), committee chairman, said he would make one concession—order the live TV camera to steer clear of Hintz. He made the same arrangement earlier for Hodge.

Hintz, who was president of the Southmoor Bank & Trust Co., where Hodge cashed forged checks, still declined to stand and be sworn because, he said, "of present circumstances."

Epping, who is serving a five-year term for conspiracy in the Hodge case, objected through his attorney to being photographed for either live or filmed telecasts.

Objection

Hugh Dobbs, Epping's attorney, raised the objection when Sen. Fulbright asked Epping if he ever had carried any fradulent state checks to the Southmoor Bank in Chicago.

Dobbs said 44 indictments in the Hodge case still are pending in Sangamon County (Springfield) against Epping, and added that each involves checks brought to the Southmoor Bank.

"He is declining to testify now under the Fifth Amendment and because of the pending indictments," Dobbs said

The attorney said he had no objections to any questions not involving the Southmoor Bank.

Chairman Fulbright then recessed the hearing until Wednesday morning.

Lying

Earlier, Sen. Fulbright had accused Hodge of lying to the committee.

Hodge, a Republican politician who is serving a 12 to 15 year sentence for embezzling an estimated 1½ million in public funds, traded hot words with the Democratic Senator. The exchange came while Fulbright was pressing an effort to find out what Hodge did with the stolen cash.

Hodge's testimony included statements that:

His campaigns for the Republican nomination as state auditor in the 1952 spring primary and for election to that office in the fall of that year cost about $200,000. But, he said, none of it was stolen money.

He didn't share the embezzled cash with anybody.

He is not "covering up" for anyone.

He was not a target for blackmailers or extortionists.

He neither reported nor paid federal income taxes on the state cash he pocketed.

'No Explanation' For Margaret Sullivan's Act

. . . Of Disappearing

NEW YORK (INS) — Broadway and television could find no answer or explanation Tuesday for the "incredible" disappearance of tempermental actress Margaret Sullivan.

Her failure to show up Monday pulled the rug from under the old tradition "the show must go on" and forced last-minute cancellation of CBS-TV's live play, "The Pilot."

Twenty-four hours later neither the 47-year-old actress, her fourth husband Kenneth A. Wagg nor her agent could be found.

Wagg has said only that the screen and stage star was suffering from "strain" and had entered a hospital for treatment.

He added, "I would prefer not to say where she is."

Hubbel Robinson Jr., CBS vice president in charge of TV programs, said:

"This is the strangest thing I've ever heard of in my life. She loved the play and did it because she liked the script. Her failure to appear has to be something weird. She is a real professional and a very responsible craftsman."

Drought Major Farm Problem, Northeast Nebraskans Told

HARTINGTON, Neb. — Rep. Harrison (R-Neb) told northeast Nebraskans Tuesday that unrest in the farm states won't make it rain.

And drought is a major farm problem now, he said.

Speaking at a street meeting in Hartington as the Republicn campaign caravan rumbled through Harrison's agricultural Third District, Harrison made a bid for continued support of the Republican administration and for himself on the basis of constructive programs.

Harrison said no one program is a complete solution to the farm program, but declared the soil bank has brought 20 million dollars to Third District farmers.

Foreign Market Aid

He said the most important problem is disposal of surpluses and the foreign market is the best place to dispose of them. During the last two years, he said, this nation has sold two billion dollars worth of farm surpluses to foreign countries.

Sen. Hruska, who also spoke during the brief street meeting, declared Republicans are running on their record and Democratic claims that the prosperity is "phony" are "not true."

Today we have the largest number of workers employed, higher wages and fewer strikes and labor disputes then ever before, he said, and that he termed "real prosperity."

Hruska accused the Democrats of promising everything for everybody and at the same time declaring they will reduce taxes.

Hits Christmas Remark

He also jibed at a recent statement attributed to vice presidential candidate Estes Kefauver that this will be the nation's most expensive Christmas.

Hruska said the Christmases of 1950, 1951 and 1952 when the Korean War casualty lists were coming in were far more expensive.

Harrison and Hruska were the only speakers, but state chairman Dick Spelts introduced other Republican candidates and party officials. Gov. Victor Anderson had to leave the caravan Tuesday morning to fill an engagement in Hastings.

Other stops Tuesday were at Bloomfield, Creighton, Neligh, Pierce, Ponca and Wayne. Wednesday the group will visit Stanton, Norfolk, Madison, Newman Grove, Albion, Fullerton and Central City.

Railway Express Office At Antioch Dropped

Approval has been given the Railway Express Agency for discontinuing its office at Antioch in action by the State Railway Commission.

Cattle—50 to 75 cents higher; top $33.25.

Stocks Decline On Low Volume

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market declined Tuesday on volume which has not been lower since Oct. 27, 1953.

It was a slow erosion of prices which provided no excitement.

The volume totaled only 1,220,000 shares compared with 1,450,000 Monday. Jan. 11, 1954 was also a 1,220,000-share day but not since Oct. 27, 1953 has turnover been lower—1,170,000 shares.

Volume has been dwindling for a week since the smart rally of a week ago Tuesday when the market bounced back from its Oct. 1 lows. Wall Street has been extremely hesitant of the major trend to be expected now.

The distraction of the crucial World Series baseball game was one factor in Tuesday's performance. But in addition the tight credit situation was backgrounded by the rise of U.S. Treasury short-term borrowing costs to another 25-year high, putting the Treasury bill rate slightly above the Federal Reserve Board's 3 per cent discount rate.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks dipped 30 cents to $176.90 with the industrials down $1.20, the rails down $1.10 and the utilities unchanged.

Generally, the losses among pivotal stocks were kept within $1 or $2.

On the American Stock Exchange prices were irregular on volume of 500,000 shares compared with 510,000 Monday.

All Grains Down; Rye Wheat Lose

CHICAGO (AP)—All grain futures fell on the Board of Trade Tuesday with wheat and rye suffering the greatest losses.

Wheat tumbled as much as 1½ cents as selling hit the market and rye was down 1¾ cents at the close. Other grains ended the session with fractional losses.

Traders said the selling wave was touched off by a lower trend at the Kansas City grain market. Despite continuance of the drought in the Southwest winter wheat belt and no prospects of any rain in the immediate future, holders of new crop wheat turned to profit taking. This led to the decline.

Wheat closed ⅞ to 1½ cents lower, corn ½ to ⅞ lower, oats unchanged to 1 cent lower, rye 1⅛ to 1¾ lower, soybeans ½ to 1 cent lower and lard 2 to 13 cents lower.

Selling in wheat futures at Chicago was influenced by a break of almost two cents a bushel in the Kansas City market. The action in wheat prompted selling in other grains.

The recent advance in soybean prices resulted in larger receipts, the trade said, and this brought hedging pressure into the soybean futures market.

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market drifted lower in quiet trading early Tuesday afternoon. Pivotal stocks were behind from fractions to a point or so. There were a few fractional advances.

Ask Leniency

BERLIN (INS) — A defense attorney blamed the June 28 Poznan riots on Communist "bureaucracy and petty domination" in asking for leniency in the trial of nine men accused of attacking a prison.

Another lawyer for the defendants said that the nine men were themselves "victims" of the uprising and asked for a verdict "for which the future will be grateful."

KEFAUVER: 'DEMOS HAVE NO PARTTIME CANDIDATES'

. . . Senator Says Cold 'Improves Condition'

MANCHESTER, N. H. (AP)—Sen. Estes Kefauver, returning to the scene of his first national political triumph, declared Tuesday night "The Democratic party has no parttime presidents in its ranks and no parttime candidates either."

The Democratic vice-presidential nominee, in a fighting speech at a dinner rally, told his supporters "this election is the big one" and "I am convinced that the Democratic tide is running at the flood."

And he pledged that "Adlai Stevenson and I have determined to fight harder and work harder in this campaign than any candidates of any party have ever worked in our history."

Kefauver flew here for his first invasion of New England in the campaign after searching for votes with a 100-mile motorcade through New Jersey in the earlier part of the day. He won his first big national victory here four years ago by defeating former President Harry Truman in the presidential primary.

The Tennessean's "parttime" crack at President Eisenhower followed a pointed reference he made to the health issue this morning at Bridgeton, N.J.

Asked about a cold and sore throat, which have bothered him for two days, he replied that he supposed his health was better because of them.

"I think the cold, like major surgery, improves our general physical condition," he said.

Curtis, Goldwater Clash With AFL-CIO Officials

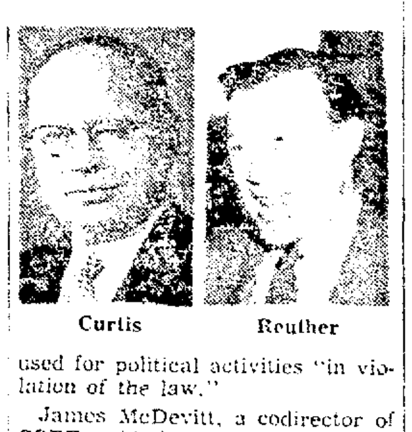
. . . Over Labor Funds For Politics

By FRANK CORMIER

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two Republican members of a Senate group keeping tabs on the current campaign clashed Tuesday with AFL-CIO officials over the financing of labor's role in politics.

Testimony by Walter Reuther and another union leader was challenged by Sens. Curtis (R-Neb) and Goldwater (R-Ariz) at a public hearing of the Senate elections subcommittee.

Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers and an AFL-CIO vice president, said all donations to candidates by the UAW and the AFL-CIO Committee on Political Education (COPE) come from "voluntary contributions of union members and other individuals."



Curtis Reuther

'Not Dues'

Such spending is not financed by "moneys collected through regular union dues or assessments," he said.

Curtis long has contended that dues paid by union members are used for political activities "in violation of the law."

James McDevitt, a codirector of COPE, told the subcommittee that COPE has both a political education fund, which he said comes largely from union treasuries, and a political campaign fund which he said comes exclusively from individual contributions.

Use Questioned

Curtis and Goldwater questioned the uses of the political education fund. They challenged McDevitt's assertion that voter registration drives and the publication of a COPE "Voters Guide" fall in the category of political education.

Curtis said the voter guide, listing the votes of Congress members as "right" or "wrong" on selected issues, "goes right down the line with the Democratic candidates and the ADA—Americans for Democratic Action."

He said COPE's distribution of voting records and its efforts to register voters are "not only political activities but two of the most expensive types of political activities."

'Political Propaganda'

Goldwater described the booklet as "a piece of political propaganda" in which "every liberal shows up well and we conservatives look like hound dogs."

Amid laughter, COPE counsel J. Albert Woll said that if such was the effect of Goldwater's votes, "that's unfortunate for you."

Security Cases Fewer

WASHINGTON (INS) — The Pentagon's top agency for guarding secrets in defense industries reported Tuesday that the number of security cases among employes has been sharply reduced.

The agency's first annual report showed that more security clearances are being granted without formal "screening," and that, of those screened, one-third fewer reach the hearing stage.

Jerome D. Fenton, director of the office of personnel security policy, told newsmen he believed that the conduct of loyalty hearings in government and industry is "bearing constructive fruit."

Fenton said young people are realizing that "one of the exposures in adopting subversive idbility of not having a job."

X2 Topped 1,900 MPH Before Crash---Air Boss

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP) — The X2 experimental rocket plane was reported Tuesday to have set a speed record just before it crashed in a test flight Sept. 27.

Secretary of the Air Force Quarles, noting that the pilot, Capt. Milburn G. Apt, was killed in the flight, said that "instrument records that were preserved" showed that Apt, "shortly before his death, was flying faster than any other human being has been known to fly."

Quarles made his disclosure in a speech prepared for delivery to the National Guard Assn.

Speed Not Told

Following current defense policies, Quarles did not report the precise speed recorded by the expermimental plane in its last flight. Authoritative but officially unconfirmed published reports credited the same X2 plane with flying 1,900 m.p.h. and reaching an altitude of 126,000 feet in a test flight last July.

The Air Force has withheld information about the cause of the X2 crash pending completion of an investigation.

In his speech, Quarles said that "instant readiness for decisive action in global war is the one kind of preparedness that cannot be sacrificed at any price . . . so global war must have first priority in our plans."

Quarles said it "seems logical if we have the strength required for global war that we could certainly handle any threat of lesser magnitude."

He added the caution, however, that the very fact that total war has been deterred has also "served to spotlight the threat of localized or peripheral conflicts."

The Air Force head said the planning to meet all types of threats has involved military men "in much soul-searching," with the result that there have been published reports of interservice conflicts.

Quarles conceded there were differences among the service planners but he described them as "differences among sincere men trying to decide what is best for the nation."

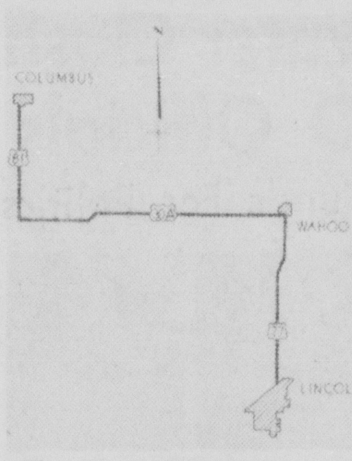
BEST ROUTE TO COLUMBUS



The State Highway Department has advised drivers going to Columbus Thursday and Friday for the National Cornpicking Contest to take the above route if driving in from the east or southeast. This route will avoid Hwy. 15 north of Seward which the department says is under construction and extremely dusty which makes for hazardous driving.

West O-Base Road Project To Provide Safer Intersection

State Engineer L. N. Ress said that the construction currently underway on the intersection between the south Air Base road and West O is designed to provide "a lot safer intersection than what's there now."

O. W. Johnson, assistant construction engineer for the highway department, said plans call for widening the north side of West O to provide a 200-foot approach to the air base road.

In addition to this the air base road will be widened from its present 22 feet to a three lane highway divided by two islands. The increased width will extend 800 feet north with the widest part at the intersection.

The east lane will be for traffic headed into the base, the center lane for traffic leaving the base to make a left turn on to O toward Lincoln and the west lane will be for those leaving the base who will turn west on to O away from Lincoln.

A traffic control system will be installed at the intersection. Present plans call for the system to operate only during the rush hours in late afternoon when heavy traffic leaves the air base.

Roberts Construction Co. of Lincoln, which was awarded the $18,241 contract, began construction Sept. 17 and the work is to be completed Oct. 27. No detour is anticipated while the road is under construction.

Ress said it is hoped traffic will flow more easily and safely in and out of the air base as a result of the construction.

Dust-Proofing For County Road Near Air Base Sought

Dust-proofing for a Lancaster County access road to the north entrance of the Lincoln Air Force Base was sought Tuesday by four farm families.

The graveled road runs from the base's north entrance though Woodlawn to Highway 2, according to County Engineer L. W. Weaver.

He said the road was the "heaviest traveled in the county" because of air base and construction work traffic.

"Oil would not hold up under the traffic," Weaver said. "The only solution to the dust problem is paving."

Lawrence Frost of Rt. 2, who lies near the road, said the "dust from the traffic is choking livestock and affecting the crops."

Weaver estimated paving for the 1¼-mile stretch would cost $40,000, if federal secondary aid funds could be secured.

Illegal Operations May Get New Law

Illegal operations of foreign corporations from outside Nebraska may result in legislation to "put teeth" into the state's laws dealing with corporations.

Roland Luedtke, deputy secretary of state, said his office has been aware of the problem of corporations doing business in Nebraska without a license or payment of occupation taxes.

Democratic gubernatorial candidate Frank Sorrell said Monday in a prepared speech to Democratic rally at Alma that Gov. Victor Anderson, his Republican opponent, should make a "full disclosure" of the number of such foreign corporations doing business in Nebraska illegally.

Luedtke said the Secretary of State's office, not the governor's office, is concerned with operations of the foreign corporations. But he said he agreed that "something should be done" about the situation.

Labor Support

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Republican and Democratic presidential candidates each got some labor union support.

Guy L. Brown, head of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and a supporter of Democrat Adlai Stevenson in 1952, came out for the re-election of President Eisenhower. This is an independent union.

On the other hand, the executive board of the Brotherhood of Firemen and Oilers (AFL-CIO), unanimously endorsed Stevenson.

TRAILER COURT PROTEST FAILS: PERMIT APPROVED

The Lancaster County Board approved a new trailer court permit Tuesday over opposition from Garfield School District 113.

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Gartner were issued a permit for a 30-stall court at 1845 West O. They now operate a court at 2401 West O.

Simultaneously, Commissioner Del Lienemann called for "city-county prosecution of trailer courts in the school district not properly zoned and operating without a permit."

'Over Capacity'

Henry Burt, District 113 board member, said the school was "over capacity" and "couldn't stand another trailer court and more children."

Pointing out her court has only nine children for 33 families, Mrs. Gartner charged that "families that have been turned away have gone to an unapproved court."

Lienemann told the board that there are four trailer courts unapproved because of zoning problems in the area.

The Board noted that Mrs. Gartner had obtained zoning and plan approval for the 1845 West O location, which was formerly an established trailer court.

Mrs. Gartner said plans were to operate the 2401 West O court and motel "as long as we can," but pointed out that business has been hurt by jets from the air base and the near-by drive-in theater.

Citizen Education Conference Set Saturday At NU

Representatives of seven Nebraska colleges, 13 public schools and the State Department of Education have been invited to participate in a special conference on citizenship education Saturday at the University of Nebraska.

Dr. William Vincent, executive officer of the Citizenship Education Project of Teachers College, Columbia University, will speak to the conference group and serve as a consultant in a discussion of new developments in citizenship education.

He is one of the four educators visiting the state this week to evaluate the Nebraska Community Education Project.

The conference will be held from 9 to 11 a.m. in Room 313 of the Student Union.

Colleges invited include: Nebraska Wesleyan University, Omaha University, Peru State Teachers College, Wayne State Teachers College, Hastings College, Midland College, and Doane College.

Public schools invited include: Ashland, Blair, Bruning, Hastings, Lincoln, Lyons, Nebraska City, Omaha Westside, Tecumseh, Valley, Wahoo, Wilber, and York.

Had $150 Suites Neither Got Bill

PITTSBURGH (AP)—President Eisenhower and former President Harry Truman each stayed in a $150-a-day suite at Penn-Sheraton Hotel Tuesday but neither had to pay.

The hotel management said it allowed Eisenhower to occupy the Presidential Suite and Truman the Mellon Suite free of charge as a courtesy.

Though both were in the same hotel, their paths did not cross.

Faculty Committee Members Chosen

University of Nebraska Faculty Senate members voted Tuesday on two members for the committee on academic privilege—a group charged with handling the investigation of the facts in the demotion of former U. of N. professor, C. Clyde Mitchell Jr.

Nominations submitted to the Faculty Senate were: David Dow, professor of law; Ralph L. Ireland, professor of pedodontics; J. Galen Saylor, professor of secondary education and Howard W. Deems, associate professor of vocational education.

Results of the election will be announced after ballots are counted by the faculty committee on committees.

The two new members selected will replace Prof. Julius Cohen, former chairman of the committee now on academic leave from the university, and Prof. Roscoe Hill, acting chairman. The committee terms of both men expired recently.

Further investigation of the Mitchell case awaits the election results and appointment of a new chairman of the committee. Professor Mitchell, who was removed as chairman of the agricultural economics department and has since resigned from the faculty, has asked the committee to consider what he termed abridgement of his academic freedom.

Services Wednesday For Mrs. Kate Dorn

BIG SPRINGS, Neb. (AP) — Funeral services will be held here Wednesday for Mrs. Kate Dorn, widow of the late Frank Dorn, a merchant in Big Springs for many years.

Mrs. Dorn died of a heart ailment in Minnesota Sunday while visiting relatives. She came to Big Springs in 1880.

Survivors include a son, Dayton, and two daughters, Frances and Vieva.

"IF YOU CAN FIND A BETTER BOURBON ...BUY IT"

Every drop of Ancient Age is distilled in one place ... in Frankfort, Kentucky. Of the three leading bourbons, Ancient Age is the only one that can claim this advantage. We never put anyone else's whiskey in our bottles ... it's all our own. And we make all of our whiskey only at the original distillery, right in the heart of the bourbon country. That's why the taste and flavor of this superb bourbon is always the same...bottle after bottle, year after year. That's why Ancient Age is the fastest growing bourbon in America! 31 New Cases Of Polio Hike Total To 143

Delayed reports of state polio cases have raised the year's total so far to 143, with four deaths, compared to 244 last year.

The weekly polio tally was 31, highest of the year to date, but delayed reports were involved in 10 of the cases.

Alan Rouse, State Health Department director of the Polio Division, said four of the week's cases reported were of the paralytic type, the rest of a polio-like virus and non-paralytic.

The highest incidence of polio remains concentrated in Kimball County, Rouse said, with a total of six cases. Kimball County, he said, has had the only cases in the state of true polio with one death resulting and another case reported where the person is in critical condition with bulbar polio.

There were only four deaths last year due to paralytic polio, according to Health Department records.

Rouse said the polio season evidently will hang on until there is a change to a cooler and possibly until a wet spell.

New cases reported last week included, besides those in Kimball County, four each in Greeley and Hall; three each in Dawson and Douglas; two in Dawes, Lancaster and Scotts Bluff, and one each in Adams, Buffalo, Cheyenne, Dodge, and Gosper.

WOMAN ASKS HELP FINDING HER BROTHER

A Sardis, Miss., woman has issued a frantic appeal to the Lincoln Police Department and residents of Lincoln to help her locate a brother she fears may have drowned.

Mrs. Sidney Mothershed wrote police here that her brother, 57-year-old James Harvey Smith, was last heard of living at 1328 O in Lincoln. She wrote that Smith had written her that he was despondent.

On Sept. 11, Mrs. Mothershed continued, a man answering the description of her brother plunged from a Memphis, Tenn., bridge into the Mississippi River and the body was never recovered. She fears the man was her brother, but said there is a possibility he may have remained in Lincoln working in a cafe or hotel.

Mrs. Mothershed said her brother came to Lincoln last spring from a Wichita, Kan., airplane factory. She describes Smith as having gray-brown hair, weighing about 160 pounds and being about 5 feet 9 inches in height.

Local police have checked but have failed to turn up a clue to where Smith went after he left his O St. address.

Court Action On Possible Omaha Bus Strike Asked

A petition seeking to block a bus drivers' strike scheduled for Monday in Omaha has been filed with the Nebraska Court of Industrial Relations.

George H. Turner, Supreme Court clerk who also serves as clerk of the Industrial Relations Court, said hearings on the labor dispute will be held at 2 p.m. Thursday in the No. 2 courtroom at the statehouse.

President L. G. Barnes of the Omaha Transit Co., which filed the suit, said the petition asked the court to issue a stay order against Local 223 of the Transport Workers union and its top officials. The petition claimed the proposed strike would be illegal under Nebraska law and the contract between the company and the union. The strike, should it occur, would affect both Omaha and Council Bluffs drivers.

Barnes said the petition also asked the court to help decide whether a five-day week for drivers — which is the issue in the dispute—is practical.

Proclamation

By Virtue of authority in me vested as Mayor of the City in Lincoln, Nebraska, I hereby proclaim and give notice that a special election will be held in said city on Tuesday, November 6, 1956, for the purpose of submitting to the voters of said city, for adoption or rejection, a proposed amendment to the city charter to prescribe and define methods of publishing legal notices and ordinances either by advertisement in newspapers or otherwise.

That said election will be held in each precinct within the city, in the regularly designated polling places, between the hours of 8:00 o'clock A. M. and 7:00 o'clock P.M. on said day.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand officially, and affixed the seal of the city of Lincoln, Nebraska, this 8th day of October, 1956.

BENNETT S. MARTIN, Mayor

Attest:
THEO. H. BERG, City Clerk
(SEAL)

Notice Of Hearing On Report Of Board Of Adjustment

Notice is hereby given that the City Council of the City of Lincoln, Nebraska, will hold a hearing on Monday, October 15, 1956, at 1:30 o'clock p.m., in the Council Chamber of the City Hall, to consider the recommendations of the Board of Adjustment on the following petitions for variance from zoning ordinance of said city:

1. Petition of William A. Gier for a waiver of side and front yard requirements to permit repair of foundation of house located on Lot 3, Block 74, Havelock Addition, known as 5627 Logan Street.
2. Petition of Henry Buis for a waiver of front yard requirements and square footage for two-family zoning to permit placing a dwelling on the South 94 feet of Lot 12, Block 73, University Place Addition, known as 4540 Baldwin Avenue.
3. Petition of Marvin B. Rhodes for waiver of front yard requirements to permit enlargement of a dwelling located on Lot 6, Block 5, Cotner Addition to Bethany, known as 1000 North 65th Street.
4. Petition of Glenn Anderson for a waiver of set-back requirements to permit erection of a garage on Lot 6, Block 8, Meadow Lane Addition, known as 7135 Orchard Street.
5. Petition of C. M. Hamilton for a waiver of side-yard requirements to permit enclosing breezeway at 3613 Garfield Street.
6. Petition of Bill Murrell for a waiver of side yard requirements to permit the erection of a garage on Lot 11, Block 1, Golden Rule Addition, known as 3036 Cable Avenue.

THEO. H. BERG, City Clerk.

Markets At A Glance

NEW YORK (AP)—

Stocks — Lower; early decline deepens.

Bonds — Mixed; governments steady.

CHICAGO:

Wheat—Lower; forced down by liquidation.

Corn—Lower; declined in sympathy with wheat.

Oats—Lower; followed trend of other grains.

Soybeans—Lower; reflecting large arrivals and good harvesting weather.

Hogs—Steady to strong; top $16.50.

Cattle—50 to 75 cents higher; top $33.25.

Stocks Decline On Low Volume

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market declined Tuesday on volume which has not been lower since Oct. 27, 1953.

It was a slow erosion of prices which provided no excitement.

The volume totaled only 1,220,000 shares compared with 1,450,000 Monday. Jan. 11, 1954 was also a 1,220,000-share day but not since Oct. 27, 1953 has turnover been lower—1,170,000 shares.

Volume has been dwindling for a week since the smart rally of a week ago Tuesday when the market bounced back from its Oct. 1 lows. Wall Street has been extremely hesitant of the major trend to be expected now.

The distraction of the crucial World Series baseball game was one factor in Tuesday's performance. But in addition the tight credit situation was backgrounded by the rise of U.S. Treasury short-term borrowing costs to another 23-year high, putting the Treasury bill rate slightly above the Federal Reserve Board's 3 per cent discount rate.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks dipped 80 cents to $176.90 with the industrials down $1.20, the rails down $1.10 and the utilities unchanged.

Generally, the losses among pivotal stocks were kept within $1 or $2.

On the American Stock Exchange prices were irregular on volume of 500,000 shares compared with 510,000 Monday.

All Grains Down; Rye Wheat Lose

CHICAGO (AP)—All grain futures fell on the Board of Trade Tuesday with wheat and rye suffering the greatest losses.

Wheat tumbled as much as 1½ cents as selling hit the market and rye was down 1¾ cents at the close. Other grains ended the session with fractional losses.

Traders said the selling wave was touched off by a lower trend at the Kansas City grain market. Despite continuance of the drought in the Southwest winter wheat belt and no prospects of any rain in the immediate future, holders of new crop wheat turned to profit taking. This led to the decline.

Wheat closed ¾ to 1½ cents lower, corn ½ to ¾ lower, oats unchanged to 1 cent lower, rye 1¼ to 1¾ lower, soybeans ½ to 1 cent lower and lard 2 to 13 cents lower.

Selling in wheat futures at Chicago was influenced by a break of almost two cents a bushel in the Kansas City market. The action in wheat prompted selling in other grains.

The recent advance in soybean prices resulted in larger receipts, the trade said, and this brought hedging pressure into the soybean futures market.

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market drifted lower in quiet trading early Tuesday afternoon. Pivotal stocks were behind from fractions to a point or so. There were a few fractional advances.

Ask Leniency

BERLIN (INS) — A defense attorney blamed the June 28 Poznan riots on Communist "bureaucracy and petty domination" in asking for leniency in the trial of nine men accused of attacking a prison.

Another lawyer for the defendants said that the nine men were themselves "victims" of the uprising and asked for a verdict "for which the future will be grateful."

Curtis, Goldwater Clash With AFL-CIO Officials

...Over Labor Funds For Politics

By FRANK CORMIER

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two Republican members of a Senate group keeping tabs on the current campaign clashed Tuesday with AFL-CIO officials over the financing of labor's role in politics.

Testimony by Walter Reuther and another union leader was challenged by Sens. Curtis (R-Neb) and Goldwater (R-Ariz) at a public hearing of the Senate elections subcommittee.

Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers and an AFL-CIO vice president, said all donations to candidates by the UAW and the AFL-CIO Committee on Political Education (COPE) come from "voluntary contributions of union members and other individuals."

'Not Dues'

Such spending is not financed by "moneys collected through regular union dues or assessments," he said.

Curtis

Reuther

Curtis long has contended that dues paid by union members are used for political activities "in violation of the law."

James McDevitt, a codirector of COPE, told the subcommittee that COPE has both a political education fund, which he said comes largely from union treasuries, and a political campaign fund which he said comes exclusively from individual contributions.

Use Questioned

Curtis and Goldwater questioned the uses of the political education fund. They challenged McDevitt's assertion that voter registration drives and the publication of a COPE "Voters Guide" fall in the category of political education.

Curtis said the voter guide, listing the votes of Congress members as "right" or "wrong" on selected issues, "goes right down the line with the Democratic candidates and the ADA—Americans for Democratic Action."

He said COPE's distribution of voting records and its efforts to register voters are "not only political activities but two of the most expensive types of political activities."

'Political Propaganda'

Goldwater described the booklet as "a piece of political propaganda" in which "every liberal shows up well and we conservatives look like hound dogs."

Amid laughter, COPE counsel J. Albert Woll said that if such was the effect of Goldwater's votes, "that's unfortunate for you."

KEFAUVER: 'DEMOS HAVE NO PARTTIME CANDIDATES'

...Senator Says Cold 'Improves Condition'

MANCHESTER, N. H. (AP)—Sen. Estes Kefauver, returning to the scene of his first national political triumph, declared Tuesday night "The Democratic party has no parttime presidents in its ranks and no parttime candidates either."

The Democratic vice-presidential nominee, in a fighting speech at a dinner rally, told his supporters "this election is the big one" and "I am convinced that the Democratic tide is running at the flood."

And he pledged that "Adlai Stevenson and I have determined to fight harder and work harder in this campaign than any candidates of any party have ever worked in our history."

Kefauver flew here for his first invasion of New England in the campaign after searching for votes with a 100-mile motorcade through New Jersey in the earlier part of the day. He won his first big national victory here four years ago by defeating former President Harry Truman in the presidential primary.

The Tennessean's "parttime" crack at President Eisenhower followed a pointed reference he made to the health issue this morning at Bridgeton, N.J.

Asked about a cold and sore throat, which have bothered him for two days, he replied that he supposed his health was better because of them.

"I think the cold, like major surgery, improves our general physical condition," he said.

Security Cases Fewer

WASHINGTON (INS) — The Pentagon's top agency for guarding secrets in defense industries reported Tuesday that the number of security cases among employes has been sharply reduced.

The agency's first annual report showed that more security clearances are being granted without formal "screening," and that, of those screened, one-third fewer reach the hearing stage.

Jerome D. Fenton, director of the office of personnel security policy, told newsmen he believed that the conduct of loyalty hearings in government and industry is "bearing constructive fruit."

Fenton said young people are realizing that "one of the exposures in adopting subversive idbility of not having a job."

City Carrier
Route Supervisor

Here is a job for a young man at least 20 years of age. You can work the year around and still go to University. You can get yourself through school with this job.

You will need a car and must be able to work with carrier boys 12-15 years of age.

It is the kind of business experience you rarely get a chance to gain while young.

With an interesting variety of things to do, you will work at an average around 25-30 hours each week at a good hourly rate. We also pay mileage expenses on your car. During the vacation periods we would expect you to work on a full time basis.

If your school schedule is such that you are free in the afternoons and on Saturdays and you are interested in employment that will supplement your present income, please come in and talk to Mr. Moore between 2:30 and 4:00 PM o'clock. X

31 New Cases Of Polio Hike Total To 143

Delayed reports of state polio cases have raised the year's total so far to 143, with four deaths, compared to 244 last year.

The weekly polio tally was 31, highest of the year to date, but delayed reports were involved in 10 of the cases.

Alan Rouse, State Health Department director of the Polio Division, said four of the week's cases reported were of the paralytic type, the rest of a polio-like virus and non-paralytic.

The highest incidence of polio remains concentrated in Kimball County, Rouse said, with a total of six cases. Kimball County, he said, has had the only cases in the state of true polio with one death resulting and another case reported where the person is in critical condition with bulbar polio.

There were only four deaths last year due to paralytic polio, according to Health Department records.

Rouse said the polio season evidently will hang on until there is a change to a cooler and possibly until a wet spell.

New cases reported last week included, besides those in Kimball County, four each in Greeley and Hall; three each in Dawson and Douglas; two in Dawes, Lancaster and Scotts Bluff, and one each in Adams, Buffalo, Cheyenne, Dodge, and Gosper.

WOMAN ASKS HELP FINDING HER BROTHER

A Sardis, Miss., woman has issued a frantic appeal to the Lincoln Police Department and residents of Lincoln to help her locate a brother she fears may have drowned.

Mrs. Sidney Mothershed wrote police here that her brother, 57-year-old James Harvey Smith, was last heard of living at 1328 O in Lincoln. She wrote that Smith had written her that he was despondent.

On Sept. 11, Mrs. Mothershed continued, a man answering the description of her brother plunged from a Memphis, Tenn., bridge into the Mississippi River and the body was never recovered. She fears the man was her brother, but said there is a possibility he may have remained in Lincoln working in a cafe or hotel.

Mrs. Mothershed said her brother came to Lincoln last spring from a Wichita, Kan., airplane factory. She describes Smith as having gray-brown hair, weighing about 160 pounds and being about 5 feet 9 inches in height

Local police have checked but have failed to turn up a clue to where Smith went after he left his O St. address.

Court Action On Possible Omaha Bus Strike Asked

A petition seeking to block a bus drivers' strike scheduled for Monday in Omaha has been filed with the Nebraska Court of Industrial Relations.

George H. Turner, Supreme Court clerk who also serves as clerk of the Industrial Relations Court, said hearings on the labor dispute will be held at 2 p.m. Thursday in the No. 2 courtroom at the statehouse.

President L. G. Barnes of the Omaha Transit Co., which filed the suit, said the petition asked the court to issue a stay order against Local 223 of the Transport Workers union and its top officials. The petition claimed the proposed strike would be illegal under Nebraska law and the contract between the company and the union. The strike, should it occur, would affect both Omaha and Council Bluffs drivers.

Barnes said the petition also asked the court to help decide whether a five-day week for drivers — which is the issue in the dispute—is practical.

'Increasing'

NAPLES, Italy (AP) — Gen. Alfred Gruenther said Soviet military capabilities "are increasing all the time, despite the smiles and cocktail parties of the Russians."

Gruenther was here on a farewell visit as supreme commander of Allied forces in Europe.

Notice Of Application For License To Sell Beer

Notice is hereby given that the City Council of the City of Lincoln will hold a meeting in the Council Chamber in the City Hall on Monday, October 15, 1956, at 1:30 o'clock p.m., for the purpose of considering and acting upon the following application for license to sell beer, as provided by House Roll No. 128 of the 50th Session of the Legislature of Nebraska:

"ON AND OFF SALE BEER"

VIRGIL DETERMAN in Lot 1, Block 41, Original Plat, known as 133 North 12th Street.

At said time and place, the city Council will receive competent evidence under oath, either orally or by affidavit, from any person bearing upon the propriety of the issuance of said license as provided by law.

THEO. H. BERG, City Clerk

Notice to Contractors

Sealed proposals will be received by the City Council of the City of Lincoln, Nebraska, at the office of the City Clerk, up to 10 o'clock a.m., Central Standard Time, Wednesday, October 17, 1956, for the construction of an ornamental lighting system in Ornamental Lighting District No. 41, being in York Street and Orchard Street between the west line of Meadow Lane Subdivision and Meadow Dale Drive and Meadow Dale Drive between York Street and Lancaster Lane, in said City, according to the plans and specifications of the City Engineer on file in the office of the City Clerk.

Plans and Specifications may be seen and blank proposals obtained in the office of the City Engineer.

The City Engineer's estimate of the cost of this ornamental lighting is $3,800.00.

Each proposal must be accompanied by a certified check for $190.00, made payable to Frank J. Miller, City Treasurer, as a guarantee of good faith.

The City reserves the right to reject any or all proposals and to waive any defect in proposals.

THEO. H. BERG, City Clerk.

Help Wanted Men 50
(Salaried Jobs)

City Carrier
Route Supervisor
Here is a job for a young man at least 20 years of age. You can work the year around and still go to University. You can get yourself through school with this job.

You will need a car and must be able to work with carrier boys 12-15 years of age.

It is the kind of business experience you rarely get a chance to gain while young.

With an interesting variety of things to do, you will work at an average around 25-30 hours each week at a good hourly rate. We also pay mileage expenses on your car. During the vacation periods we would expect you to work on a full time bases.

If your school schedule is such that you are free in the afternoons and on Saturdays and you are interested in employment that will supplement your present income: please come in and talk to Mr. Moore between 2:30 and 4:00 PM o'clock. X

City Gets High Interest, But Bond Rate May Rise

By BILL DOBLER
Star Staff Writer

The city is gathering in a record high interest rate of 2.908 per cent on a current investment of idle funds but it may be a costly turn of events

Berg

Finance Director Theo. Berg realizes that while it is nice to get the 2.908 on the city's money, it also means that Lincoln is likely to pay more for money it will soon have to borrow.

The 2.908 is being made on the investment in U.S. Treasury notes of $200,000 in tax collections not yet needed for the city's operation By Dec. 20, 1956, maturity date on the notes, Lincoln will have made $1,470 on its investment.

Storm Sewer Funds

Another recent investment, $500,000 of storm sewer improvement funds in U.S. Treasury notes, is bringing in 2.897 per cent interest. By Jan. 4, 1957, maturity date on those notes, Lincoln will have made $3,665 on the investment.

However, the shoe will be on the other foot later this year when the city peddles a $2.5 million water revenue bond issue. Berg sees a possible new high rate for the city to pay on those bonds.

In recent years, top interest paid by the city has been 2.49 per cent on the $1.3 million sewer bond issue of last May.

2.5 Per Cent Plus

The last $6 million revenue bond issue went for about 2.30 per cent. It is very ppossible, Berg said, that the city will have to pay more than 2.5 per cent on the next revenue bond sale.

The May sewer bonds were general obligation bonds which usually command a lower rate than the revenue bonds.

Even at a shade over 2.5 per cent, however, the city will have a better rate than has been the case in years past. In 1934, a water bond issue was sold for 3.5 per cent and in the 1920's Lincoln bonds carried a charge of 5 per cent on many issues.

Winchell Honored

WASHINGTON (INS) —Newspaper columnist Walter Winchell received two national awards—one for promoting the sale of savings bonds and the other for fostering Americanism.

Movie actress Virginia Mayo presented Winchell with a minute man citation on behalf of Treasury Secreatry George Humphrey for distinguished service to the savings bond program.

W. C. Daniel, national commander of the American Legion, cited Winchell on behalf of the Legions's publications for his efforts to help combat communism and to foster Americanism in this country.

NWU Set For Homecoming

Three-hundred and seventy-five members of four sororities and four fraternities at Nebraska Wesleyan University are pitching in to prepare their house decorations for the traditional Homecoming contest this Friday.

A plaque will be awarded for the best fraternity display and for the best sorority display Winners will be announced at the Homecoming game Friday night, as Wesleyan's 1956 Homecoming is climaxed.

Wesleyan alumni director Bill Hill said Tuesday that a record turn-out is expected Friday for Homecoming activities Alumni will attend from at least ten states, Hill said.

The Homecoming schedule

Thursday—8 p m —Bon fire and pep rally.

Friday—9 a m —Alumni meeting.
10 a m —Alumni awards convocation.
5 p.m.—Chuck Wagon feed.
8 p m — Homecoming game with Hastings.

Saturday — 9 p m. Homecoming dance.

Ball Game Winners The "Sunday Journal and Star" Sports Section carries a full account.

Relations Urged

HONG KONG (AP)—Red China's Premier Chou En-lai proposed diplomatic relations with Japan, Peiping radio reported Speaking at a reception to celebrate the opening of a Japanese trade exhibition, Chou said China and Japan "would coexist and coprosper unceasingly" by promoting their relations.

Nominate Somoza

LEON, Nicaragua (INS) —Luis Somoza, who has been acting as provisional president since his father, Anastasio, died after being shot by an assassin, was nominated Monday as the presidential candidate of the National Liberal Party Elections will be held next spring.

City Gets High Interest, But Bond Rate May Rise

By BILL DOBLER
Star Staff Writer

The city is gathering in a record high interest rate of 2.908 per cent on a current investment of idle funds but it may be a costly turn of events

Berg

Finance Director Theo. Berg realizes that while it is nice to get the 2.908 on the city's money, it also means that Lincoln is likely to pay more for money it will soon have to borrow.

The 2.908 is being made on the investment in U.S. Treasury notes of $200,000 in tax collections not yet needed for the city's operation. By Dec. 20, 1956, maturity date on the notes, Lincoln will have made $1,470 on its investment.

Storm Sewer Funds

Another recent investment, $500,000 of storm sewer improvement funds in U.S. Treasury notes, is bringing in 2.897 per cent interest. By Jan. 4, 1957, maturity date on those notes, Lincoln will have made $3,665 on the investment.

However, the shoe will be on the other foot later this year when the city peddles a $2.5 million water revenue bond issue. Berg sees a possible new high rate for the city to pay on those bonds.

In recent years, top interest paid by the city has been 2.49 per cent on the $1.3 million sewer bond issue of last May.

2.5 Per Cent Plus

The last $6 million revenue bond issue went for about 2.30 per cent. It is very ppossible, Berg said, that the city will have to pay more than 2.5 per cent on the next revenue bond sale.

The May sewer bonds were general obligation bonds which usually command a lower rate than the revenue bonds.

Even at a shade over 2.5 per cent, however, the city will have a better rate than has been the case in years past. In 1934, a water bond issue was sold for 3.5 per cent and in the 1920's Lincoln bonds carried a charge of 5 per cent on many issues.

Winchell Honored

WASHINGTON (INS) —Newspaper columnist Walter Winchell received two national awards—one for promoting the sale of savings bonds and the other for fostering Americanism.

Movie actress Virginia Mayo presented Winchell with a minute man citation on behalf of Treasury Secreatry George Humphrey for distinguished service to the savings bond program.

W. C. Daniel, national commander of the American Legion, cited Winchell on behalf of the Legions's publications for his efforts to help combat communism and to foster Americanism in this country.

NWU Set For Homecoming

Three-hundred and seventy-five members of four sororities and four fraternities at Nebraska Wesleyan University are pitching in to prepare their house decorations for the traditional Homecoming contest this Friday.

A plaque will be awarded for the best fraternity display and for the best sorority display. Winners will be announced at the Homecoming game Friday night, as Wesleyan's 1956 Homecoming is climaxed.

Wesleyan alumni director Bill Hill said Tuesday that a record turn-out is expected Friday for Homecoming activities. Alumni will attend from at least ten states, Hill said.

The Homecoming schedule:

Thursday—8 p.m.—Bon fire and pep rally.

Friday—9 a.m.—Alumni meeting.
10 a.m.—Alumni awards convocation.
5 p.m.—Chuck Wagon feed.
8 p.m. — Homecoming game with Hastings.

Saturday — 9 p.m. Homecoming dance.

Ball Game Winners. The "Sunday Journal and Star" Sports Section carries a full account.

Relations Urged

HONG KONG (AP)—Red China's Premier Chou En-lai proposed diplomatic relations with Japan, Peiping radio reported. Speaking at a reception to celebrate the opening of a Japanese trade exhibition, Chou said China and Japan "would coexist and coprosper unceasingly" by promoting their relations.

Nominate Somoza

LEON, Nicaragua (INS) —Luis Somoza, who has been acting as provisional president since his father, Anastasio, died after being shot by an assassin, was nominated Monday as the presidential candidate of the National Liberal Party. Elections will be held next spring.
